Epistle Dedicatory.

MY common relation to You all in general, as the eminentest Members of the Famous Society of LINCOLNS-INNE, (a fruitfull Mother for sundry ages, of many able, learned, reverend, renowned Privy Counsellors, State-Officers, Judges, Justices, Barons in all Courts of Law, or Equity, both in England and Ireland, as well as of Eminent Serjeants, Readers, Barresters and Students of the Lawes of England;) and my particular Obligations to each of You as my highly honoured cordial Friends; have engaged me (in point of duty and gratitude) to dedicate to Your Eminencies, this THIRD TOME, of An Exact Chronological Vindication, & Historical Demonstration of the SUPREME ECCLESIASTICAL JURISDICTION of our British, Roman, Saxon, Danish, Norman, English KINGS, In, and Over all Matters, Causes, Persons Spiritual as well as Temporal, throughout their Realms and Dominions: More particularly, during the Reigns of KING JOHN, and HENRY the THIRD, (by way of Appendix to my Second Tome;) but, principally of our glorious KING EDWARD the FIRST, (the chief Subject matter of this Volume;) and emboldened me to publish it to the World, under the shelter of Your Venerable Names and Patronage.

And so much the rather was I induced thereunto, because this Volume consists for the most part of such Records, Writs, Prohibitions, Bulls, Patents, Epistles, Procurations, Negotiations during their reigns, not formerly published, (illustrated with some few Historical passages) as are proper for your respective Consurances, Professions; which, in my humble opinion, will much conduce to assist and enable You in the faithfull discharge of those high, honourable, publike Plaies of Trust or Judicature, to which most of You are already, and the residue of You may hereafter be deservedly advanced, through His Majesties royal Favour, by Your vigilant strenuous Defence of THE KINGS SUPREME ECCLESIASTICAL AUTHORITY, and of * all Jurisdictions, Privileges, Preeminences, Rights, Prerogatives annexed to his IMPERIAL CROWN, or Courts of Law; & the maintenance of all just Liberties of the consciences, persons, estates of his loyal Subjects, against the illegal exorbitant disloyal Claims, Innovations, Usurpations, Extortions, Exactions, Impositions, Censures, Practices, Conspiracies or Designs of the Popes, See, Court of Rome, or other Ecclesiastical domestick Prelates, Persons, Courts, or their subordinate Officers, to eclipse, diminish, invade, undermine, or subvert all or any of them in the least degree: by furnishing You with great plenty, variety of notable ancient Presidents, Writs, Prohibitions, Judgements, Edicts, and Legal proceedings of all sorts, even in the height of Popery and Prelacy, to restrain, counterminie their disloyal Usurpations, extravagancies, oppressions, excesses, tending either to the prejudice of the Kings or peoples Rights. All which (if I mistake not) will adde much light, lustre, and some considerable Supplements to our ancient Treatises of the Common Law, the broken Cases in Fitzherberts Abridgement, and proceedings in our Courts of Justice; yea, to the History of our Church, State affairs, the Treaties, Negotiations between our Kings, the Bishops, Cardinals, Legates, Court of Rome, and forraign Princes, during the reigns of the premised Kings, contained in sundry of their respective Epistles, Procurations, Bulls, Appeals, Instructions, Commissions, Patents, and Memorials (not extant in our printed Historians) which I discovered in the White Tower Chappel, and elsewhere, in our over-much neglected Records; many of which I rescued as well from putrefaction as oblivion, and here most humbly present to Your most judicious perusal.

It was my primitive intention, yea hope, to have compleated and published this Tome long since; but the late raging Pestilence within the City and Suburbs of London (occasioned by the outrageous (a) Plague of Sinne in our own hearts, lives) which (b) swept away with the besom of destruction more thousands of people than any Plague therein in former ages; inforcing me to retire from the Records for divers Moneths; and the dreadfull consuming fire succeeding it, (c) kindled and enrag'd by the superabounding of all kinds of (d) Sodomitical finnes and flames of lust, therein committed) which within few dayes space turned the greatest part of that Great, Rich, Famous City into (e) desolate heaps of ashes, rubbish, and consumed my Printers House, with all his Printing-Presses, yea, most of his Cases, Letters, and of the printed Copies of my First and Second, with 40. printed Sheets of this Third Tome, therein, to my great loss; together with my daily long attendance in several Sessions of Parliament, besides other diversions since, and my want of convenient Lodgings in the Tower near the Records; so much obstructed, retarded my progreß therein, and perusal, sorting, digesting into order all the Records and Monuments in these 3. Kings reigns pertinent to my Theame, that I could not possibly compleat it sooner; and may justly excuse its long expected publication, together with all defects of ornament, method, and the Supplemental Appendixes, or Insertions in improper places of this Tome, of some Records casually omitted in their Chronological series.

If

If any of Your Honours, Worships, or other curious Perners thereof, shall chance to blame or censure me ( as I fear they will ) as guilty of several superfluities, or redundancies which might have been well omitted, especially in these particulars :

1. For the multitude of Prohibitions, Suits, Informations or Attachments on them for things, causes of the self-same kinde, or Nature.

2ly. For the superfluity of Patents, Procurations of the same to Persons employed to Rome, France, or in the Collections of Dismes, and the like.

3ly. For the Repetitions of Licenses to elect Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots in England and Ireland, and Patents to confirm, consecrate, restore their Temporalities when elected, or confirmed by our Kings.

662, to 685,

4ly. For the excessive multiplicity of the ( f ) Names of Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Deans, Chapters, Parsons, Prebends, Vicars, Prebendaries, Religious Houses, Parishes, and their respective Chappels, put out of King Edward the first his protection for refusing to grant him an Ayde, without the Popes precedent assent thereto, for defence of the Church and Realm; who afterwards were enforced to make finer to, and compositions with him; whereupon they procured both general and particular Protections from him, at dearer rates then their denied Ayde amounted to. And of the ( g ) Names of those Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Earls, Barons, Knights, Clergy-men and Laymen of Scotland, who made solemn, reiterated Oathes, Obligations, Deeds under their hands, seals, before special Commissioners, of their fidelity, obedience, and allegiance to King Edward the 1. and yet soon after most perfidiously violated them, by confederating with the French, and rebelling and taking arms against him.

To the 1. of these I answer : That this store can be no sore, nor blameworthy redundancy in me, since usual in all our Year-books, Reports, especially in ( h ) Abridgements of the Law, ancient or modern ; reporting several Prohibitions, Cases, Suits between different persons, in divers Terms, Years, Kings reigns of the self-same kinde, form, without any blame or censure, as I have here done ; on purpose to evidence the successive restless Usurpations, Innovations, Encroachments of Popes, Popish Prelates, Ecclesiastical Courts, Judges, Persons from year to year, upon these Kings Crowns, Rights, Prerogatives, (h) See Statham's, Fitzherbert's, Brooks's, Asht's, Hughes's, and Serjeant's Rolls their Abridgements, Tables, & Serjeant Moore's and Judge Croker's Reports.

rogatives, Courts of Law, and the peoples liberties ; with their own Royal, and their Counsils, Judges care, diligence to restrain, prohibit, punish them ; Which being the principal Subject-matter of this and my former Tomes ; my omission of any of them as superfluous, might justly be censured not only for folly, but treachery in me both to the King, Subjects, and the Cause I plead.

To the 2. I return the self-same answer, with this addition ; that different Patents, Procurations, Commissions to the same or diverse persons, upon the same, like, or different occasions, at divers times, under several or the same Kings, though running in the same or not much different general forms, must necessarily be recited, as well in my Collections as in the Records themselves; else the Negotiations, Treaties, Things to which they relate, would become altogether defective, maimed, unintelligible, of little use, and give no satisfaction to any Judicious Readers.

The 3d. will easily be justified by the precedent answers to the two former, with this further reason; that the vacations, elections, confirmations, successions of our English and Irish Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, our Kings Prerogative in, over them from time to time ; the Clergies irregularities, usurpations, abuses in them, to the prejudice of our Kings Crowns, Dignities, Prerogatives; with their Royal Reprehensions oppositions, preventions, punishments, or pardons of them, out of meer grace, not right ; and the Ecclesiastical History, affairs, of the Churches of England and Ireland could not possibly have been faithfully or fully related, nor well understood, without the frequent recitals of their several successive Licenses, Elections, Confirmations, Patents of restitution and the like, essential to my Historical Demonstration.

For the 4th. (which seems most liable to exception :) I answer, 1. That the Names of all those persons, places, being particularly enrolled, recorded with special care, by King Edwards express command, into the Original Records themselves, for a lasting monument, evidence to Posterity of his Sovereign Right, Dominion, Jurisdiction, and Authority over the Clergy of England, and the Church, Prelates, Clergy, Nobility, Commonalty, Realm of Scotland, and of their submission, subjection, Oaths, Covenants and Allegiance made unto him in a most solemn publick manner, upon the premised extraordinary traordinary occasions ; I could not deem it a superfluity, but my necessary bounden duty, upon the same accounts carefully to insert them all at large into their Transcripts ; which I likewise did upon 4. other Considerations : 1. To gratifie our English and Scotish Heraulds, and others delighting in Pedegrees, who may make good use of these Names of the Prelates, Nobility, Knights, Gentry, Clergy of England and Scotland, and the places of their residence, upon several occasions. 2ly. To evidence what places had Religious Houses, Parish-Churches, Chappelries in that age ; and what rates, compositions they then payd to the King ; which will easily shew to all concerned, what alterations have since been made in any of them. 3ly. To manifest the general Confederacy of the English Prelates, Clergy, in opposing the Aydes demanded of them by King Edward, without the Popes precedent license : and their general and particular subsequent late repentances for it. 4ly. To evidence the universal detestable perjury, treachery of the Scotish Nobility, Nation, but especially of their Prelates and Clergy, in violating their reiterated solemn Oathes and Obligations to King Edward, by their confederacy with the French, and rebellions, wars against him, not without the Popes clandestine instigation, and abetment.

Having cleared these exceptions, I hope to all ingenuous Readers satisfaction, I must crave leave to inform Your Honours and Worships, that since my Compleating of this Volume ( upon other publike accounts, especially that of Queen-gold ) I have perused most of the Great Rolls and Records of King Henry the 1. 2. King John, Henry the 3d. and Edward the 1. ( besides other Kings reigns ) in the Pipe, Kings, Lord Treasurers Remembrancers, and the Clerk of the Pleas respective Offices, and other Treasuries of Records in the Exchequer Court at Westminster, wherein I found sundry Transcripts of several Popes Bulls , relating to the Impositions, Grants of Dismes and Aydes on, or by the Clergy of England or Ireland for our premised Kings themselves, or pretended relief of the Holy Land, or to confirm some Priviledges, Exemptions, granted by them and our Kings to Religious Orders or Monasteries , recorded or pleaded at large in that Court, the Originals whereof, for the most part, are extant in the Tower, or their transcripts enrolled in the dorsets of the the Clause, Patent, or other Rolls: which having published in this and the preceding Tomes, I shall not here repeat. Yet observing in the Great Rolls in the Pipe-Office in the 29, 30, 32, 33, & 34 years of King Henry the Second, (soon after the murder of that obstinate, perfidious Antimonarchical * Arch-Rebel, as well as Archbishop of Canterbury, Thomas Becket, canonized for a most glorious Saint and Martyr for his oppositions against the antient Sovereign Ecclesiastical Rights and Prerogatives of this Victorious King over all Ecclesiastical persons, Causés, within this Realm, and other his Dominions; which encouraged his successors and other English Popish Prelates to usurp a new Monopoly of holding Plea and determining the right of Temporal Causés, Lay-fees, Advowsons, in their Ecclesiastical Courts, as well as of Spiritual matters) and discovering several Fines imposed by his Judges on sundry persons estreated into the Exchequer, and processé thereupon issued to levy them, for prosecuting, or holding such Pleas in their Courts, and Consistories, against his Crown, Dignity, and Prohibitions; being the antientest Records of this kinde now extant, not formerly taken notice of by any Lawbooks or Historians; I thought fit here to present Your Honours with them as Rarities, rather then to smother or pretermitt them, though not so proper for this Tome, which they precede in time.

By these and other like presidents in this eminent Kings reign, we may discern his own, and his Judges, Officers, Courts of Justice care, vigilancy to restrain and prevent not only by Writs of Prohibition (extant in (k) Glanvil) but likewise by Fines and pecuniary mulcts, to punish the then springing, encreasing Innovations, encroachments of his ambitious, avaritious, usurping Bishops, their Courts, and Officers, upon his Royal Crown and Temporal Courts, in prosecuting and holding Pleas of Lay-tees, Adwomsons, and other secular matters, whereof they had no legal consufance, against their Oathes and Allegiance to Him; whereof there are multitudes of like presidents in all our next succeeding Kings reigns in the Pipe Rolls, which I pretermit; because the Prohibitions, Attachments, Suits for prosecuting such Pleas collected in this Tome, will abundantly evidence the verity thereof.

Besides, I took notice of this memorable Clause concerning Intestates goods, in *Rotulo Magno Anno 18 Regis Henrici 2. (to the King) de xxxiii. lib. & xiiii sol. de Catallis Pelokini Ballivi de Abbatia, qui obiit Intestatus. fessor, William the Conqueror, and King Henry the 1. his Charter, & secundum consuetudinem terræ meæ; as (n) Glanvill, the Writs de rationabilibus divisis grounded thereon, and the Statute of Magna Charta, c. 18. intimate, and (o) Bracton, with (p) Fleta expressly affirm, (yet others deny) even in the cases of Lay-men: But in the cases of Bishops, Abbots, and Clergymen, (prohibited to marry by Councils, Canons, and Popes Decretals in that age) if they died intestate, all their goods, chattels, monyes, of right accrued to the King by his prerogative, who thereupon usually seised and converted them to his proper use; whereof we have a memorable president in the case of (q) Geoffry Rydell Bishop of Ely; who dying intestate on the 12. of the Kalends of September Anno 1289. (between the death of King Henry the 2. and 4. dayes before the Coronation of King Richard the 1. his Sonne;) thereupon, quia Episcopatus intestatus decessit, ejus bona confiscata sunt universa, to King Richard the first, as (r) Radulphus de Diceto stories; or as (s) Mat. Paris relates, Eodem tempore Gaufridus Elyensis Episcopus Intestatus decessit, unde de reliquis suis confiscata sunt tria millia marcarum argenti, cum ducentis marcis auri. Superlevis sui numerus tam in auro, quam in argento, tam in equis quam in vestibus preciosis, tam in bladis quam in instauramentis in immensum excrevit. All which King Richard the 1. converted to his proper use, by his Prerogative Royal in such cases, as Radulfus de Diceto, Matthew Paris, (t) Godwin, and others observe; notwithstanding the Usurper King * Stephens Charter to the Bishops, and Clergy, whom they perfidiously Crowned against their † Oaths to Queen Maude, (purposely to enlarge their Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over intestate Ecclesiastical Persons Chattels, and their own goods, chattels, with other particulars) by disinheriting their lawfull Sovereign, for which most of them soundly smarted, their Castles, Treasures being seised, and their persons imprisoned by him, notwithstanding their Rochets, Canons, and his own new Charter to them.

Upon this occasion, and our Bishops, Canonists former and late claims of an ancient unquestionable legal right, Jurisdiction vested in them, to distribute all Laymens goods, chattels, dying intestate, to pious or other uses for the salvation of their souls; I thought fit to take special (u) Notice in this Tome, what new clauses our seditious trayterous Archbishop Stephen Langton and his Confederates cunningly thrust into King Johns Great Charter of Liberties, not extant in King Henry the firsts Charter, which they at first pretended he should only ratifie. Which enlarged Charter, as it was within 2. years after quite nulled, by the Pope at King Johns request, and so gave the Bishops no legal power at all over intestate Freemens goods; so at the reviving thereof by King Henry the 3d. in the 9th year of his reign, the Clause concerning the distribution of the Intestates Goods, by his kinred, parents, or friends, PER VISUM ECCLESIAE; (from whence Bracton and Fleta inferred, ad ECCLESIAM & ad amicos pertinebit executio bonorum) thrust in by the Bishops, who interpreted the Church to be only the Bishop, was quite expunged out of his Great Charter, and all others, since confirmed by near 50. Parliaments. Whereupon the Bishops, to support their new encroached Jurisdiction over Intestates goods and chattels by colour of this expunged Clause, which King Henry and his Counsil strenuously opposed, and would never assent to, after many reiterated supplications, set on foot a meer imaginary Ordinance, which they reported to be made by the Prelates, with the consent of the King and his Barons, and inserted into Ottobons Constitutions Anno 52 H. 3. and after that into John Stratfords, Anno 1342. but when, where, or by what Prelates, King and Barons that Ordinance was made, they neither then expressed, nor positively affirmed, nor can yet resolve. Yet by colour of this Ordinance, (y) Archbishop Boniface with his Suffragans made sundry Antimonarchical Constitutions in the Council of Lambeth Anno 1257. (41 H. 3. most contemptuously called and held by them against the Kings expresse Writs of Prohibition issued to them,) and among others, denounced a solemn Excommunication against all those Lords (not excepting the King & his Officers) who should hinder Ordinaries distributions of Laymens goods to pious uses, as violaters of the Churches Liberties; Which Constitutions were no sooner known, but they were publicly appealed, complained against by the King in his own and the Kingdomes name and behalf, to two several Popes, as most illegally made, to the prejudice and grievance of his Crown, Royal Dignity, and against the Liberties and Customes of his Realm of England: for which and other contempts, this Archbishop was enforced to flye the Hereupon those Antimonarchical Excommunications and Constitutions of Archbishop Boniface revived by him, together with his own, thus publicely censured, revoked by the King and his Counsil, were totally neglected, and not put in execution by our succeeding Archbishops, Bishops, or Ecclesiastical Judges for 80. years space or more, as William Lindewode himself thus acknowledgeth in his Preface to Henry Chichely Archbishop of Canterbury, præfixed to his **Provinciale*; Consideratæ equidem, quod quamquam Constitutiones ipse ex interioribus medullis Scripturarum, & sacrorum Canonum, indubitatisque tam Theologorum, quam Juris Canonici et Civilis autenticorum Doctorum sententiis ad utilitatem Provinciæ Cantuar. subditorum extractæ: A compluribus (tamen) dictæ Provinciæ tam Patribus aliisque Prelatis et Judicibus, quam ipsorum subditis neglectæ quodammodo habeantur, adeo quod temporibus his perpauci sunt qui ipsorum observationi, ut ratio exigit, invigilent. Whereupon this great Doctor of the Canon and Civil Law, (being then Official to the Archbishop of Canterbury, to bring these neglected Canons into credit, use, to enlarge the Jurisdiction of our Ecclesiastical Courts and Prelates) in the year 1423. at Bois St. Vincents in France, collected these two, and our other Archbishops Provincial Constitutions into one Body (as (c) himself thus relates) refecatis superfluis & quibusdam ex eis abbreviatis correcte in unum Opus collegi, & sub congruentibus Titulis ad instar libri Decretalium seriofius collocavi.

Archbishop Boniface and John Stratford, with those of the Council of Reading under John Peckham Archbishop of Canterbury, Anno 7 E. 1. (for which he was convented before the King and Parliament, and inforced to make a publike (e) revocation of several Clauses and provisions contained in his General Sentence of Excommunication therein made, as derogatory and prejudicial to the Kings Crown, Dignity, and Prerogative) being the Principal parts of Lyndwodes Provinciale, and our Canon Lawes introduced by him, began to be cryed up and put in execution by the Bishops and their Ecclesiastical Officers, to the great prejudice and dishonor of the King, and oppression of his Subjects; For effectual redress wherof, King Henry the 8. and his Parliament in the 25 year of his reign, upon complaint, That divers Constitutions, Ordinances, and Canons Provincial or Synodal had heretofore bene enacted, thought not only to be much prejudicial to the Kings Prerogative Royal, and repugnant to the Lawes and Statutes of this Realm, but overmuch onerous to his Subjects; which the Clergie of England therein not only acknowledged to be true, but also most humbly besought his Highnesse, that the said Canons and Constitutions might be committed to the examination and judgement of his Highnesse, and of xxxii. persons of the Kings Subjects, to be chosen and appointed by the KINGS MAJESTY; whereof xvi. to be of the Upper and Nether House of Parliament of the TEMPORALTY, and other xvi. to be of the CLERGY of this Realm. And all the said xxxii. persons to be chosen and appointed by the KINGS MAJESTY. And that such of the said Constitutions and Canons as the Kings Highnesse, and the said xxxii. or the more part of them, shall deem and adjudge worthy to be continued, kept, and obeyed, shall be from thenceforth kept, obeyed, and executed within this Realm; so that the Kings most Royal assent, under his Great Seal, be first had to the same. And the residue of the said Canons, Constitutions, and Ordinances Provincial, which the Kings Highnesse, and the said xxxii. persons, or the more part of them, shall not approve, or deem, and judge worthy to be abolite, abrogate, and made frustrate, shall be abolite, void, and of none effect; (as in truth they were from their beginning, being made not only without, but against the Kings Royal assent and authority, and not ratified by our Parliaments) and never be put in execution within this

Realm. It was thereupon accordingly declared and enacted by the successive Statutes of 25 H.8. c. 19. 27 H.8. c. 17. 31 H. 8. c. 16. 37 H. 8. c. 17. & 3, & 4 Edw. 6. c. 11. Which also provided and enacted, that these Acts shall not extend, or be interpreted, to give any authority to the said two and thirty persons, or to the more number of them, or to the Kings Highness, for to compile, stablish, or set forth any Ecclesiastical Law, repugnant or contrary to any Common Law, or Statute of this Realm, or the Kings Prerogative. Yet notwithstanding, these their Canons and Constitutions, though thus contemptuously made, published, complained against, yea censured, exploded by our Kings, and Parliaments from time to time, with Lynde-wodes and Atons Glosses on them, are still obtruded on us, and magnified, justified, asserted, executed by our Bishops, Clergy, their Ecclesiastical Courts, Officers, and Doctors of the Canon Law, as the legitimate, irrefragable Ecclesiastical Lawes both of the Church, King and Kingdom of England, not only to justify their distributions of Intestates goods, against the expresse Practise of our (f) Saviour Jesus Christ, and St. Pauls Doctrine, if we believe (g) St. Bernard, (of which goods they were such ill Stewards and dispensers from the very beginning, that not only (h) Bracton and (i) Fleta write, but (k) Archbishop Stratford himself acknowledgeth in his Constitutions, that they unduly usurping them in the name of the Church, yet NULLAM VEL SALTEM INDEBITAM facientes distributionem, converted them to their own uses, to the defrauding of their Creditors, Wives, Children, kinred; and I fear they have not been much better Stewards since;) But likewise to countenance their holding all their Ecclesiastical Courts, Visitations, and issuing out all their Citations, Processe, Probate of Wills, Letters of Administrations, Censures, in & under their own Names, Rights, Stiles, Seals, as in times of the Popes Usurpations, not the Kings, (whose (1) Image, superscription, stile they ought to bear, as well as his Coyn, Common Law Courts & Process, or else they are none of his) and to warrant all the extravagant vexations Excommunications, Visitation Oathes, Articles, Proceedings, Extortions, lately revived since His Majesties most happy Restauration, and the Statute of 13 Caroli II. chap. 12. to the derogation of His Majesties Sovereign Ecclesiastical Authority, and great grievance, oppression, vexation of his loyal Subjects; For redresse

dressè whereof I thought it necessary to inform both our Prelates, Canonists, but especially the Professors of the Common Law, how these Canons, Constitutions were originally made, opposed, exploded, yet since by degrees revived, and put in execution, notwithstanding our Kings, Nobles, Parliaments Appeals, Oppositions, Complaints, and Acts against them, wherewith few of them are acquainted.

And here I cannot but observe, That Sir Edward Cooke, as he hath in his (2) Commentary upon Articuli Cleri, taken special Notice of Archbishop Boniface and his Suffragans forementioned Constitutions, as made directly against the Laws and Statutes of the Realm, and the Kings Royal Crown, Dignity, which occasioned much difference between the Common and Ecclesiastical Law, Judges, Courts: So he likewise addes, That this Archbishop and his Clergy in a Parliament holden in the 51. year of H. 3. (which was their ultimum refugium, yet the right way) exhibited many Articles as grievances, called Articuli Cleri; which either by accident or industry are not to be found, yet some of their answers are extant; which he there recites, Ex fragmento Rotuli Parliamenti Anno 51 H. 3. as his Margin affirms, without any directions where to finde it. But under his correction, I conceive he is much mistaken therein. For first, The Articles of Archbishop Boniface and his Clergy, were drawn and exhibited by them to King Henry the 3. and his Counsil, not Anno 51. but 41. of his reign, when these his Constitutions were made in pursuance of them, against the Kings Prohibitions. 2ly. These Articles are mentioned by (3) Matthew Paris in his History, and since printed in his (4) Additamenta; and in my (5) Second Tome, being 50. in number. 3ly. King Henry the 3d and his Counsil refused to give any answer at all to them, or any of them, upon their reiterated requests, but absolutely rejected them, as the Archbishop and Clergy premise in their (6) Proeme to their Ecclesiastical Constitutions then made; neither doth Mat. Paris make mention of any answers to them, as no doubt he would have done, had there been any given. 4ly. There is no such Fragment of any Parliament or other Roll An. 51 H. 3. now extant in the Tower or elsewhere that I can find, nor any Parliament held that year, but two in Ann. 52 & 53 H. 3. wherein the Statutes of Marlebridge, and Dictum de Kenilworth were made. 5ly. Not one of our Historians or Antiquaries make mention of any such Articles of the Clergy in An. 51 H. 3. 6ly. The Answers he prints are unsutable to those Articles in Matth. Paris Anno 41. both in their number, and matter, as all may clearly discern by comparing them. 7ly. Othobons Constitutions (made in a Council at London An. 52, or 53 H. 3. not 42. as * Sir Henry Spelmans Edition, and John de Atons too mistake, as (7) Matthew Paris, (8) Matthew Westminster, (9) Matthew Parker, and others, with the Clause and Patent Rolls of 49 & 50 H. 3. assure us, he arriving not, nor acting as a Legate till then within this Realm) make no mention of them. Upon all which considerations, I cannot but repute these answers he hath printed to be Apocryphal.

But his most unpardonable Oversight and Mistake, is this; That in his very Proeme to his Second Institutes on Magna Charta, he asserts, that the Writ of Proclamation issued by King Henry the 3d. 11 Decembris in the 19th year of his reign to the Mayor and Sheriffs of London, to prohibit all Schooles and Lectures of the Canon Lawes and Popes Decretals, (as King Stephen had done before him) then newly polished, abridged by Raymundus, at Pope Gregory the 9th. his request; qui eas soleniter et autentice per totius mundi latitudinem LEGI PRÆCEPIT & DIVULGARI, et ad multorum perniciem publicavit; as (10) Matthew Paris, (11) Platina, (12) Balens, and (13) others relate; Ceterumque Jus Civile legi Lutetiae, et aliis in locis vicinis: as (14) Gilbertus Genebrardus a Parisian Divine observes, by these new Decretals, to which all other Lawes must give place, that they alone might rule the World; whereupon King Henry issued this Writ to prohibit them to be read upon, published, or put in execution; as being most derogatory to his Royal Prerogative, Lawes, Courts, and Subjects liberties, to be meant and intended only, of Schooles of the Common Law, and Readings upon the two Great Charters of Liberties and the Forest, which he had formerly ratified, and sworn to observe. Which grand misprision of his as I have (15) here refuted at large, by pregnant evidences; so the very season wherein it was issued, soon after his removal of his ill Great Officers, Counsellors, Chief Justicer, and putting honest, faithfull ones in their places, upon his coming to himself, sight of his former miscarriages, and reconciliation to his faithfull full native Lords and Subjects, formerly rejected, persecuted by him; with his confirmation of these Charters under his Great Seal in the Parliament of Merton within few moneths after, as himself observes, and the excellent Laws therein made by him for the common benefit of his Subjects, Nobles, Realm; attested by (16) Matthew Paris, (17) Matthew Westminster, other (18) Historians, and by the Clause and Patent Rolls of the 18, 19, & 20th. years of his reign, will so irrefragably refute it, that I hope no Common Lawyers will from henceforth be seduced to believe it upon his Ipse scripsit, nor any Canonists or Civilians reap advantage by this his egregious Error; nor yet by his asserting Circumspēcte agatis ( a meer contrivance of the Bishops to enlarge their Jurisdictions ) to be a Statute made, or Writ enacted in the Parliament of 13 E. 1. which I have (19) here likewise evidenced to be an apparent untruth.

How farre Popes, Bishops, and their Canon Law Doctors have by their own Canons, Constitutions, and Glosses on them enlarged their Jurisdiction even to the nulling, altering of the Testaments and Legacies of deceased Persons to pious uses, contrary to their expresse wills, those who please may read at leisure in the large folio Volume of Augustinus Barbosa, a grand Doctor of the Canon Law, & Episcopus Eugentinus, De Officio et Potestate Episcoporum, (dedicated to the Virgin Mary) licensed, printed at Rome, and newly reprinted Lugduni 1665. In what particulars they have advanced Themselves, their Pontifical Mitres, Lawes, above the Imperial Crowns of all Christian Emperors, Kings, and their municipal Lawes, I have (m) elsewhere evidenced, and shall here demonstrate only in four other Instances worthy special observation.

First, they advance not only every Pope, but Bishop, farre above all Christian Emperors and Kings in the manner of their Unctions and Consecrations: For whereas the Kings of Israel, when anointed to be Kings, had a Viol of Oyl, by Gods appointment, powred out upon their (n) HEADS, as it was upon the (o) High Priests Head, and were annoynted with the same Oyle that the High Priests were, as (p) most affirm; to evidence to all, that they were thereby made the (q) chief

Ideo Reges non JAM in CAPITE, (as anciently) sed in humero unguntur: Primum, ut is proprius honor sit illius, quem Deus constituit excelsum super omnes Reges Terræ, et quem oleo lætitiæ excellentius, & angustius unxit præ consortibus suis. JESU CHRISTI, ad laudem bonorum, vindictam autem malorum, Rom. 13. 4. Yet as if this diversity in their Unctions were not sufficient, to advance the Pontifical above the Regal Authority, the Pope at his enstallment, by pretext of our famous Christian Emperor Constantines Donation of his Imperial Crown to Pope Silvester, (which many of their Parasites assert to be genuine, and amongst others, (d) Augustinus Barbosa, (e) Andreas Viçtorellus, with sundry other Canonists quoted by them, though Laurentius Valla, with farre more Pontificians reject it, as a palpable forgery upon unanswerable reasons, as well as Protestants, branded as Palea even by Gratian himself, Dist. 96. as I have (f) elsewhere evidenced,) (g) in signum Imperii utitur CORONA IMPERIALI, et in signum Pontificis utitur MITRA. Sed Mitra semper utitur & ubique, Corona autem non semper, quia Pontificis authoritas est prior et dignior, et diffusior Imperiali potestate; Et utrumq; gladium habet; unde et Reges et Imperatores deponit; immo non solum Imperium et Regnum constituat, sed et transfert; as being Rex Regum et Dominus Dominorum quantum ad potestatem; though Servus servorum Dei quantum ad humilitatem, as they distinguish.

2ly. Popes and the Doctors of their Canon Lawes assert; That (h) Omnes, sive Patriarchæ cujuscunque apicem, sive Metropolitiorum primatus, aut Episcoporum cathedras, vel Ecclesiarum, sive cujuscunque Ordinis dignitatem instituit Romana Ecclesia. Illam vero solus ipse fundavit, & supra petram fidei

*fidei mox nascentis erexit, qui beato Petro æternæ vitæ clavigero terrent simul et cœlestis Imperii jura commisit. That (i) totum jus eligendi et creandi Episcopos ad Romanum Pontificem pertinet tanquam ad Successorem Petri, cui data a Christo Domino summa potestas in totam Ecclesiam; whence they inferre, (*) That the Pope hath the sole power of erecting, dividing, uniting, transferring from place to place, suppressing, depriving, restoring all Archbishopsricks, Bishopsricks, Monasteries, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Ecclesiastical Dignities, Offices, Benefices, Priests, Officers, Incumbents, at his pleasure; and to indulge what privileges or exemptions he please to any of them, both from all Regal and Episcopal Jurisdiction and Censures: And, to prohibit Emperors, Kings, or any other Laymen to give Investitures of Bishopsricks or other Ecclesiastical dignities, under pain of Excommunication both of the givers and receivers of such Investitures; That Christian Emperors, Kings, Lay-men have no right to elect, promote any Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Prebends, or Clerks to any Bishopsricks, Monasteries, Prebendaries, Benefices, or Church-dignities, whereof they have the Patronage by right of their foundations, or endowments of them with Temporalities, Priviledges, or otherwise, but only by the grace and donations of Popes, for certain politick reasons of State, who may resume them at their pleasures, if they shall judge they abuse their power therein.*

3ly. From thence they inferre, and magisterially resolve, that, (k) Semper et in omni tempore Provisio beneficiorum et Ecclesiarum, etiam si Cathedrales, Metropolitica, vel Patriarchæ sint, ad Summum Pontificem de jure pertinet, et usque in hunc diem pertinet, (l) Qui nullum tempus præfixum est ad conferenda beneficia, quia non habet superiorem qui ejus negligentiam posset supplere. And hence they assert his Papal Right and Jurisdiction to dispose of all Episcopal, Ecclesiastical Dignities, Monasteries, Benefices whatsoever, both before & after their vacancies to whomsoever he pleaseth by his Provisions, notwithstanding his own grants to the contrary; and that in all sorts of cases imaginary: of which I shall render you this account in such particulars wherein they most frequently granted their Provisions to Archbishopsricks, Bishopsricks, Monasteries, Prebendaries, Benefices in England and Ireland, during the reigns of our 3. premised Kings, as well as in other forreign kingdoms, ( grounded sed etiam per resignationem factam in manibus Papæ, quam constat vere et legaliter dici resignationem in Curia, etiam si mediante procuratore alibi constituto. Yea, resignantes beneficia in Curia Romana permutationis causa, si moriantur extra Curiam ambo, vel unus illozum ante permutationem completam, vacare ea beneficia in Curia tenent, quia non habetur ratio temporis in quo mortui sunt Clerici, sed ejus in quo resignarunt, quia tunc beneficia vacasse intelliguntur. (o) Sic etiam in Curia beneficia vacare dicuntur, quando ibi privatio, aut alii vacationis modi inducuntur. Ubi privatio inducitur a jure, seu ex decreto propter actum positivum; per sententiam privationis latam in Curia contra se defendentem, verum contumacem, qui de jure habetur pro presenti. Secundo, Reservatione beneficia dispositioni Romani Pontificis pertinent per solam appositionem suæ manus, quambis inutiliter factam, ita quod si Papa provideret alicui, vel provideri mandat de aliquo beneficio, si provisio fuerit nulla, utpote facta inhabili vel incapaci, aut propter subreptionem, vel alium defectum, beneficium remanet Papæ affectum, et in illo Ordinarius non potest se intromittere. Tertio, Reservantur dispositioni Summi Pontificis beneficia vacantia sede Episcopali vacante, (either by death, or translations to other Sees) cujuscunque speciei et qualitatis sint. To which Augustinus Barbosa and others quoted by him, adde at least 18 Heads of Reservations more, by which Popes have right to prefer persons by their Provisions to all sorts of Ecclesiastical dignities, benefices, and preferments, by their own Constitutions and Canons; so as none could escape their clutches; which those who please may there peruse at leisure.

That which encouraged Popes to these Extravagant Usurpations in their Provisions to, and Reservations of all Ecclesiastical Dignities and benefices, was the good success and victory they had gained in the Controversies between them the Emperors of Germany, and our King Henry the 1. (after above 30. years hot and bloody contests) in the Case of Investitures of Bishops and Abbots per Annulum & Baculum; whereof I shall render you this brief account. * The Roman Emperors both claimed and exercised this Sovereign Prerogative, that no Pope, Patriarch, Archbishop, or Bishop should be elected, confirmed, or consecrated within their Empire, but by their precedent special license, subsequent Confirmation and Investiture; for the better preservation whereof, after the

Upon the translation of the Empire from the Germans to the French by Charles the Great himself (by his own sword and the Romans concurrent assent, as (2) Marsilius Patavinus, and (3) others prove at large, not by the Popes Authority,) (4) Pope Adrian the 1. An. 773. (before Charles was crowned Emperor, in a Universal Synod at Rome of 153. religious Bishops and Abbots, Dedit ei jus eligendi Pontificem, et ordinandi Apostolicam sedem, dignitatem quoque Principatus, insuper Archiepiscopos et Episcopos per singulas provincias AB EO INVESTITURAM ACCIPERE definivit; et ut nisi A REGE laudetur et INVESTIATUR EPISCOPUS, a nemine consecratur. Omnesque huic Decreto rebelles anathematizavit, et nisi resipiscerent bona eorum publicari. Which Priviledge (5) Pope Leo the 3d. confirmed to this Emperor Charles, at his Coronation, and Pope Leo the 8. to the Emperor Otho the 1. in another Council Anno 963. as (6) Waltramus Bishop of Naumburg in his Excellent Treatise against Pope Hildebrand, De Episcoporum Investituris per Imp. asserts; (wherein he affirms, that this priviledge of Investitures was used by the Kings of England, Scotland, Spain, Hungary, and of other Realms,) with Gratian himself and sundry others (wherin these their confirmations are recorded at large) acknowledge. This Priviledge was enjoyed by, and continued sacred, inviolable in Emperors and Kings for above 200 years, as Waltramus, (7) Antoninus, (8) Johannes Aventinus, and others prove at large; till that Anti-christian firebrand Pope Gregory the 7. in a Council at Rome in the year 1076. Item, Si quis Imperatorum, Regum, Ducum, Marchionum, Comitum, vel quælibet summorum potestatum aut personarum Investituram Episcopatum, vel alicujus Ecclesiasticæ dignitatis dare præsumperit, ejusdem sententiæ vinculo se esse obstrictum sciat.* And because the Emperor Henry the 4. would not hereupon quit this right of Investitures, he solemnly excommunicated him: upon which Henry in a (11) Council at Worms degraded him from his Papacy, as an Intruder, Thief, Wolf, Tyrant, and no Pastor or Pope; He by way of revenge (12) absolved all his Subjects from their allegiance, and raised his Prelates, Nobles, set up Rodolphus, and at last his own Son Henry against him, who by force of arms after many battels, crowned his Son Emperor in his stead, forcibly deprived him of his Empire, imprisoned him, (being likewise excommunicated for the same cause by Pope Clement 3. Victor 3. and Urban 2. who confirmed Hildebrands, and made new Canons and Constitutions against Investitures in several Councils) and after his death he had his Corps digged out of his grave, and kept uninterred for 5. years space upon this quarrel. Which yet his Son Henry revived: who coming to Rome to be crowned there by (13) Pope Paschal the 2. Anno 1111. intreated him to confirm all the Bishops he had invested, and this right of Investitures, which the Emperors had enjoyed above 300 years: which he refusing to do, against Pope Hildebrands and his 3. successors decrees against Investitures, he commanded his Soldiers forthwith to apprehend and imprison the Pope & his Cardinals in the Mount of St. Sylvester, untill they should all restore and confirm to him by their Deeds, investendi Jus Carolo Magno datum; and crown him Emperor; which at last they yielded to do; this Pope

Tolum semel, sed etiam pluribus vicibus possunt charitativum subsidium erigere, and also ex urgenti causa ultra taxam solitam. Yea Cardinales, cum in Ecclesijs suorum titulorum habent Jurisdictionem; may do the like. As for the Pope, (18) De Romano Pontifice dubitari non potest quin hoc subsidium possit erigere ab omnibus Clericis et Ecclesijs; tum quia liberam habet administrationem omnium beneficiorum, tum quia est Dominus et Ordinarius cunctorum, Episcopus universalis Ecclesie, et Ordinarius Ordinatiozum. Hinc generalis exemptio non censetur eximere a subsidio per Papam imposito, nisi qui speciali privilegio ab hujusmodi onere nominatim eximeretur, quod non est presumendum, quippe quod illud concedi non consuevit. And that Legatus Papae cui commissum est plenae legationis officium in sua provincia, cum omnia libere et immediate possit quae quilibet Ordinarius jure vel consuetudine potest, habet jus exigendi hujusmodi subsidium in Ecclesijs provinciae sibi delegatae. Upon which grounds, Popes, Cardinals, Popes Legates, Nuncios, and other Romish Harpyes imposed, exacted many Dismes, Subsidies, Procurations, and other excessive Payments of divers kinds from our English and Irish Prelates, Clergy, and our Archbishops, Bishops, from the inferiour Clergy during the premised Kings reigns, to their great oppression; which they frequently opposed, complained against, and our Kings thereupon prohibited by their Writs, Lawes here re-cited.

I might adde to these the Sovereign power Popes claim not only over all Christian Kings, Princes, but all Lay-mens persons, estates, and reputations, (t) as to condemn, or declare them hereticks, or infamous persons, incapable to enjoy, inherit, conferr lands, goods, offices, Legacies, to make Testaments, or prosecute suits in any Courts to recover their rights; to suspend them from their temporal offices, or restore them when suspended, deprived by their Princes, and their families, when deemed infamous; yea to abrogate their temporal Lawes, Statutes, Customs: to exempt children from the power of their parents, and Subjects from their obedience, oaths, services to their Lords, and Sovereigns: to make and declare Bastards to be legitimate, and lawfull children illegitimate, as especially to Crownes, so to all temporal goods and inheritances; To interdict their Realms, Cities, Lands, Rents, and all communion with them; yea to imprison, kill, burn them as hereticks, infidels, blasphemers against Yea they assert this for Catholick Apostolike Law and Doctrine; (u) Non sunt homicidæ qui aduersus excommunicatos zelo Catholicæ matris Ecclesiæ accensi excommunicatos interficiunt; as Pope Urban the 2d. and Gratian positively determine: And Pope Nicholas the 2d. in his Letter to the French Army employed against the Waldenses, superaddes thereto; Omnium vestrum nosse volumus charitatem, quisquis in hoc belli certamine fideliter mortuus fuerit (though otherwise never so flagitious a person) regna illi cælestia minime negabuntur.

By what Popes, persons, means, arts, and for what ends the Canon Law was first compiled into a Code or Body, published, taught, studied, propagated, read on, professed, executed, and the Doctors, Students, Professors of it encouraged, multiplied, maintained in Universities, and advanced to the Highest Offices, Dignities, Preferments in the Church, as well as in Ecclesiastical Courts, and entrusted with the vigorous execution of them under Popes, Archbishops, Bishops, as their Vicars-Generals, Chancellors, Commissaries, Surrogates, Officials, Delegates, and what bad effects it produced, to the great prejudice and injury of all Christian Kings, Subjects, Realms, (to avoyd all suspicion of prejudice or partiality in my self;) I shall crave leave to inform you in the words of a most learned French Civilian, Marc de Vulson (an Advocate in the Court of Paris, afterwards a Counsellor of the French King in the Court of Parliament of Dauphine, a person beyond exception) in his Book, De la Puissance issance du Pape, & des Libertez de l'Eglise Gallicane, lib. 3. c. 17. de Decret de Gratian, et du Corps du Droit Canon; wherein, after a brief Account of the time and manner of the Emperor Justinian's compiling his Code and Body of the Imperial Lawes, and their disusage for near 600 years both in Italy, France, Germany, and the Western Empire, till about the year 1118. when the Emperor Lothaire the 2. at the instigation and sollicitation of Irnerius, who then newly found them, ordered that they should be read in Schools, and the Judges to judge according to the Roman Civil Laws, to the great contentment of the learned Doctors and Students thereof: thereupon informs us; that in imitation of the Emp. Justinian;

A ces fins fut compile par Gratian le grand Decret, qui fut publie et autorise par le Pape Eugene 3. l'an 1151. et ainsi vingt ans apres que le Corps du droit de Justinian fut restabli en Italie et Allemagne par Lothaire. Et pour le faire tant plus facilement recevoir, ledit livre et volume de Gratian ne fut pas seulement compose des Ordonances des Papes, come le Code de Justinian des Constitutions des Empereurs, mais aussi de quelques passages de l'Ecriture Sainte: de plusieurs sentences des anciens Peres: de quelques loix prinſes desdites Digestes et Code de Justinian, et autres vrais et bons auteurs. Aray est que les uns sont tronqueez, les autres alleguez a contre-sens, les autres falsifiez ouvertement: Et sur tout, le dit libze est rempli d'un tresgrand et quasi infini nombre de passages tirez des escrits faux et supposez, dont a este parle † cy devant: comme sont les Canons dits des Apostres; les Epi-<sup>† Lib. 3. c. 126.</sup>stres attribuees aux premiers Evêques de Rome, qui y sont quasi entierement transcrites, (tant avoit-il peur d'y faillir,) du Concile tenu a Rome sous Sylvestre: de l'acte ou instrument de la pretendue donation de Constantin: des Capitulaires attribueez a Charlemagne et autres.

Pour interpreter ces Loix et Canons, Gratian mesme compilateur d'iceux fut incontinent envoie a Paris, et par ce moyen le Droit Canon fut plustost receu en France, que le droit de Justinian, ainsi qu'a tresbien remarque Monsieur de l'Estrang President en Cour de Parlement de Toulouse en son Arrest 8. Et au livre 6. ch. 9. de son Histoire de Gaules, Et pour le mieux authentifier, Celestin 3. (qui siegea l'an 1191.) osa os-<sup>† See Tom. 2. p. 8. Dr. Marra de Jurisdictione, para 4. His itaque gestis, potestas laica in res et personas ecclesiasticas, omnia pro libitu, (as Mat. Paris complains) ECCLESIASTICO JURE CONTEMPTO, usurpabat; tacentibus, aut vix murnurantibus Episcopis, potius quam resistentibus; except only that Trayterous Archbishop Thomas Becket, whose goods, temporalities the King seised, and banished him the Realm for opposing them, against his Oath; which brought him to a tragical death.*

What great Cause he and our premised Kings had thus to oppose; suppress the Canons and Constitutions of Popes, yea of their own Prelates in their Councils and Synods, will further appear by these remarkable Clauses in the most insolent Epistle of John Peckham Archbishop of Canterbury, Ann. 9 E. 1. who then making sundry Constitutions in a Provincial Council, prejudicial to the Kings Crown and Dignity, against (1) two successive Writs of Prohibition to him and his Suffragans; for which King Edward the 1. was highly incensed against them, the Archbishop thereupon thus justified them by these Antimonarchical Topicks, among others; (2) Quia igitur ab antiquo tempore inter Reges et Magnates Angliæ ex parte una; et Archiepiscopos et Episcopos, ac Clerum ejusdem Regni ex altera, duravit amara dissentio, pro oppressione Ecclesiæ, contra Decreta Summorum Pontificum, contra Statuta Conciliorum, contra Sanctiones orthodoxorum Patrum, in quibus tribus summa auctoritas, summa veritas, summa sanctitas existit. Supplicamus Regiæ Majestati, &c. (instead of submitting himself and his Constitutions to the King and his Laws, as he ought;) to submit himself, his Crown, Lawes, to the Canons, Lawes, and Constitutions then made by him and his Suffragans in the Council of Lambeth; because there was no other means but this, to put a period to the contests between them, concerning the Churches pretended Liberties, cipally by executing of Popes, Prelates Canons, and Canon Laws, not publikely confirmed by the concurrent Authority of Christian Kings, Parliaments, Realms, but obtruded on them against their wills. Which differences, Schisms, Mischiefs, can be neither totally nor finally composed, nor prevented, so long as such Canons, Constitutions, Decrees shall have any force, countenance, continuance, and be rigorously executed in Ecclesiastical Courts, by Judges, Delegates, Officials, Canonists, only in Popes, or Bishops own Names, rights, stiles, under their own seals alone, as * independent on the Crown.

For the clearer demonstration whereof in our own Kingdom, I have with no small pains and diligence, collected out of all the whole or decayed files, and confused heaps of broken, scattered Original Writs, and the Plea-Rolls, Patent, Clause and other Rolls in the White Tower Chappel or elsewhere, all Writs of Prohibitions issued out, and Attachments, Suits at our Kings or their grieved Subjects prosecutions, brought for contempts of them, yet extant, during the reigns of the 3. premised Kings, either against Popes Nuncios, Collectors, Delegates, or our Archbishops, Bishops, Archdeacons, Officials, Ecclesiastical Judges, or other persons, upon several occasions; but more especially for holding, prosecuting suits belonging to these Kings Temporal Courts, and vexing their Subjects by illegal Excommunications, and Writs de Excommunicato capiendo grounded on them, on purpose to discourage, or disable them, and deter all others from suing for Prohibitions to restrain their Extravagant Usurpations, in high contempt, and to the grand prejudice of the Kings Crown, Dignity, Courts, and Royal Authority; that so they might by degrees ingrosse all temporal suits, causes into their own Courts, and trample all Secular Powers, Courts, Subjects, Laws, Liberties under their feet without controll; whereof I found such multitudes, yet remaining, besides those quite putrified, torn, lost or perished, as may not only satiate but surfet their Readers: the most whereof I have abbreviated, and inserted into this Tome, as for the vindication of these Kings Ecclesiastical Sovereignty; and evidencing the inconsistency of these Canon Lawes and Constitutions with it, or the Kingdoms, Subjects peace and felicity; so for these two following reasons.

First,

The Epistle Dedicatory.

First; To justify the practise of our late and present Judges in granting Prohibitions to Ecclesiastical Persons, Courts, to restrain their usurpations, and extravagances of all kindes, according to their Oathes, dutyes, against the \ frequent clamors, and unjust complaints of our Archbishops, Bishops, Canonists*, and others to our Kings and their Council, as well since the Reformation of Religion as before; being warranted by such multitudes of Presidents from year to year even in times of Popery, when Popes and Prelates were most predominant: which will make a considerable Addition to the Presidents of Prohibitions in punier times, formerly collected by the Judges for their own defence.

Secondly, To evidence the manifold uncessant grievances, oppressions, vexations of the Subjects of this Realm in former ages, by reason of these diversities of Laws, Jurisdictions, Courts, especially since the Ecclesiastical depend not on the King, Parliament, or Common Lawes of England, and are not executed by special Commissions from the King, limiting their Jurisdictions, Proceedings, (y) by a derivative power from, by, and under him, nor in his Name, Right, Stile, Seal alone, like other Courts, and Processe; Nor yet by our Bishops and Ordinaries themselves, who ought personally to execute their Ecclesiastical Judicatures and Jurisdiction (especially if appropriated by divine right to their Episcopal office, as many of them pretend;) who cannot delegate their Judicial authority to any subordinate Officers, no more then the Kings Judges, or Justices of Peace, and ought to judge in proper person, not by Proxy; or else totally to disclaim their Judicial authority, if they want leisure or skill to execute it; and not to sell, rent, or farm it out upon account to indigent, covetous Chancellors, Vicars, Commissaries, Officials, Surrogates who will give most for it, or to their kintred or nearest allyes; since these (z) Officials, Surrogates in all ages, to fill their purses, and make hay while the Sun shines, have most grievously vexed, fleeced, fleyed the people committed to their Episcopal care, by Citations, Interdicts, Ex officio, and other illegal Oathes, Articles, proceedings, Excommunications, imprisonments upon Writs de Excommunicato capiendo, for pretended offences, defamations of heresie, incontineney, perjury, or other crimes, upon fames, or accusations raised by themselves or their crea- tures, or for trivial matters, contempts, non-payment of illegal fees, or suing out Prohibitions to relieve themselves by due course of Law, against their holding pleas of causes not belonging to them; whereby they have not only been banded up and down from Court to Court, place to place, like Tennis Balls, but even grownd to powder, like corn between two Millstones, to their extraordinary oppression, impoverishing, and discontent. Yea, the charges, delays, difficulties in suing out Prohibitions for their just relief (especially when Bishops become predominant State-Officers) have been so great, that they have oft-times proved as bad, nay worse then the maladies they should redresse; so that thousands have rather chosen to submit to their Usurpations, extravagant exactions, censures, and to purchase absolutions from their excommunications, vexations, sequestrations upon any terms, at dearest rates, or to languish, perish under them, then to seek redress against, and strenuously to oppose them.

If these my Collections through Gods blessing on, and Your honorable Protection of them, shall prove instrumental to redress these publike abuses and usurpations, upon the Crown, Laws, & peoples Liberties; to settle a future constant harmony between the Crown and Miter, the Laity and Clergy, to the Glory of God, the Safety and advancement of the Protestant Religion; that so we may all from henceforth (a) endeavour to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace, (b) increase and abound in love one towards another; (c) love one another with a pure heart fervently; and not (d) bite, devour one another any longer, lest we be consumed one of another, and become a prey to our common Romish adversaries, now swarming every where amongst us, (fomenting our Divisions, Schisms, animosities against, and usurpations upon each other;) I shall bless God for such a happy success thereof; and endeavour (through his Divine assistance) with all convenient expedition to compleat, publish my intended succeeding Tomes of this Heroick Subject.

To

To the Ingenious Readers, especially Professors, Students of the COMMON LAW, and ENGLISH ANTIQUITIES.

GENTLEMEN,

Here present to your judicious View and perusal, a large Tome, consisting for the most part of Records, Writs, Epistles, Patents, Bulls, Procurations, Antiquities not formerly printed, relating principally to the Ecclesiastical, and some Civil affairs of greatest note, in England, Scotland, France, Ireland, Rome, during the reigns of King John, Henry the 3d. and Edward the first: many of which I rescued as well from dust and putrefaction, as oblivion, and here bring forth to publick light, for the information, benefit of the present and succeeding age. Their particular Contents you may read at leisure in the Tome it self, all Epitomized in the Title, Chapters, but especially in the 14 Tables to it; wherein every of you may with speed and facility finde, select such Records and passages, as are most suitable to his Profession, Studies, Genius, or emergent Occasions; and all Great Officers both in Church, State, Courts of Justice, Common Lawyers, Canonists, Parliament Members, Historians, Heraulds, Divines, as well of the Roman as Reformed Religion, may find some Antiquities, Rarities, which may either instruct, direct, assist, advantage them at some time or other, though perchance sundry of them may seem trivial, uselesse, or superfluous for the present, unto many.

The multiplicity, variety of the Records are such, that I could only collect and digest them into a Chronological Order, (like Cases in our Year-books and Reports, independent on, and diverse from each other,) and that in a rude, plain, unpolished stile, most suitable to old moth-eaten, lacerated, musty Records and Antiquities, overspread with dust and Cobwebs (as very many of them were) my other publick employments and extraordinary Diversions, affording me not sufficient time to polish or set them forth in a neater Dresse, or in delicate Language now most in fashion, fitter to garnish new Comedies, Play-books, than grave, serious Antiquities.

Since the finishing of my Additional Appendix of Records in the reigns of King John, and Henry the 3. prefixed to this Tome, I perused most of the Records in their reigns and Edward the firsts, (with all of Henry the 1. and 2.) extant in the several Treasuries, Offices in the Court of Exchequer; some whereof I have inserted into my Epistle Dedicatory: I shall here make bold to present you with two more in the Reign of King Henry the 3d. worthy special observation.

The 1. of them thus evidenceth his Royal piety, zeal, and Sovereign Authority in coming personally into the Court of Exchequer with his Counsil, and there with his own mouth commanding all the Sheriffs of England to attach all blasphemers of the Name of Jesus, and bring them to publick Justice at such time and place as he should prescribe, (a president worthy imitation in this atheistical, blasphemous, unzealous age) with his care for the execution of speedy Justice to all, especially Pupils, Orphans, Widdows; to prevent all oppressions of his Subjects by Sheriffs, or great men; and to preserve the Churches just Liberties, together with the rights of his Crown.

Die Veneris, proximo ante Festum beati Edwardi, Anno regni Regis Henrici tertii 34. venit Dominus Rex cum suo Consilio ad Scaccarium, & ibidem proprio ore præcepit omnibus Vicecom. Angliæ tunc ibidem existentibus. Inprimis, quod modis omnibus oberbarent, et manutenerent * Libertates Sanctæ Ecclesiæ, et similiter manutenerent Pupillos, Orphanos, & Viduas, & celerem eis justiciam exhiberent. Et si subdissent aliquem Blasphemantem nomen Jesu Christi, statim attachietur, exinde respondend. ad diem et locum, quod Dominus Rex præceperit. Item, quod nullus rusticus distringatur pro debitis Domini sui, quam diu Dominus suus habuerit per quod poterit distringi. Et quod debiti inquirant & restituant, qualiter Magnates se gerunt erga homines suos, et si invenerint ipsos transgredientes, corrigant transgressionem quatenus poterunt. Et si forte non possunt plenarie corrigere, tunc ostendant easdem Transgressionem Domino Regi. Item, † quod nullus Vic. ponat Hundr. Wapentake, vel alias Ballias ad firmam, pro majori questu habendo alicui, nisi tali qui cum justitia tractet populum. Item, quod diligenter inquir. quæ sunt Mercata Adultera, vel ad nocumendum vicinorum Mercatorum levata, & hoc seires faciant Domino Regi. Item, quod salvo custodient omnia jura, et libertates Domini Regis, nec faciant retur- num de Brevis Domini Regis alicui, nec permittent aliquem habere visum Franci pleg. nec Turnum Vic. nec auxilium Vic. nec alias Libertates quæ ad Coronam Domini Regis specialiter pertinent, sine Warranto, nisi illos qui cartas Domini Regis inde habuerint, vel illos qui cartas libertatis ab Antiquo obtinuerunt.

The 2d. (more pertinent to my Thema) most clearly evidenceth his Supreme Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, in commanding his Judges of the Jewes Exchequer by sentence in that Court, judicially to deprive Elias the London Jewes High-Priest and Bishop, of his Priesthood, for an offence against him and his Brother, then granting them a special license to elect another in his place, and so in succession, and after to present him to him for his confirmation in his office, (as in case of his other Bishops.)

REX mandabit Philippo Lovell, et Justic. ad custod. Judæorum assignatis; Quod cum Elias Episcopus Judæorum London. pro transgressionem, quam fecit eam Regi, quam Fratri suo Regi Almaine, a Sacerdotio Communitatis Judæorum Anglia eorum prædictis Philippo et Justiciariis, quos ad transgressionem illam convincendam assignabit, per Judicium eorumdem ad Scaccarium fuerit adjudicatus. Rex de eorumdem consilio Justic. concessit prædictæ Communitati Judæorum Anglia, per finem trium Mercarum Auri, quem Cresse et Haginus, Fratres ejusdem Judæi, cum Rege pro eadem Communitate fecerunt; Quod prædictus Elias Sacerdotium illud nunquam in posterum habeat, et recuperet. Et quod de cætero, nullus Sacerdos sit de illa Communitate, nisi per communem electionem Communitatis ejusdem; Et quod illa Communitas, post decessum cujuslibet Sacerdotis taliter electi, alium quemcumque voluerit Sacerdotem eligere liberam habeat facultatem. This president of his, is sufficiently justified by divine Authority, for a King Solomon deposed Abiathar the High Priest from his Priesthood, for Conspiracy and Treason against him, in adhering to Adonijah who usurped the kingdom, and made Zadok High Priest in his room, by his Supreme Ecclesiastical royal Authority: by which he might likewise have put him to death, as he told him, yet he spared his life for the present, out of meer grace; because he did bear the Ark of the Lord God before David his father, and because he had been afflicted in all wherein his father was afflicted, when he fled from Absolon who usurped his Crown. A clear Scripture Authority, that Christian Emperors or Kings may lawfully depose not only Archbishops, Bishops, and other Clergy-men from their Offices and Bishopricks; but likewise Popes themselves, (who pretend they succeed Aaron the Jewes High-

High-Priests in their Authority, as well as St. Peter, and thence deduce Arguments for their Supremacy, and Title of Pontifex Maximus, which even the Chief Pagan Roman Priest, and afterwards their <sup>c</sup> Consuls or Emperors only enjoyed) for Treason, Rebellion, or other Grand Offences, and likewise put them to death, without any violation of the Churches Liberties. For St. Paul himself (though an Apostle, <sup>d</sup> equal to St. Peter, and <sup>e</sup> joynt Bishop of Rome together with him,) when he was <sup>f</sup> accused by the Jewes before Festus, (who layd many and grievous complaints against him, as an offender both against the Temple and Cæsar, to whose Judgement seat he appealed from their Judicature;) made this answer, If I be an offender, or have committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to dye; (to wit, by a legal Trial before Cæsar) where I ought to be judged: where he and St. Peter were afterwards condemned to death, Paul being beheaded, and Peter crucified at Rome with his head downwards, as <sup>g</sup> Historians relate; yea both of them expressly enjoyn <sup>h</sup> every soul (whether an Apostle, Prophet, Pope, or other Clergyman, as well as Laick, as St. Chrysostom, Theodoret, Theophylact, Occumenius, and others comment on it) to be subject, and submit themselves to the higher Powers, and to the King as SUPREMACY, and that for Conscience sake, FOR SO IS THE WILL OF GOD; and that in an Epistle written to all that be in Rome, called to be Saints, by expresse evangelicall precepts, backed with their own examples in submitting to their capital Judgements, executions, as our <sup>i</sup> Saviour Christ himself did before them, leaving all Popes, Prelates, how great soever, an example, that they should follow their Steps therein, as <sup>k</sup> many of the first Martyred Bishops of Rome did; without pleading any such <sup>l</sup> Priviledges, Exemptions from Kings and Emperors Tribunals, or Corporal, Capital punishments, or Taxes (which they paid) as they since pretend to by their own Antimonarchical Canons, Decrees, and Constitutions, (or by Charters forcibly extorted from Christian Emperors and Kings themselves) or such an unlimited power, as Popes and other Prelates now claim; That they are the Superior Judges of all Emperors and Kings, as well as inferiour Subjects, but they themselves are to be judged by none but God himself; or at least by Popes and Bishops themselves in Councils; Which they prove from the much perverted Text of St. Paul, 1 Cor. 2. 15. But he that is spiritual (that is, regenerated by Gods Spirit) judgeth (that is, discerneth) all things (that are revealed; taught by the Spirit of God) yet he himself is judged (or discerned) of no man; that is, of no natural or carnal man, for those spiritual things, (not for visible Crimes, or Capital offences) who perceiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned, as the Text it self and all ancient Orthodox Commentators on it expressly resolve, against the absurd ridiculous false Glosses of Modern Popes, Canonists, and Sycophants of Rome, who appropriate this Text only to the Pope himself, and to Bishops, Clergy-men, though meerly carnal, voyd of the Spirit of God, and that only for visible carnal things and Crimes; whereof it never was, nor can be intended, against St. Pauls, and St. Peters expresse Doctrines in the forecited Texts, seconded with their practise.

And here I shall crave leave to inform you, how Popes, and Popish Archbishops, Prelates, Clergymen first procured, and then enlarged, supported their Exemptions from, and Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over Christian Emperors and Kings; not only by granting dispensations with their Oaths, Vows, unlawfull, incestuous, libidinous marriages, divorces, interpositions in their Treaties of Peace, Leagues, Wars against each other, by grants of Dismissals, Indulgences, Priviledges for pretended assistance of the Holy Land against Saracens and Infidels; by declaring Bastards to be legitimate heirs, and themselves to be sole Judges of Hereticks, Heresy, Schisms, and by confirming of Kings, Emperors grants, Priviledges, Exemptions to Monasteries and other Churches; (which I have demonstrated by several Instances in this and the precedent Tomes,) but more especially by Monopolizing to themselves by degrees the sole power of consecrating, crowning Emperors, Kings, and prescribing Interrogatories, Oathes, Articles, Ceremonials, to them at their Coronations, especially when they Crowned Usurpers, and put by the right heirs from the Crown; which because not hitherto fully cleared by any, I shall crave leave to present you with my collections, and observations

tions of this kind, both in the Eastern and Western Roman Empires, in the French, and our British, Saxon, Norman, English Kings Coronations, antecedent to King John, and Henry the Thirds. The rather, because I have manifested how Popes and Bishops advance themselves above Emperors, Kings, in the late form of their Unctions not on the head but shoulders in their Coronations, in my Epistle Dedicatory. The <sup>a</sup> Histories of the Roman Emperors, and other Kings lives inform us, that the Pagan and first Christian Emperors, Kings, in all or most Kingdoms, were not Crowned or Consecrated Emperors or Kings by Priests, Archbishops, Popes, Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops or Clergymen, but only by themselves, or their Predecessors, who associated them in the present Government of their Empires, Kingdoms, or declared them to be their immediate successors; or else by their Military Officers, Soldiers, Guards, or Nobles, by investing them with Imperial or Regal Ornaments, Robes, Scepter, or setting a F.let, Diadem, or Crown of Gold upon their heads, with other Ceremonies, according to the usage of their several Countries. But as for their Queens, they were usually Crowned by the Emperors and Kings themselves with their own hands, not by any others.

I shall begin with the Coronations of the Christian Roman Emperors of the East, and their Emperresses, recorded in their Histories. Upon the death of (1) Theodosius the younger, Pulcheria promoted Marcianus though ancient to the Empire, upon condition to marry her, whereto he assenting, she, Patriarcha & Senatu accersitis, Imperatozem salutavit, & Diademate tingit. After him Basiliscus being saluted Emperor, Zenonidem Augustali Corona ornat, & Marcum filium Cæsarem appellat, & tyrannico Edicto Concilium Chalcedonense abrogavit; which Decree the people enforced him to retract: The first Emperor crowned, or who had any Coronation Oath or Writing prescribed him by the Patriarch of Constantinople, was (2) Anastasius, who being elected Emperor by the Senate and Souldiers, about the year 486. Euphemius then Patriarch of Constantinople suspecting him to be addicted to the Heresie of Eutychius and the Manichees; thereupon would no wayes consent to his Coronation, but peremptorily refused to Crown him, untill he should deliver him a Writing under his hand, ratified with HIS OATH, wherein he should plainly declare, that if he were crowned Emperor, he would maintain the true faith, and Synod of Chalcedon during his reign, and bring no novelty into the Church of God: Which Writing being assented to, drawn and ratified by his Oath, was delivered to Macedonius the Treasurer to keep; and then the Patriarch Crowned him, quasi jam tunc a Pontificibus Reges et Imperatores coronantur, et eorum sacro ministerio Imperia suscipiunt; as (3) Gilbertus Genebrardus observes. After which, the Emperor banished Euphemius, deprived him of his Patriarchship, and made Macedonius Patriarch in his place; from whom he demanded his premised Hand-writing: For it is (said he) a great discredit unto our Scepter, that our hand should be kept to testify against us, or that we should be tyed to pen and paper. Which he refusing to deliver up to him, saying, It should never be reported by him, what he betrayed his faith: the Emperor likewise banished and deprived Macedonius. so much was he exasperated by the exacting of this Hand-writing and Oath from him at his Coronation. Platina and (4) some others write, that Pope Gelasius the 1. excommunicated this Emperor, because he favoured Hereticks and Acacius, who opposed his Supremacy; though others write, he only denied communion with him; the first usurpation of any Pope of this nature over an Emperor, which their successors and Parasites since, do much insist on. The next Emperor I read of, Crowned by a Patriarch, was Justinus the 2. crowned at Constantinople by Eutychius or John the Patriarch, Anno Christi 558. by blessing him, and setting the Crown upon his head, as Coryppus, and Eutropius inform us: which done Justin himself uxorem suam Sophiam nomine, et coronavit Augustam, as Zonaras and Eutropius story: Indeed Anastasius only, and Baronius, with Bernardinus Saccus out of him affirm, that Justinus the 1. was in the 5th year of his reign Crowned Emperor the second time by by Pope John the 1. about the year of Christ 516. who repaired to him concerning the Arrian Heresie, being formerly Crowned by John Patriarch of Constantinople, which seems improbable, because no other Historians mention it; and Joannes Zonaras expressly writes of this Emperor, that falling sick, morbique in spe vita dubia invalescente, Patriarcha Epiphano & Primoribus advocatis, Justinianum Nepotem Imperatorem decernit, et suis manibus ejus Capiti Diadema imponit, according to ancient Custome, though the Patriarch himself was present, which is observable, he receiving no other Coronation after his death. From the death of Justinian the 2. <sup>h</sup> Zonaras, <sup>i</sup> Entropius, and others make no mention of any Emperors Coronation, till that of Tiberius An. 571. ab Eutychio Patriarcha Coronatus. After him, An. 577. Mauritius à Patriarcha Johanne junioriore Coronatus, rerum administrationem suscepit; who being slain with his Wife and Children by the Usurper <sup>k</sup> Phocas, (instigated by Pope Gregory the 1. because he would not upon his reiterated Epistles to him command the Patriarch of Constantinople to renounce the stile and title of UNIVERSAL BISHOP, which he used, to the derogation of his Papal Supremacy) Phocas, cum populo Phrasine factionis Hebdomam ingressus, Anno 595. as some, or 605. as others compute it, summoned the Patriarch, Senate and People to come to him. Hoc igitur facto, & cunctis convenientibus apud Septimum, tunc Patriarcha Cyriacus a tyranno de orthodoxa fide, et ut sine perturbatione serbaret Ecclesiam, EXTORSIT PROFESSIONEM, (as Entropius stories.) Which profession being made, ibi à Patriarcha Diademate ornatus, inde in Regiam se contulit, & quinta die Leontiam uxorem Augustam coronabit, (by setting the Crown upon her head as the Custome then was, with his own hands.) This Usurper contrary to his extorted profession Anno 609. à Bonifacio Papa, rogatus, Phocas Imperator cum magna tamen contentione, statuit, ut Ecclesia Romana esset aliarum Ecclesiarum magistra et domina. Nam antea Ecclesia Constantinopolitana Domina sese scribebat omnium Ecclesiarum, as † Matthew Westminster, and sundry others story. Which highly incensed the Greek Patriarchs and Church against him. He at the instigation of Heraclius, being deservedly slain for his tyranny by his own guards, Anno 613. <sup>1</sup> Heraclius à Sergio Patriarcha Coronatus in Oratorio Sancti Stephani in palatio suo: Coronata est etiam eodem die Eudochia sponsa ejus in Augustam, et accepit uterque a Sergio Patriarcha Nuptiarum coronas: & uno eodemque die Imperator simul et sponsus ostenditur, so Entropius; or as Zonaras, statem etiam Eudociam sponsam diademate ornat: The next Coronation I finde, is that of <sup>m</sup> Stauratius, An 796. Nicephorus Imperator coronavit filium suum Stauratium per Tharasium sanctissimum Patriarcham in ambone majoris Ecclesie in Imperatorem. In all these and their successors Coronations by the Patriarch, I find no mention at all of any anoynting, Oath or promise made by any Greek Emperor to the Patriarch, to maintain the Churches liberties, Rites or Jurisdictions, but only the right faith; though they frequently by their Imperial power deprived, imprisoned, banished many Patriarchs, and set up new in most of their places, restoring only some of them, as Zonaras, Cedrenus, Entropius, Nicephorus, and the Magdeburgian Centuriæ record. <sup>n</sup> An. 804. after the death of the Emperor Nicephorus, slain in his wars against the Bulgarians, when Stauratius his son, Crowned Emperor by his father, came to Adrianopolis, wounded in that battel, et magistratum quorundam studio Imperator est declaratus: he intending to leave the Empire to Stauratia his Sister, married to Michael Cynopolata, and seise upon Michael to put out his eyes, thereupon she and the Senate calling the scattered Legions together in the night, declared Michael to be Emperor a little before day-breaking: Michael ubi diluxit, magnam Ecclesiam ingressus a Patriarcha Nicephoro, Imperatorio diademate est ornatus, postulato prius scripto, quo promitteret, se nulla Ecclesie statuta violaturum (to wit, of the second Council of Nice, for the setting up and adoring Images in Churches) neque Christianorum sanguine manus contaminaturum esse, as Zonaras informs us; Entropius thus relates it, Porro, Nicephorus Patriarcha scriptum a Michaelē propitiæ manus erexit de recta fide, et ut sine sanguine manus a Christianis servaret, ac de sacris hominibus seu Monachis, et de toto Ecclesiastico Catalogo, ne percuterentur ab illo; which he not only performed, but also of his bounty donavit Patriarchæ anni libras L. & Clero xxv. Post dies aliquot Procopiam uxorem Augustam salutavit,

vir, & Coronabit in Triclinio, multisque donis liberalibus auxit Senatum. Omnes autem Patricios et Senatores, Sacerdotes et Summos Sacerdotes, et militantes Monachos et Pauperes, tam in Regia Urbe quam in Themaribus degentes locupletabit. Stauratius autem acclamatione hujus audita, statim comam torondit, & Monachicis indutus vestimentis, per Simeonem Monachum, implored the Patriarch and Michael to save his life; for which end he thus suddenly became a Monk, which request he obtaining soon after died of his wounds, cum duos duntaxat menses & sex dies imperasset. This president or Charter is the first promise (not Oath) demanded from, or given by any Roman Emperor or King I read of at his Coronation, for confirming the Churches, Bishops, Monks Privileges; not to be punished by him; and the first of rewards given to Patriarchs, Bishop, Priests, Monks, Senators, and that by a forcible Usurper, to secure his usurped Empire to him and his son; who soon after Filium Theophylactum Imperatorio nomine dignatus est, et a Patriarcha diademate ornandum curabit. But this could not secure the Empire to them, nor Patriarchship to Nicephorus, nor yet their persons against Gods retaliation; for Michael being routed in a battle by the ° Bulgarians, as Nicephorus was, and flying to Constantinople, thereupon Leo stirred up the remainder of his Legions against him, as he had done against Stauratius, who proclaiming Leo Emperor, Michael upon the tydings thereof, potestatis insignia Leoni misit, eoque Regiam ingressus, cum uxore & liberis in eadem qua est in Pharo, supplex confugit. Inat avulsi, Michael in insula Photia Monachus factus vitam exegit, Theophylactus filius ejus, qui Imperator appellatus fuerat, virilibus exaltis cum matre & fratribus est relegatus. Hunc exitum habuit Michaelis imperium cum id biennium tenuisset: As for P Nicephorus the Patriarch, who Crowned him and his Sonne, and likewise Leo, in ambone majoris Ecclesie, (but without any Oath, Charter, or promise, like that of Michaels) he deprived him of his Patriarchship, and banished him to Præconetra upon this account. Leo being very zealous against Images, and the Institutions of the second Council of Nice, (which Michael at his Coronation promised him not to violate) eas omnes tolli iussit, by the persuasion of a Monk, a quo imperium sibi prædictum fuerat. Cumque Patriarcham Nicephorum in suam sententiam pertracturus esset, ille verò acriter adversaretur, & editum illud & scriptis & orationibus impietatis argueret, vitum relegat. Nicephoro sua Ecclesia pulso, in ejus locum introductus est Milessenus Theodotus, qui sacra Cathedra indigne conscensa, cum Imperatorem suffragatorem haberet and aliter in sacras imagines grassatus est. After Leo, I finde these Emperors of the West, viz. a Michael Balbus, Romanus Lacapeni, Nicephorus Phocæ, Theodora, Constantinus Monomachus, Nicephorus Botaniata, Crowned by the Patriarchs of Constantinople, without any unction, oath, promise, or Writing whatsoever: and Theophylus the Emperor crowning his Sonne Michael with a Diadem, and declaring him Emperor: Constantine the sonne of Leo crowning and declaring his sonne Romanus Emperor, vota faciente Theophylacto Patriarcha Joannes Zimisca, filium suum Basilium Diademate & Imperatorio nomine ornat, & Alexius Comnenus, qui Johannem filium ipse Imperio ornavit. Romanus Lacapeni crowned his Empreffe himself, and Alexius Comnenus did also the like. I read that Johannes Zimisca who most barbarously murdered his Sovereign Nicephorus Phocas the Emperor, and usurped the Empire by force and treachery, after he had restored those Bishops whom Nicephorus had banished, qui ei libris subscribere recusarunt, quo sanxerunt, ne quis Pontifex se inficio designaretur; Deinde in magnam Ecclesiam abijt, ut ibi diademate ornaretur; sed Polyuctus Patriarcha eum ut cade Pollutum, ingredit eadem sacram non est passus. Quam increpationem Zimisces a quo ferens animo, pro defensione attulit, se eadem suis manibus non perpetrasse, sed Abalantem, & Azyphotheodorum Theophanonis jussu Nicephorum sustulisse. Contra Patriarcha postulavit, ut Theophano Regia pulso relegaretur, et Nicephori percussores in exilium agerentur, et liber ejus mentionem fecimus, faceretur, et ipse pœnas daret. Ille se omnia facturum pollicitus, statim missis satellitibus Theophanonem Regia educit, librum ad se allatum facerat, et quas præbatus opes habuisset, se distributurum pauperibus promissit. Huius facti natali Servatoris & Dei nostri, simul in Ecclesiam admittitur, simul diademate ornatur, Theophanone in Præconesum relegato. Sic appellatus Imperator, cum magna Antiochia Pontifice caveret, Monachum quendam Theodorum, qui Imperium ei prædixerat, neque festinare aut rapere, sed numinis designationem expectare jusserat, Pontificem nominavit. This Patriarch by Crowning this bloody Usurper upon these precedent conditions, (whom he should have totally refused) gained a revocation and rescinding of that lawfull Book and Imperial Priviledge, (as prejudicial to the Churches Liberties) which prohibited any to be made or assigned a Bishop, without the Emperors privy. Some years after, Michael surnamed Senex being made Emperor, by the Empresse Theodora, when she lay sick despairing of life, by advice of her familiars, a qua statim diademate redimitus: sanctissimo prius juramento adactus est, se nihil sine illozū consensu in Imperatozū admistrationibus decreturum. Not long after by fraud and practise he was persuaded by Michael Patriarch of Constantinople and others to resign the Empire to Isaac Comnenus; Paulo post Comnenum aperte Imperatorem salutarunt, etiam Patriarcha suffragante & adjuvante (against their Oaths to him;) qui Michaeli nunciaret, ne cunctaretur, & præmium suffragii postularat, et Imperatozi insolentius nunciaberat, ut Regia decederet. Quo nuncio à primariis Sacerdotibus accepto senex Michael percontatus est, quod sibi præmium pro Imperio daturi essent? Illi respondentes, Regnum cæleste: statim insignibus abjectis Regia decellit. At Comnenus, firmato Imperio, eos à quibus adiutus fuerat, liberalissime est remuneratus. Patriarcham magnopere veneratus est, & fratris ejus filios magnis honoribus affectos, superbis magistratibus præfecit. Præterea, in Patriarchæ gratiam, etiam Ecclesiasticarum rerum procuratorem Ecclesiæ attribuit. Nam cum ad id usque tempus & magnus Oeconomus, & vasorum custos ab Imperatore designari solet: utrunque id munus Patriarchæ potestati subiecti, amota publica auctoritate. Hereupon, though the Emperor thus settled grew very proud, yet as Zonaras stories, Neque vera Patriarcha superbia illi cedebat, sed imperare illi volebat, ac si quando non impetrasset ea quæ petierat, ægre ferebat, increpabat: denique minabatur, quemadmodum Imperium illi contulisset, ita se idem illi erepturum. Quæ cum talis Imperator ferre æquo animo haud utique posset, prohibuit, ut malum daret potius quam ferret. Cum igitur Patriarcha in suum Monasterium, ad festivitatem cælestium copiarum, quæ ibi solebantur, splendidius celebrandam iturus esset: missa illuc cohorte militum (nec enim eum ex Ecclesia verbi divini sapientiæ abellere voluit, ne vel Cleri vel populi motus oriretur;) et ipsum et nepotes ejus relegat. Deinde, de abrogando illi Patriarchatu cogitans, opera quorundam primariorum Sacerdotum nititur, & Pselli, variarum & absurdarum criminationum coacervatoris, quas in oratione contra illum scripta congessit, & per quosdam viros significat, ut simulet, se ultro Pontificatu cedere, quem altoqui inbitus cum publica infamia sit amissurus. Ut autem ille refragabatur, Imperatoris de ejus exhortatione sollicitudinem mors sustulit. Nicetas Chronicata renders us this Account of the Coronation of Manuel Comnenus. Facta igitur re divina pro declaratione & Imperii auspiciis, de Patriarchi throni successore & ecclesiastica functionis gubernatore deliberat, a quo in templo Domini Corona Imperatozū ornaretur; Nam Leo Scyppiora morte rebus humanis exemptus erat. Proinde sententiam cum cognatis, Senatoribus & Sacerdotibus communicat; qui Michaellem Acuti Monasterii Monachum designabant, virum & virtute celebrem et literis nostris eruditum: Is igitur Patriarcha declaratus eum a quo undus erat, bicissim unguit, Imperatorioque diademate ornabit, sacram ædem ingressus. And of young Alexius his Coronation; he writes; * Andronicus auctor est coronandi Alexii (Comneni) eumque in humeros elatum lacrymans in magna Ecclesiæ ambonem pertulit, atque inde retulit, ut patrem pietate superare videretur, & adolescentis Imperatoris præsidium haberetur, cum ipse aliud habebat in mente, ac Davidicum illud agitaret, elatum me allisit.

The Epistle to the Reader.

Upon the death of Johannis Duca the Greek Emperor, Theodorus Lascaris his sonne and heir, totius populi suffragiis est creatus Imperator, in clypeo sedens, more à majoribus accepto, as <sup>a</sup> Nicephorus Gregorius stories; <sup>b</sup> Georgius Pachymerus informs us, Imperatorio clypeo insidet, is qui Imperio designatur, ac pedibus primam imperatoris insignis ornatis & manibus, hinc Pontificum inde Procerum elatus, Imperatoris hymnus & plausibus ab omnibus celebratur. to accept it, Arsenius Monachus (about the year 1262) Patriarcha creatus communi Pontificum sententia & suffragio, Imperatore maxime approbante, et Pontificum illud suffragium (uti mox est) confirmante, Imperator a Patriarcha unctus et diademate ornatus est; without any Oath, promise or Charter mentioned in the Greek Historians. This Emperor falling into a deadly sickness, Moriens, Muzalonem, cum Patriarcha Curatorem Imperii reliquit, aonem filium Joannes sextum tunc agente annum ad maturam aetatem advenisset: This Patriarch and Muzalo (generally hated by the Nobles) to secure the person of their pupil, and Muzalo from danger, caused the Nobles to take two Oathes one after another; the last whereof (more sacred than the former) was in this form. Jurant omnes tam Nobiles quam ex plebe militari; sibi que ac familia sua quilibet exitium imprecantur, si quod jurassent, sancte servarent, ac Muzaloni tutelam, Imperatoris vero filio Imperium insidiarum expers, et inbiolatum, ad omnem ejus posteritatem tuerentur. Within few dayes after at the Emperors funeral, the Soldiers entering the Temple with drawn Swords, barbarously slew Muzalo who fled to the holy table, with others of his adherents, and so terrified the Patriarch, that he resigned the custody of John, to Michael Palaeologus, till he should come to age: who aspiring after the Empire, tum honoris causa, populi Romani, tum etiam ad statum interregni firmandum, Despotæ titulo ornatur, tam a Patriarcha, quam a filio Imperatoris: Soon after, viri auctoritate & nobilitate praestantes circa Magnesium clypeo insidentem Michaelem Palaeologum, Imperatorem appellant. Quo Patriarcha Arsenius audito, vehementer perturbatus, puero metuebat: ac primum in animo habuit, tam eum qui appellatus esset Imperator, quam qui appellasset, sacris interdicere. Deinde mutato consilio, moderatius & melius esse ratus est, eos sancto jurejurando astringere, ne vel pueri vitæ insidientur, vel de Imperio illi per vim aut fraudem eripiendo cogitent; itaque factum est Calendis Decembris. Sed priusquam mensis elaberetur, iis ipse qui hac timebat, & illa ipsa pro securitate pueri egerat, suis manibus, in sacro suggestu Michaelis Palaeologi capiti coronam imponit, et Imperatoris diademate virum ornat, sententia Senatus & sacri ordinis impulsus. Caterum non perpetuum illi decernit imperium, sed quod tum rebus ita cogentibus, id ab eo administrandum esset, donec legitimus illius haeres & successor adolevisset: tum vera illi soli cedendum esse ultro & solio Regio, & omnibus Imperii insignibus. Atque hæc sanctiore jurejurando quam prius firmabit: Post hac Arsenius relicta sede Patriarcha, se in maritimum Paschatii Monasterium quiescendi causa contulit: Causa illius secessus fuit Joannis contemptus. Whose eyes being soon after burnt out by Palaeologus to make him incapable of the Empire; thereupon after many complaints Arsenius Palaeologum sacris interdicat: who patiently endured his censure for some space to pacify the Patriarch; but not complying with him, he thereupon impeached him of several crimes, deprived him of the Patriarchship, banished him, and promoted Germanus to the Patriarchship: who not long after deserting it, upon the clamors of the people, that he usurped the See living Arsenius, the Emperor made Joseph Patriarch in his stead: by whose advise, to ingratiate himself with the people, and expiate his sinnes, Imperator Michael, cum Patriarcha primum sacrificium in Ecclesia cum ceteris Pontificibus peragisset, ante vestibulum sacri suggestus prostratus, duo sua peccata, perjurium, et filii Imperatoris excommunicationem proferretur, sibi que condonari petit. Primus igitur Patriarcha illi jacenti astans, condonationis singularem quandam, ac post eum Pontifices suo quisque ordine eandem recitarunt. Ita latus discedit Imperator tam ob illam condonationem, quam quod Deum etiam sibi placatum & reconcilatum existimabat, though he restored not the Crown to the right heir, whose eyes he thus put out. From whence I shall observe, 1. That this usurping of the Empire by this perjured Emperor, was the ground of the Patriarch imposing a New Oath upon him at his Coronation. 2ly. That his perfidious violation of this Oath, encouraged the Patriarch to excommunicate him. 3ly. That this excommunication was the occasion of this Patriarch's deprivation and banishment by this usurper. 4ly. That this Usurper to ingratiate himself with the people and Prelates, made a public confession of his perjury, and crime in putting out the eyes of the right heir, and received public absolution both from his crime and sentence thereupon, by a Writing made under the new Patriarch's and Bishops hands.

After

The Epistle to the Reader.

After which this perjured Usurper about the year 1270. to secure the Empire to himself and his posterity, <sup>d</sup> Andronico filio suo Annam Pannoniam desponsavit, simulque illum insignibus Imperii ornat, in his life time; and for securing his own life, Empire, and priviledges of the Greek Patriarchs, Clergy, (to induce them to crown him without opposition) he prescribed his son this Coronation Oath by the Patriarchs advise. Cum Andronicus insignibus Imperii à patre Michaele Palæologo ornaretur, ipse patri jurat, se Dei Ecclesiam pie veneraturum, ejusque privilegia modis omnibus culturum, et inviolata conservaturum esse: (A Clause never inserted into the Oath, Writing, promise of any precedent Emperor) Postea, se bitant et Imperium patris sui expertem insidiarum usque ad ejus obitum pro virili conservaturum. His peractis, omnis Romanus populus usitatum iuramentum Andronico novo Imperatori dedit. Patriarcha vero et Collegium Sacerdotum iuramentum suum præscriptum, in sacros codices retulerunt: se et successores suos, ejus Imperio non esse insidiaturos, profitentes. Pater autem permisit, edictis subscribere rubris literis, ceterum sine mense & indictione: sed, Andronicus, Christi gratia Imperator Romanorum.

Soon after this Oath prescribed and taken, <sup>e</sup> Charles King of Italy, and Earl Baldwin, raising great forces to besiege Constantinople, and unite the Empire thereof to that of Germany, by the Popes intligation; to prevent this danger Palæologus the elder sent Embassadors to Pope Gregory, to mediate an accord between the Greek and Roman Churches; Cujus hac tria Capita fuerunt; Primum, ut in sacrorum voluminum Psalmodiis Papæ, cum quatuor Patriarchis mentio fieret. Alterum, ut liceret cuivis Romam veterem, quæ Curia majore et perfectior est, appellare. Tertium, ut illi Principatus in omnibus deferretur. Which agreement was so much opposed by the Patriarch Joseph, that he deserted his See, and the Colledge of the Priests mutinied the people against him: whom he could not pacifie by his perswasions, nor yet by imprisonments, exiles of Beccas, & other Patriarchs, Bishops, Priests who obstinately opposed this accord; which rendred him so odious, that, post obitum Græcorum Imperatorem Palæologum sacra arcent Sepultura Constantinopolitani Sacerdotes, quod Romanæ Ecclesiæ sententiam in Concilio Lugdunensi amplexus esset; whereupon he was privately buried in the night by his sons command prociat à castris, vix plebeia sepultura, multa terra obrutus, id solum cavens, ne à feris discerneretur. After which, the Patriarchs of Constantinople grew so rebellious and refractory against the Emperors, that they were either banished, deprived by them, or resigned their Patriarchships when they could not have their wills. Whereupon they made choyce of aged, simple, and illiterate persons to be Patriarchs, who through ignorance and simplicity were most apt to obey them, <sup>f</sup> ut dicto eis obedientes sint tanquam mancipia et nullo ipsius verbo refragentur; no Oath at all (for ought I find) being imposed on the succeeding Emperors, whether crowned in their Fathers or Grandfathers life, or after their deaths, witness the <sup>h</sup> Coronation of Michael Palæologus the sonne of Andronicus 4. Nonas Februarii, octava Indictione.

Moreover it is observable, that in the form of the Coronation of the Greek Emperors collected by <sup>y</sup> Johannes Cantachuzenus about the year 1330. (afterwards Emperor himself) seconded by Codinus, and printed in <sup>z</sup> Mr. Sellen, there is no mention of any Oath, condition or promise at all made by the Emperor at his Coronation to the Patriarch, relating to the Churches or Clergies priviledges or Liberties, only Patriarcha in formam Crucis VERTICEM Imperatoris, sacro unguento perluit, & elato voce addit, Sandus: Quod si adest Imperator antea coronatus, cum Patriarcha nobis Imperatori coronam imponit, & exclamat Patriarcha, dignus, &c. Tum descendit de ambone Imperator, & paratam ibi Coronam à propinquis, aut Eunuchis, eam similiter tenentibus, uxoris capiti imponit (according to their ancient Custome, not the Patriarch) quam maritum Imperatorem adorans, ita se illi subjektam profertur. Hæc igitur modo Imperator Conjugem suam coronat. Si antea Corona ipse indutus fuit, inter sacra nuptiarum id facit. After which follow some prayers, without any Oath or promise exacted from him by the Patriarch, to prevent all such Usurpations over the Emperors by their Patriarchs, as some of them exercised, and Popes usurped by degrees over the German Emperors by their Coronations.

The Epistle to the Reader.

The Custome of Crowning the German Emperors, and anointing them on the Crowns of their heads at first, like the Roman, (since translated by Pope Innocent the Third to their shoulders or arms,) <sup>2</sup> was derived to them from the Greeks, as Onuphrius, and Mr. Selden inform us.

The first Emperor Crowned in Rome by any Pope, was <sup>a</sup> Charles the Great, Anno Christi 800. crowned by Leo the Third (after his purgation upon Oath on the Holy Evangelists made before Charles, as his restorer, and Sovereign Judge of the Crimes objected against him,) cuncto Romano populo acclamante, Carolo Augusto A DEO coronato (originally, but only ministerially by the Pope) Magno et pacifico Imperatori Romanorum, vita et dignitate. Post quas laudes, unctus oleo ab Apostolico in templo Sancti Petri, a CAPITE usque ad pedes, et circumdatus Imperatoria veste atque Corona 8 Kal. Januarii, Indictione nona, antiquorum jure Principum, ab eo adoratur, (not the Pope by him) et ablato Patricii nomine, Imperator & Augustus appellatur; without any Oath, Promise, homage, fealty or subjection then made by him to the Pope, or Roman Church; But on the contrary, Charles then received from this Pope, a Priviledge to elect and invest both the Pope, and all Archbishops, and Bishops in his Empire, as <sup>b</sup> Ludovicus Pius his Sonne did, An. 815. and the Emperor Otto the 1. An. 964. who deposed Pope John the 13. expelled Benedict, (set up by the Romans without his license) created, and afterwards restored Leo the 8. who confirmed this priviledge, and Crowned him Emperor. Yea Henry the 5th, (though set up by Popes in his deposed Fathers stead, by tyranny, war, rebellion, for defence of this Priviledge of Invesitures) when he came to Rome to be Crowned by Pope Paschal the 2d. not only received <sup>c</sup> a new Charter of the premised Priviledges granted to Charles the Great, from this Pope and his Cardinals, subscribed with their hands, seals, and ratified by their solemn Oathes; but likewise refused to take any corporal Oath to them to confirm his Covenants and agreement, upon their release out of Prison; dicens, Imperatores nemini jurare debere, cum sacramentorum sacramenta ab omnibus sunt sibi adhibenda; as <sup>d</sup> Hermoldus expressly records. Which proves this Oath of Fealty which Gratian inserts into his <sup>e</sup> Decrees, as made by the Emperor Otto to Pope John before his coming into Rome to be crowned, to be an Imposture, since mentioned by no old Historians, yea contradicted by Ottoes deposing John, setting up another in his stead, and the new Priviledge of Invesitures granted him by Leo at his Coronation; Juramentum Ottonis quod fecit Domino Papa Joanni. Tibi Domino Joanni Pape ego Rex Otto promittere et jurare facio, per Patrem, & Filium, & Spiritum sanctum, & per lignum hoc vivifica crucis, & per reliquias Sanctorum, quod si permittente Domino Romam venero, sanctam Romanam Ecclesiam et te rectorem ipsius exaltabo, secundum meum posse; et vitam aut membra nunquam, neque ipsum hominem quem habes, mea voluntate, aut meo consilio, aut meo assensu, aut mea exhortatione perdes. Et in Roma nullum placitum aut ordinationem faciam de omnibus quæ ad te aut ad Romanos pertinent, sine tuo consilio; Et quicquid de terra sancti Petri ad nostram potestatem pertinerit tibi reddo, et cuticumque Italicum regimen commiserò jurare faciam illum, ut adiutor tui sit ad defendendum terram sancti Petri secundum suum posse. This Oath though forged, with some new Additions to it, Popish Canonists, Advocates hold the Emperor ought to take to the Pope, as bound thereto not only out of reverence, and spiritual devotion to the Pope and Church of Rome, whom he ought by natural right to defend, but as an Oath of Fealty, as being the Popes Vassal and inferiour, from whom he receives and holds his Crown; Upon which ground he ought to kisse the Popes feet, lye prostrate before him when crowned, serve him as his Subdeacon, yea hold his stirrop, and then lead his horse by the bridle for some space, as you may read in <sup>f</sup> Dr. Marta, and others quoted by him; whose Arguments <sup>g</sup> Antonius de Rosellis (a learned Lawyer under the Emperors Sigismund and Frederick the 3.) recites, and then refutes in a special Chapter, to which I refer you. What Oathes of fealty and allegiance Popes have since extorted from the German Emperors at their Coronations, & by depriving those who opposed their usurpations by tumults and wars raised against them, and setting up Usurpers in their steads,) will appear by these 2. Verses engraven by the insolent Pope Innocent the 2. on the walls of his Palace in Rome, after he had crowned<sup>b</sup> Lotharius Emperor.

Rex venit ante foras, jurans prius Tobis honores;
Post homo fit Papp, sumit quo dante Coronam.

I shall only observe, that<sup>i</sup> Popish Canonists, and Romish Doctors from the Popes Coronation of Emperors and Kings, argue his absolute Spiritual and Temporal Monarchy over them, as their Sovereign Lord; because they receive their Crowns and unction from him. A meer ridiculous consequence, because as they are both real and actual Emperors, Kings, before and without their Coronations, so Popes and Prelats are but their<sup>k</sup> meer Ministerial Officers therein, to anoint and set their Crowns upon their heads, when, where, and by what Bishops they please to appoint, (as the Nobles are who carry their Imperial Robes, Crowns, Swords, Scepters, and perform other Services at their Coronations,) as they likewise are when they baptize, marry them, not their Lords: else if this Argument holds firm, the Cardinals who elect, consecrate, crown the Pope himself, and his Confessor who absolves him, must be his Lords Paramount both in his Spiritual and Temporal pretended Monarchy; and every Bishop who consecrates his Metropolitan, must thereby become his Sovereign, and absolved from all subjection to him; which will prove fatal to the Popes Supremacy, and to Patriarchs, Metropolitans, Archbishops Hierarchies. All Pontificians therefore must renounce this Argument, and subscribe to the resolution of<sup>l</sup> Thomas Waldensis, (a great stickler for the Pope, Bishops, yet ingenuous in this particular.) Quamquam ministerio Episcoporum solennitates adhibentur Regibus unctionis, susjurandi, fidei et coronæ, non tamen habet Regia illa dignitas ortum a Sacerdotio, quamquam per Ministerium Sacerdotis habet a Deo: sicut nec ordinatus quisquam habet ordinationis ortum a Presule, aut Sacramentum Eucharistiæ a Sacerdote quolibet celebrante; ab homine enim est solennitatis ministerium, Deus vero solus largitur efficium: not the Pope or Bishops.

I shall now passe from the Emperors to the Kings of France. After Charles the Great and Ludovicus Pius, were anointed Emperors by Popes at Rome, for defending them and that Church against their enemies, and declared it to be their duty, ut defensio, et exaltatio vel honor Sanctæ Dei Ecclesiæ congruus maneat, et pax et justitia in omni generalitate populi magis confirmetur; the Kings of France who were no Emperors, began to be crowned by their own Bishops, who thereupon contrived and imposed an Oath upon them at their Coronations, to advance their own Prelacy and Canons; which Oath, as<sup>n</sup> Peter de Marca Archbishop of Paris observes, ea mente eisque verbis olim ita conceptum fuit, ut Reges tempore inaugurationis suæ, CUSTODIAM CANONUM subditis suis promitterent, Quod eo pertinebat, ut sponderent nec a se violandos Canones, nec ab aliis. Extat illius Sacramenti antiqua formula, quod Philippus 1. patre Henrico Rege superstito, ac illius auctoritate præstitit, anno 1059.

Ego Philippus, Deo propitiante, mox futurus Rex Francorum, in die ordinationis meæ promitto coram Deo & sanctis ejus, quod unicuique de vobis et Ecclesiis vobis commissis CANONICUM PRIVILEGIUM, et debitam legem atque iustitiam conserbabo, et defensionem quantum potero (adsubante Domino) adhibebo, sicut Rex in suo Regno, unicuique Episcopo et Ecclesiæ sibi commissæ, per rectum exhibere debet. Populo quoque Nobis credito dispensationem legum in suo jure consistentium, nostra auctoritate concessurum.

Hujus formula totiora verba (adds Marsa) transcripta sunt ex ea quæ Hincmarus Remensis Archiepiscopus a se conceptam Ludovico Balbo Caroli Calvi filio porrexerat, cum Regnum Compendii suscepturus ungeretur Anno 877. q Capitula Caroli Calvi, Tir. 35. post Caput 3.

¶ Sciatis, me unicuique in suo Ordine secundum sibi competentes leges tam Ecclesiasticas, quam mundanas, legem & iustitiam conservare: Quod etiam repetitum est in secundo capite conventus apud Carisiacum habiti. In eandem sententiam Reges Galliarum se deinceps usque ad hæc nostra tempora iurejurando adstrinxerunt, et formulis diversis. By virtue of this Coronation Oath, he informs us, that Philip the 4. and Charles the 6. and 7. of France, held themselves obliged to defend the Rights of Bishops, their Canons, and Ecclesiastical discipline. The Ceremonies, Prayers, Unction and Oath used at their Coronations in later ages, you may peruse in <sup>r</sup> Mr. Seldens Titles of Honor, and Laurentius Bochellius his Dicerta Ecclesia Gallicana, l. 5. Tit. 2. De Consecratione & Coronatione Regis Franciæ, c. 1. who cap. 4. inserts a learned Epistle of Ivo Carnotensis to the Pope, justifying his Coronation of Lewis King of France, against the complaint of the Archb. shop and Church of Rheims, who pretended that the Right of Consecrating the French King belonged only to them, refuting this their Monopoly by sundry presidents of French Kings Crowned elsewhere by other Bishops, in other Churches, asserting this claim of theirs to be warranted by no Law, nor Custome, and to be prejudicial to Kings themselves, as well as to other Bishops and Churches.

I shall not insist upon the Unctions or *Coronations of the Kings of Jerusalem, Spaine, Hungary, Denmarke, Sweden, Poland, Norway, Sicily, Scotland, or their Coronation Oaths, which were not ab origine, but came in by degrees in later ages, by the Practise of their Bishops, to advance their Jurisdiction and Power over them, as their Vassals; witness this Magisterial resolution of <sup>r</sup> Martinus Landensis, <sup>r</sup> Dr. Marta, and other Canonists, Omnes Reges qui unguntur ab Ecclesiâ, sunt Galli Ecclesiæ; ergo idem dicendum est de Imperatore; & nullus est Regum qui non sit subditus Romanæ Ecclesiæ. When these forraign Kings began to make any Corporal Oathes to Popes or their Metropolitans at their Coronations, I cannot certainly determine, only it is observable, that the Kings of Sicily (claimed by Popes as St. <sup>r</sup> Peters Patrimony, and thereupon usually crowned by them) never used to take any Corporal Oath upon any occasion, by the Custome of that Kingdom; therefore not at their Coronations, as is evident by this Epistle of William King of Sicily to our <sup>r</sup> King Henry the 2d. Anno 1176. in answer to the request of his Messengers, Qui & postulaverunt instantius, (to confirm a Marriage-contract between his daughter and this King with his Corporal Oath) ut idem manu propria juraremus: Quod quia regni nostri semper, et nostris fuit progenitoribus insuetum PERSONALITER JURARE, non durimus expedire. Quare prædicti nuncii vestri quaesierunt, ut sicut ab honorabilibus personis feceratis illud in anima vestra jurari, sic et nos similiter in anima nostra fieri faceremus. Nos equidem, et quod a nostris nunciis in vestra præsentia constitutis super concessione matrimonii ex parte nostra juratum est, ratihabitione firmamus, et quod vobis præsentibus in anima vestra juratum est, grato assensu recipimus, ac si manu propria jurassetis, cum unum et idem putemus Sacramentum quod vel manu propria fit, vel in anima subentis et præsentis juratur. If then the Kings of Sicily never used in that or former ages to make or subscribe any Corporal Oath with their own hands; Whereupon this King refused, though importuned to ratifie this marriage agreement with such an Oath, submitting only, that his proxies should swear for him on his Soul, as King Henries likewise did, it is certain they then never made any personal Oath to the Pope, or their Metropolitans at their Coronations; and probably very few Kings else, till succeeding ages.

regni Diadema suscepit. Post Marciā Tilius sumpto diademate regni gubernaculo positus est. Post Gorbōnianum, Arthgallo frater ejus Regio diademate insignitur. Defuncto Eliduro, suscepit Gorbōniani filius regni Diadema. <sup>b</sup> Post Heli, Cassibellanus in Regem sublimatur, moxque ut Diademate insignitus fuit, &c. contigit ut totius regni Monarchia sibi cederet: During his reign Julius Caesar invaded our Isle of Britain: Cui successit Tenuantius, Diademate igitur insignitus regnum in diligentia obtinuit, Anno Christi 124. Defuncto Coilo, filius ejus unicus, cui nomen erat Lucius, regni Diademate insignitus est, who soon after <sup>c</sup> embraced the Christian Religion, and was baptized, (being the first Christian King in this Isle, or world) and converted the Heathenish Archflamines Sees in this Isle into Archbishopricks, and the Flamines into Bishopricks, as our ancient Historians generally write, though our greatest Antiquaries of modern times refuse it, as fabulous. He deceasing without issue, after many Conflicts between the Britains and Romans, <sup>d</sup> Triumphatus Romanis, cepit Asclepiodorus regni Diadema, et Capiti suo, populo annuente imposuit; without any Archbishop, Bishop, or Priest. Postea insurrexit in Regem Asclepiadorum, Coel Dux Colecestrix, & praelio confecto eum peremit, regnique diademate sese insignivit. Not long after Constantius the Emperor arriving in Britain, made a firm league with Coel, who dying 8. dayes after, insignivit se Constantius regni Diademate, duxitque filiam Coel, cui nomen erat Helena, on whom he begat Constantine the Great, to whom he gave the Kingdom of Britain at his death, 11 years after; who also obtained the Empire of the world. <sup>e</sup> Octavius usurping the Crown, he gave his daughter together with the Realm to Maximianum, cum Diademate: who being slain at Rome, thereupon <sup>f</sup> Gratianus Municeps cepit Regni Diadema, et sese in Regem promovit. During whose reign the Britains being infested by the Scots, Picts, Norwegians, and the Romans after several requests being unable to aid them, they thereupon An. 435. sent Guithelin Londoniensis Archiepiscopus to Aldroenus King of Little Britain in France, proffering him the Kingdom, to ayde them against these insulting enemies; who refusing it for himself, recommended his Brother Constantine to them, furnishing him with souldiers to assist them. Cum grates ei egit Archiepiscopus, vocato Constantino, ei in hac verba arrisit: Christus vincit, Christus imperat, regnat Christus; Ecce Rex Britannia desert, Adsit modo Christus. Ecce spes nostra et gaudium. Who presently arriving in Britain, and obtaining a victory over their enemies by his own and the scattered British forces resorting to him: Facta intra Cicestriam concione, erexerunt Constantinum in Regem, regnique Diadema capiti ejus imposuerunt, Anno Christi 435. Defuncto Constantino, An. 455. there being a difference between the Nobles which of his sonnes should succeed, Constans his eldest sonne being a professed Monk, & Vortigernus Comes Gewissanorum qui omni nisu in regnum anhelabat, goes to Constans at Winchester, perswading him to accept the Regality; who maximo gaudio assented to him, & quicquid calcebat ipsum velle, iurejurando promittebat. Caput igitur eum Vortigernus, duxitque Regis ornamentis indutum Londonias, atque vix annuente populo, in Regem erexit. Tunc defunctus erat Guithelinus Archiepiscopus, nec fuit alius qui ipsum inungere præsumeret, quia ex Monacho transferebatur. Nec tamen idcirco postposuit Diadema, quod ipse Vortigernus vice Episcopi capiti ejus imposuit. Sublimatus igitur Constans, totam Justitiam regni Vortigerno commisit, &c. who soon after suborning his guard of Picts to murder Constans, <sup>h</sup> Tandem cum neminem sibi parem conspexisset, imposuit capiti suo Coronam Britannia, An. 454. Magnates Britannia Regem Vortigernum penitus deferentes, unanimiter Vortimerum filium suum Regem sublimaverunt. Anno 464. Merlin prophecied, interfecto Hengesto Ambrosius coronabitur. Non mora, crastino die applicuit Aurelius Ambrosius; convenerunt itaque Britanni, & convocato regni Clero unxerunt et erexerunt Aurelium in Regem, regnique Diadema capiti suo imponens, &c. After whose death, Anno 498. Ucher Pendragon cum festinatione Wintoniam venit, & convocato populo regni & Clero, Britannia Diadema suscepit, annuentibusque cunctis sublimatus est in Regem; After whose death, defuncto Rege, convenerunt Pontifices cum Clero regni et populo, & ipsum infra Choream Gigantum more Regio humaverunt. ## The Epistle to the Reader.

Of his or Cadwalladers the two last British Kings Unctions, there is no express mention in our Historians, of any Coronation Oath, or promise made by them or any British King, much lesse to maintain the Churches or Clergies Liberties.

As for our first Saxon Kings who expelled the Britons, and by their swords erected their several kingdoms, there is no mention of their Coronations or Unctions in Beda, Florentius Wygorniensis, Simeon Dunelmensis, Henry Huntingdon, or other of our antient Historians. The first of our Saxon Kings presented to us with a Diadem, is Aidulf King of the East-Angles, about the year 674. After him, upon the expulsion of Beorred King of Mercia for his Tyranny, Offam P in Regem tam Clerus quam populus coronabit, An. 758. who stamped a Crown on his coyns; whose successors used several forms of Crowns till the Conquerors time; which you may view in Speeds History, and Mr. Seldens Titles of Honor. The first Saxon King we read to be anoynted, was Egbert, about the year 790. whom his father King Offa, loving his ease, ante mortem suam in Regem inundum successorum dimisit. Ille sedulo paterna immanitatis vestigia declinans, privilegia omnium ecclesiarum, quæ seculo suo genitor attenuaverat (by severing all the Bishopricks in his Kingdom from the See of Canterbury) p̄ona debotione rebocavit; Prædium quoque quod Pater Malmesburix abstulerat, reddidit in manus Cuthberti tunc illius loci Abbatis, heretatu Athelardi Archiepiscopi Cantuarix, strenni sanè & Deo digni viri; most likely at his anoynting him King; as the coherence of the story intimates, he living but 4. moneths after. Anno 854. Ethelwlfus Rex filium suum Ælfredum (being but 5. years old) magno nobilitum & etiam ignobilium numero consipatum, maximisque muneribus honorifice Romam transmisit, quo tempore Dominus Leo Papa 4. Apostolica sedi præerat, qui præfatum infantem Æthelredum oppido ordinans, UNXIT IN REGEM; (sui patris rogatu) & in filium adoptionis sibi mat accipiens, confirmavit; as Asserius Menevensis his Tutor, Simeon Dunelmensis, (who adds, & ad patriam atque ad Patrem cum benedictione Sancti Petri Apostoli direxit) Florentius Wygorniensis, Radulphus de Diceto, Johannus Bromton, and others out of them relate. William Malmesburien writing of his advancement to the Crown, An. 872. after Ethelwlfus death, records, Ælfredus filius Ethelwulphi junior, qui unctionem Regiam et Coronam a Papa Leone olim Romæ susceperat, ut prædiximus, regnum accepit; without any new Unction or Coronation that wee read of. Matthew Westminster stories, Anno Christi 854. Rex magnificus Occidentalium Saxonum Ethelwulphus, cum honore maximo Romam profectus, duxit secum Ælfredum filium suum juniorem, quem ceteris omnibus plus dilexit, ut à Papa Leone moribus pariter & Religione informaretur ibidem (which Florentius Wygorniensis, and the premised Historians refer to the year next after his premised mission thither, and Unction) ubi cum anno integro Rex cum filio demoratus fuisset, fecit filium suum ibi a Papa in Regem coronari; atque ad patriam rediens; exortatus est contra Regem prædictum quorundam Magnatum conspiratio, ita quod facta conspiratione ab Ethelbaldo filio Regis primogenito, & Scirburnensi Episcopo Altano, cum Eandulfo Somerfatensis pagi Comite, quod à Roma repatrians nunquam reponeretur in regnum. Causa una erat, quod filium minorem Ælfredum, quasi aliis à regni sorte exclusis, in Regem Romæ fecerat coronari; Whereupon he divided his Realm between himself and his eldest sonne Ethelbald. Our elegant Historian Ælfredus Abbas Rievallii informs us, that this King, Ælfredum filium suum minorem misit Romam, ut sanctissimorum Apostolorum precibus commendaretur, & à Summo Pontifice benediceretur. Venerabilis autem Summus Sacerdos Leo cultum & statum pueri contemplans, cum in eo divina presentiam majestatis scintillantium virtutum indicis persensisset, tempus & aetatem regnandi Regis unctionis Sacramento præbeniens, sicut quondam sanctus Samuel puerum David, ita eum in Regem sanctissimus Pæsul debotissime consecravit. Verum postmodum cum Patre Romam repetens, paternorum honorum in omnibus cooperatur & adjutor esse promeruit. To which he subjoynes of King Edward, A famosissimo quippe & christianissimo Rege Aluredo omnium Regum Angliæ sanctus Leo Papa in ipsa urbe Roma consecravit et unxit in Regem, generatione sextus. Hence Johannes de Bromton writes, Regiam unctionem primus omnium Regum a Papa, ut scribitur, accepit. And William Thorn in his Chronicle affirms, Iste Ælfredus fuit primus Rex Angliæ qui inundus erat. Yet Mr. Selden thinks this Unction was only at his Confirmation, and was mistaken for his Royal unction at his Coronation, by all these Historians; (which is improbable) those who were confirmed in that age being anointed with holy Chrisme in the foreheads.

After this I find frequent mention of our Saxon Kings consecrations at their Coronations by their own Metropolitans or Bishops, but none of them by the Pope: for the very next year after, <sup>c</sup>An. 855. Eadmundus ex profapia antiquorum Saxonum originem ducens, provincie Orientalium Anglorum culmen regiminis suscepit, anno à nativitate sua 13. ab omnibus regionis illius Wagnatibus et populis Rex electus, et ad regimen multum renitens compulsus, ab Humberto Helmhamensi Episcopo, in villa Regia qua Bures nuncupatur, munus consecrationis accepit, et coronatur.

King Ethelred deceasing <sup>l</sup>Anno 1016, post multas hujus vite tribulationes, Canutus the Dane then invading and possessing a great part of the Realm: Post mortem ejus, Episcopi, Abbates, Duces, & quique Nobiliores Angliæ, & maxima pars Regni, tam Clericorum quam Laicorum, in unum congregati, pari consensu, ad eum in Suthamptoniam venientes, in Dominum et Regem sibi Canutum eligerunt, omnemque progeniæ Regis Ethelredi coram illo abnegando repudiantes, pacem cum eo composuerunt, et fidelitatem juraverunt: Quibus et ille JURAVIT. Quod et secundum Deum et secundum sæculum fidelis esse vellet eis Dominus. This is the first solemn Coronation Oath I find made by any of our Kings, and that by a foreign invader, usurper of the Crown, upon the abjuration of the Right heir, and Saxon royal Line by treacherous perfidious Bishops, Abbots, Clergymen, Nobles, to establish him and his posterity in the Royal Throne. Cum hereupon, after his pilgrimage to Rome, more advanced the Privileges of the Clergy then any of our former Kings, putting them only to their purgations for Capital crimes whereof they were accused before the Bishops, the<sup>m</sup> original ground of exempting Clergymen from secular Jurisdiction for capital crimes, and of other ineroachments in succeeding ages. At Cives Londonienses, & pars Nobilium qui eo tempore consistebant Londoniæ, Clitonem Eadmundum unanimo consensu in Regem lehabere, qui à Levingo Dorobornensi Archiepiscopo chiepiscopo apud Londonias consecratus est; without any Oath at all, like his predecessors, being right heir to the Crown; who soon after conquered Cnut in 5. set battles, and had probably for ever driven him and the Danes quite out of the Realm, had those perfidious Prelates, Nobles, and others who revolted to, and Crowned Knut for their King, adhered to him, and those Saxons who crowned him being their lawful King. After Cnut's decease, <sup>a</sup> Harald his reputed Son, regni Angliæ diademate insignitus est; without any mention of his Uncion or Oath. He dying about 4. years after, An. 1040. Hardecnute then in Flanders, was sent for by the unanimous consent of the Nobles, as well English as Danes, as right heir to Cnut, ut ad Angliam veniret, Regni Diademâ suscepturus. Qui consiliis Magnatum illico adquiescens, ætate media venit in Angliam, & gratanter ab omnibus susceptus, ab Eadmo Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo in Regem est consecratus, regnique solio mox sublimatus, apud Londoniam, without any Oath.

After his short reign, <sup>o</sup> Anno 1042. ejus frater Edwardus (stiled the Confessor) annuente Clero & populo Londoniis in Regem eligitur, & ab Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi Eadmo, & Eborac. Alfrico, cum sibi subiectis Episcopis in Regem magna pompa apud Wintoniam (or Westm. as others story) coronatur, ungitur, et consecratur, prima die Paschæ Nonas Aprilis; not one of our Historians making mention of any Coronation Oath then ministred unto or taken by him; only William of Malmesbury stories, that before his arrival in England, when he was sent to by the Nobles to be Crowned, upon terms proposed to him by Earl Godwin, Nihil erat quod Edwardus pro necessitate temporis non polliceretur; ita utrinque fide data, quicquid petebatur (privately by Godwin) Sacramento firmabit, before his arrival in England. I find Archbishop Stratford in his insolent Epistle to King Edward the 1. (wherein he advanceth the Popes, Bishops Authority, Canons, Constitutions, above the Crowns, Lawes, Customes of Kings and Emperors, who must subject their necks to them; and that Clergymen are not obnoxious to any Secular Powers, Judges, for Capital offences, but only to their Bishops, by the Lawes of King Cnut) affirms, Sanctus etiam Edwardus in regnum Angliæ sublimatus, PRIUS JURAVIT, se Leges Canoni Regis indiolabiliter servaturum. And then asserts, that the Church was in possession of the Liberties he contended for, tribus temporibus Regum libertatum linguarum Insulæ prædictæ, et præcipue et indubitanter tempore Sancti Edwardi, who ratified the Lawes of Knut. I must acknowledge, that in the Laws of <sup>a</sup> King Edward the Confessor, cap. 17. (not in Cnut's) I find this Law inserted, De Regis Officio, & de jure & appendiciis Coronæ regni Britannicæ. Rex autem, quia Vicarius summi Regis est, ad hoc est constitutus, ut regnum terrenum, & populum Domini, et super omnia sanctam veneretur Ecclesiam ejus, et regat, et ab injuriis defendat, et maleficos ab ea ebellat, et destruat, et penitus disperdat. Quod nisi feceris, nec nomen Regis in eo constabit, verum testante Papa Joanne nomen Regis perdit, &c. (After which followes in a different Character, as an additional Appendix since annexed to this Law.) Debet verò de jure Rex omnes terras & honores, omnes dignitates, & jura & libertates Coronæ regni hujus in integrum cum omni integritate, et sine diminutione observare, et defendere; dispersa et dilapidata, et amissa regni sura in pristinum statum et debitum viribus omnibus rebocare, &c. Debet vero Rex Deum timere super omnia et diligere, et mandata ejus per totum regnum suum servare. Debet etiam sanctam Ecclesiam regni sui cum omni integritate et libertate, juxta Constitutiones Patrum et prædecessorum servare, sobere, manutenerere, regere, et contra inimicos defendere, ita ut Deus præ cæteris honoretur, et præ oculis semper habeatur. Debet etiam bonas leges, et consuetudines approbatas erigere, præbas autem delere, et omnes a Regno deponere. Debet judicium rectum in regno facere, et justitiam per consilium Procerum regni sui tenere. Ista vero debet omnia Rex in propria persona, inspectis et tactis sacrosanctis Evangelis, et super sacras et sanctas reliquias coram regno, et Sacerdotio, et Clero IMARCE, antequam ab Archiepiscopis et Episcopis regni coronetur. From whence sundry persons have concluded, that King Edward the Confessor, yea all or most of our Saxon Kings before him at their Coronations, took such an Oath as this Law mentions, before they were Crowned by the Archbishops and Bishops; but finding no mention of any such Oath prescribed to him or his predecessors, in any of our ancient Historians, rians, and some Clauses thereof being transcribed verbatim out of the Great Charter of King John, and Henry de Bracton, I cannot but esteem it a figment of punier times, after such Oathes imposed on succeeding Kings by our Bishops at their Coronations, to enlarge, support their own and their Churches Jurisdictions, privileges, beyond their antient limits.

As for the Coronation Oath mentioned in Bracton, viz. That the King (of England) at his Coronation ought BY AN OATH taken in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, to promise these 3. things to the people subject to him. Imprimis, se esse præcepturum, et pro viribus opem impensurum, ut ECCLESIE DEI & omni populo Christiano vera pax omni suo tempore observetur. Secundò, ut rapacitates, et omnes iniquitates, omnibus gradibus interdicat. Tercio, ut in omnibus judiciis aequitatem præcipiat & misericordiam, & quod per justitiam suam firma gaudeant pace universi: without any Clause concerning King Cuntes Lawes, or defence of the Churches Liberties, it relates not to Edward the Confessors Law or Oath. It is very true, that the Pope and Prelates taking advantage of this King Edwards extraordinary devotion and simplicity, encroached some more privileges then they had before, especially the Monasteries of Westminster and Ramsay, as his Charters to them demonstrate; which he thus prefaced; Summum Regibus et Principibus bonum est sanctam Ecclesiam Dei exaltare et honorare, quia cum eam exaltant et honorant, cum ea; et in ea, et per eam exaltantur et honorantur; Which though true in a right sence; yet not as abused, to the diminution of the Rights, Prerogatives, Revenues of the Crown, the Common Lawes of the Realm, or Laymens Liberties, or to advance the Prelates, Clergy above them, as their Lords paramount, who then engrossed to themselves alone, the Title of the Church, excluding the Laity, whereas this King included the Christian Laity within the Title of the Church, as well as the Clergy.

After this King Edwards funeral, An. 1066. Comes Haroldus, contra statum & Injurandum, contemptor præstitæ fidei (to wit, to William Duke of Normandy, that he should succeed Edward) ac nequiter oblitus sui Sacramenti, throno Regio se intrussit, per Archiepiscopum Eboracæ Aldredum solemniter coronatus, as Ingulphus Abbot of Croyland living in that age, relates. Florentius Wygorniensis, Radulphus de Diceto, Eadmerus, Roger de Hoveden, Grafton, and others story; Haroldus Comes Godwini filius, quem Rex ante suam decessionem Regni successorem elegerat, a totius Angliæ Prælatibus ad Regale culmen electus, eodem die ab Aldredo Eboracensi Archiepiscopo in Regem est consecratus, without mentioning any Oath proposed to or by him. Yet Matthew Paris, Matthew Westminster, and some others story, extorta fide à Majoribus, capiti proprio imposuit Diadema, sibi Regnum sine Ecclesiastica auctoritate imponendo asseruit, unde Papam Alexandrum, et omnes Angliæ Prælatos sibi creabit inimicos: being loath this their acquired privilege of Crowning Kings should be interrupted, as if thereby they received their Crownes and Regal authority from them alone, and that upon such Conditions, Oathes as they should prescribe them. But though Harold when Crowned King by Archbishop Alfred took no Coronation Oath, yet Florentius Wygorniensis stories of him, Por ut regni gubernacula suscepit, leges iniquas statuere, æquas cepit condere, Ecclesiarum et Monasteriorum patronus fieri; Episcopos, Abbatas, Monachos, Clericos, colere simul et venerari; to obtain their favour and assistance; he being as (a) Ingulphus, (b) William Malmesbury, (c) Ailredus Abbas, (d) Henry Huntindon, (e) Mat. Paris, (f) Mat. Westminster, the Chronicle of (g) Bromton, (h) Henry de Knyghton, (i) Thomas Walsingham, (k) Mr. Fox, (l) Mr. Lambard, (m) Speed and others, stile him a perjured Usurper of the Crown, to which he had no colour of Title, but by a feigned designation of King Edward, by which also William of Normandy claimed it, when as Edgar Athelin had the sole legal hereditary right and title to (d) Hist. l. 6. it, as all Historians accord.

as (though a bastard) near allied to Edward the Confessor, who designed him to be his heir and successor, (his sword proving more successful than Harold's;) refused to be crowned by Stigand Archbishop of Canterbury, (whom he soon after deprived, imprisoned till his death,) but was crowned by Alfred Archbishop of York, (though he consecrated and crowned Harold King) who prescribed him an Oath, as <sup>o</sup> Simeon Dunelmensis, <sup>p</sup> Florentius Wygorniensis, <sup>q</sup> Roger de Hoveden, <sup>r</sup> Thomas Stubbs, and others thus relate. Ipsa Nativitatis die ab Aldredo Eboracensium Archiepiscopo apud Westmonast. in Regem totius Angliæ sublimiter coronatum trunxit, et consecravit honorifice, prius (ut idem Archiepiscopus ab eo exigebat) ante Altare Sancti Petri Apostoli, coram Clero et populo JURE JURANDO PROMITTENS, se velle Sanctas Ecclesias ac Rectores earum defendere, (which Clause occurs not in any former Oath) necnon et cunctum populum sibi subiectum iuste et regali providentia regere; Rectam legem statuere et tenere; rapinas, injustaque judicia penitus amovere, or interdicare. <sup>s</sup> William of Malmesbury one of our exactest Historians, living in or near that time, renders his Oath thus, without this first Clause; Exhortatus Aldredus consecrationem egit, tracto prius coram omni populo JURAMENTO, quod se modeste erga subditos sgeret, et æquo iure tam Anglos quam Francos, tractaret. The <sup>t</sup> Chronicle of Bromton thus relates the story of his Coronation and Oath. Cumque Willielmus Dux Normanniæ, Conquestor Angliæ, tyranni nomen exhorresceret, & nomen legitimi Principis induere vellet, à Stigando Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo in Regem petiit consecrari. Ille vero, ut quidem dicunt, cruento viro, & alieni juris invasori manus imponere formidans, nullatenus acquievit: unde licet ipse Willielmus eundem Stigandum ut noverat, multis modis blandè honoravit, ipsum tamen nunquam postmodum cordialiter amavit, &c. Requisitus igitur Eboracensis Archiepiscopus Aldredus, vir utique bonus & prudens, intelligensque cedendum esse temporis, & divina nequaquam resistendum ordinationi; Hoc modo hominem ferocissimum spirantem adhuc, minarum & cadis in populum mitem reddidit, & religionis pro conservanda republica, tuendaque Ecclesiæ disciplina sacramentis adstrinxit, & in ipso proximo sequenti die Nativitatis Domini post victoriam de pradieto Rege Haraldo habitam, Londoniis apud Westm. hoc munus implevit, ipsumque Regem Willielmum ad iura Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ tuenda et conservanda, populumque suum recte regendum, et leges rectas statuendum, sacramento solemniter adstrinxit. <sup>u</sup> John Peckham Archbishop of Canterbury in his arrogant Epistle to King Edward the first in the 9. year of his reign, affirms; Willielmus etiam Rex, cui sanctus Edwardus regnum contulit, Leges ipsius Sancti servandas esse concessit, as if he promised it by his Oath at his Coronation. But this was no expresse clause in the Oath prescribed him by Aldred at his Coronation, but in a subsequent Oath Anno 1072. (as Speed computes it) when King William entering into a Parley with the English Nobility (who intended to set up Edgar Atheling King, for violating their ancient Laws, and introducing new) he by Archbishop Lanfranks advise, taking his Oath upon the Holy Evangelists, and the Reliques of St. Alban the Martyr, (the Oath being ministrred to him by Abbot Frederick of St. Albans, elected Captain of the forces then raised against him.) <sup>x</sup> Iurabit bonas et antiquas regni Leges, quas sancti et pii Angliæ Reges, et maxime Rex Edwardus statuit, inviolabiliter observare. Et sic pacificari ad propria lati recesserunt; which Clause was afterwards inserted into sundry of our Kings Coronation Oathes. This <sup>y</sup> Archbishop Aldred from his very Crowning and prescribing this Coronation Oath to King William, grew so insolent, and exercised such authority over him, like a Father, ut cum ille cæteris imperaret, ab eo sibi imperari æquantimur sneret. I shall instance only in two memorable particulars: The Sheriff of <sup>z</sup> York by this Kings Writ seising upon some provisions of this Archbishops to victual the Castle of York, refusing to restore them upon his demand, the Archbishop thereupon repaired to the King for reparations to Westminster; Cum autem venisset coram Rege, & Rex ei assurgere & osculum porrigere parasset, ille substitit, et cum baculo Pontificali stola circumdatus, nil bertus Patestatem Regiam, neque astantium Principum proterbitam, eum talibus verbis allocutus est. Audi, inquit, Willielme Rex, cum esses alienigena, & Deo permittente, nostræque gentis superbiam puniente Regnum Britannia, quamvis multò cum sanguine optinuesses, ego te in Regem consecrabi, et coronam capisti tuo cum benedictione imposui; Nunc autem quia ita meruisti, pro benedictione maledictionem tibi imponam, sicut Ecclesie Dei Persecutori et Ministrozum ejus oppressori, et promissionum atque juramentorum quae mihi coram Altare Sancti Petri furasti, transgressori. Ad haec verba Rex tremefactus procidit ad pedes ejus, humiliter afflagitans, ut in quo tam grabem meruisset sententiam aperiret. Qui vero assistebant Regi Primates regum in Archiepiscopum frementes, minisque et terrozibus adversus eum insurgentes, ipsum merito de medio debere tolli, vel in exilium extra Regnum expelli, qui tanto Regi tantam injuriam irrogasset, urgebant eum ut Regem quam citius erigeret. Ille vero non minus vel terrozibus territus, Sinite, inquit, boni viri, sinite illum jacere; non enim jacet ad pedes Aldred, sed ad pedes Petri Apostoli. Debet enim experiri Petri potentiam, qui non est veritus Petri Vicario irrogare injuriam. To which I shall adde another insolency of his towards this King, upon the same account that he was crowned and blessed by him, thus recorded by <sup>a</sup> Malmesbury. Cum Rex importabilis tributi pensum à Provincialibus exigeret, convenit eum per legatos Antistes, quos agere admissos cum turbulento responso abegisset; non moratus ille, maledictionis telum in illum et omnem ejus vizabat progeniem. Praefatus; Posse se maledictionem dare merito, qui benedictionem dedisset immerito; quod cum relatum esset Regi amicorum admonitione delinquit misit, qui Episcopum exorarent. Veruntamen praevenerat Nuncios mors Antistitis, qui ex agitudine animi (ut plerumque fit) contracto morbo decubnerat, because he could not have his will in all things.

King William the Conqueror being sick, devised Normandy to Robert his eldest sonne; the Realm of England to William Rufus his second; and a great summe of money to Henry his youngest sonne, and then deceased 27 Sept. 1087. in Normandy. Whereupon <sup>b</sup> Willielmus filius ejus, qui cum regni fastidia fratri suo Roberto, praeferere gestaret et Lanfrancum, sine cujus assensu in regnum asciscere nullatenus poterat, sibi in hoc ad expletionem desiderii sui non omnino consentaneum inveniret, herens ne dilatio suae consecrationis inferret ei dispendium cupiti honoris, cepit tam pro se, quam per omnes quos poterat FIDE, SACRAMENTOQUE Lanfranco promittere, suppetiam, aequitatem, et misericordiam se per totum regnum, si Rex foret, in omni negotio servaturum, PACEM, LIBERTATEM, SECURITATEM ECCLESiarum CONTRA OMNES DEFENSURUM, necne praecipis atque consiliis ejus per omnia et in omnibus obtemperaturum. Sed cum post hac in regno fuisset confirmatus postposita pollicitatione sua (made to Lanfranc in Normandy, not at his Coronation as Eadmerus stories) in contraria dilapsus est. Super quo cum à Lanfranco modestè redargueretur, et ei sponsio fidei non servatae opponeretur, furore succensus. Qui, ait, est qui cuncta quae promittit implere possit? Ex hoc igitur non rectis oculis super Pontificem intendere valebat. After this Oath and promise thus made, he hasting into England with Lanfranc. <sup>c</sup> Sexto Kal. Octobris die Dominica in Westmonasterio à Lanfranco Archiepiscopo consecratus est in Regem; quo auctore et annitente coronatus. <sup>d</sup> Gervasius Dorobornensis in the life of Lanfranc writes. Convocatis Episcopis & Primoribus Angliae, Lanfrancus elegit Willielmum filium Regis, sacrabit et coronabit in Regem: hunc enim antea educaverat & militem fecerat: Not one of our Historians mention any Oath administered to, or taken by him at his Coronation; Soon after all the Norman Nobility but Lanfranc, resolving to make Robert his elder Brother King of England, and to deliver him up prisoner to him, or murder him; raising up arms against him for that end in several places. <sup>e</sup> His auditis, Rex fecit congregari Anglos, et ostendit eis traditionem Normannorum, et rogavit, ut sibi auxilio essent eo tenore, ut si in hac necessitate sibi fideles existerent, meliorem legem, quam bellent eligere, eis concederet, legesque promissit exoptabiles, et omne injustum statutum interdidit, et concessit omnibus sylvas suas et venationem: (an apparent evidence he made no such Oath or promise to them at his Coronation) Sed quicquid promissit parvo tempore custodivit. Yea he bore such a secret hatred to Lanfranc for exacting the promised Oath and promise to him, and reprehending him for breaking it, that he banished him the Realm for a time as some write, and immediate-redigi jussit, &c. keeping the Temporalities near 5. whole years in his hands before he advanced another Archbishop to that See. Nec ista quæ diximus Ec-clesia Cantuariensis facta sunt, defavit immanitas ista etiam in cunctis filiabus, qui viris suis, Episcopis scilicet Abbatibus decedentibus, in viduitatem ea tempestate, cadebant. Et quidem ipse primus hanc luctuosam oppressionem Ecclesiis Dei indixit, nullatenus cum ex paterna traditione excipiens. Destitutas ergo Ecclesias solus in Dominio suo tenebat, as Eadmerus, then living complains. Thus Lanfrank and our other Prelates endeavouring to exalt, enlarge the Liberties and Priviledges of the Church, by advancing William to the throne, putting by Robert, and obliging him by Oath, to preserve the peace, Liberties, Immunities of the Church against all men, and to obey their precepts, counsils intirely in all things; were by divine retaliation more frustrated of their expectations and pretended or real Liberties by him, then by his Father the Conqueror.

William Rufus being slain by casualty or rather treachery in New Forest An. 1100.
(thereupon as our ancient Historians relate;) Cum Magnates Angliæ ignorarent quid actum esset de Roberto Duce Normannorum, Regis defuncti fratre primoge-nito, qui jam per quinquennium in expeditione Hierosolymitana moram pertraxerat, timuerunt diu sine regimine vacillare. Quod Henricus fratrum ultimus & juvenis sapientissimus, cum callide cognovisset, congregato Londoniis Clero Angliæ & populo universo, promissit emendationem legum, quibus oppressa fuerat Anglia tempore patris sui et fratris nuper defuncti, ut animos omnium in sui promotionem accen-deret et amozem, et ut illum in Regem susceperent et patronum. Hereupon the Bishops and Clergy, to regain and enlarge their Priviledges, Ad hæc Clero re-spondente & Magnatibus cunctis, quod si animo volente ipsis vellet concedere, & charta sua committere illas libertates et consuetudines antiquas, quæ flozuerunt in reg-no tempore Sancti Regis Edwardi; in ipsum consentirent, et in Regem unanimiter consecrarent. Henrico autem hoc libenter annuente, et se id facturum cum suramento affirmante, consecratus est in Rege apud Westmonasterium, in die Assumptionis beata Mariæ, favente Clero et populo, cui continuo à Mauricio Londinensi Episcopo, & à Thoma Eboracensi Archiepiscopo, (in the absence of Anselm Archbishop of Canterbury) corona capiti imponitur. <sup>h</sup> Eadmerus writes, that he sent Messengers and Letters to Archbishop Anselm then in exile, to hasten his coming into England; seipsum regnumque suum, eius consilio ac moderamini se subfecturum pollicens: In ipso sua consecrationis die, bonas et sanctas omni populo Leges se servaturum, et omnes oppressiones et iniquitates, quæ sub fratre suo emeruerant in omni sua Dominatione, tam in Ecclesiis quam in secularibus ne-gociis prohibitorum et subverturum sponderat. Et hæc omnia 7US7U-
RANDI interfectione firmata per totum regnum divulgatum ire præceperat.
Cum fuerat diademæ insignitus, has libertates subscriptas in Regno, ad exalta-tionem Sanctæ Ecclesiæ, et pacem populi tenendam concessit. * Henricus Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Hugoni de Boclande Vicecomiti, & omnibus fidelibus suis, tam Franciæ quam Angliæ in Herefordscyre, salutem. Sciatis, me Dei misericordia, & communi Consilio Baronum Regni Angliæ, Regem esse coronatum. Et quia Regnum oppressum erat injustis exactionibus, ego respectu Dei & amore, quem erga vos omnes habeo, sanctam Dei Ecclesiam liberam facio, ita quod nec eam vendam, nec ad firmam ponam, nec mortuo Archiepiscopo, vel Episcopo, vel Abbate, aliquid accipiam de dominio Ecclesiæ, vel de hominibus, donec successor in eam ingrediatur, &c. This was one of the first considerable usurpations our Archbishops and Bishops made upon the Kings and Crown of England by virtue of this Kings Coronation Oath and Charter in pursuit thereof (being not next heir to the Crown, but Robert, whom they deprived of it) whereby they divested them of their ancient prerogative, to sell, farm out, or receive the fruits, profits of all or any Archbishopricks, Bishopricks, Abbies, Monasteries Temporalities during their vacancies, till their plenarties, under pretext of the Churches Liberties: and en-

ent Right, Privilege of Investitures of Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, per annum et baculum; and publickly to renounce it, to the prejudice of his Successors, in a * Council at London, Anno Dom. 1107. wherein, annus Rex & statuit, ut ab eo tem- pore in reliquum, nunquam per donationem baculi pastoralis vel annuli, quisquam de Episcopatu vel Abbatia per Regem vel quamlibet laicum manum Investiretur in Anglia; to the great impairing of the Rights of his Crown, Nobles, the disho- nour of himself and his successors, and grand advancement of the Popes and Prelates Jurisdictions. Moreover this privilege of crowning our Kings, and prescribing an Oath, Charter to King Henry when crowned, so puffed up Archbishop Ralph, (An- selmus next successor) that at the solemn Coronation of his Queen Adelicia, he imperiously commanded the King to pull off his Crown, and could hardly be per- suaded by the Nobles present not to pull, or strike it off his head in a most arrogant manner, because he or his predecessor had not set it thereon; thus related by Mat- thew Parker his successor, and others. Cum Rex post Pentecosten Londinum rediens corona insignitus in throno sederet, et tum Regina consecranda et coronanda esset, Rodolphus Archiepiscopus tunc missam celebraturus, sacris altaribus assistisset, ad- vertit Regem sedere in solio suo coronatum, & admiratus est: Sciens regni coronam se illi non imposuisse, nec illam ab alio positam se presente, jure ferre debuisset. Divertit igitur insulatus & sui Patriarchatus stola redimissus ab altari, & ad Re- gem (quia absente Anselmo, à Thoma Eboracensi Archiepiscopo, in consecratione Diadema impositum ei esset) accessit. Cui accedenti Rex comiter assurrexit. Quasi- vis Archiepiscopus, quis ejus capiti Coronam imposuisset? Ad quo Rex acmissio vultu, Mea, inquit, haud refert, ideoque neque illius memini. At Archie- piscopus atra bile percitus, inquit: Nullo id jure fecit, quisquis ille fuerit: pro- inde aut tu a gerenda Corona cessabis, aut ego ab administranda missa, nec quamdiu capiti suo hoc modo insederit, propositi negotii executor non erissem. At hac Rex nihil turbatus, vultu placido & modesto respondit: Si, ut ais, hoc Diadema ca- piti meo non jure imponitur, tu id facias, quod juri censeas contentaneum, ego non retragabor. Quo dicto, accessit propius Archiepiscopus, manusque ad Diadema Regis capiti detrahendum attollens, cum Rex etiam fibulam sub mento ligatam, qua Diadema capiti vinciretur, solveret; Procures, Regis modestiam, et Archiepiscopi tracundiam admirantes, una voce in Archiepiscopum ferebantur, in- stabantque, ne in tam solemnem Regine coronationem Regi Diadema auferret. Quorum clamoribus attens Rodolphus vir est inflexus, quin Regiam coronam de capite Regis excussisset. Eadmerus, and Gervasius Dorobornensis writes: Pontifex elevatis manibus sustulit coronam de capite Regis. Quod hi qui circumstabant insuentes, omnes clara voce Pontificem parere, et Regio capiti Coronam remittere petiverunt. Adquebit ille, et mox juxta Regem Coronatum altans, Canticum Gloria in excelsis, exorsus est, & subsequenter, ut consuevit, choro canente, missa illa quiete peracta est. Et quo perspicui possit (writes Archbishop Parker) quam intempestive et impudenter levi- tate Principis, illius generis homines abusi sunt, qui Monachali sanctitate se dig- niores relicti, et in Principes habere imperium putabant; by this pretended Right of Crowning them.

Upon the death of this Archbishop Ralph, his next successor William Corbell, to- gether with the rest of the Bishops advanced by this Kings favour, after his decease, thinking that King Henry (though very indulgent to them) used himself not alto- gether for their purpose, and that they should do God good service in providing for the better advancement of the Church, if they might set up and create a King chiefly by their especial means and authority, who would follow their Counsel better, and reform such things as they judged amiss, (as Raphael Holinshed ob- serves) contrary to their expresse Oathes to King Henry, and Maude his right heir (to crown her Queen after his decease,) most perfidiously put her by the Crown, (as they did Robert his elder brother, when they crowned him in his stead) electing and Crowning Stephen his Nephew against his and their Oaths, for their King; Wil- lielmus quoque Cant. Archiepiscopus, qui primus Sacramentum fecerat Impera- trici de regno Angliæ, Stephanum (probdolo, adds Hoveden) in Regem benedixit. The Solemnities and Prayers used at his and his Queens Coronation, are at large recorded in Gervasius Tilburienfis his Chronica, col. 1587, 1588. to which I refer you. What new Oath, Articles the Prelates and Clergy for enlargement of their Jurisdiction

The Epistle to the Reader.

Jurisdiction and Liberties prescribed to him, and what a new Prelatical Conditional Oath of fealty they took to him; <sup>1</sup> William of Malmesbury living in that age will best inform us, who relates, Anno 1135. Non multo post adventum Comitis, iuraverunt Episcopi fidelitatem Regi, (conditionally, that is, Trayt. ronsly I might say, writes <sup>m</sup> Speed) quamdiu ille libertatem Ecclesie et vigozem disciplinam conferbaret: Ipse quoque iurabit iuxta tenorem scripti, quod sic habeat in subditis. Ego Stephanus gratia Cleri et populi in Regem Angliæ electus, et a Domino Willielmo Archiepiscopo Cantuariæ, et Sanctæ Ecclesie Romanæ Legato consecratus, et ab Innocentio Sanctæ sedis Romanæ Pontifice postmodum confirmatus, respectu et amore Dei, sanctam Ecclesiam liberam esse concedo, et debitam reberentiam illi confirmo. Nihil me in Ecclesia, vel in rebus Ecclesiasticis Symoniacè acturum, vel permitturum esse promitto. Ecclesiasticarum personarum et omnium Clericorum, et rerum eorum iustitiam et potestatem, et distributionem bonorum Ecclesiasticorum in manu Episcoporum esse perhibeo et confirmo. Dignitates Ecclesiarum pibelligiis earum confirmatas, et consuetudines earum antiquo tenore habitas, inbiolate manere concedo et statuo. Omnes Ecclesiarum possessiones et tenuras, quas die illa habuerant, qua Willielmus Rex, ab us meus, fuit bibus et mortuus, sine omnium calumpniantium reclamacione eis liberas et absolutas esse concedo. Si quid vero de habitis aut possessis ante mortem Regis, quibus modo careat, Ecclesia deinceps repetierit, indulgentiæ et dispensationi meæ, vel discutendum, vel restituendum reservo. Quæcunque vero post mortem Regis liberalitate Regum, largitione Principum, oblatione vel comparatione, vel qualibet transmutatione fidelium collata sunt, confirmo: pacem me et iustitiam in omnibus facturum, et pro posse meo conservaturum promitto. Forestas, quas Willielmus Rex avus meus, & Willielmus secundus Avunculus meus instituerunt & tenuerunt, mihi reservo. Ceteras omnes, quas Henricus Rex superaddidit, Ecclesie et Regno, quietas reddo et concedo. Si quis autem Episcopus vel Abbas, vel alia Ecclesiastica persona ante mortem suam rationabiliter sua distribuerit, vel distribuenda statuerit, firmum manere concedo. Si vero morte preoccupatus fuerit, pro salute animæ ejus Ecclesie consilio eadem fiat distributio. Dum vero sedes propriis fuerint pastoribus vacuæ, et ipse et omnes earum possessiones in manu et custodia Clericorum, vel proborum hominum ejusdem Ecclesie committantur, donec pastor canonice substituantur. Omnes exactiones & mescheningas, & injustitias, siue per Vicecomites, vel per alios quoslibet male inductas funditus extirpo. Bonas Leges, & antiquas, & justas consuetudines in iudiciis, & placitis, & aliis causis observabo, & observari precipio, & constituo: apud Oxeneford Anno incarnationis Domini 1136. Regni mei primo. Nomina testium, qui multis fuerunt, apponere fastidio; quia penè omnia ita perperam mutavit, (being destructive to, and inconsistent with the ancient Rights of the Crown) quasi ad hoc tantum jurasset, ut prævaricatorum Sacramenti se regno toti ostenderet; as Malmesburienſis, and Matthew Paris too concludes almost in the same words, who recites the Heads of his Oath and Charter.

And here I cannot but observe the admirable Providence and divine Justice of God upon our perjured Bishops and Prelates; who violating their sacred Oaths to the Empreſſe Maude and her father, in disinheriting her and crowning Stephen, to advance their own Hierarchy, Canons, Liberties and Jurisdictions, to which they obliged him both by his promised Coronation Oath, Charter, and encouraged him thereby to violate them soon after; yea, made him a principle instrument to imprison their persons, seize their Castles, Treasures, and trample their Canons under feet, burn, tear the Books of the Canon Law, by which he would not be judged, and prohibit all Lectures of it by Vacarius and others in the University of Oxford, to their great disappointment, discontent; and involved the whole Kingdom in bloody wars during most of King Stephens reign, wherein these perfidious, ambitious Prelates were the greatest sufferers, as my <sup>n</sup> First Tome will at large inform you. Moreover, it is observable, how God crossed the King by his Bishops, and made them enemies to each other in the point of crowning his son; An. 17 regni sui Rex Stephanus filium suum Eustachium Regio Diademate voluit insignire: postulans igitur ab Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi Theobaldo et cæteris Episcopis, ut eum in Regem ungerent, et benedictione sua confirmarent, repulsam passus est. Papa siquidem literis suis Archiepiscopo prohibuerat, ne filium Regis in Regem sublimarent; videlicet, quia Rex Stephanus regnum contra iuramentum præripuisse videbatur. Intimo igitur dolore decolatus & ira nimia fervere, tam pater quam filius in domo quadam omnes includi iusserunt, et debementer angariantes, ut postulata peragerent, compellabant. Illi summo perterriti timore, (Rex namque Stephanus nunquam Clericos liquide dilexerat, by reason of their perjury and encroachments on the Crown, & pridem duos incarceravit Episcopos) resistere tamen, captrum suorum periculo nihil metuentes. Recesserunt tamen omnes illi, possessionibus quidem spoliati, quæ postea Rege penitente habuerunt; as<sup>o</sup> Henry Huntingdon and others story.

Upon the death of King Stephen, Anno 1154. who (after many years bloody intestine wars) to procure his peace was enforced to adopt and declare Henry the 2<sup>d</sup>, son of the Empreſſe Maud, to be both his adopted son, ſucceſſor, and right heir to the Crown. Henry arriving in England, 14. Kalendas Januarii die Dominica apud Westmonasterium ab omnibus Rex acclamatus, à Theobaldo Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo in Regem consecratur, benedicitur et inundus est, præsentibus Episcopis, & Baronibus regni Anglorum & Ducatus Normannorum; (Radulfus de Diceto addes, præſente Archiepiscopo Eboracensi & aliis Episcopis Angliæ, Rogerus Eboracensis Archiepiscopus manum non opposuit: ) hereditariæque regnum sine diminutione suscepit, congaudentibus & conclamantibus turbis, Tibat Rex; writes the Chronicle of Bromton: Astantibus & cooperantibus Archiepiscopis duobus, Episcopis 14. Comitibus & Baronibus Anglicanis et transmarinis, & innumera multitudinis plebis. Regina quoque Alienora, à Rege Francorum Ludovico repudiata, cum ipso Coronata est; as Gervasius Dorobornensis stories. Anno 1158. qui erat Annus 4. regni sui, idem Rex Henricus secundò se fecit coronari apud Lincolniam extra muros Civitatis in Wickeford. Anno Gratia 1159. qui erat Annus 5. regni sui, idem Rex Henricus terriò fecit se, et Alienor. uxorẽ suam coronari apud Werceſtre; ubi cum ad oblationem venirent, deposuerunt coronas suas, et eas super altare obtulerunt; votentes Deo, quod nunquam in vita sua de cætero coronarentur; as<sup>o</sup> Roger de Hoveden, with others story. I finde no mention of any Oath prescribed to him by the Bishops, or taken by him at either of these 3. Coronations in any of our Historians, which they would have mentioned, had he taken any; the last Oath prescribed by the Bishops to King Stephen being such, as the Bishops who opposed his Title durst not tender him at his Coronations.

NEC (sicut aiunt) A VOBIS EXACTA : (as this Pope writ to these Bishops, for which he and Becket were much incensed against them) Sed potius JURAMENTO ASSERTITUR CONFIRMATUM, ut Regni consuetudines antiquas, SUB QUIBUS DIGNITAS PERICLITATUR ECCLESIAE, illibatae debeant omni tempore observari. In quo etsi multum praeordinati Regis vehementia nos perturbat, amplius tamen de vestra et aliorum Episcoporum vestrorum possumus infirmitate moveri, qui quod dolendo diximus, facti sunt arietes non habentes cornua, &c. Noverritis itaque vos, tamdiu ab Episcopali officio, commissa vobis a Deo auctoritate suspensos, donec ad sedem Apostolicam, de tanto excessu satisfacturi, accedatis, nisi praefato Archiepiscopo ita satisfacere curaveritis, ut poenam istam ipse iudicet relaxandam. These high affronts, (together with <sup>u</sup> Becket's insolent Letter to the King, telling him; That by the Canon not Common Lawes, nor yet by the Secular power, but by the Bishops and Priests, Almighty God would have the Clergy of the Christian Church to be governed and ruled; that Christian Kings ought to submit all their doings unto Ecclesiastical Rulers, and not to preferre themselves; for it is written (in the Canon Law) That none ought to judge the Bishops, but only the Church, neither doth it pertain to mans Law to give sentence upon any such; but many Bishops have excommunicated Kings and Emperors, &c.) so highly incensed <sup>x</sup> King Henry the 2d. against Pope Alexander, that by the advise of Gilbert Bishop of London and others, he sent expresse Messengers and solemn Letters to this Pope, in quibus expresse Domino Papae denunciarent, quod nisi superbiam Thomae Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi severitatis pede contereret; Ipse, et omnes Barones Angliae, cum viris Ecclesiasticis ab ejus obedientia recederent: And the King was so extraordinarily enraged against Archbishop Becket, that he was almost besides himself; asserens, se ignobiles et ignobes homines nutritisse, quorum nec unus tot sibi illatas injurias voluerit vindicare. Whereupon 4. of his Courtiers juramento se constrinxerunt, to reduce Becket to a dutifull submission to the King, by absolving those Bishops excommunicated and suspended for Crowning his sonne; (unde videtur, quod et vellet Coronam de Capite tollere; as they told Becket;) or else to kill him; who refusing to absolve them upon the Kings Message to, and their expostulations with him, they thereupon slew him as an incorrigible obstinate Traytor, and Rebel to his Sovereign, though soon after Canonized, adored by the Pope and Clergy for a most glorious Saint and Martyr for the Liberties of Holy Church, whose blood was more effectual to save those who prayed to him, then the blood of Christ himself.

From which passages, I shall observe these three particulars; 1. What a usurped absolute power Becket and the Archbishops of Canterbury claimed, in and by reason of their frequent Coronation of our Kings, that they must not be crowned but by what Bishops they pleased, as a right belonging to them, the violation whereof, though by our Kings expresse commands in their absence, demerited the severest Ecclesiastical censures. 2ly. Pope Alexanders and Becket's outrageous indignation against the Archbishop of Torke, and other Bishops who crowned young King Henry, for not proposing to, and exacting from him a Cautionary Oath at his Coronation, for the confirmation of the Churches Liberties, which they imposed on and exacted from Henry the 1. and King Stephen, to the great derogation of the Churches honor and privileges, but only this laudable, usual Oath, perpetually to maintain the antient Constitutions and Liberties of the Kingdom, by which the pretended Liberties and Canons of the Church they contended for were endangered. 3ly. King Henry the 2. his great indignation, magnanimous Opposition and resolution against these usurpations and proceedings both of the Pope and Archbishops, as tending to his uncrowning, unkinging; threatening totally to renounce and cast off both the Pope and Church of Rome, if they did not right him therein against Becket's insolencies: and animating his Courtiers to kill him as an unsufferable, incorrigible Arch-Traytor, not worthy to breath any longer within his Dominions.

King Henry deceasing Anno 1189. Richard the 1. his son and heir repairing into England, was Crowned with extraordinary solemnity, ceremonies and prayers by Baldwin Archbishop of Canterbury, Anno 1189. die Dominica 3. Septembris: the solemnities and prayers used at his Coronation are at large related by <sup>z</sup> Raven.

King Richard deceasing Anno 1199. thereupon Earl John his brother, was crowned and sworn Duke of Normandy at Rhean, and afterwards crowned King of England, rather by election then as an hereditary King, (Arthur Duke of Britain, son of his elder brother, having the best right to the Crown, as many asserted) whose Coronation <sup>a</sup> Mat. Paris, Hoveden, and others out of them, thus relate. Comes Johannes Rothomagum veniens, in Octavis Pasche gladio Ducatus Norman- niae accinctus est, in matrice Ecclesia, per Ministerium Walteri Rothomagensis Archiepiscopi, ubi Archiepiscopus memoratus ante majus Altare in capite ejus posuit Circulum aureum, habentem in summitate per gyrum rosulas aureas artificialiter fabricatas. Et Dux coram Clero et populo jurabit super reliquias sanctorum et super Echange- lia sacrosancta, quod ipse sanctam Ecclesiam et ejus Dignitates bona fide et sine malo ingenio defenderet, et ordinatos honoraret: Juravit etiam, quod Leges ini- quas, si quae essent, destrueret, & bonas surrogaret. Per idem tempus, Dux Nor- manniae Johannes transfretavit in Angliam, & apud Sorham applicuit octavo Ka- lendas Junii, & in crastino vigilia, viz. Dominica Ascensionis, Londonias venit, ibidem coronandus. Congregatis itaque in adventu ejus, Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Comitibus, & Baronibus, atque aliis omnibus, qui ejus coronationi interesse debuerunt, Archiepiscopus stans in medio omnium, dixit: Audite universi, Noverit discretio vestra, quod nullus praebia ratione alii succedere habet regnum, nisi ab universi- tate Regni unanimiter, invocata Spiritus gratia electus, et secundum morem suorum eminentiam preelectus; ad exemplum & similitudinem Saul primi Regis inundi, quem praeposuit Dominus populo suo, non Regis filium, nec de Regali stirpe procreatum. Similiter, post eum David semi filium: hunc quia strenuum & aptum dignitati Regiae, illum quia sanctum & humilem. Ut sic qui cunctos in reg- no supereminet strenuitate, omnibus praestet & potestate & regimine. Verum si quis ex stirpe Regis defuncti aliis praepolleret, prout et promptius in electionem ejus est consentiendum. Hac idcirco diximus, pro inclyto Comite Johanne, qui praesens presens est, frater illustrissimi Regis nostri Richardi jam defuncti, qui hærede caruit ab eo egrediente, qui providus & strenuus & manifestè nobilis, quem nos, invocata Spiritus sancti gratia, ratione tam meritorum, quam sanguinis Regi unanimiter elegimus univèrsi. Erat autem Archiepiscopus vir profundi pectoris, & in regno singularis columna stabilitatis, & sapientiæ incomparabilis. Nec autem erant alii super his adhuc ambigere, scientes quod sine causa hoc non sic distinguerat. Verum Comes Johannes & omnes hoc acceptabant, ipsumque Comitem in Regem eligentes et assumentes, exclamant dicentes, WILLIAM REX. Interrogatus autem postea Archiepiscopus Hubertus, quare hæc dixisset, respondit, se præfata mente conjecturare, & quibusdam oraculis edoctum & certissimum fuisse, quod ipse Johannes Regnum et coronam Angliæ foret aliquando corrupturus, et in magnam confusionem præcipitaturus. Et ne haberet liberas habenas hoc faciendi. Ipsum electione non successione hæreditaria, eligi debere affirmabit. Archiepiscopus autem imponens capiti ejus coronam, unxit eum in Regem apud Westmonasterium, scilicet in Ecclesia Principis Apostolorum, Dominicæ Ascensionis die, sexto Kalendas Junii, Philippo Dunelmensi Episcopo appellante, sed non obtinente, ne coronatio illa fieret in absentia G. Archiepiscopi Eboracensis. In hac Coronatione Rex Johannes triplici inbolutus est sacramento: Quod viz. Sanctam Ecclesiam et ejus ordinatos diligeret, et eam ab incurssione malignantium indemnem conservaret: & quod perversis Legibus destructis, bonas substitueret, et rectam justitiam in Regno Angliæ exerceret. Deinde adjuratus est ab eodem Archiepiscopo ex parte Dei, et districtè prohibitus, ne honorem hunc accipere præsumeret, nisi in mente habeat opere, quod juraverat, adimplere. Ad hoc ille respondens, promissit se per auxilium Dei, bona fide, ea quæ juraverat, servaturum. In crastino autem, bonagiis & fidelitatibus acceptis, &c.

In this Kings Coronation ( during whose reign the Pope and Prelates usurped more, and greater Jurisdictions over his Person, Crown, Realm, than in all former Kings reigns, as <sup>i</sup> I have already evidenced ) we may observe : First, Archbishop Huberts arrogan<sup>t</sup>, cunning, disloyal speech; wherein by his own Archiepiscopal Authority (as the Grand Oracle, Pillar both of Church and State) he proclaimed before all the rest of the Bishops of England, ( being 13 in number named by <sup>k</sup> Hoveden ) besides Johanne Dublinensi, & de Kaguse Archiepiscopo, & Rogero de Sancto Andraa in Scotia, being there present and assenting to it, and before all the Nobles and people then present at his Coronation; That the Crown of England was merely Arbitrary, and elective at the peoples devotion, adding to the Lay-Peers Conditions, these his Clergy Sophismes, and second sed-plot of Treasons; implying, That as he got the Crown by election, so he might as justly lose it, by rejection or demerit, ( as he afterwards did, upon this very ground, as <sup>l</sup> John Speed observes. ) 2ly. That he prescribed him a Coronation Oath, different from, and larger in the first Clause concerning the Church, then that of King Richard the first.

In the 9th year of his reign, the <sup>m</sup> Bishops of London, Ely, Worcester, Hereford, Bath and Wells, interdicting the Realm by Pope Innocent the 3d. his command, (at the instigation of Simon Langton Archbishop of Canterbury) who afterwards at their instigation excommunicated and deprived King John of his Crown, and before his absolution by force and fraud they compelled him to take this Oath, for satisfying of 40000 Marks, and all other damages to themselves, ratified with his Charter, and the Oathes, Charters of the Nobles and other Sureties therein named.

EGO Johannes Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, Dux Normanniæ, Aquitaniæ, & Comes Andeg. præfatis juramento promitto, quod tantam pecuniam in manus venerabilium patrum S. Cantuar. Archiepiscopi, & W. London, H. Lincoln. ac E. This Oath and † Caution being given to them before their return into England, upon their arrival here soon after in the 15. year of his reign, they likewise enforced him to take these New Oaths they prescribed to him, before they would absolve him from his Excommunication, and the Kingdom from the Popes Interdict; thus related by Matthew Paris. *ⁿ Rex autem cum Episcoporum adventum cognovisset, venit obviam illis, & viso Archiepiscopo et Episcopis, cecidit p[ro]nus ad terram ad pedes eorum, lachrymis profusus, ut de se et de regno Angliæ misericordiam haberent. Videntes ergo Archiepiscopus & Episcopi tantam Regis humilitatem, (which had better became them than him) cum lachrymis illum de terra levaverunt, ducentes à dextris & à sinistris, ad ipsum Ecclesiæ Cathedralis, ubi cum Psalmo Quinquagesimo, videntibus Magnatibus cunctis, & ubertim p[re] gaudio stentibus, sicut mos est Ecclesiæ, illum absolverunt in Capitulo Wintoniensi. In hac autem absolutione jurabit Rex, tactis sacrosanctis Evangelis, (as if he were then re-crowned, and made King de novo) quod sanctam Ecclesiæ, ejusque ordinatos diligeret, defenderet et manuteneret, contra omnes adversarios suos p[ro] posse suo; quodque bonas leges Antecessorum suorum, et p[re]cipue Leges Edwardi Regis rebocaret, et iniquas destrueret, et omnes homines suos secundum justitiam suam iudicaret, quodque singulis redderet jura sua. Juravit etiam, quod omnibus ad Interdicti negotium pertinentibus infra proximum Pascha plenariam restitutionem faceret ablatorum, sin autem, in p[re]stinam excommunicationis sententiam rebocaretur. Juravit præterea Innocentio Pape ejusque Catholicis successoribus, fidelitatem et obedientiam, sicut * superius in scripto redactam continetur. These new Oaths being thus extorted from him, this Trayterous Archbishop on the 8. of September being assembled cum Episcopis, Abbatibus, Prioribus, Decanis, & Baronibus in Civitate London. apud Sanctum Paulum; In hoc colloquio convocatis seorsim quibusdam regni Proceribus cepit affari eos secretius in hunc modum, (to raise up a new Rebellion against him;) Audistis quomodo IPSE apud Winton, Regem absolvi, ET IPSUM JURARE COMPULERIM, quod leges iniquas destrueret, & leges bonas, viz. Leges Edwardi rebocaret, et in regno faceret ab omnibus observari, &c. Which Clause thus imposed on, and extorted from him in his new Oath by this Archbishop, differing from that at his Coronation, (agreeing with that extorted for the Conqueror) was afterwards inserted into the Coronation Oaths of King Edward the 3d. and Richard the 2d. by their Bishops, and is still continued.*

King John soon after at the Bishop of London's request, issued this Writ to release a Clerk imprisoned in the Fleet, from prosecuting a suit in Court Christian for a Lay-fee, against his Prohibition.

° King John departing this life An. 1217. (qui se multis exorism præbuit, tum propter tributum, quod sub perpetua servitute regnum Angliæ & Hybernæ compedit, tum propter guerram quam sua merita provocarunt, &c. viz alicuius meruit lamentatione deplozari; as Mat. Westminster writes.) Lewes the French Usurper and the Barons adhering to him being then possessed of London and Westminster, Henry the 3d. his sonne was thereupon Crowned at Gloucester (when he was but 9. years of age,) thus related by Matthew Paris. Defuncto Johanne Anglorum Rege, conveniunt apud Gloverniam in vigilia Apostolorum Simonis & Judæ, in presentia Walonis Apostolicæ sedes Legati, Petrus Wintoniensis, Jocelinus Bathoniensis, & Sylvester Wygorniensis Episcopi; Ranulphus Comes Cestrensis, Willielmus Marefchallus Comes Pembroc. Willielmus Comes de Ferrariis, Johannes Marefcallus, Philippus de Albencio, cum Abbatibus, Prioribus, & turba multâ nimis, ut Henricum Johannis Regis filium primogenitum in Regem Angliæ exaltarent. In crastino autem, paratis omnibus ad coronationem necessariis, Legatus supradictus associatis sibi Episcopis & Comitibus memoratis, duxerunt eum ad Ecclesiam Conventualem cum processione solenni, Regem acclamando. Ubi ante majus altare constitutus, jurabit coram Clero et populo, appositis sibi sacrosanctis Evangelis & plurimorum Sanctorum reliquiis, dictante suramentum Jocelino Bathoniensi, Quod honorem, pacem, et reberentiam portabit Deo et Sanctæ Ecclesiæ, et ordinatis, omnibus diebus vitæ suæ. Jurabit etiam, quod in populo sibi commisso, rectam justitiam tenebit: quodque Leges malas, & iniquas consuetudines, si qua sunt in regno, delebit, & bonas observabit, & ab omnibus faciet observari. Deinde, fecit homagium Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ et Innocentio Papæ de regno Angliæ & Hybernæ; et jurabit, quod mille marcas, quas Pater ejus Romanæ contulerat Ecclesiæ, fideliter persolveret, quamdiu prædicta regna teneret. Et his ita gestis, Petrus Wintoniensis & Johannis Bathoniensis Episcopi, ipsum in Regem ungentes, coronaverunt sollemniter eum canticis et modulationibus, quæ in coronationibus Regum solent decantari. P. Henry de Knyghton writes, Coronatus est & in Regem consecratus, astante Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo Stephano, per manum Walli, Apostolicæ sedis Legati. But Matthew Paris living and writing in that age, and Thomas Walsingham are to be credited before him, who writ but in the latter end of King Richard the 2d. his reign. Tandem expletis Missarum solenniis, duxerunt Regem cum processione solenni, Episcopi & Comites sacrosanctis, regalibus indutum, ad mensam; ubi omnes in ordine suo sedentes, epulabantur in letitia & exultatione. In Crastino autem Rex cepit homagia et fidelitates ad omnibus Episcopis, Comitibus, et Baronibus, aliisque omnibus qui aderant, et omnes ei fidelissimum obsequium promiserunt.

Wherein we may observe; 1. That King Henry by and with the advise of the Popes Legate, as well as of his Nobles, was anoynted and crowned King, not by the Archbishop of Canterbury, but by the Bishops of Winchester and Bath; and that not as an elective King, as his Father King John, and as Lewes the French Kings son, elected, crowned King by the rebellious Barons, but soon after rejected, and sent packing into France, never to return again into England. 2ly. A Coronation Oath administered to him though but an infant of 9. years, the same in substance with that which his Father King John took at his Coronation. 3ly. A new Additional Clause added to it by the Popes Legate, never taken by any King before or since, faithfully to pay the 1000. marks which his father had conferred on the Church of Rome, so long as he should hold the Kingdoms of England and Ireland, for which he made his homage to the Church of Rome and Pope Innocent before his actual Uncton and Coronation, as King. 4ly. That the next day after he received all the Homages and Fealties of the Bishops, Earls, Barons, and others, as his father did at his Coronation, who very ill observed them.

9 Anno 1220. Coronatus est idem Rex apud Westmonasterium, in die Sancta Pentecostes a Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, presente Clero & populo totius regni; or presentibus Pandulpho Legato, Episcopis, & aliis Prælati, Comitibus, Baronibus & Majoribus Angliæ; as Matthew Westminster Stories; 16 Kalendas Junii, Anno regni suo quinto; without any new Oath or Unction mentioned by our Historians (whether antient or modern) who relate it.

* In the last of those 50 Articles pro quibus Episcopi Angliæ fuerant pugnaturi, drawn up by them in the 41 year of King Henry the 3d. they thus complained, Cum Dominus Rex juraverit in Coronatione sua conservare jura et libertates Ecclesiis datas, et eas confirmaverit in principio Magnæ Chartæ, incessanter tamen a Ministris suis impugnantur, turbantur, & mutantur, non solum generales, sed etiam speciales, datas scilicet per prædecessores suos, & ab ipsis confirmatæ, & etiam de novo datas, &c. But I finde no such expresse Clause as this mentioned by our Historians in the Coronation Oath prescribed to him, as they here alledged, but only in * subsequent Oaths; by which they endeavoured to justify all their encroachments upon the Kings Prerogative and Subjects Liberties, comprised in their 50. Articles, and their Antimonarchical Constitutions made in the Council of Lambeth under Archbishop Boniface held that year, against the Kings expresse Prohibitions.

King Henry after a very troublesom, yet the longest reign of any King before or since, departing this world Anno 1272. when his Sonne Prince Edward was warring in the Holy Land against the Saracens; he was presently proclaimed King, but not crowned till after his arrival in England in the year 1274. the manner whereof is thus related by Matthew Westminster, Walsingham, and others out of them, Dominica inter Octavas Assumptionis B. Virginie, in Ecclesia Westm. Eadwardus in Regem inungitur, et Aelianora, soror Regis Hispaniæ, in Reginam, a Roberto Archiepiscopo Cantuar. xiiii. Kal. Septembr. pariter coronantur. Huic Coronationi intererant Alex. Rex Scotiæ, & J. Comes Britannicæ, cum suis uxorebus, sororibus quidem Regis Eadwardi. Et in crastino Coronationis sue recepto publicè homagio & fidelitate Alexandri Regis Scotiæ, &c. Not one Historian or Record mention any particular Oath or demand then exacted from, made or taken by him to or before this Archbishop at his Coronation. In the Patent Rolls in the second year of his reign there is only this Memorandum entred of his Coronation.

* *Memorandum, quod Edwardus Rex Angl. applicuit apud Dovor, die Jovis proxima post festum Sancti Petri ad vincula Anno Domini M.CC.LXXIV. Et die Dominica prox. sequente sollempniter coronatus fuit in Ecclesia beati Petri Westm. Anno Domini supradicto, & anno regni ejusdem Regis secundo; Without recording any Oath then taken or Promise made by him, to maintain the Bishops, Clergies, Churches pretended exorbitant Rights, Liberties, and Usurpations on his Crown or Dignity; Yet certain it is he took an Oath to maintain and preserve the rights of his Crown and the Lawes, as these Clauses and the like (frequent in sundry of his Prohibitions to Popes Delegates, Bishops, and others) evidence, Tepefcere non possumus, quin exheredationem nostram qua statum Corona nostra contigit, sicut EX SACRAMENTI VINCULO ASTRINGIMUR pro viribus evitemus. * De Coronæ et dignitatis nostræ jura depereant studiosam nos debet operam adhibere, et ad ea manutenenda et conservanda eo potius debemus esse solliciti, quo ad hoc VINCULO JURAMENTI TENERI DINOSCIMUR & ASTRINGI; he opposing the Popes and Prelates Incroachments of usurped Jurisdiction to the prejudice of his Crown, more then all his premised predecessors, as obliged thereunto by his Coronation Oath.*

His Sonne Edward the 2d. succeeding him, and reigning as a King by descent one whole year or more before he was Crowned, Anno 1309, sexto Kal. Martii, die videlicet Sancti Matthæi Apostoli Rex et Regina cum solennitate maxima apud Westm. ab Episcopo Winton. and others, (Commessione Roberti Archiepiscopi Cantuariæ esulantis, as some; or as William Thorne Stories, adhuc in Romana Curia agente, et eisdem vices suas committentis) magnifice coronatur. Cicerstrensis and Henry de Knyghton adde, these Bishops crowned him auctoritate Papæ Clementis, eo quod Robertus Cantuariensis tunc apud Romam esulabat, for his Treasons against King Edward the 1. Of which this Pope made this advantage, to interpose his usurped Authority in this Coronation: (as his predecessor did in the case case of young King Henry during Becket's exile) which yet met with some rubbs from the Nobles, who requested him to remove Peter Gaveston from his Court, sed Rex noluit consentire: idcirco proposuerunt Comites Coronationem Regiam impedire. Quod Rex intelligens, promissit bona fide, se facturum illis in Parlamento proximo quicquid peterent, tantum ne coronatio differatur; yet he ind. secretly, Coronam Sancti Edwardi (wherewith he was Crowned) tradidit Petro ad portandum manibus inquinatis; ex quo non immerito indignati sunt populus atque Clerus. Fuit autem ibi tanta congregio populi, ut nec Regi Coronato, nec Episcopis ipsum Coronaturis pepercit violentia populi, et ideo cum seditione nimia et quasi sine reuerentia fuit ista solemnizatio consummata; as Walsingham stories. What Oath they then administered to the King in this crowd and confusion, is not particularly related by any Historian or Record I have seen: Only I finde in the Register of Writs and sundry Records, that this King inserted this Clause into his Prohibitions and Writs, ad Jura Regia; Eo studiis suis nos decet operam adhibere, & sollicitum extendere manum nostram, quod ad hoc VINCULO JURAMENTI teneri dinoscimur & astringi. And that in the 14th year of his reign he refused to secure or remove from him the two Spencers till the next Parliament, upon some of the Barons demands, or to give them a safe conduct to repair to his Parliament besides his Writ of Summons, upon this ground among others; a Po. strend cum juramento addidit, quod noluit Sacrauentum violare ad quod adstrictus fuerat IN CORONATIONE SUA, concedendo literas pacis et indulgentie tam notorie delinquentibus in suis personarum contemptum, et totius regni perturbacionem, et Dissensionem Regie factionem; as those Lords were guilty of, who refused to come to his Parliament upon summons, raised forces against him and the Spencers, and yet presumed to demand his Letters of pardon for themselves and their Companions; which Clauses referr only to the second Clause in the Oath of King Edward the 2d. and 3d, concerning the peace of the Realm.

Anno gratiz 1327. Upon the forcible traycerous imprisoning, deposing of King Edward the 2d. by his Queen, and Earl Mortimer, and electing his son Edward the 3d. King in his stead, whiles living, cui Electioni consensit Archiepiscopus Cantuariæ et omnes Prelati, & Archiepiscopus assumpto themate, Mor populi, hoc Dei sermonem fecit populo, exhortans omnes, ut apud Regem Regum intercederent pro electo; Coronatus est apud Westmonasterium per Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum Walterum in Regem (qui Regem patrem plane deseruit) die Dominica in vigilia Purificationis, as Cicestrensis and Matthew Westminster; or in Conversione Sancti Pauli, viz. 8 Kalendarum Februarii, as others write. None of our Historians make any particular mention what Oath he took; I shall therefore present you with this Memorandum both of the day of his Coronation, and the Interrogations and Oath then tendred to him out of the Clause Rolls in the Tower.

Without any other Interrogation, Admonition or Clause, concerning maintaining and defending the holy Church and her Liberties. The first Clause in this Oath, was taken verbatim out of the premised Oath enforced upon King John by Stephen Langton Archbishop of Canterbury before his absolution from his Excommunication, not extant in his Coronation Oath.

I find in most of the Writs of Ad Intra Regia, (of which there were multitudes in this King Edwards reign) this Clause relating to this his Coronation Oath, quod ad hoc, or prout JURAMENTI VINCULO tenemur et astringimur. And in the printed Statutes of 15 E. 3. Parl. 1. and the Kings Proclamation for reversing it, 18 E. 3. Stat. 3. c. 1, 2. & 25 E. 3. Stat. 6. against Provisions, there are these Clauses inserted concerning this Oath: By the bond of OUR OATH, we be bound to the obserbance and defence of the Lawes and Customs of the Realm; The King as he is bounden by HIS OATH to doe the same to be kept as the Law of this Realm. The King having regard to the quietnesse of his people, which he chiefly desireth to maintain in quietnesse and peace, and to govern according to the Lawes, Usages, and Franchises of this Land, AS HE IS BOUND BY HIS OATH MADE AT HIS CORONATION.

After King Edward the 3d. departed this life, his Grandchild Richard the 2d. was crowned King. The <sup>b</sup> Petitions, Claims of Nobles and others to do special services at his Coronation, by their seniores; with the Judgements given on them; and the solemnities, Ceremonies used at his Coronation, are specially recorded at large in the Clause Roll of An. 1 R. 2. m. 43, 44, 45. with this Title to them. Processus factus in Coronatione Domini Regis Angliæ Richardi secundi, Anno regni sui primo. At the cloze whereof there is this Memorial entred. Memorandum, quod predictus Rex Castellæ & Legionis, Dux Lancastriæ & Seneschallus Angliæ, istum processum per manus suas proprias in Cancellaria Domini Regis liberavit, ibidem in Rotulis Cancellariæ irrotulandum. In which unquestionable Record, the Oath which the Archbishop of Canterbury (Simon Sudbury) then prescribed to and received from him, is thus recorded.

*Dominus Rex, &c. subsequenterque capto per prefatum Archiepiscopum Cant. Sacramento Dom. Regis corporali, de concedendo et servando cum sacra confirmatione Leges et Consuetudines ab antiquis justis et Deo debitis Regibus Angliæ, progenitoribus ipsius Regis plebi regni Angliæ concessis, et præsertim leges, consuetudines et libertates a gloriosissimo et sanctissimo Rege Edwardo Clero populoque regni predicti concessis: et servando Deo et Ecclesiæ Sanctæ Domini; Cleroque et populo pacem et concordiam integre in Deo, juxta vires suas: et de faciendo fieri in omnibus judiciis suis æquam et rectam Justiciam et discretionem in misericordia et beritate; et etiam de tenendo et custodiendo* juxta leges et consuetudines Ecclesiæ; ac de faciendo per ipsum, Dominum Regem eas esse protegendas, et ad honorem Dei corroborand. quas vulgus juste et rationabiliter elegerit juxta vires ejusdem Domini Regis: Prefatus Archiepiscopus ad quatuor partes pulpiti predicti ascendens, exposuit & enarravit universo populo, qualiter dictus Dominus Rex hujusmodi præstitit Sacramentum: inquirens ab eodem populo, Si ipsi consentire vellent de habend. ipsum Regem Dom. suum ligeum, & ad obediendum ei tanquam Regi & Domino. ligeo? Qui utique unanimiter consenserunt.* Then follow some other solemnities, and the Homages made to the King by sundry Noble men, while the Bishops were chanting their Masse. After that the manner of the Kings return from the Church to his Palace; in what Order the Bishops, Nobles, and others others sat at his Feast; and his solemn Procession to Pauls Church with his Prelates, Nobles, Trayn the next day; with the summe of their Prayers for his happy Reign and Government.

In the Parliament Roll of 1 H. 4. nu. 16 & 17. after the recording of King Richard the 2. his Renunciation of his Right to the Crown, and the Articles then publicly drawn up and read against him in that Parliament, they thus record the particular branches of the Coronation Oath which the Kings of England used to make to the Archbishop, and King Richard took at his Coronation.

Sequitur forma Juramenti soliti in consueti praestari per Reges Angliæ in eorum coronatione, quod Archiepiscopus Cantuar. ab eisdem Regibus, exigere et recipere consuevit, prout in libris Pontificalium Archiepiscoporum et Episcoporum plenius continetur: Quod quidem Juramentum Richardus Rex Angliæ post Conquestum secundum, in Coronatione sua præstitit, & ab Archiepiscopo Cantuar. erat receptum, et illud idem Juramentum dictus Rex postmodum iterabit, prout in Rotulis plenius reperiri poterit de Recordo.

Dei vobis Ecclesiæ Dei, Cleroque et populo pacem ex integro, et concordiam in Deo, secundum vires tuas. Respondebit, Verbo. Facies fieri in omnibus iudiciis tuis æquam et rectam Iustitiam et discretionem in misericordia et veritate, secundum vires tuas, Respondebit, Faciam. Concedes iustas leges et consuetudines esse tenendas, et promittis pro te eas esse protegendas, et ad honorem Dei corroborandas, quas vulgus elegerit secundum vires tuas. Respondit, Concedo et promitto. Adicianturque prædictis interrogationibus quæ iusta fuerint. Pronunciatisque omnibus, confirmet Rex se omnia servaturum Sacramento super Altare præstito coram cunctis.

Thomas Walsingham, who at large relates the Form and Solemnities of this King Richards Coronation, hath added this New Clause to the beginning of his Oath then taken, not extant in the premised Records; nor in Juramentum Regis quando coronatur, printed in Toties Magna Charta, London 1556. part 1. f. 164. After the Bishops Sermon, (writes he) Jurabit Rex coram Archiepiscopo, et Proceribus qui ibi aderant, quoniam ipse soli Juramentum audire poterunt.

Primò, quod Ecclesiæ suis permitteret gaudere libertatibus, et eam et Ministros ejus honoraret, et fidem rectam teneret; & rapacitatem, & omnes iniquitates in omnibus gradibus interdiceret.

Secundò, ut leges terræ bonas ubique servari faceret, & præcipuè Leges Sancti Edwardi Regis & Confessoris, qui in eadem requiescit Ecclesiæ, & malas leges faceret abrogari.

From which Records and Historian I shall observe: 1. That this and other our Kings Coronation Oaths were compiled by our Archbishops and Bishops, and entred by them in their Pontificals. 2ly. That they assumed this transcended Jurisdiction to themselves, to prescribe what new Articles, Interrogations they thought meet to our Kings at their Coronations, which they must solemnly promise and swear to observe, before they would crown them; for which end they inserted this Clause into their Pontificals, immediately after the Kings Oath; <sup>b</sup> Adicianturque prædictis Interrogationibus quæ iusta fuerint. Pronunciatis omnibus, Rex confirmet se omnia servaturum, Sacramento super Altare præstito coram cunctis, &c. 3ly. That they cunningly inserted into this young Kings Coronation Oath this new Clause, not extant in any former Oath, Et etiam de tenendo et custodiendo iustas Leges et Consuetudines Ecclesiæ, &c. to advance their own Ecclesiastical Laws, Canons, and Customs, made for their own grand-ur and advantage in their Convocations, without the consent of King, Lords and Commons in Parliament; and that (as I conceive) in opposition to the Petition of the House of Commons in the Parl. of 51 E. 3. some few moneths before; <sup>c</sup> That the Commoners shall not be bound by any of the Constitutions made made by the Clergy for their advantage, without the Commons assent thereto in Parliament; car euz ne deullent estre obligez a nul de voz Estatutes ne Ordinances faitz sanz leur assent : with King Edward the 3d. and other our Kings Writs, Appeals, Protestations against them, mentioned in my Epistle Dedicatory. 4ly. If Tho. Walsingham may be credited against our Records, they likewise added another new Clause to King Richards Oath, placed in the very front thereof; which they backed with these other passages inserted into their Pontificals for their own advancement, honor, protection by our Kings above all other Subjects, as receiving their Crowns, Swords, Scepters from them alone, for their special defence. For after the Kings anoynting by them on the Crown of his head, breast, shoulders, shoulder-blades, hands and boughes of both his arms, they used these speeches to him at the delivery of his Sword and Scepter. Post hac Archiepiscopus cum Episcopis tradidit ei gladium, ita dicens; Accipe gladium per manus Episcoporum, licet indignos, bice tamen et auctoritate sanctorum Apostolorum consecratas, tibi regaliter impostum, nostraque benedictionis officio ad defensionem sancte Ecclesie divinitus ordinatum, et esto memor de Psalmsa, qui prophetavit, dicens: Accingere gladio tuo super femur tuum potentissime, ut per eundem vim aequitatis exerceas, molem iniquitatis potenter destruas, et sanctam Dei Ecclesiam, ejusque fideles propugnando protegas, nec minus sub fide falsos in Christiani nominis hostes et secretis ac destruas, &c. Statim post hac, &c. Archiepiscopus datus ei Sceptrum, &c. dicens, Accipe Sceptrum Regie potestatis insigne, virgam scilicet regni rectam, virgam veritatis, qua te ipsum bene regas, sanctam Ecclesiam, populum viz. Christianum tibi a Deo commissum, (not the Bishops and Clergy only, who would appropriate the Title of the Church to themselves) Regia virtute ad improbis defendas, pravos corrigas, rectos Pontifices, et ut biam rectam tenere possint tuo subamine, dirigas, &c. Multatus est Rex Episcopos omnes et Abbates (but none of his Nobles) a quibus statim ductus est postea ad Regale solium, Episcopis inchoantibus hymnum, Te Deum laudamus. Finito hymno, Archiepiscopus ita eum allocutus est: Sta, & retine amodo locum quem hucusque paterna successione tenuisti hereditarie, indico tibi delegatum per auctoritatem Dei omnipotentis, et presentem traditionem nostram, scilicet omnium Episcoporum, ceterorumque Dei servorum; et quanto Clerum sacris Altaribus propinquiores, tanto ei potiores in locis congruis honorem impendere memineris, quatenus mediator Dei & hominum, te mediatorem plebis in hoc regni solio confirmet, & in regnum aeternum regnare faciat Jesus Christus Dominus noster. Which words and form they have since continued.

The same Solemnities, Ceremonials, Prayers, Speeches used at this King Richards Coronation, and the Interrogations, Oath prescribed to K. Edward the 3d. (without the new additions to King Richards) for ought appears to me continued without any alteration till K. Edw. the 6. together with this Petition, or Pontificale Episcoporum ad Regem, et legitur ab uno, (not mentioned by Walsingham, but in the Roman, & other of our own Pontificals, tending only to establish Bishops Canonical Priviledges, Lawes and Constitutions;) *Domine Rex, a vobis perdonari petimus, ut unicuique de Nobis et Ecclesiis Nobis commissis, Privilegium et Debitam Legem atque Justitiam et defensionem exhibeatis, sicut Rex in suo regno debet unicuique Episcopo et Abbati et Ecclesiis sibi commissis. Whereunto Respondit sic Rex, (by their prescription, before he must be Crowned) Animo libenti & devoto promitto vobis, et per dono vobis et unicuique vestram, et Ecclesiis vobis commissis Canonicum Privilegium, (defined by the Popes and their own Canons) & debitam legem & justitiam servabo, & defensionem quantum potero, adjuvante Deo exhibebo; sicut Rex in regno unicuique Episcopo, Abbati, et Ecclesiis sibi commissis, per rectum exhibere debet. But by reason of King Edward the 6. his tender years, and the changes then made in the Religion publicly professed, some Alterations were made both in the Ceremonies, Prayers, and Oath it self at his Coronation, by the Lord Protector and ten of the Privy Counsils advise, whereof Thomas Cranmer Archbishop of Canterbury, and Cuthbert Tonsall Bishop of Durham were two; who prescribed him this new Oath, different in some particulars from all preceding it.*

The Archbishop standing before the King, shall ask him with a loud voyce in manner and form following;

Will ye grant to keep to the people of England and other your Realms and Dominions, the

You shall keep to your strength and power, to the Church of God, and to all the people, holy peace and concord. I shall keep.

You shall make to be done after your strength and power, equal and rightfull justice in all your Dooms and Judgements, with mercy and truth. I shall do.

Do ye grant to make no new Lawes, but such as be to the glory and honour of God, and to the good of the Commonwealth; and that the same shall be made by the consent of your people, as hath been accustomed? I grant and promise.

Then shall the King rise out of his Chair, and by them that before assisted him, be led to the High Altar, where he shall make a solemn Vow upon the Sacrament, layd upon the High Altar, in the sight of all the people, to observe the premises; and laying his hand again upon the Book, shall say;

The things which I have before promised, I shall observe and keep: So God help me and these holy Evangelists, by me bodily touched upon this holy Altar.

At the Coronations of King James and King Charles the 1. and 2. the Interrogations to, and Oath taken by King Edward the 3d. were used and taken by them, with most of the premised Ceremonies, Prayers, passages used at King Richard the 2d. his Coronation, some whereof were omitted at King Edward the sixth. Which having <sup>a</sup> elsewhere published at large, I shall here omit.

By these Historial Collections of the Coronations of forreign Emperors, Kings, and our own British, Saxon, Danish, Norman, English Kings, by Popes, Patriarchs, Archbishops and Bishops, with the severall Oathes, promises they exacted from them, and altered, enlarged by degrees when crowned, especially when they set the Crown upon Usurpers heads, and disinherited the right lawfull heirs, you may most clearly discover, what successive encroachments they made upon their Royal Sovereignties. What strange Conclusions many Popes, Popish Bishops, Canonists and others have thence deduced, I shall here briefly inform you.

1. That all Christian Emperors, Kings, Princes, receive their Crowns, Swords, Scepters, Royalties, and Royal dignities only from Popes, Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops, as Pope Boniface the 8. with sundry other Popes, Popish Canonists, Jesuites, and our Archbishops Aldred of Torke, Ralph and Hubert of Canterbury have asserted; who are solidly refuted by <sup>b</sup> John Serpin, Advocate to King Henry the 4th. of France in his Vindicia, and others forecited.

2ly. That the Pope and every Bishop is Superior to Emperors and Kings, because without contradiction the lesse is blessed, consecrated by the greater, Hebr. 7. 7. as Emperors, Kings, are by Popes and Bishops, not they by them; Yea, Episcopus superminet Regibus, et quibuscumque aliis terrenis Principibus dignitate est preferendus, quantum plumbum vincitur ab auro: Et Sacerdotum tanto majus est Imperio et omni seculari Principatu, quanto cælum terra pretiosius, et anima est corpori preferenda; as our <sup>c</sup> Thomas Waldensis, Cardinal <sup>d</sup> Bellarmin, and others determine.

3ly. That as they consecrate, bleesse, crown them Emperors and Kings: so by the like reason they may execrate, excommunicate, uncrown them, if they violate the Oaths and Conditions prescribed to them at their Coronations: which was our Archbishop Aldreds, Ralph and Huberts doctrine, as well as Popes. Hence Pope Gregory the 9th. upon Sir <sup>e</sup> Robert de Twenge and others threshing out the corn and plundering the goods of Italian Clergy men benefited in England by Papal provisions, was so highly offended with King Henry the 3d. that in an oversharp Letter to him, he vehemently reprehended him for suffering such rapines in his Realm to be done to Ecclesiastical persons, non habens respectum ad juramenta quæ juraverat tempore Cozonationis suæ, non solum de pace Ecclesiæ manutenenda, verum etiam de recta justitia tam Clericis quam Laicis servanda. Mandavit igitur Regi in eisdem literis sub pœna Excommunicationis et Interdicti firmiter præcipiens, quatinus diligenti facta inquisitione, si quos hujus violentiæ inveniret auctores tam graviter puniret obnoxios, ut ex pœna illorum cæteris metum incuteret & terrorem.

4ly. That Emperors, Kings are but the Popes, Bishops Vassals, and their Coronation Oathes meer Oathes of Fealty to them, as their superiour Lords.

5ly. That

gly. That by these their Oathes, and the Liberties, Priviledges of the Church, the persons of Popes, Bishops, and all inferior Clergymen, are totally* exempted from the secular Jurisdiction, Judicature of Emperors, Kings, their Judges, and Courts; so that they neither can nor ought at all to imprison, condemn, execute, banish, deprive them for any capital Crimes or Offences whatsoever, but must refer them wholly to be tried, judged, purged in, by and before a Synod of Bishops, or their own Metropolitans or Ordinaries; & that they ought not to put them to death till first convicted, degraded, and delivered up by them to the secular powers. Upon which account <sup>e</sup> Adam de Arleston Bishop of Hereford in the 17. year of K. Edward the 2. being accused, arrested and examined of High Treason, before the King and all the Lords in Parliament, for receiving, ayding, counselling, maintaining Mortimer, with other Enemies of the King, and furnishing them with great store of armed men: peremptorily refused to answer his Charge without the connivance and consent of the Archbishop, and the other Bishops his Peers, because he was a Minister, a Member of the Church, and a Bishop. Whereupon the Archbishop and Bishops presently demanded him as a Member of the Church, to be delivered to their Custody and Triall: Some few dayes after the King resolving to arraign him for this Treason before his Royal Tribunal, the Bishops hearing of it, thereupon the Archbishops of Canterbury, York, and Dublin, accompanied with ten Bishops more, and a great troop of men, with their crosses born up before them, marched to the Court where he was to be arraigned, chased away the Kings Officers, took the Prisoner from the Barre by force before he had made any answer, and carryed him away with them; firmly enjoyning all there present on the behalf of God, that none of them under pain of Excommunication should presume to lay violent hands upon this Traytor to bring him back to the barr, whom they had thus violently rescued from publike Justice. The King being exceedingly moved with this unparalleled insolency and affront, as he had reason, commanded the Inquest to be impannelled in his absence; who finding him guilty of the Treason and Rebellion wherof he was indicted, according to the truth of the matter: he thereupon seised his Temporalities, Lands, Goods, and banished the Bishop; who notwithstanding his proscription, was by confederacy of these Archbishops and Bishops with strong hand kept safe from the Kings Justice, in the Archbishop of Canterbury (Walter Reynolds) his custody: And not long after, this Trayterous Prelate and his Rescuers confederating with the Queen and young Prince Edward, by force of armes imprisoned, deposed the King himself, without any Trial, Crowned his Son King in his stead; and then murdered him, by this Trayterous Bishops ambiguous unpointed Advise, Edwardum occidere nolite timere bonum est.

gly. That Kings and Emperors by the Oathes taken at their Coronations, are bound to obey, maintain, execute all the Popes, Bishops Ecclesiastical Decrees, Canons, Constitutions, Censures of Excommunication, Interdicts, Deprivation, yea of death it self in cases of Heresy or Apostacy, and to become their Bayliffs, Gaolers, Executioners, without examining the justice or legality of their proceedings or sentences, under pain of being excommunicated, interdicted, and deprived of their Offices; as not only Popes, but <sup>e</sup> Boniface, John Peckham, John Stratford, and other Archbishops of Canterbury and their Suffragans have resolved in their Convocations, and Constitutions. Hence our learned Martyr William Tyndall, in a Book printed Cum Privilegio, London 1573. complained, That the Bishops with the Pope by a certain Conspiracy and secret Treason, have with falshood taken from all Kings and Emperors their right and duties, which now they call their Fradoms, Liberties and Priviledges, AND HAVE MADE EVERY KING SWEAR TO DEFEND THEIR FALSHOOD AGAINST THEMSELVES. So that if any man shall contend to restore Kings again unto their Duties and Right, and to the room and authority which they have of God, and of shadows to make them Kings indeed, and to put the World into order again, then the Kings deliver up their swords and authority unto these Hypocrites to slay them. The Emperors and Kings are now adays but eben Hangmen unto the Popes and Bishops, to kill whomsoever they condemn, without any more ado, as Pilate was unto the Scribes and Pharisees, and the High Bishop (or Priest) to Hang and Crucify Christ. For as those Prelates answered Pilate (when he asked what ill he had done?) If he were not an evil doer, we would not have brought him unto thee; as who should say, we are

7ly. Some Popes, Popish Prelates, and Canonists both at home and abroad, have pleaded an Exemption from all Subsidies, Aydes, Taxes even for the defense of the King & Realm against foreign Enemies, unless specially authorized & approved by the Popes antecedent Bulls, as being contrary to their Coronation Oath, and the Churches Liberties. Witnesse the insolent Bull of a Pope Boniface the 8. and the contests thereupon between King Edward the 1. his Bishops and Clergy, here recited at large, before which his Predecessor Pope Honorius the 3d. seemed to be of a contrary opinion in this memorable Bull of his to the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots and Clergy of Ireland, for a liberal Ayd to King Henry the 3. thus enrolled in the Patent Roll of Anno xi H. 3. casually omitted in its proper place.

it prescribes a blinde obedience to all the Canons, Laws, prescriptions of the Archbishop or other Ordinaries and Curates. 4ly. That it subjects those persons who took it to a confiscation of all their goods to the King, for the breach of it, or any particular Clause, Article thereof, without any other legal processe, trial, conviction, and likewise to a Writ de Hæretico comburendo; though the violation of any branch thereof was never declared Heresie by Scripture, nor by any of the
4. first General Councils; nor was against any Article of the Nicene or Apostles Creeds. 5ly. That it obliged them to submit to all penances they should impose upon them, and to betray, discover to them and their Officers, both the persons, books, writings of all others reputed Lollards. By which exorbitant Oath and proceedings, the Bishops became Masters of all mens lives, liberties, estates whom they pleased to accuse of Heresie, or declared to be Hereticks, and would not wholly submit themselves to their Ecclesiastical usurped authority; which made every Archbishop and Bishop an absolute Pope within his own Province and Dio-cesse.

What strange, * &c. and Visitation Oaths, Articles, for turning our Communion Tables into Altars, and rayling them in Altar-wise against the East end of Chancels, bowing to, or towards the Altar; receiving the Communion only at their new Rayles, with other Innovations, tending to the countenancing or introduction of Popish superstition, devotion, Ceremonies, contrary to our Lawes, have of late times been rigorously imposed upon Ministers, Church-wardens and others, by Ecclesiastical censures, to the general discontent, scandal, oppression, grievance of the people, by sundry Archbishops, Bishops, Archdeacons, in their Synods, Visitations, enforcing every Church-warden to pay 4 s. 4 d. or more, for taking his Oath, and 6 d. 8 d. or 12 d. for their Books of Articles, besides extorted fees for every presentment on them; (a new extortion, against all Lawes and Canons too) their own printed Canons, Constitutions, Visitation Oathes, and Books of Articles, with the * Votes passed against them in Parliament, That they were against the Kings Prerogative, the fundamental Lawes of the Realm, the Liberty and property of the Subject, and of dangerous consequence; the Impeachments of several Bishops for them by the whole House of Commons, and the Statutes of 17 Caroli 1. ch. 17. & 13 Car. 2. ch. 12. & 13 Car. 2. ch. 1. declaring, condemning such Oaths and all others made or imposed by any Authority without the Kings Majesties royal assent, and both Houses of Parliament, to be null and void in their first Creation to all intents and purposes whatsoever, and against the fundamental Lawes and Liberties of this Kingdom, will at large demonstrate.

6ly. Some of our Archbishops of Canterbury have grown so insolent, that because some of our Kings were not crowned by them, or their predecessors in their absence, when exiled by them for their Treasons and Rebellions, as upon that account alone to pull the Crown violently from the Kings head at the solemn Coronation of the Queen; and to excommunicate all those Bishops who presumed to Crown them by their royal appointment, without their license or deputation, as the premised instances of Ralph de Turbine and Thomas Becket evidence: whose successors (like the Archbishops of Rhemes in France) have claimed it as their peculiar priviledge, to crown all our Kings, as if they had no Liberty or Prerogative left them to be Crowned by what Bishops, persons, and at what times, places themselves shall think meet to appoint, as they have frequently done.

10ly. Sundry Popes, Popish Prelates, Canonists heretofore, yea Popish Priests and Jesuites of late, have from hence affirmed, the Coronations of Emperors, Kings by them to be an essential antecedent qualification to constitute them real, legal Emperors, Kings, and that they were not such by descent or election, before they were consecrated by, and received their Crowns, Scepters, and other Ensignes of Royalty from the hands of Popes or Bishops. Upon this false pretence, Watson and Clarke, two Italianated Roman Priests, conspired with the Lords Cobham, Gray, and others to seize King James and Prince Henry his sonne at Greenwich, upon their first arrival out of Scotland, and to imprison them in Dover Castle, or the Tower, till they should obtain their own pardons, a toleration of the Popish Religion, and a removal of some Counsellors of State, or else to put some further project in execution against them; affirming to those they drew into their Conspiracy, and pleading it at their arraignments for this Treason; <sup>b</sup> That the Act was lawfull, and no Treason, being done befoze the Cozonation, soz that King James WAS NO KING OF ENGLAND, BEFORE HE WAS ANOYNTE<sup>d</sup>; and the Croton solemnly set on his Head: These Priests were condemned and executed as Traytors, but the Lords Cobham, and Gray, and other their seduced Prose-lytes were pardoned by the Kings grace, upon their acknowledgement of, and craving pardon for their Treason, grounded upon this false Doctrine. Upon this account, the Guyssian Jesuistical faction in <sup>i</sup> France asserted some few years before, That they might lawfully take up arms against, depose, murder and stab King Henry the 4. of France to death, because he was not Crotoned and anointed King by their Popish Bishops, from whom he should have received his Royal Crown and Authority; and so was no lawfull King, but a Tyrant. Which erroneous treasonable Doctrine, is largely refuted by sundry presidents, reasons in point of Law and Divinity, by <sup>k</sup> Sir Edward Cooke in Calvins case, by Dr. Cra-kensthorpe, in his Disence of Constantine, c. 14. p. 341, 342. and <sup>l</sup> Johannes Ser-evin Advocate to King Henry the 4, in his Vindicia, to whom I refer you; who prove the Coronation, Unction of Kings to be a meer Ornamental Ceremony, which many Emperors, Kings never used, received, being Emperors, Kings, by and from their very Elections, descents, without and before this Ceremony; as Historians at- test, and sundry eminent <sup>m</sup> Lawyers and <sup>n</sup> Divines resolve,

11ly. Sundry Popish Bishops and Priests have inferred from hence, that they only are the holy Church, and Gods inheritance intended in these Kings Coronation Oathes, Charters, with a seclusion of the Laity; † appropriating the Title of the Church, Clergy to themselves alone: when as they were never stiled the Church, Congregation of God, or Christ, in any one Text throughout the Old or New Testament, but the believing * Laity, Saints and people of God, as distinct from them, and they only the Ministers, Bishops, Angels, Pastors, Elders, Servants of the Church, or Church of God, whom they are to feed, instruct, and take care of, as their Servants, not Lords, as the * marginal Texts, all Expositors on them, and Mr. William Tyndall in his excellent Treatise, What the Church is, resolve and evidence; Whence the Church and Parliament of England in the 19th Article of Religion, and all Protestant Churches else in their publike Confessions, thus define the Church. The visible Church of Christ is the Congregation of faithfull men, in the which the pure Word of God is preached, and the Sacraments be duly administered according to Christs Ordinance; (not the Pope, Bishops or Clergy) and of the Authority of this Church alone, (not the Bishops or Clergy) they affirm Article 20. verses of faith, &c. yet not to ordain any thing contrary to Gods written Word; as many Popes, Bishops have done in their Councils and Synods, wherein themselves presided: Therefore the Christian people must be included under the Title of Holy Church, which our Kings swear to defend, as well as the Bishops and Clergy; and their own demands to our Kings, for themselves, and all the Churches committed to their Care, with the forms of Institutions to Churches, evidence the people rather to be the Church then themselves, who are but Overseers Pastors and Curates of the Church.

12ly. Popes and Popish Prelates have from hence usurped a power to impose and enforce upon Emperors, Kings, and other Laymen whom they have interdicted or excommunicated, a cautionary Oath, De stando et parendo mandatis Ecclesie, before they would absolve them; now lately revived by some, against the expresse Custom, Lawes, Liberties of our Realm, declared and sworn to by all the Bishops and Nobles of the Realm in the Parliamentary Great Council held at Clarendon under King Henry the second: Yet they themselves by several Canons declare, that no Pope nor Bishop ought to swear or take an Oath before any Emperor, King, or Council, but only in the case of faith, to purge himself from suspicion of Heresie; nor any Clerk to take an Oath as a Witness or otherwise in any Temporal Court, or cause, especially if trivial, as all Laymen ought to do, without the Popes or Bishops special license first obtained; but their assertions, in verbo Episcopi, or Sacerdotis must be allowed, instead of an Oath, as equivalent to it; Ne manus per quam corpus & sanguis Christi conficitur JURAMENTO pollutetur; as I have<sup>r</sup> elsewhere more largely evidenced.

13ly. A reverend French Doctor of Divinity promoted in our Church, in a Treatise newly published, recites our Kings Coronation Oath at large, and from thence observes, That the King in his Oath, swears in a manner, THRICE FOR THE CLERGY PARTICULARLY, and for no other estate of the Realm besides; to intimate, that as your Law calls the Clergy, A High State, and One of the greatest States of the Realm; so it deserves a special Care and High regard proportionable. That by this Juratory Oath, the King swears in special; That he will be a Protector and Defender of the Bishops and Clergy, not only of their Persons; as so qualified with such Rights, and Liberties, but also of their Possessions: By vertue of which Oath the King and all others are in point of Conscience obliged to restore to the Church, Bishops, Clergy, not only all the lands and possessions taken from them during the late Warrs; but likewise all Mannors, Lands, Rents, Revenues whatsoever, heretofore taken away from any Bishopricks, Abbies, Monasteries, Monks, Nounes, Masse or Chantry Priests whatsoever by any of our Kings by the Legislature power in Parliaments, in former ages, under pain of incurring the sins of Perjury, Sacrilege, and drawing down the Curses of God and their founders, and exemplary destruction, judgements on themselves, their families, yea the whole Kingdom and Nation; as he magisterially resolves, because, being once given, consecrated to God and his Church, they can never be taken away from them, or converted to any secular uses by Kings, Parliaments, or other Sovereign powers, for any offenses, idolatrous or superstitious uses limited by the donors, nor for any crimes or abuses of those to whom they were given, there being an eternal holiness annexed to them, which cannot be obliterated. For answer whereunto; I would desire this confident Doctor to resolve these Quæres; 1. Whether any Archbishop, Bishop, Priest or Clergyman, can or ought by the Law of God to covet or desire any more, than a competent, convenient maintenance, answerable to his diligence, labor, care in the conscientious discharge of his Ministerial Function, in feeding the flock of Christ which he hath purchased with his own blood? And whether those who labor not in the Word and doctrine, preach not in season and out of season, neglect their pastoral duties, feeding themselves not their flocks, or reside not with them, can lay any claim by divine right to any Church-revenues; since Christ himself resolves, that none but Labourers in and Preachers of the Gospel, are worthy of their meat, hire: and those that labor not, (by St. Pauls resolution) ought not to eat? Whence this Maxime in Law and Divinity, Beneficium propter officium, had its original. If so: Whether Christian Kings and States may not lawfully without guilt of Sacrilege, or violation of their Oaths, resume and take away such superfluous Mannors, Lands given by their Ancestors from the Crown to any Archbishops, Bishops, Priests or other Clergymen, for the neglect of their pastoral duties, especially in cases of public necessity, so as they reserve a competent, sufficient maintenance for those who are pious, laborious, worthy of * double honour and encouragement?

2ly. Whether High-Priests, Priests, Levites under the Law, and Apostles, Bishops, Priests, Deacons under the Gospel, though of divine institution, solemnly consecrated for Gods immediate service, and the instruction, salvation of the peoples souls, may not justly lose, forfeit, null these their Sacerdotal consecrations, and be legally deprived of their respective holy Orders, and the maintenance belonging to them for their vicious scandalous lives, Heresies, Scismes, yea actually † executed and put to death for their Murders, Treasons, Rebellions, without any Sacrilege, their consecrations becoming unconsecrations, (as the Jews circumcision became uncircumcision, by their prophaneſſe, crimes, and violations of Gods Lawes? If so: as the Presidents of Eljes sonnes, Abiathar the High Priest, with c others in the old, and of d Judas, who fell from his Apostleship for selling and betraying our Saviour Christ, in the new Testament; with hundreds of c presidents of Popes, Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops, Priests degraded, executed in all ages, Churches, Kingdoms, and our own; together with the f Roman Pontificals in the forms of their depositions, degradations of Patriarchs, Archbishops, Bishops, Priests, Deacons, resolve past all dispute, and this Doctor dares not deny. Then much more may the Temporal Lands and Revenues given to them, being not of divine institution, nor so immediately consecrated to Gods service, nor capable of any real inherent holiness, as they are, lose their relative holiness, by their Crimes, or abuses of them; and thereupon be converted to other uses by our Kings and Parliaments, without any Sacrilege, if they see just cause: so as Gods service be still supported in all places necessary.

Etiam quando Ecclesia in simul & in totum destruitur, eo animo ut iterum readificetur ex eadem materia: Vel si parietes corrui in totum vel in majori parte erit Ecclesia execrata censenda, et noviter consecranda. And they further resolve, <sup>h</sup> Si populus noluit Ecclesiam qua minatur ruinam, restanrare, ea debet penitus destrui, et Episcopus potest vendere lapides Altarium vel Ecclesiarum destructarum: Ecclesie vetustate collapsæ, quando reparari nequeunt, sunt in totum destruendæ, without any sinne or Sacriledge. Yea the Act for Rebuilding of London made this Parliament An. 19 Caroli 2. c. 3. enacts, That the Parish Churches to be rebuilt within the City of London which were demolished by the late fire shall not exceed the Number of 39. And that the Scites and Materials of the other (40) Churches which are not intended by this Bill to be rebuilt, together with the Churchyards, shall be and are thereby vested in the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the City of London for the time being, and that: such of them as shall not upon the rebuilding of the City of London be layd into the streets, shall be sold or otherwise disposed of (for buildings or market places) by the said Lord Mayor and Aldermen, or the major part of them, by and with the consent of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and Bishop of London for the time being: and the money raised by such sale disposed of and employed towards the rebuilding of such Parish Churches, as by this Act are intended to be rebuilt. Yea the Canonists themselves resolve, That both Cathedral, Collegiate, and Parish Churches, may be translated from one place to another, either by reason of the incursions of Enemies, the unwholsomnesse of the air, the peril of inundations, or remoteness from the parishioners, and that they may be demolished, and Forts, Castles built in their places to hinder the incursions of foreign enemies in times of Warr, so as other lands by way of exchange be given in recompente for them, without any Sacriledge: Therefore there is no such inherent inseparable holinesse in them, as this Doctor surmiseth: much lesse in the Lands and Temporalities belonging to them, which were never solemnly consecrated, and revert to the founders or Donors themselves, when the Churches are destroyed, ruined, deserted, translated to other places; as our Judges, Lawes, have long since resolved, In gulphi Historia, p. 895, 896. 8 H. 5. 4ly. Whether God himself hath not expressly commanded in <sup>i</sup> several Texts, all Temples Places, High-Places, Altars, Groves, Images dedicated to the Worship of Idols, false Gods, or to be utterly destroyed, cut down, and burnt with fire, though dedicated with a pious, but erroneous intention, for the honor, worship of a Deity, though false, and that the consecrated Priests of these Idols, and their worshippers, revolting from the true God, should be put to death, which King Hezekiah, Josiah, Jehu under the Law, and <sup>k</sup> Constantine the Great, with other Christian Emperors, Kings under the Gospel, zealously executed, for which they were highly applauded? Whether <sup>l</sup> Moses himself did not thus destroy the Golden Calf, made and consecrated by Aaron to represent, worship the true God in and by it, (as the sacred History, and <sup>m</sup> Livines accord) and burn, grind it to powder, strow it upon water, and make the children of Israel drink thereof? Whether Jeroboams Calves, and their Temples at Dan and Bethel, made to represent and worship God in and by them, (which proved the destruction of him and his family,) were not likewise destroyed by Josiah, as being directly contrary to the second Commandement? And whether Hezekiah did not break in pieces the brazen serpent which Moses had made, because the children of Israel did burn Incense unto it, to Gods dishonor, though a <sup>o</sup> Type of Christ? Lands, Revenues, annexed to them for the maintenance of Popish idolatry and superstition, be lawfully confiscated, and converted to publike secular uses, without any Sacrilege, or violation of Prov. 20. 15. Ait. 5. 1. to 17. Rom. 2. 22. or any other sacred Text? And whether Gods special direction to *Moses, * to make broad plates for the covering of the Altar of the brazen censers of Korah and Dathan which were hallowed, on purpose, to be a memorial to the children of Israel, that no stranger, which is not of the seed of Aaron come near to offer incense before the Lord, that he be not as Korah and his company, (on which this Doctor much relies) be any way pertinent, to prove it Sacrilege, to convert such lands to secular uses.*

¶ See Justinian Cod. cis. l. 1. tit. 1. & 8. De Hereticis & Manichæis, Gratian de Consecratione Distinct. 1. Heret. Tom. 1. p. 48, 49. & My Sword of Christian Magistracy supported.

¶ly. Whether Churches built, consecrated, endowed with lands, revenues by Hereticks and Schismatics, may not lawfully be demolished or taken away from them by Christian Emperors, Kings, and confiscated to their Exchequers without any sacrilege or impiety, (as in the cases of the Donatists, Novatians, Manichees, Arians, and other Hereticks and Schismatics in former ages) being the most probable means to suppress their Heresies and Schisms? If so: (as I presume this Doctor, who much inveighs against Schismatics throughout his Treatise against Sacrilege, will readily grant;) then by the self-same reason our Kings and Parliaments might justly suppress, demolish all Monasteries to suppress Popish Idolatry, Heresie, Superstition, and confiscate most of their lands and revenues to the Kings Eschequer, without any Sacrilege or impiety.

¶ly. Whether the Lands or Revenues given and dedicated to one religious Order of Monks or Nunnes, upon their dissolution, can be justly challenged by any other religious Order to whom they were never granted nor designed; any more then lands given or bequeathed to one person and his heirs, or to one City or Corporation and their successors, can be justly claimed by another person or Corporation upon the attainders or dissolutions of those to whom they were given, for any treason or felony? If not, as is most certain by *all divine and human Lawes: then how can any of our Evangelical Bishops, Presbyters, Priests or Deacons, who are of divine institution, by any Lawes of God or man, challenge a lawfull Title, right, interest in, or to all or any the Livings, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Revenues heretofore given, dedicated, appropriated to any Orders of Monks, Friars, Nunnes, Monasteries, of meer Papal, not Divine institution, by any of our ancient Kings or others, either for the expiation of their horrid scandalous Sinnes, Murders, Rapines, Adulteries, Whoredoms, Perjuries, or other Crimes; or else for the salvation of their own and others souls, and ransoming them from Hell or Purgatory flames, by their merits, fastings, alms, or prayers for them to the Virgin Mary, and other Saints departed; in high derogation of the all-satisfactory merits, mediation of our Lord Jesus Christ, the sole Mediator between God and man; the only Advocate and propitiation for the sins of men: and condemn it as most impious, inexpiable Sacrilege, not to restore them to their actual possession, to whom they were never given, dedicated, nor intended, and that for the performance of such superstitious Popish services, which themselves condemn, and neither can nor ought to perform? If then St. Pauls divinity be orthodox, and his assertion legal, *We have an Altar whereof they have no right to eat, which serve the Tabernacle. And the Priesthood being changed, there is made also of necessity a change of the Law: so that the Cities, Glebes, Oblations anciently belonging to the Jewish High Priests, Priests and Levites abolished by Christs priesthood, could not be thereby legally challenged or transmitted to the Apostles and Ministers of the Gospel. Our clamorous Doctor and his Confederates must henceforth give over their pretended divine and legal claims, titles, to all or any of our dissolved Abbeys and Monasteries, Lands, Revenues, with their Satyrical invectives against all who refuse to resign or restore them to those Churches, Church-men, to whom they were never given, and from whom they were not taken, for fear they incur the Prophet Isay his Censure of the covetous lazy Priests in his age; "They are all dumb dogs, sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber: Dea, they are greedy dogs, who can never have enough: shepherds that cannot understand, they all look to their own way, every one for his gain from his quarter. Come ye, say they, we will fetch wine, & we will fill our selves with strong drink, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant; as the fat lazie Monks and Abbots did; especially if they can once effect their long prosecuted design of gaining all ancient Abbey Lands and Revenues by their Satyrical invectives against Sacriledge.

Now whereas this <sup>a</sup> Doctor argues; that admis the Clergymen were guilty of all the <sup>a</sup> Sacriledge crimes laid to their charge, yet their personal delinquency cannot forfeit their Lands arraigned, ch. 8 which they have in Jure Ecclesiæ, & in Jure Dei, they being but usufructuaries of <sup>b</sup> P. 156, 157. the profits of them during their lives; and in nature of Tenants for life, who cannot forfeit Gods inheritance and fee.

I answer : 1. That all our <sup>b</sup> Lawbooks resolve ; that Bishops, Abbots, and other Clergymen are seized of their Lands in fee in Jure Ecclesiæ; and not tenants for life. 2ly. That they may therefore forfeit the Lands they have in Jure Ecclesiæ & i. ei; either by <sup>c</sup> alienations of them for life, or in fee to their bastards, whores, kindred, others, <sup>d</sup> E. 3. 54. 38 E. 3. 19. 22 H. 4. 11. 9 E. 4. 6. Dyer 238. against the donors intentions, or by their neglecting and ceasing to perform the Divine services, and works of piety, charity, devotion for which they were specially given to them; and that by the expresse provision, words of the Statutes of 13 E. 1. c. 41. & 6 E. 1. cap. 4. which gives the Donors and their heirs Writs of Contra formam collationis, and of Cessavit, to recover the Lands so forfeited by their abuses, or non-performance of the divine services, or almes for which they were given. 3ly. This is evident by sundry memorable presidents, recorded in our Histories, Records and Law-books : The 1. is that of the <sup>d</sup> Abbesse and Nunnes of Berkeley in Gloucestershire, who being all bigg with childe by Earl Godwins Nephew, and so found by inquisition, King Edward the Confessor thereupon dissolved the Monastery for their whoredoms, and gave the Lands to Earl Godwin, from whom the Barons of Berkeley have enjoyed it as the seat of their Barony for many hundred years. The 2. the <sup>e</sup> Abbesse of Ambresbury, who having three bastard children after her profession, and about 30. of her Nunnes being likewise convicted of incontinency; thereupon their order was dissolved, and their lands given by King Henry the 2. to the Nuns of the Order of Font-Ebrard in Picardy by the advise of Pope Alexander, Richard Archbishop of Canterbury, and the rest of our Bishops, Earls, and Barons, as the <sup>f</sup> Charters, Patents of Henry the 2. Richard the 1. King John, Henry 3. 4. & 6. assure us, and Roger Hoveden, Gervasius, Bromton, Henry de Knyghton, and others story. To which I might adde the presidents of the Nuns of St. Eligius in Paris, Anno 1107. of Argentol, and of St. Johns of Landune, Anno 1129. who for their infamous, diabolical whoredomes, were deprived, ejected, suppressed, and their Lands, Monasteries, transferred to others. Nunneries (as <sup>g</sup> Nicholau de Clemangis and others complain) degenerating frequently into Stewes and Brothels, Non Dei sanctuaria, sed Veneris execranda prostibula. The 3. is the famous Order of the Knights of the Temple of Jerusalem, who being instituted about the year of Christ 1118. and endowed with most ample possessions, priviledges both by Christian Emperors, our own and other Kings, Popes Bulls, and Decrees of Councils, for the defence of the Holy Land, Christianity and Christians against the Saracens and other Infidels, were yet for their intollerable pride, avarice, abuse of priviledges, Apostacy, Sodomy, and other crimes, (whereof many of them were accused, and found guilty by their own confessions, if we believe Pope Clements Bull) upon the frequent complaints of the French King & others against them, after near 200 years continuance, notwithstanding their Bulls, Priviledges, in the General Council of Vienna, totally and finally suppressed by that Council and Pope Clement the 5th. An. Dom. 1312. whereupon all their persons were imprisoned in one day throughout England, France and Christendom; their Manors (amounting to 9000. in all places,) with their Lands, goods in England, seized into the hands of K. Edw. the 2. as escheated to him & other Lords by Law by their dissolution; though most of their lands afterwards by the Decree of this Council, and a special Act of Parliament, were translated to the Hospitallers, as our <sup>h</sup> Records, i. Historians and the Bulls of this Pope to the Archbishops and Bishops of England, and Archbishop of Torke, at large relate. The 4. is the Case of <sup>k</sup> Thomas Pye Abbot of Stonely, who had more Bastards then Monks, An.

 38 E. 3. and of many Abbots, Monks of England, who being found guilty by several Inquisitions upon Oath of most detestable Sodomies, Adulteries, Whoredoms, and other
History of Great Britain, were thereupon totally suppressed, and their Lands by Act of Parliament confiscated, and transferred to this King, his heirs and successors;
 who sold and converted most of them to secular uses: Which alienations, together with his resumptions, alienations of several Mannors from our Archbishops and Bishops, were ratified as legal, by the Popish Parliament, and all our Prelates, Clergy, the Statutes of 1. & 2 Phil. & Mary, chap. 8. and by the Bull of Pope Julius to Queen Mary; without the guilt of Sacrilege, wherewith this Doctor now asperseth them, as I have <sup>n</sup> elsewhere evidenced at large, and therefore shall no further insist on.

I pretermitt all other particular advantages, and encroachments of Jurisdiction of lesser moment, which Popes, Popish Archbishops, Bishops, Priests, Canonists, and Divines have usurped by, and deduced from the Coronation Oathes prescribed by them to Emperors and Kings. But these recited are of such publike, grand concern-ment to their Prerogatives, Sovereignities, Crowns, their Kingdoms, Peoples Laws, Liberties, and so pertinent to my Subject-matter in this, the precedent, as well as subsequent Tomes, that I could not pretermitt, but recommend them to your special observations.

I have only one thing more to inform you of; that since the finishing of this Tome, I have discovered two grosse mistakes together, relating to King John, his successors and Realm, in a modern Great French Historian, Andre de Chesne his Histoire D'Angleterre, Descoffe, & D'Irland, * newly printed in two large folio Volumes at Paris: who relating the story of King Johns resignation of his Crown, and Realms of England and Ireland to Pope Innocent, and homage to him as his Vassal and Tributary under the annual rent of 1000 marks; affirms, 1. Que de son temps
mesme, et jusque a ce que le Roy Henry 8. renonca le Pape et l'Eglise Romaine l'an
MD. XXXIV. le cens et tribut annuel fut tous jours payen: when as the payment * thereof was oft opposed, and constantly denied from the 17 year of Edward the 1. since which it was never payd, though demanded by Popes from him and his successors;
 yea it was unanimously and magnanimously resolved against both by the King, Prelates, Nobles and Commons in the Parliament of 40 E. 3. Rot. Parl. nu. 7, 8.
 in case the Pope should demand it. 2ly. Que Roys Inas par une humble piete, ren- dit son Royaume tributaire a l'Eglise Romaine, environ l'an 740. tellement que
chacun maison devoit payer une piece de argent, & les appelloient vulgairement, Les deniers de Saint Pierre: which he stiles and reputes le Tribut annuel; et desloz l'Angleterre n'aboit jammes failly de faire la mailly bonne aux Papes jusque a ce que Henry viii. tout le premier fit defense de leber cet argent. When as Peter-pence was never granted nor payd as a Tribute to the Pope or Church of Rome, but as a meer voluntary Almes to the English School in Rome, and its payment frequently interrupted, denied, before our King Henry the 8. abolished it by Act of Parliament, as I have <sup>y</sup> largely evidenced, against Baronius and other Pontifician Historians and Divines before this new Historians Books came forth in print: The very same I finde <sup>z</sup> likewise asserted in, Divers Traitez sur les Droits & Preroga- tives des Roys de France, printed A Paris, avec Privilege le Roy, Anno 1666.
 p. 79. who from thence argues, the Precedency of the Kings of France before the Kings of England, for that they held their Crowns immediately from God, when as the Kings of England (as Offa, Inas, Ethelwolfe, and King John) rendred themselves Tributaries and Vassals to the Pope.

Since the compleating of this Tome and the Epistles to it, one Mr. Cressy a Bene-dictin Monk (an Apostate from the Church of England, who writ two or three <sup>2</sup> Pamphlets against our Church & Religion to ingratiate himself with the Roman party, and advance Oral Tradition above the Scriptures, as the only Rule of Faith) hath published a large * folio Volume, of the Church History of Britanny, from the beginning of Christianity till the Norman Conquest, dedicated to the QUEEN: wherein though he impertinently mentions my Church-History in his Preface to the Reader, yet he neither refutes nor takes Notice of any passages in my former Tomes throughout his History, as I and others expected.

A TABLE of the several Chapters and their Contents in this Third Tome; to which I have made some small Additions, where needfull.

BOOK V. CHAP. I. Containing sundry Records, Popes Bulls, Writs, Prohibitions, Attachments for suits in Courts Christian, not formerly printed; and some Historical Passages, during the reigns of King JOHN, and HENRY the Third, relating to their Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, the Church-affairs in England and Ireland: Their Transactions with Popes, Popes Legates, Nuncios, Delegates, Popish Prelates: together with their several Usurpations on, Attempts against their Royal Rights, Prerogatives, Subjects Liberties, Properties; and these Kings, their Nobles, Parliaments, Counsils, and Judges Oppositions against them: With the Elections, successions, Acts of Popes, of English and Irish Bishops, and what concerns them; as an Appendix to the Second Tome, Page 2. to Folio 133.

CHAP. II. Containing several Records, Prohibitions, and Historical passages, evidencing the Ecclesiastical Supremacy of our renowned King EDWARD the 1. in and over all Persons, Causes Spiritual, as well as Temporal, in England, Ireland, and other his Dominions. His Oppositions against Papal, Prelatical Usurpations, Incroachments upon the Rights of his Crown, Laws, Subjects Liberties. The Chief Transactions, Bulls, Letters between Him, and the Popes, Court of Rome: And the Elections, Confirmations, Successions, Acts of Popes, Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, and other Clergy-men in England, Ireland, and his forraign Dominions, from the beginning of the First, to the end of the Tenth Year of his reign. With some other particulars of Note and publike concernment, p. 117. (next after fol. 133.) to p. 298.

CHAP. III. Comprising several evidences out of Records and Histories of King Edward the 1. his Sovereign Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over all Persons, Causes, and chief management of all Ecclesiastical affairs in England, Ireland, Scotland, and other his Dominions: With Popes, Bishops various Encroachments thereon: And His, his Parliaments, Counsils, Judges Oppositions, Prohibitions against them: together with the most considerable Negotiations between Him, and the Popes, Cardinals, Court of Rome; the Elections, Confirmations, Successions of Bishops in England, Ireland, his Dominions in France, and of Popes in Rome; from the beginning of the 11. till the end of the 20. year of his Reign: As also the Transactions factious concerning his Superiority over the Realm of Scotland, as Sovereign Lord thereof; with the Pleadings of the Competitors to the Crown of Scotland before him as their Superior Lord; and his Judgement given therein for John Bailiol, p. 298. to 549.

CHAP. IV. Containing King Edward the 1. his Claim, exercise of Sovereign Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over all Persons, Causes within England, Ireland, Scotland, and his other Dominions. His Oppositions, Prohibitions, Edicts against Bishops and other Clergy-mens Encroachments thereon; especially Pope Boniface the 8. his Constitution, prohibiting all Clergy-men under pain of Excommunication to grant or pay any Taxes, Subsidies to any King, or for Kings to demand or receive them, without the Popes precedent license: He puts his Bishops and Clergy out of his Protection for submitting to it, and denying him an Ayde demanded, till they were enforced to purchase general and particular Protections from him. A Catalogue of those Ecclesiastical and Religious persons who purchased such Protections for their safety. His Opposition against this Popes Bulls concerning his Sovereign Dominion, Title, to the Realm of Scotland and other Kingdoms. The negotiations between King Edward, the Popes, Court of Rome, the French, and Scots. The French King Philips, and Pope Boniface the 8. their Contests, Proceedings, and Declarations against each other. The Elections, Successions, Acts of Popes, English, Irish Archbishops, Bishops, and other Church, State-affairs, (especially the Contests between the King and his Barons, concerning the Confirmation of the Great Charters, Deafforestations, and between the Scots and Him) faithfully collected out of Records and Historians from the beginning of the 21. to the end of the 30th year of his Reign; The Scots Kings, Prelates, Nobles, Commons solemn reiterated Oaths to him; with their Names, perfidious violations of them, and punishments for it. p. 549, to 980.

CHAP. V. Containing the imprisonment, death of Pope Boniface the 8. The Letters, Bulls, Negotiations between King Edward the 1. and this Popes Successors, with their Successions in the See of Rome. This Kings Acts of Sovereign Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over the Churches, Prelates, Clergy of England, Scotland, Ireland, and Sovereign Dominion over Scotland. His Prohibitions, Statutes, Edicts against Papal Provisions, Extortions, and Prelatical Usurpations upon the Rights of his Crown and Temporal Courts. The Elections, Acts, Successions of Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, and other Prelates, Priests, in the Churches of England, Ireland, Scotland, and Forraign Dominions; With other Particulars relating to our Publike Church and State-Affairs, from the beginning of the 31. year of King Edward the 1. till his death, in the 35th year of his reign; Collected out of the Records of those years and Historians, p. 980, to 1204.

A Supplemental Appendix of Records, Bulls, Prohibitions, Epistles, Petitions, to the Reign of King Edward the 1. from the 2d. to the 25th, year of the said King, to the same effect as those in the 2, 3, and 4. premised Chapters, p. 1204. to 1308.

THE THIRD TOME OF

An exact Chronological Vindication, and Historical Demonstration of our British, Roman, Saxon, Danish, Norman, English KINGS Supreme Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, in, and over all Religious or Ecclesiastical Matters, Causes, Persons, as well as Temporal, within their Realms and Dominions.

The PROLOGUE.

MY constant daily attendance in Parliament during its Sessions, besides other publick Employments, and the extraordinary increase of the late raging Pestilence (Anno 1665.) in London and its Suburbs, interrupting me in my perusal of all the ancient Records in the White-Tower-Chappel, (there buried in dust and oblivion in one confused Chaos for many years past) necessitated me to omit in my second Tome and Appendix, sundry pertinent Records, Popes Bulls, Letters, Writs, Prohibitions, Attachments at the Kings and griev'd parties prosecutions against the Usurpations, Citations, Provisions, Excommunications, Interdicts, Exactions, Innovations of Popes, Popes Legates, Delegates; and our Archbishops, Bishops, Ordinaries, Archdeacons, Deans, Officials, their Courts Christian and Officers upon the ancient Rights and Prerogatives of the Crown, the Liberties, Properties of the Subjects, the Temporal Courts, Laws of the Land during the Reigns of King John and Henry the 3. (with some material passages in our Historians) which I have since discovered, not unworthy publick view; Which (according to my Chronological method) I shall here present to the Readers in a distinct Chapter, before I proceed to the Reign of King Edward the First; with some brief, usefull (and I hope not unseasonable nor unacceptable) Observations on and from some of them, for the better information as well of the Professors as Students of the Common Law; and a clearer detection then hitherto hath been made, of such usurped Jurisdictions in some Temporal causes, which the Popish Prelates, Councils, Clergy, Courts Christian in these Kings reigns endeavour'd to monopolize into their own hands and wrest out of these Kings and their Courts; and other Prelates, Canonists since, (yea in this very age) have overboldly claimed by confident false averments in their Councils, Canons, Decretals, Glosses, Writings, Arguments, as the ancient sacred Rights, Liberties of Holy Church, peculiar to Courts Christian, upon apparent Mistakes and Forgeries of their own coyning, which they would then and now obtrude upon the ignorant World as undoubted Truths; to enlarge their Phylacteries, advance their Papal Canon Laws above the Common, the Popes and Bishops Miters above the Imperial Crown. The discovery and countermining of which long-agitated Design in successive ages, is the principal scope, end of these my Chronological Collections, to which I shall now address my self without further Prologue, in the ensuing Chapter; augmented with new Additions (especially of Prohibitions, Suits and Attachments on them against Ecclesiastical Judges, Officers, persons) in this reimpression, the most part of the former printed Copies, and the preceding Tomes being burnt to ashes by the late consuming Fire in the Printers house, to my great loss, and retarding of this Volumes publication.

TOME 2. Page 227. Line 3. after Christians, insert; King JOHN was no sooner possessed of the Realm of England, but he immediately (in the very first year of his Reign) evidenced to all the World, not only his Piety and Regal Duty, but Ecclesiastical Sovereignty, both by ratifying, protecting, enlarging the Ecclesiastical as well as Temporal Liberties, Priviledges, Churches, Chappels, Tithes, Lands, Possessions granted by his Ancestors to several Archbishopricks, Bishopricks, Monasteries in England, Ireland and Normandy, by sundry <sup>a</sup> Charters extant in his Charter-Rolls in the Tower: using this expression in the Prologue of confirmation to the Monastery of Cirencester.

Johannes Dei gratia, &c. Quoniam honori nostro concedens, et salutis nostrae necessarium, loca sancta et religiosa quae ab avo patris nostri Rege H. primo, sunt fundata, et a Rege H. secundo patre nostro confirmata defendere, custodire, et amplificare. Inde est, quod Deo & Ecclesiae Sanctae Mariae de Cirencestr. & Canonicis Regularibus ibidem Deo servientibus, damus & concedimus, &c. (the Liberties and Lands therein mentioned at large) Dat. per manum H. Cantuar. Archiep. Cancellar. nostri apud Sag. 7. die Augusti, anno Regni nostri primo. Which Prologue he likewise used in other of his Charters.

Moreover, to manifest his superintendency over, and special care even of Hubert Archbishop of Canterbury his Chancellors soul, as well as of his person or estate; he inserted this expression into his Charter, whereby he authorized him to make a Will, and devise his goods; which he could not then legally do without his Royal license.

Johannes Dei gratia, &c. Quanto venerabilem patrem nostrum in Christo H. Cant. Archiepiscopum artiori vinculo dilectionis amplectamur, tanto magis cupimus & frequenter optamus omnia quae personam suam tanguent, et ea maxime quae ad salutem animae pertinent, in summa firmitate et stabilitate permanere. Volumus igitur & firmiter precipimus, quod testamentum quod idem Archiepiscopus tam de bonis Archiepiscopatus Cant. quam de aliis quibuscunque bonis suis, secundum Deum condiderit, firmum sit et stabile, nec alicujus voluntate immutetur in aliquo vel impediatur. His testibus S. Andr. Episcopo, &c. Dat. per manus S. Archid. Willel. J. de Grey, &c.

Lo here this Archbishop, who used to prove and confirm other men Wills after their deaths, had his own Will ratified by this Kings Royal Charter for the good of his soul, as Supreme Ordinary, during his life, to make it valid, irrevocable after his decease.

About the same time the King confirmed to this Archbishop and his Successors all the donations of Lands, Liberties, Customs, Exemptions, and all other things granted to the Church of Canterbury by any of his predecessors, or any other Ecclesiastical or secular persons, by this short Charter.

An. 1. Joh. Regis.

He likewise ratified by his Sovereign Ecclesiastical Authority and † Charter the * premised Charter of King Richard, touching the exchange between Archbishop Hubert and the Bishop and Monks of Rochester, of the Mannor of Lambeth for other lands, and the Clause therein, authorizing the Pope, Archbishop of Canterbury, Bishops and Clergy of England, to excommunicate the infringers thereof. Besides, he appropriated several parochial Churches in perpetuity to the Bishoprick of Coventry and Litchfield; converted other parochial Churches into præbendaries; and ratified the Orders made by Bishop Hugh for the better Regulation of that Church, by these two Charters.

A great difference arising between this King, and the Bishop, Sheriff of Lexovia concerning his and the Sheriffs rights within that City, he referred it to a legal trial in his Court; and then ratified the Bishops rights by this ensuing memorable Charter, reciting the proceedings therein; and his care to protect the Churches dignities, Johannes Dei gratia, &c. Inter ea quæ ad conservationem justitiæ pertinere noscuntur, nihil specialius Regibus et Principibus Christianis incumbit, quam dignitates Ecclesiasticas in sua stabilitate tueri. Et ne forte per * obliviones hominum, rerumque ac temporum mutabilitates, ea quæ pia consideratione gesta sunt, præcipue per judicium diffinita, novis in posterum possint implicari calumpniis, authenticorum scriptorum patrocinio communire. Cum autem inter nos et dilectum nostrum in Christo Willielmum de Rupetra Lexoviensem Episcopum, super jure et potestate ab antiquis temporibus antecessorum nostrorum in Civitate et Banlenca Lexovien. ad nos pertinente contentio verteretur, tandem ne quid de jure Episcopi et Ecclesiæ Lexovien. videretur nobis aliquatenus usurpasse, fecimus per multitudinem legitimorum et antiquorum Militum de vicinia illa juramentis interpositis recognosci, quantum juris ad nos in Civitate et in Banlenca prædicta, quantum ad ipsum Episcopum Lexoviensem, et quantum ad Militem quendam Robertum scilicet cognominatum Vicecomitem pertinebat, qui videlicet Miles Vicecomitatum sibi apud Lexovium hereditario jure competere asserbat. Recognitum est autem in Curia nostra coram nobis et Baronibus nostris per testimonia Decem et octo Militum juratorum, nos tantummodo tria placita quæ de Spata vocantur, in illa Civitate et Banlenca habere, videlicet de summonitione exercitus, De via Curie nostræ, et de moneta. Quæ etiam tria placita per manum dicti Episcopi vel Ballivorum suorum ante nos vel Senescallum nostrum ibidem inter assisas nostras debent adduci. Ita tamen, quod nihil de emendis alicujus istorum trium placitorum sibi posset Episcopus vendicare; Sed eas per manum ipsius vel Ballivorum suorum debemus habere. Et præter hæc tria placita nichil nobis juris in prædicta Civitate remanet aut Banlenca. Cætera autem omnia jura et placita, tam de Spata quam alia quibuscunque modis vel causis eveniant, cum eorum emendis ad Episcopum sine omni contradictione pertinent et querela. Recognitum fuit etiam per eosdem Milites, quod prædictus Robertus nichil juris vel hereditatis habuit in prædicto Vicecomitatu. Ipsaque Robertus postmodum in Curia nostra coram nobis et Baronibus nostris remisit ipsi Episcopo et successoribus suis imperpetuum totum jus quod sibi vendicaverat et clamaverat in Vicecom. illo. Quare volumus et firmiter præcipimus, quod idem Episcopus et omnes successores sui libere habeant, teneant et possideant Civitatem et Banlenecam suam cum omnibus immunitatibus supradictis, absque omni molestia, gravamine et exactione per nos seu per ministros nostros ibi deinceps facienda, Acut superius in hac pagina prænotatum est.

King John having occasion to constitute a Proctor in the Court of Rome, as well to promote the affairs of the Emperour Orto his Nephew, as to prevent the malicious designs of the Bishop of Senns against him and his Realm, with whom he had a controverſie, constituted Peter Bayell his Proctor by this Charter.

How ill this Beast of the Forest and fleshly undutifull Prelate requited him for this special favour, in interdicting his whole Realm, and inciting the Pope to excommunicate and deprive him of his Crown, I have at large related in my * Second Tome. On whose behalf King John this year, as supreme Protector of the Church and Churches possessions, issued this Writ to several Sheriffs, to prohibit any person to intrude himself into any the Lands of this Bishop of London or his Church without his license or assent, and to remove all such who had so intruded, out of possession.

The King having granted the Patronage of the Chappel of Bosham within the Diocese of Chichester, to the Bishop of Exon and his Successors, he thereupon claimed it to be exempt from the Bishop of Chichester's former Jurisdiction: where-upon the King declared the contrary by this Patent, though he might have specially exempted it from his Diocesan Jurisdiction and Visitation, had he pleased, as after-wards it was exempted.

Et si quem inde attingere possumus, ad proximum quercum suspendi faciemus. Teste meipso apud Merleberg; 11 die Aprilis.

The like restitution and protection he granted by several Patents, to William Priest of Bradewater, William de Wrotham Archdeacon of Tannou, the Abbot of Saint Edmund, the Canons of Exeter, and sundry others.

The Church of Exeter wanting a Bishop during the Interdict, the King out of his piety and Ecclesiastical sovereignty, sent the Archbishop of Armach Primate of Ireland, thither, to execute his Episcopal Office in that Bishoprick, giving order to defray his expences out of the Mannors of the Bishoprick, as this Writ records.

REX Custod. Episcopatus Exon. &c. Sciatis quod misimus venerabilem patrem E. Armachan. Archiepiscopum et Hibernie Primatem, ad erequendum Episcopale officium in Episcopatu Exon. Et ideo vobis mandamus, quod cum contingerit ipsum facere transitum per domineca maneria Episcopatus, inveniatis ei rationale estuverium suum cum sex equis: et computabitur vobis ad Saccharium nostrum. Teste meipso apud Divis. 19 die Julii.

Thus did the King provide for his peoples souls, which the Pope and Bishops who interdicted the Realm endeavoured to starve and destroy, by interdicting all Divine publick worship, Service and Sacraments.

Moreover, the King the same year soon after the Interdict, by his Ecclesiastical prerogative, nominated and sent a Bishop into Ireland to the Bishoprick of Limerick then void, commanding his Justice of Ireland first to invest him therein, and then to induce the Clergy thereof to elect and receive him for their Bishop; as this Record assures us.

REX M. Justic. Hybern. &c. Sciatis, quod concessimus Magistro Gaufrido Personæ Ecclesiæ de Dunganon Episcopatum Limeric. qui vacat: Et volumus et as. sentimus, ut præficiatur Episcopus Ecclesiæ Limericnsis: Et ideo vobis mandamus, quod Episcopatum illum ei habere faciatis, et moneatis et inducatis Clerum illius Episcopatus, quod ipsum eligant et recipiant in Episcopum. Teste meipso apud Frigidum Mantellum, 5. die Decemb.

The loss of all Charter, Clause, Patent and Fine-Rolls of King John, from Anno 9. till 14. of his Reign, have deprived us of sundry occurrences during those years.

Tom. 2. p. 268. l. 55. after Anglia, adde. The Archdeaconry of Stafford becoming voyd by the Election and confirmation of * Henry London Archdeacon thereof to the Archbishoprick of Dublin by the Kings nomination and consent during the Interdict, the King granted it by this Patent to Robert de Gloucester.

REX omnibus Decanis, Personis, Vicariis & Clericis in Archidiaconatu Stafford constitutis, salutem. Sciatis quod concessimus intuitu Dei, & quantum ad nos pertinet dedimus dilecto Clerico nostro Magistro Roberto de Gloucester. Archidiaconatum Stafford, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, qui fuit dilecti nostri H. Dublin. electi, qui in Archiepiscopum est confirmatus, & qui ad nostram spectat donationem, ratione Episcopatus Cestrensis vacantis et in manu nostra existentis: Et ideo vobis mandamus, quatenus ei tanquam Archidiacono vestro sitis in omnibus quæ ad officium suum pertinent intendentes & obedientes. Et in hujus rei testimonium has literas nostras Patentes vobis mittimus. Teste meipso apud Windlesor, 5. die Martii. Per Dom. Winton. Episcopum, & per Consilium.

In which Patent there are 4. points observable; 1. That by an English Archdeacons taking an Archbishoprick in Ireland, his Archdeaconry in England became * voyd in Law even in K. John's reign, upon his confirmation before his consecration.

That during King John's Excommunication, and his Kingdoms Interdict by the Pope, there are above one hundred presidents of his presenting Clerks to Benefices, Archdeacons, Præbendaries belonging to vacant Bishopricks, Abbies, and others, which he seized into his hands for the Treasons or Contempts of the Archbishop, Bishops, Abbots and Clergymen, who interdicted and fled out of the Realm, or submitted to the Interdict, as likewise sundry Licenses granted by him for Elections, and his Royal assent to elections of Bishops, Abbots and Priors, extant in the Patent-Rolls of 9, 14, and 15. years of his reign. Quod si ipse præventus armis, vel infirmitate, pecuniam suam nec dederit, nec dare disposuerit (by his last Will and Testament) uxor sua, sive liberi, aut parentes, aut legitimi homines ejus (not the Church, Bishop, or Ordinary not mentioned in this Clause, or Law) eam pro anima ejus dividant SICUT EIS MELIUS VISUM FUERIT; without the Churches, Ordinaries view or disposition, according to the precedent Laws both of King Knute and Edward the Confessor (elsewhere cited: ) Notwithstanding which, the King and all Lords of Manors before this his Charter made, especially during the reigns of King William the Conquerour and William Rufus, usually claiming, seising, disposing of the Goods, Chartels, Moneys, Personal estate of all their Barons and Tenants dying intestate, to the great prejudice of their Wives, Children, Parents, Kinred; which grievance among others, King Henry the 1. (to induce the Bishops and Nobles to crown him King) at their request promised by his Oath to reform, and redressed by this Clause in his Charter. After this King Stephen, (at the Bishops request, who most treacherously, against their Oaths, Loyalty to King Henry the 1. and his Daughter and heir Queen Maude, elected and crowned him King) inserted this farther Clause into his Charter of Liberties granted to the Bishops and Clergy, Anno 1156. at his Coronation. "Ecclesiasticarum personarum et omnium Clericoꝝ et rerum eozum iustitiam et potestatem, et distributionem bonozum Ecclesiasticozum in manu Episcoporum esse perhibeo et confirmo. Si quis autem Episcopus vel Abbas, vel alia Ecclesiastica persona ante mortem suam rationabiliter sua distribuerit, vel distribuenda statuerit (by his Will) firmum manere concedo. Si vero morte præoccupatus fuerit, pro salute anime ejus Ecclesie consilio eadem fiat distributio. This is the first Charter, for ought I can find, that gave Clergy-men power power to dispose of their Church-goods by Will, and Bishops or Ordinaries Jurisdiction to distribute their Clerks Goods dying intestate, for the good of their Souls, they then having no Wives nor Children, as Lay-men had, to whose goods therefore this Charter never extended; but only to Church-mens goods belonging to their Churches.

Before this Charter of King Stephen, the antient Law, custome of England was, that if any Bishop, Abbot, or other Ecclesiastical person who held of the King, and received his Temporalties from him deceased, all his goods and chattels (except the ornaments of his Church, Chappel dedicated to God's Service, or the stock annexed to his Bishoprick by the Kings special Charters) <sup>a</sup> belonged of right to the King, especially if he dyed intestate; neither could any of them by Law make a Will, or devise his goods or chattels, unless the King out of his special grace, by special Patents authorized them to devise them by their Testaments; neither did the Laws of King <sup>b</sup> Cnut, the Confessor, and Conquerour, or Charter of K. Henry the 1. extend to Bishops, Abbots or Clergy-men, who had neither Wives nor Children, being then prohibited by sundry Canons to marry, but only to the temporal Barons and Lay-subjects who had Wives and Children, as the words of their Laws, Charters, the old Writs De rationabili parte honorum grounded on them, and the words thereof, (Cum secundum consuetudinem regni nostri hactenus obtentam, pueri post mortem patrum suorum habere debent rationabiles partes suas quae fuerunt patrum suorum, &c.) demonstrate, and King Stephen's Charter intimates; which had been needlets, useles, had the Law or custome of England been then concurrent with it. Neither was this the Prerogative only of the Kings of England in that age, but also of France; as is evident by this memorable acknowledgement of the Bishop elect, Dean and Chapter of Mascon in France to King Philip Augustus, Anno Domini 1201.

Whereupon the Bishops not long after to revive, confirm and enlarge this their new-acquired Jurisdiction granted them by this Usurper's Charter (which † expired with King Stephen, and never bound his Successors and extended only to the Goods of Clergy-men) endeavoured to extend it to the Goods, Chattels of all English Free-men of the Laity; for which end they cunningly inserted the premised Clause, amongst others, into King John's Great Charter: Which, although in the Kings and Nobles intentions, it gave them no Jurisdiction at all either to grant Administrations of, or distribute any Intestates Goods for the benefit of their Souls, which they wholly left by expresse words to the administration and distribution of their nearest Kinred, Parents, Friends, yet by colour of these three words, per visum Ecclesiae, by the view of the Church; (which if a personal Trust reposed in the Bishop himself by this Grand Charter, as our Bishops and Canonists thence argue, was certainly to be executed personally by the Bishop alone, not by his Vicar General, Commissary, Official, or Judge of the Arches, who now grant all Administrations, and make the distributions of Intestates personal estates, against the express words and intention of this Law, which might be more properly interpreted of the Parson, Church-wardens, and Parishioners of the Parish where the deceased person lived, than of the Bishop, his Chancellor and Under-officer, being single Persons, and no \ Church*: ) the Bishops and their Officers by pretext of these words, ( which at most gives them only the oversight, not power of or in the distribution, and no more authority to dispose of the Goods, than Overseers usually named in Wills have, wherein there are likewise Executors appointed, to whom the right, power and disposition of the Testators Goods alone belong by Law ) <sup>a</sup> usurped a Jurisdiction soon after by degrees, not only over all deceased Lay-mens Wills, Chattels; but over the Goods and Chattels of all Lay-men dying intestate, committing their administration and distributing them by their Vicars, Commissaries, Chancellors and other Officers at their pleasures to such persons and pious uses as themselves, or their Officials thought meet; yea many times <sup>b</sup> appropriated them to themselves and their Churches, against the true intent of King John and his Barons. Whereupon at the renewing of this Great Charter by K. Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. in the 9th year of his Reign, in a grand Parliamentary Council, this premised Clause concerning Intestates Goods, inserted by the Bishops fraud, craft covertly to usurp a Jurisdiction over the Laity, and all Intestates estates, was wholly <sup>c</sup> expunged, as prejudicial to the Kings Prerogative and the Nobles, Free-mens franchises, liberties, properties; and that Charter was then and hath been since successively ratified by above 40. Parliaments, without this Clause; Yea the King and Lords then and immediately after would by no means permit the Bishops or Ordinaries to intermeddle with the Goods and Chattels of any Free-men dying intestate, or to distribute them for their Souls good at their pleasures; although Saint <sup>d</sup> Edmund Archbishop of Canterbury, and Boniface his next Successor (Uncle to King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. his Queen) with the rest of the Bishops, frequently importuned King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. his Nobles and Council, not to hinder their Tenants or Villains to make Wills, or prove them before their Ordinaries, nor to disturb or prohibit Bishops to distribute the Goods of Persons dying intestate for their Souls health; nor would they grant them this power upon any termes, but prohibited them to do it, as is evident by this passionate Complaint thereof by Archbishop Boniface, his Suffragans and Clergie, in the Prologue to their Constitutions in the Council of Lambeth, Anno 1251. <sup>e</sup> Regem ipsum frequenter monuimus ac supplicavimus ei, et supplicari fecimus cum instantia sapius reverenter, necnon apud Principes et Magnates regni, et Consiliarios quorum moderamine disponuntur negotia regni, precibus et exhortationibus pullavimus importuna opportunitate et frequenter, quatinus intra memoriam recolentes quot plagis Aegyptii fuere percussi, &c. Huic privilegio tam pio, tamque nobili preicio comparata deferrent humiliter, ob reverentiam Redemptoris; permittendo Clerum Anglicanum in sollicitudine libertatis sacrificium laudis Domino immolari, &c. Licet autem in precibus inculcandis diu laboraverimus sustinendo, et sustinuerimus laborando; adhuc cum instantia nostra sepius iterata, ad erauditionis gratiam ingressum mereri non potuit, nec effectum potiri diutius expectatum. Compared with their Articles of Complaint, <sup>f</sup> Art. 25. Item, mortuo laico intestato, Dominus Rex, et ceteri Domini feodorum, bona defuncti sibi applicantes, non permittunt de ipsis debita solvi; nec residuum in usum liberorum et proximorum suorum, et alios pios usus per loci Ordinarium quorum interest, aliqua converti; and their Constitution made against it in this Provincial Council summoned at London by this Archbishop's usurped authority (against the King's express Writ of Prohibition directed to him, printed in my 2<sup>d</sup> Tome) attests. Indeed I find in the <sup>g</sup> Constitutions of Othobon the Popes Legate, made in a Council held at London but 11. years after, (Anno 52. H. 3.) De Bonis Intestatorum, mention of a Provision antiently made by the English Prelates with the assent of the King and Nobles concerning Intestates Goods, which he thus confirms and orders to be strictly observed: Provide super bonis decedentium ab intestato, provisionem quae olim a Praelatis Regni Anglia cum approbatione Regis et Baronum dicitur emanasse, firmiter approbantes, districte inhibemus, ne Praelati vel alii quicunque bona intestatorum hujusmodi quocunque modo recipiant vel occupent contra Provisionem praedictam. Which Provision I find likewise mentioned in <sup>h</sup> Archbishop Stratford's Constitutions made Anno Dom. 1342. What this Provision should be, or when or where made, our learnedst Canonists cannot resolve: <sup>a</sup> Will. Lindwode the chiefest of them, in his Gloss on Archbishop Stratford's Constitution, on the words abolim, writes ingeniously, Cujus Regis temporibus hoc ordinatum sit, non reperio: But<sup>b</sup> John de Aton in his Gloss on Ottobon's Constitutions, refers it to the Statute of Westm. 2. Anno 13 E. 1. ch. 19. But this being made at least 18. years after Ottobon's Constitutions, and not abolim, long before them, must needs be a gross mistake; therefore (if real, not forged by the Bishops, or a meer dubious report then raised by them, without ground or truth, as Ottobon's, dicuntur, implies) we may well conclude, since Archbishop Boniface, his Prelates, Clergy in the Council and Articles of Lambeth but 11. years before, made no mention at all thereof, (as questionless they would have done, had there been any such Provision) it can be no other, but either the premised Clause and Provision inserted by the Prelates into King John's Charter, expunged out of K. Henry the Thirds, and Edward the Firsts Great Charters, in all our manuscript Statutes, in the Statute-Roll in the Tower of London, and all our printed Statutes of Magna Charta 9 H. 3. ch. 19. wherein that Clause of Intestates Goods is omitted: Or else it must be the Provision in the Laws of King Canute confirmed by the Confessor, Conqueror, or Charter of K. Henry the 1. to which Ottobon's Constitution seems most probably to relate, being the most antient Provision, prohibiting Bishops, as well as the King and Lords, to dispose of Intestates Goods, as his Constitution likewise doth in my opinion, since made soon after K. Henry the 3. and the Kingdoms complaint and appeal to the Pope against the Constitutions of Archbishop Boniface and his Suffragans, promulged by them in præjudicium juris et dignitatis Regis, contra libertates, et consuetudines Regni nostri Angliæ. et in nostri et Cozonæ nostræ præjudicium et gravamen, as the King declared in his Letters of Procuracion and Appeals against them to the Pope, Pat. 45 H. 3. pars 1. m. 8. and Pat. 46 H. 3. m. 17, 19. Which Constitutions of Boniface, though thus solemnly condemned, appealed, protested against by the King and Kingdom; who would by no means assent to them or their Articles, after so many reiterated prayers, monitions and importunities, are yet since printed, Glossed on by Lindwode and Aton, yea now cryed up by ignorant Canonists for the Canon-Law of England, and that of Intestates Goods revived, enlarged without any legal authority, by Archbishop Stratford, in his Provincial Constitutions, though not put in practise before; & etiam à multis in dubium revocatum. Which voyd illegal Constitutions of Boniface and Stratford are in truth the sole foundations I can yet discover, of our Ordinaries usurped Power to compell Administrators by bonds and censures to distribute the surplusage of Intestates Goods, to such pious uses as they shall appoint, against the expresse Provision of the Royal Charters of Henry 1. and Hen. 3<sup>d</sup>. Whereupon our Judges of late times upon Complaints of Administrators, after grand deliberation and debates, have granted<sup>d</sup> Prohibitions out of the Kings Bench and Common Pleas, to restrain such coercive dividends of Intestates Goods by Ordinaries, as mischievous, grounded only on these illegal Constitutions, mis-interpreted Charters, and this old Papish error, That the distribution of Intestates Goods after their decease, (though without their order, knowledge) by the Bishop, or their Administrators, would expiate and procure pardon of their Sins, redeem their Souls from purgatory, or abate the pains thereof, or of Hell; which being exploded by the authorized Doctrine of our Church, the Ordinaries pretended Jurisdiction of distributing Intestates Goods to pious uses, in remedium peccatorum et pro salute animæ, must be exploded with it. Which power of disposing Intestates Goods and Estates, being reputed by our Bishops and Nobles, unsafe to be vested in the King himself, as the premised Charters of Henry the 1. imply; was, and is much more unfit for every inferior indigent Ordinary, Archdeacon, Chancellour, or Commissary then or now to be invested with, usurp or exercise upon such false and sandy foundations.

Tom. 2. p. 338. l. 43. before this Charter, adde: The King to maintain his Royall Prerogative, and prevent schismes in elections of Bishops and Abbots, appointed certain Commissioners to be present at, and give their and his Royal assent unto them; as these with other Charters evidence.

Thus these Roman Locusts succeeding one another devoured the wealth, and possessed themselves of the Ecclesiastical promotions of our Church. He likewise granted protections to those Delegates the Pope employed in any business, as this Record attests.

If Pope Innocent himself, or his predecessors before, or successors after him, had observed these instructions he gave to the Archbishops, Bishops and Nobles of England, there had not been one quarter so many Rebellions and insurrections against King John and other Christian Kings, Emperors in England, Germany, Italy, France, and other Kingdoms, as there have been by Popes contrary Bulls and Epistles, exciting them to rebell and take up arms against their Sovereigns, to depose or expell them by force, for not submitting to their Papal usurpations over, or anti-christian Edicts, Censures denounced against them.

The Barons notwithstanding this Papal Bull persisting in their armed violence and Rebellion against the King, the Pope thereupon in July following sent this ensuing * Bull to the universality of the Barons and Commonalty of England.

Scientes pro certo, quod si Rex ipse remissus esset aut tepidus in hac parte, nos Regnum Angliæ non patremur ad tantam ignominiam et vililitatem deduci, cum sciamus per Dei gratiam et possumus talium insolentiam castigare. Dat. Terentini, 14 Kal. Julii, Pontificatus nostri anno octodecimo.

From this memorable Bull not (extant in any of our Historians) we may observe, 1. This Popes zealous censures of and declamations against all undutifull, contemptuous proceedings, conspiracies, insurrections of the Barons against K. John, to extort their demanded liberties from him by force of armes, not by humble petitions, dutifullness and obedience to him as their Sovereign, after he became his sworn Vassal, diametrically contrary to his Bulls, Excommunications, Interdicts and Excommunications of his own Subjects, Barons, Prelates and the French King against him, to depose & un-King him before he surrendered his Crown, Kingdoms to, and resumed them from him by his detestable Charter. 2<sup>ly</sup>. That King John's Charter and subjection of his Crown, Realm to the Pope and Church of Rome, as their Vassal, was the principal cause of his Barons and Nobles insurrections against him, and that in contempt of the Pope, Church of Rome and their anti-monarchical usurpations, who for the most part constantly adhered to him against the Pope during the Interdict and his Excommunication. Therefore doubtless they never assented to, but opposed his Charter of Resignation, and this clause inserted into it, De consensu omnium Baronum suorum, must needs be a forgery, as this his Bull demonstrates. 3<sup>ly</sup>. That the ground of these his Bulls, was not any real piety or zeal to God, or King John; but because he was HIS VASSAL, and under his Papal protection, as Crossed to relieve the Holy Land. 4<sup>ly</sup>. This Popes Antichristian spirit, pride, insolency, in denouncing Excommunications and Interdicts not onely against the Barons, but menacing menacing to chastise King John himself, in case he were remiss or cold in executing what he prescribed by this Bull for the Barons just satisfaction; and the Kingdoms, what he prescribed by this Bull for the Barons just satisfaction; and the Kingdoms, tranquillity. An. 16 Joh. Regis.

I shall here present you with the greatest part of a memorable Letter (the residue being illegible) which I found in the White Tower Chappel, sent from Rome to King John by W. Maucelere his devoted Clerk and messenger by whom he sent Letters to the Pope, rendering this account of his negotiation; and of the Popes, Cardinals and Barons proceedings and complaints against him by the Barons Proctors in the Court of Rome, and the affairs of the Emperour his Nephew, worthy publick view.

Reverendo Domino suo J. Dei gratia Rex Anglia, Dominus Hybernæ, Dux Norman. Aquit. & Com. Andegav. suus W. Maucelere semper valere, fidelis & devotus Clericus illucem & cum debita subjectione semper fidele servitium. Nos, verit excellentia vestra, Domine reverende, quod quamvis magna infirmitate in itinere essem detentus, tandem Dei gratia securus & in dolibus die Martis prox. ante festum Beati Michaelis Apostoli Romam veni, & inveni Dom. Papam apud Lateranum, & eodem die accessi ad eum, et eum ex parte vestra cum debita reverentia salutavi, et literas testras porrexi, quas ipse benigne suscipiens, et diligenter inquisivit de statu vestro, ac de parte Regni vestri. Cum autem per responsum meum intelligeret, quod omnia circa personam vestram bene haberent, multum gavissus est, gratias inde referens Altissimo. Set postea, scilicet die Sabbati prox. antedicti Cinerum, venerunt ad Coriam Johannes de Rorby Clericus, Eustachius de Vescy, & quidam Capellanus dictus de Paris, Johannes Sancti Osberti nomine, deferentes literas Magnatum Angliæ, super literas illas in recessu latens presentium Dominus Papa nonnumquam audivit, & quid in litteris illis contineretur nondum plene mihi consulerat: Set hoc scio pro vero, sicut didici ex relatione Dom. Johannis de Colampna fidelissimi amici vestri, et relatione aliorum amicorum vestrorum, quod Magnates Angliæ, scilicet Barones, & ut prædicti Nuncii dicunt Papa, omnes Barones totius Angliæ instanter Domino Papæ supplicant, quod cum ipse sit Dominus Angliæ, vos diligenter admoneret, et si necesse fuerit compellat, antiquas Libertates suas per Cartas antecessorum vestrorum et proprio juramento vestro conformatas, eis illas conservare. Dicunt autem prædicti Nuncii, quod cum vos a prædictis Baronibus inde requisiti fueritis in Epiphania Domini apud London, ipso proprio sacramento vestro, non tantum libertates suas antiquas et consuetas eis concedere contempnissetis, immo voluissetis quod ipsi vobis promitterent, et etiam per Cartas suas darent, quod nunquam de cetero tales libertates a vobis vel successoribus vestris erigerent. Quod omnes Barones præter Dominum Wynihon, & Comitem Cestrie, & Wilhelmum Brinwerr hoc facere renuerent: Supplicant autem Domino Papæ, quod ipse super hiis eis provideret, cum satis constet ei, quod ipsi audacter pro libertate Ecclesiæ ad mandatum suum se vobis opponerent, et quod vos annum redditum Domino Papæ et Ecclesiæ Romanæ concessissetis, et alios honores quos ei et Romanæ Ecclesiæ exhibuissetis, non sponte, nec ex devotione, imo et timore et per eos coactus, fecissetis. Doleo autem Domine, quod tales rumores oportet me Excellentie vestre significare: Set quia credo, quod expedit honori vestro, quod vobis super hoc caute quam citius poteritis provideatis, nullo modo ausus fui tacere. Præterea sciatis Domine quod multum desiderant amici vestri, Dominus Camerarius, & Dom. Johannes de Columpna, quod vos Domino Imperatori Nepoti vestro efficax consilium impendatis. The close of the Letter concerns the advancement of some particular person to a Deanry, whose preferment the Pope and Cardinals did most desire, and the suspension of another, with some advice concerning it, which is so sullied and defaced, that I think fitter to omit, then to present some broken fragments of it. From the former part thereof concerning the Barons complaint and suggestions to the Pope against the King, it is observable; First, that the Pope made use of the Barons as well as the Bishops to enforce the King to make his detestable Charter of his Crown, Realm, and resume them from him under an annual rent, sore against his will; which they used as the strongest inducement to persuade the Pope to compell K. John to grant and confirm those Charters, Liberties to them which they contested for. Therefore this Clause inserted into his Charter by the Popes Agents; Non vi induiti, nec timore coacti, set nostra bona, spontaneaue voluntate offerimus et libere concedimus Deo et sanctis Apostolis ejus, &c. must needs be a notorious falshood. 2ly. That the King after this detestable Charter and surrender, made use of the Popes power, Bulls, Excommunications and Interdicts to curb the Barons and Archbishop, and * null the Charter of Liberties they forcibly extorted from him, and to enforce them to disclaim them, Such an ambidexter was he to promote his own usurped authority over them both, as his Vassals, and make them the new instruments of their own servitude and bondage.

Tom. 2. p. 351. l. 38. after Sword, this should have followed. * Mat. Westminster renders us this account of this Kings military proceedings against the Barons, and sad consequence of this unhappy Civil War, as well to the Bishops and Clergy as Barons and Laity. *Stipatus igitur agmine detestabili alienigenarum, cuius Dux & praeceptor Falcarius de Breauté, vir quidem ignobilis, & gentitura bastardus, Neuter genere constitutus est; Rex Johannes furia invelitus, partes Angliæ Aquilonares cepit devolare, Castra Baronum vel diruere, vel sibi mancipare. Aulas & municipia immisericorditer, quæ Baronum fuerant, concremare, incolas excogitatis tormentis, ut pecuniam extorqueret, exagitare, ita ut videretur Dominus furere irasci populo suo, et hereditatem suam abominari: ubique luctus, ubique miseria. Factus est Sacerdos ut populus, et * sceptrum Ecclesiæ prophanantur. Proscribuntur Episcopi, effugientibus pastozibus gregum agmina disperguntur. Eodem tempore, quia fuit corrector, et in quo potuit, corrector Regis Johannis, semper tamen recalcitrantis, ab officio suspensus est Stephanus Cantuar. Archiepiscopus, quasi esset lautor adversariozum vassalli Domini Papæ, scil. Regis Johannis, per omnia desipientis. In Concilio etiam generali suspensionem prenotatam Dominus Papa confirmavit. Tandem vir, multis tamen elaborantibus, meruit idem Archiepiscopus absolutionis beneficium obtinere. * Interea afflictione magna, dum nobilium mulieres ludibrio traierentur, domus comburentur, sylva succiderentur, terra alienis donarentur, pecunia a quovis, tormentis exquisitis, extorqueretur. Depopulata est Insula Eliensis per Falcatum, qui etiam Ecclesiam ipsam Cathedralē equum infidens, evaginato gladio irreverenter intravit, extrahensque inde nobiles viros et matronas, necnon et Clericos, ipsumque Dominum Stephanum Riddel, virum clarissimæ famæ, honestum & dapilem, ad gravissimam compulit redemptionem. Et dum talia agerentur, ad instantiam Regis, qui quasi ad Dominum suum Papam nuncios crebro destinavit, ipse Summus Pontifex, ut vassallum suum novum, nobis Dominus protegeret viriliter et efficaciter, Barones Angliæ, quos prius excommunicavit in genere, jam iterato excommunicavit * nominatim, et in specie. Barones autem, jam in arcto constituti, postquam cognoverunt, quod Dominum Papam pro subjectione regni, et vassallagio Regis inclinati validum haberent persecutorem, quem prius habuerunt defensorem: Ludovicum, primogenitum Philippi Regis Francorum, sibi in Regem electum diutius expectarunt. Cui obfides cum chartis, & aliis obligationum generibus de fidelitate, & ligantia transmissis, solennibus legationibus destinavunt, qui parandis preparatis adventum maturavit. Rex vero Johannes, audiens de adventu Ludovici in Angliam, Cantuariam advolavit. Et interim applicuit Gualo Legatus, missus a Domino Papa Innocentio 3. ad tuitionem Regis Johannis. Qui transitu facto per Regem Francorum Philippum, ex parte Domini Papæ omnibus modis dissuaserat, ne filium suum Ludovicum in succursum excommunicatorum transmitteret, ne Ecclesia Romana patrimonio suo privaretur. Quod cum intellexisset Rex Philippus, hoc de regno Angliæ dictum fuisse, ita mox respondit; Regnum Angliæ patrimonium Petri, vel Ecclesiæ Romanæ nunquam fuit, nec est, nec erit.*

Tom. 2. p. 360. l. 4. after XVIII. adde: To procure this Excommunication and Interdict, and the Popes confirmation of his Charters of Queen Perengaria her dower, K. John dispatched Pandulph, the Popes Legat, and several Proctors to Rome to Pope Innocent, as these ensuing Records and Letters attest; wherein he complained, that the Barons who were devoted to him before he surrendered and subjected his Realm to the Pope, had since for that very reason, as they publicly protested, most violently risen up in rebellion against him, imploring his ayde and protection of Himself and Realm against them; and the obstinacy, disobedience of his treacherous Prelates, who hindered the good effects of his former care and endeavours to protect and support him; for which he returned him all possible thanks.

King John having sufficient experience of the treachery, perjury, disloyalty of most of his Bishops, Abbots, Clergy, by their Interdicting the Realm, procuring the Pope to excommunicate, depose him, and give away his Kingdom; and by their confederating with his Barons in their Wars against him, after their restitution, and his reconciliation to them notwithstanding their unparallel'd Treasons; did thereupon in the last year of his reign insert a new clause into his Licenses for electing Bishops, Abbots, Priors both in England and Ireland, as this Record assures us.

Tom. 2. p. 367. l. 6. after death, this should have been inserted : * Rannulfus Cestrensis renders us this account of K. John's death, and what common fame there was that he was poysoned by a Monk. Rex Johannes 17 regni sui anno, & sexto mense, obiit apud Newerk morbo dissenterico die Sancti Calixti Papæ, set apud Croghton Monasterium ordinis Præmonstracensis exenteratus est, & apud Wygorniam in medio Chori Monachorum sepultus. Tradit tamen vulgata fama, quod apud Monasterium Swynhenede alborum Monachorum intoricatus est. Furaverat enim ibidem (ut asseritur) prudens, quod panem tunc obolum valentem faceret infra annum si viveret 12 denarios valere. Quod audiens, unus de conversis fratribus loci illius venenum consecit, Regi porrerit, set et ipso sumpto prius viatico catholico simul cum Rege interiit. * Henry de Kynghton a Canon of Leicester superaddes another cause and way of poysoning him, and what became of him after his death : Rex ipse Johannes ad Monasterium de Swyntheued, quod à Sancto Botolpho distat per quinque leucas, hospitandi causa declinaret. Audivit Abbatem ejusdem loci pulchram habere sororem, Priorissam cujusdam loci propinqui, accensumque ex more libidine, misit satellites suos ut eam adducerent ad se. Quod cum audisset Abbas frater ejus, tristis admodum effectus est, noluitque à fratribus consolationem accipere. Cui dixit unus conversus suus qui curam gerebat hospitii, & familiaris, & notus Domino Regi, Quidnam habes Pater ? cur decedit vultus tuus, & tristior solito est facies tua ? An. 18 John. Regis.

Christi, quam dilexi; Proponit eam deturpare Rex. At ille; Ignosce mihi pater, & ora pro me, et auferam vitam iniqui a terra, et timorem ipsius a conversatione hominum. Cui ille; Wellem hoc, inquit, fili mi; non tamen licet in personam Regis manum extendere. Processit itaque conversus, & tulit pira nova, quibus ipsum Regem libenter vesci sciebat, apposuitque venenum in singulis præter tria, quæ cum cæteris reposita optime denotabat. Denique cum Rex sederet in mensa & confabularetur cum suis militibus qui assiderant, accepto uno pane, non quidem ut Dominicam cœnam faceret, sed ut in perniciem suam loqueretur & moriem: Quæsit à ministro, quanti pretii esset panis ille si venditioni traheretur? At illi; Valeret, inquit, obolum. Et ille; Verè, inquit, fertilitas ista maxima fecit Barones & populum meum insurgere in me; nunc autem si per annum integrum comites mihi fuerint vita & salus, faciam tanti panem ponderis 12 obolos valere. Et scandalizati sunt ministri ejus in verbo isto, & retrocedebant quidam eorum. Conjurant omnes cum converso in mortem ipsius. Venit itaque conversus ille, & applausit Regi sicut & alias facere consueverat, & dixit ei; Placetne tibi, ô Rex, comedere de fructu novo? Placet, inquit, vade, & affer: Tulitque præparata pira, & statuit ea coram Rege. Moxque lapides pretiosi, qui coram Rege fuerant, in sudorem vertebantur: Et ait Rex; Quid attulisti frater? nunquid venenum porrexisti? At ille; Non venenum, ô Rex, sed fructum optimum. Et Rex; Comede, inquit, de fructu tuo. Moxque apprehenso uno ex piris cognitis comedit: Et Rex; Comede, inquit, & alterum; & comedit: Adde, inquit, & tertium; & fecit sic. Nec se ulterius potuit continere Rex, apprehenso uno ex venenatis comedit, eadem nocte extinctus est. Nec tamen perit conversus, sed inter manus eorundem tantum dilapsus est, liberavitque Deus per mortem Regis iniqui prædictam Sanctimonialem sponsam suam a novo (ut creditur) sponso Diabolo. Mortuo itaque Johanne sic extincto, tandem postmodum sepultus est Wygornia die Sancti Luca Evangelista, Anno Domini 1216. & regni sui anno 17. Sepultus dico est, sed non cum honore, quia terra quæ in operibus ejus pessimis turbata extitit, non ad plenum pacificata quævit. Sacerdos quidam qui Regi Johanni familiariter adhaeserat in vita sua, post mortem ejus ab amore ipsius non est ex toto separatus. Profusus enim lacrymis & precibus multis Deum frequenter exorabat, ut si ejus voluntas esset, ostenderetur sibi in signo aliquo, utrum cum anima Domini sui judicialiter vel misericorditer ageretur. Cumque dies in hac voluntate permansisset, tandem in visione nocturna apparuit ei vir splendidus in vestibus quasi deauratis, dicens ei; Quid flet? Quid ploras? surge, tolle & lege Psalmum 52. Quare gloriaris in malitia? et ibi videre poteris quid meruit Dominus tuus. At ille expergefactus à somno rediit in se, et nihil boni inveniens in Psalmo illo, cessavit præce sua. The Chronicle compiled at St. Albans Anno 1483. printed by Will. Caxton. Anno 1502. thus more particularly relates his poisoning, Pars 7. of the death of King John: The Kyng came by the Abbey of Swyneshede, and there hee abode two dayes; And as he sate at mete, he axed a Monke of the house, How moche that loof was worth that was sette before hym uppon the table? And the Monke said, That the loof was worth but an half-penny. O said the Kyng to the Monke, Here is grete chepe of brede; Now sayd he to the Monke, And I may lyve ony while, such a loof will be worth xx. shillinges or half a year be gone. And so when hee sayd this worde, moche hee thought, and often hee sighed, and toke and ete of the brede, and sayd; By God, the worde that I have spoken, it shall be soth. The Monke that stode before the Kyng was for this worde full sorry in his herte, and thought rather hee would hymselfe suffre deth, and thought yf he might ordeyne therefore some manere remedye. And anon the Monke wente unto his Abbot and was shryven of him, and tolde the Abbot all that the Kyng had sayd; And prayed his Abbot for to assyle him, for he would peve the Kyng such a drynke, that all Englonde sholde be glad thereof and ioyfull. Tho yede the Monke into a gardeyne, and founde a grete Tode therein, and toke her up and put her in a Cuppe, and pyeked the Tode thogh with a broche many tymes, till that the venym came out of every lode in the Cuppe. And tho toke the Cuppe and filled it with good ale, and brought it before the Kyng, kuelynge sayenge; Sir, sayd hee, Wassayll, for never the dayes of all your lyfe dronke ye of so good a Cuppe. Begyn Monke, sayd the Kyng; And the Monke dranke a grete draught, and toke the Kyng the Cuppe, and the Kyng dranke also a grete draught, and set doونه the Cuppe. The Monke anon ryght wente in to farmerye and there dyed anon, on whoos soule God have mercy, Amen. And fyve Monkes spye for his soul specially, and shall tople that the Abbape standeth. The Kyng rose up anon anone full evyll at ease, and commaunded to remove the table, and axed after the Monke, and men tolde him that hee was dead, for his tombe was broken in sundre. When the Kyng herde this, he commaunded for to trusse, but it was for nought, for his belly began to swelle for the dypnke that he had dzonke, and within too dayes hee deped, on the morowe after saynt Lukis daye. Such execrable Traytors were the Prelates and Monks to King John, as thus to deprive him both of his Crown, Life.

UPon the untimely death of King John by poison, Anno 1216. his young son Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. being crowned King at Gloucester by Gualo the Popes Legate, (more out of zeal to preserve the Popes new acquired interest in England, by King John's Charter of Relinquation, then any cordial affection to the King or Kingdom;) <sup>a</sup> *Hujus (Gualonis) consilio & amonitione idem Rex cruce signatus est in festo Omnium Sanctorum eodem anno. Rex vero novus qui patri barbato impubes successit, præventus à Deo benedictionibus dulcedinis à senectutis innocentie sue annis, superni Regis amorem ferbozemque concepit in tota vita: titulo humilitatis & innocentie puritate conscientie, morum suavitate & gravitate sic excellit, ut prædecessores suos, quibus solo nomine Regio congruebat, quæ sanctus et inter homines imperabat, et terrenus quidem Angelus videretur. After his Coronation, the Legate excommunicating the Usurper Lewes, with all his adherents, every Lords-day and Holy-day, the Barons adhering to him being informed of his secret design to banish and disinherit them all, so soon as he had conquered England, deserted him; <sup>b</sup> præterea sententia excommunicationis, quam Angli præ omnibus nationibus formidant, (as Mat. Westminster observes) ipsos Barones ad proprium Dominum naturalem, scilicet Ludovico, diatim revocavit: Et viriliter se habentes Barones, (in fighting for King Henry) meruerunt absolvi, et Regis novi dilectionem. Whereupon the Usurper Lewes craving leave peaceably to depart out of England, taking an Oath never to return into, or infect it more, departed into France with dishonour.

How prevalent this Legate then was in the Kings Councils, how carefull to settle peace, prevent discontents, inconveniences, and promote the welfare of the Realm of England, will appear by this Record, to stop the Earl of Chester's present pilgrimage to the Holy Land, which would prove mischievous to the whole Realm at that season.

REX G. de Mar. Justiciario Hibernie, venientes ad nos in Angliam Magister Macrobinus & David Canonici Lismorensis Ecclesie, in presencia Domini P. Dei gratia Norwicensis Electi, Domini Papae Camerarii & Apostolicae Sedis Legati, coram Consilio nostro proposuerunt, quod Magistrum Robertum de Bedesford elegerunt in Pastorem Ecclesie suae praedictae tunc vacantis, et petierunt assensum huius electioni Regium exhiberi; sed statim obiectum fuit eis a Consilio nostro, quod nulla fuit electio illa, nec rite celebrata, cum secundum dignitatem nostram multis diebus optentam, et a Domino Papa confirmatam, debuit electionem suam petita et impetrata a nobis eligendi licencia praebenisse. Intelligentes igitur dicti Canonici, quod non rite processum fuit in hac parte, renunciaverunt electioni tali, dicto Magistro Robertum de Bedesford eidem pro se renunciantem, porrigentes Consilio nostro literas Capituli Lismorensis continentes, quod dictos Magistros M. & D. tam in electione facienda, quam ceteris Ecclesie suae negotiis Procuratores constituerunt; statum habituri quicquid ex parte Capituli in hiis ducerent disponendum. Audito vero earum literarum tenore, & data eis audientia, petierunt a nobis humiliter licentiam eligendi: quae ut laboribus eorum et Capituli parceremus, eis benigne concessa, praehabita deliberatione eundem Magistrum R. de Bedesford in Pastorem sibi elegerunt. Quorum electioni cum sic rite facta fuisset, nostrum praestituimus favorem et assensum. Hec igitur vobis protestantes, praesentibus literis vobis mandamus, quatinus eidem Magistro R. vel Procuratori suo plenam seisinam habere faciatis de Episcopatu Lismorensi, cum omnibus maneriis ad eundem pertinentibus, & cum omnibus pertinentiis suis plenam seisinam habere faciatis. Teste Domino P. Wintoniensi Episcopo apud Westmonasterium, 12 die Decembrii, anno regni nostri tertio. Per eundem & Comitum Marescallum.

By the like reason the Bishops keeping Courts and exercising all manner of coercive Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction by their own authority in their Dominions, without the Kings special License, was as void, illegal, and as much against the Law, Kings Crown and Dignity, as their first Election, the Earl of Cornwall's Sonne holding Plea of an Assize of Mordancester, or of Novel disseisin, and constituting Justices of Assize in Cornwall in his County Courts by his own authority, without the Kings License; which being then complained of to the Kings Council, they resolved to be against against the Kings honour, Crown, and dignity, and thereupon prohibited by this memorable Writ of Prohibition. An. 3 H. 3.

H. Dei gratia, &c. Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Abbatibus, Prioribus, Comitibus, Baronibus, Militibus, libere Tenentibus, & omnibus de Comitatu Cornubie, salutem. Intimatum est Consilio nostro, quod H. filius Comitis Corn. Assisam quandam de morte Antecessoris capi fecit in Comitatu Cornubie sine precepto nostro, et sine Iusticiariis ad hoc constitutis ex parte nostra; et quod * auctoritate propria Iusticiarios constituit ad Assisas nostre disseisinas capiendas ad quemlibet Comitatum, unde mandavimus ei et firmiter injungimus, ut a talibus desistat, nec placitum aliquod ad Coronam nostram pertinens teneat, sine speciali precepto et warranto nostro, nec quicquam attemptet quod credere possit in dispendium dignitatis nostre. Vobis igitur mandamus firmiter injungentes in fide qua nobis tenemini, ne hujusmodi fieri permittatis pro posse vestro; et prohibemus districte, ne aliquis liber homo in hujusmodi Assisas se ponat vel poni permittat, sine speciali precepto nostro, cum sint manifeste tales Assise contra honorem Regie dignitatis. In cujus rei testimonium, &c. has Literas nostras patentes vobis mittimus. Teste H. de Burgo Iusticiario apud Novum Templum London. 17. die Septembris, anno, &c. tertio. The same year Pandulphus the Popes Legate, by his Legatine authority, took upon him to write to the Kings Consilio to release William de Latham a Clerk, who had been a long time imprisoned, (unless his Offences were such for which he ought not to be released by Law) by putting in Pledges or sufficient caution, not hereafter to oppose the King or Church of Rome (which it seems he had formerly done) as this Record relates.

Cum Willielmus de Latham Clericus sub custodia Walteri de Godardvill teneatur carceri mancipatus, ac diu fuerit ibidem oppressus, discretioni vestre Legationis qua fungimur auctoritate mandamus, quatinus eum in diutinis miseriis ejus eidem compati teneamur, ipsum facientes restitui pristina libertati, et quod Domino Regi et Ecclesie Romanæ se de cetero non opponet, quinimo eorumdem fidelis existens, eorum Jura modis omnibus servabit illæsa, cautionem ab eodem Clerico recipiatis sufficientem, nisi talis fuerit ejus excessus pro quo merito debeat retineri. Dat. &c. Et ideo vobis mandamus quatinus, nisi excessus ejus talis fuerit pro quo merito ipsum retineri debeat, ipsum mittatis ad Consilium nostrum a Prisona liberatum, accepta ab eo securitate sufficienti, quod fidelis erit Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesie et nobis, et eidem Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesie se de cetero non opponet: et si pro excessu suo merito retineri debeat, significetis Domino Legato excessum suum pro quo captus est, et detentus. fides eidem Regi reddere denegavit pluries requisitus : quinetiam, ad suæ infidelitatis nequitiam palliandam, ad partes transmarinas (vel potius, ut dicitur, in Hispaniam) simulata devotione se transferens, dolose intendit prædictos obsoles libere; tanquam per ipsius affectatam negligentiam, quæ utique aperta est, malicia evasuros: & ut qualem fidelitatis affectum erga Regem habebat exhibebat in effectu, tales in ipso Castro dimisit, qui non solum præfato Regi Castrum et obsoles reddere aspernantur, verum etiam proditorie rebellantes, ipsos homines hostiliter persequuntur; et (quod vix credere possumus) hoc perpetrant non sine ipsius Episcopi consilio et assensu; cum a prædicto fratre suo dispositioni ejusdem credamur esse commissi. Quod ex eo liquidem præsumitur probabiliter, quia cum illi sint in sua Diocæsi constituti, eos non solum non reprimunt, verum etiam fovere favorabiliter non desistit. Cum igitur causam prædicti Regis pupilli, Crucesignati, et custodia Sedis Apostolicæ derelicti, omnibus modis defendere teneamur; eidem Episcopo per scripta nostra firmiter dedimus in præceptis, ut prædicto Regi Castrum suum et obsoles reddi procuraret; detentores eorum spirituali et temporali districtione compellens. About the same time, (as I conjecture by the * fore-cited Writs) Pope Ho-norius sent this Bull to the Bishop of Winchester and others of the Kings Barons, (the original whereof I found in the White Tower, having the first lines, date, and last words of each line cut off) wherein he complained to the Bishop and other Barons, that sundry Earls, Barons and Castellans, who in words professed themselves faithful to the King, were yet enemies to him by their deeds, in detaining his Demesnes, Lands, Castles, and due services from him, enjoining them to assist Pandulphus his Legate to enforce them to restore them by temporal power and distresses, since they contemned his Ecclesiastical Censures; as this Fragment of it (which I have supplied in some places by words, in a Parenthesis) attests.

Viris venerabilibus & in Christo dilectis, Decano & Capitulo Burdgalen. P. divina miseratione Wintonien. Ecclesie Minister humilis, salutem & sinceram dilectionis affectum. Quia bonae memoriae Archipræfulem vestrum audivimus decessisse, discretionem vestram rogamus atque monemus in Domino diligenter, quatinus circumspiciatis status terræ vestræ et Regis Anglia circumstantiis, qui in defensione et custodia Romanae Ecclesie consistit; in provisione pastoris taliter vos habeatis, quod & dignitas Ecclesie vestræ illibata servetur, et vos et Ecclesia vestra (quantum ad Regem naturalem Dominum vestrum) gaudere debeatis temporali-

Et quoniam huiusmodi negotium aliquantam deliberationem capit, consulimus in Domino, quatinus pensatis omnibus sicut prædiximus, honore videlicet Ecclesie vestræ & utilitate, atque patriæ tranquillitate, in hoc facto providere & consulti vos studeatis habere. Nos vero quantumcunque cum honestate poterimus, ad executionem boni propositi vestri, & alios consiliarios Domini Regis per nos habebitis & benignos. Valeat universitas semper in Domino.

About the same year this imperious Legate sent this Letter to Peter Bishop of Winton and Hugo de Burgh, to prohibit and suppress the Usury of the Jews taken from Christians, and to stay a suit brought by a Jew against the Abbot and Convent of Westminster before the Justices of the Jews, wherein he exacted Usury from them, to the great scandal of Christianity and the Kings dishonour, and to joyn some discreet, honest persons with the Sheriff in each County for the collection of Amerciaments, to prevent their malice and extortions.

Justiciario, Pandolphus eadem gratia Norwicensis Electus, Domini Papæ Camerarius, Apostolicæ sedis Legatus, salutem in Domino. Frequentes ac assiduos Christianorum clamores contra Judaorum perfidiam vir iam tolerare valemus; qui propter graves et immoderatas Usuras, quas a Christianis nituntur omnimodo, contra statuta Lateranens. Concilii, extorquere; Christiani facultatibus propriis sic exhaustis, vir possunt etiam respirare; super quo vobiscum meminimus nos habuisse tractatum. Sane dilectis filiis Abbate et Conventu Westmonast. referentibus nos noveritis accepisse, quod Isaac Judæus de Norwico, coram Justiciariis Judæorum eos super iniusta Usurarum veratione molestare non cessat. Nos igitur volentes super præmissis honori Regio (cui in hiis maxime derogatur) et Christianorum indemnitatibus providere; discretionem vestram rogamus, monemus, atque consulimus pro honore vestro, quatinus dictis Justiciariis insungatis, ut, usque ad adventum nostrum ad partes illas, in causa supercedeant memorata: ut tunc de nostro et aliorum prudentium nostrorum consilio hiis malis ad honorem Dei et Ecclesie et Domini Regis; et ad tantum scandalum absciendum de Regno finis debitus apponatur. Præterea, cum de consilio fuerit communi provisum, ut ad colligenda amerciamenta propter malitiam Vicecomitum socii eis darentur, miramur, quod generaliter est ipsis mandatum, ut ipsi per se ipsa colligant, quod ad damnum non modicum Domini Regis noscitur redundare. Quare vobis mandamus, ut (sicut communiter fuit statutum) ad colligenda amerciamenta ipsi Vicecomitibus in quolibet Comitatu, viros discretos & Domino Regi fideles, dari socios faciatis; mandantes per literas Regias Waltero Maucel. ut amerciamenta in Comitatibus Lincoln. Nottingh. Dereb. una cum ipsis Vicecomitibus colligere ad opus Domini Regis studeat fideliter & devotè. How busie Pandolphus the Popes Legate was to promote the peace and welfare of the King and Kingdom, (then under the Popes protection) and the prolonging of the Truce with Lewelin, and France, he thus relates in these his Letters to H. de Burgo Chief Justice of England.

The form of the Letter to the King of France and Popes Nuncio concerning the Truces prorogation he then sent to H. de Burgo was this, wherein he relates the Popes (usurped) imperative power in commanding Kings to make Peace and Truces at his pleasure.

Illustri Regi Francorum; venerabilis Pater & Dominus noster Summus Pontifex, nuper & sæpius nobis per literas suas intimavit, quod Excellentie vestre sua scripta direxerat pro treugarum prorogatione, quæ capta fuerunt inter vos & bonæ memoriæ f. patrem nostrum. Meruntamen nobis insunxit, ut ad hoc efficiend. ex parte nostra ad præsentiam vestram nuncios mitteremus. Et nos suis monitis et mandatis obedire volentes, et cupientes habere pacem et gratiam vestram, literas & nuncios nostros propter hoc jam sæpius misimus, & adhuc latores præsentium mittimus ad præsentiam vestram: Celsitudinem vestram rogantes, ut secundum mandatum Apostolicum et prout nobis vestris literis intimastis, treugas ipsas prorogare velitis. Nos enim parati sumus per Prælatos, Comites & Barones regni nostri treugas ipsas asseruere, cum vestros duxeritis propter hoc nuntios transmittendos.

Item; Magistro Petro de Colomedio Domini Papæ Capellano, dilecto Clerico & amico suo. Intellecto studio & diligentia tua, quæ circa negotia nostra apud Dominum Regem Francie fideliter adhibuisti, prudentiæ tuæ gratiarum referimus actiones, fidem & devotionem tuam dignis in Domino laudibus commendantes. Merum quia juxta mandatum Domini Papæ per te et latores præsentium prorogationem treugarum a Domino Rege Francie durinus requirendam; monemus discretionem tuam & rogamus, ut una cum ipso ad ipsius præsentiam accedentes, ei nostras literas præsentetis, & procedatis in facto secundum quod videritis expedire.

Istis formis addatis & subtrahatis, quicquid vobis melius visum fuerit; & injungatis nuntio, ut statim, habito responso Regis, nobis studeat intimare; nec recedat de Francie donec recipiat responsum nostrum.

Hereupon it seems the Truce was renewed and prolonged by these Kings, as this Charter and Oath of Earl Waren to observe it (filed with these Letters) intimates.

The same year I meet with this memorable Record, concerning a marriage contract between Alexander King of Scots, and King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup> (then an Infant) that Alexander should marry Joan, eldest Sister of King Henry, by a set time; and that King Henry should cause both of the King of Scots Sisters sent into England to be there married to his and their honour by a certain time, or else to return them safely into Scotland; which several Bishops and one Abbot, as the Kings sureties, promised only in the word of truth to see performed, and to excommunicate all oppugners thereof within their respective Diocesses; but the Temporal Lords which were his sureties, took a solemn Oath before the Popes Legate to see performed; as if their promise upon their Honours, Truth, without an Oath, were not so valid or obligatory as the Bishops and Abbots words, who then upon all occasions advanced themselves and their Ecclesiastical Censures too, over Kings and Nobles, even in cases of civil contracts ratified by an Oath.

The same year the King, at the Legates instigation, both under pain of imprisonment and forfeiture of Lands and Goods, and likewise of Excommunication by the Popes Legate, (not Archbishop or Bishop of the Diocese) prohibited Torneys or Jufts to all his Nobles and Subjects, by this Writ; though King * Henry the 2<sup>d</sup>. sometimes commanded and authorized them, against sundry Canons of Popes and Councils.

Hoc etiam anno, imminente tempore Adventus Domini, orta est contentio gravissima inter Dunelmensem Episcopum Richardum, & Monachos, eo quod esset substantiæ Ecclesiasticæ indiscretus et prodigus dilapidator. Unde sub appellatione se protegens Episcopus, plus solito profusus opibus, Romam abiit, ubi Ecclesiam suam plusquam triginta millibus marcarum confavit: (such was the fruit of his appeal, such the intollerable bribery and corruption of the Roman Court.) Prioratus vero et Episcopatus hac continuata controversia, damna incurrit impæciabilia, as Matthew Westminster observes.*

It seems that Anno 1223. (not 1217. as Sir **Henry Spelman* mis-conjectures) immediately after the Council of Oxford, An. 1222. mentioned by him, Richard Poore Bishop of Sarum, by his Episcopal authority, took upon him to make several Constitutions for his Diocese of Sarum, and also of Durham after his translation thither, to advance his Episcopal Jurisdiction over the Clergy and Laity; wherein as you may observe the frequent whoredomes, and general incontinency of Priests, Prebends, Monks, in keeping of Whores and Concubines openly, to the scandal of the people, (being prohibited marriage, though he makes it a Sacrament, and highly recommended it to all Lay-men, to prevent these sins;) with the frequent abuse of Excommunications in several cases, in pursuance of the Council of Oxford's Decree; So he published sundry Constitutions, prejudicial to the Liberties and Properties of the Laity; witness his Constitutions De Testamentis faciendis. Precipimus quod Laicis inhibeatur frequenter, ne testamenta sua faciant, sine presentia Sacerdotis, sicut diligunt quod eorum extremæ voluntates adimpleantur. † Inter alia etiam singuli Sacerdotes infirmos suos monent & efficaciter inducant, quod subzix Sarum Ecclesiæ suæ memores, prout Deus inspiraverit illis, in Testamento suo, de bonis suis relinquunt. Sacerdotibus autem similiter inhibemus, ne Testamenta sua per manum ordinant Laicalem: Ne viri Ecclesiastici Sacramentum fidelitatis Laicis præstent, for the Temporalities held of them. Si Patroni, vel Advocati, aut Fundarii, seu Vicedomini alicujus Ecclesiæ Rectorem, vel alium Clericum ipsius Ecclesiæ, per se, vel per alios occidere ausu nefario præsumserit, Patroni jus usque ad quartam generationem amittant, et posteritas talium in Clericorum collegium nullatenus assumatur, nec in dignitatibus Dominicis alicujus Prælati assequatur honorem: Ne quis Rector Ecclesiæ ædificet in loco Laicali. Which were all likewise decreed in the * Provincial Constitutions made and published by Edmund Archbishop of Canterbury, Anno Dom. 1236. Thus did our usurping Popish Prelates, like so many petty Popes, by their own illegal Constitutions, never consented to by the King and Parliament, encrease continually, by degrees, in matters of Testaments and other things, upon the Liberties, rights, properties and free-holds of the Lay-Subjects, as well as Prerogatives of the King.

Pope Honorius being informed that King Henry forgetting the great and faithfull services done by the Bishop of Winchester to him and his Father King John had injured and molested him concerning the Liberties of his Church, and denied him leave to repair to Rome about the breach of his Vow, in not going to the Holy Land, and the affairs of his Church; which he could not do without the Kings special license, sent this original Bull to him upon these occasions; which I met with in the White Tower.

HONO.

HONORIS, &c. Charissimo in Christo filio Henrico Regi Angliæ illustri, &c. Sinceræ fidei & devotionis constantia, quam venerabilis frater Wintoniensis Episcopus claræ memoriæ Johanni Regi Angliæ patri tuo ac tibi ipsi exhibuit in non parvæ necessitatis articulo, excidere non debet à tua memoria, sed in perpetuis temporibus inhzere. Audivimus autem, & audientes nequivimus non mirari, quod quasi ejus fida utiliaque obsequia dicto patri tuo ac tibi exhibita jam oblivionem acceperint, libertates ejus Ecclesiæ ab eodem patre tuo aliisque Regibus Anglorum indultæ (sicut apparet per literas eorundem) te dissimulante jugiter infringuntur. Monemus igitur circumspectionem tuam & hortamur attentius, quod ejusdem Episcopi fidem et obsequia recolens, et quantum tibi vitanda sit nostra et Apostolicæ sedis offensa diligenter attendens, prædictam Ecclesiæ (quam dudum in nostram protectionem receperimus) cum omnibus bonis ejus habeas propensius commendatam; et injurias eidem illatas facias emendari: eamque ne ipse molestes super libertatibus et aliis honoribus vel iustitiis suis, nec a tuis permittas subditis molestari: sed eam, sicut ad Regiam pertinet celsitudinem (specialiter consideratione dicti Episcopi) protegas et defendas. Ad hæc cum idem Episcopus disposuerit ad nostram venire præsentiam, tractatum nobiscum super executione voti, (quod de transeundo in subsidium Terræ Sanctæ suscepto signo Crucis omisit) aliisque suis et Ecclesiæ suæ negotiis habiturus, et hiis qui volunt ad partes accedere cismarinas egressus (sicut fertur) non pateat absque tuâ licentia speciali, prædictum Episcopum cum comitatu suo libere venire permittas ad nos, et ad Romanam Ecclesiæ matrem suam, nec impediri per aliquos aliquatinus patiari; quia hoc non magis in suam quam in nostram et Apostolicæ sedis injuriam redundaret. Te spero nobis obsequentem exhibueris in omnibus supradictis, quod rumorem, qui super hiis ad nos venerit, comprobare esse falsum, et operis exhibitione demonstrares te memorem esse et reverentiæ quam debes Apostolici sedis, et puræ fidei Episcopi supradicti, quarum nullo debet tempore oblivisci. Pro obtinenda dispensatione matrimonii inter vos et filiam nobilis viri Comitis Britannie contrahendi, cum venerabili patre Episcopo Covenrentensi apud Dominum Papam diligenter institimus et frequenter, fidelitatem et dilectionem vestram et regni vestri studiosius exponentes. Qui licet sinceritatem dilectionis, quam erga vos et regnum vestrum habet, satis nobis exprefferit, et sapius inculcaverit, quare non facit Rex Angliæ factum suum, adjiciens placere sibi, quod efficaciter in negotio processisset eodem, literas tamen suas nobis ad præfens super hoc concedere reculavit. Sed placuit ei, quod de conscientia sua nostras vobis literas mitteremus: nos igitur de certa ejus conscientia serenitati Regiæ duximus consulendum, quatinus secunde ad hujusmodi consummandum negotium procedatis. Indubitanter & ut credimus, quod Dominus Papa gratiam vobis in hoc factam minime subtrahet, sed in hoc et in aliis vobis tantquam speciali et devoto filio præstabit consilium et favorem. Nos igitur de consilio dictorum Cardinalium consulimus Domino Regi, quod severe procedat ad hujus negotii consummationem; quia nihil oportebit vos timere, quoad Deum vel homines, ut sæpius inculcaverunt nobis prædicti Cardinales. Et etiam Dominus Hostiensis, qui, quia tunc præfens non fuit quando signatæ sunt literæ memoratæ, sigillum suum non apposuit, cum aliis, non minus ipsis propter hoc laboravit. Alia verò negotia — quia de consilio Cardinalium concessæ fuerunt (ut dicit) Domini Papa literæ directæ Pictaviensibus, & de consilio eorundem suspensæ, non potuit Dominus Papa suspensionem revocare, quia non consentiunt fratres. Sed habebimus literas memoratas ad omnes vassallos Domini Regis, continentes invectionem contra resistentes et recedentes a fide veri Domini sui, ut fidelitatem Domini sui vigozosius resulant et conferrent. Præterea petivimus, quod amoverentur Gallici, qui sunt in partibus Albigensium, de terris quæ sunt de feodo Domini Regis, si quas forsan invaserint: sed quia nescivimus super hoc certum petere, nec ipsi respondere; sed cum sciverint, quæ sunt terræ (si quæ fuerint) quod suum erit, volenter exequentur; præsertim cum prohibitum fuerit Regi Francia, ne aliquid in partibus illis attemptaret in præjudicium Imperatoris, vel vestrum, vel aliorum fidelium. Comes autem Tholosanus juvari non poterit, nisi mittat ad Curiam nuncios speciales. Ad quid autem expediat ei mittere, prout poterimus, inquiremus. Veruntamen benè placet saniori parti Curie, quod suos hostes viriliter et (prosequatur) — The remainder of this Letter is purrified.

In the same Bundle of Letters to the Bishop of Chichester Chancellor of England, I find this of the Popes Nephew, a Prebend of the Church of York, for the payment of an Annuity granted him by the King out of his Exchequer; whereby we may discern what preferments and favours the Popes Nephews and creatures then gained from King Henry during his minority.

Yet notwithstanding after Falcatus his Excommunication by the Bishops, and judgement, exile by the King and Lords for his Rebellion, the Pope and his Legate being bribed with his large gifts, writ and interceded for his restitution to his Lands, and favour; as appears not only by our Historians, Tom. 2. p. 392, 398. and this Epistle, but by two Epistles of the Popes Legate, (which I rescued out of the rubbish in the White Tower Chappel) informing the Pope, and Falcatus his friends at Rome, how ill the King and kingdom of England relented the Popes intercession for him, and intermeddling with the state and affairs of England, contrary to former custom.

Magistro T. Unde videtur per hoc quod negotium pacis vel treugarum inter duos Reges, pro quo tantum (Deus novit) laboravimus, non possit effectui mancipari; & sic per consequens negotium * Albigen. prout credimus sit quasi penitus exsufflatum. invenimus et turbatum multipliciter, studuimus pro posse nostro reducere ad temperanciam. Dominum Papam quidem et Cardinales non solum commotos circa statum vestrum et regni vestri perpendimus, verum penitus se desperatos unanimiter fatebantur. Nam Rex jerosol. et dicti Gallici predicabant omnibus, quod Pas- sores Anglie obsides offerebant usque ad de reddendo sibi terram cum primo venire curaret ad illam. Adicientes, si aliquo in Curia Romana contra voluntatem Regis Francie attemptaretur, incontinentur Rex transfretaret in Angliam, et præter illos alii forsitan de terra * qui aliquandiu steterunt pro vobis * 1 conceive et si alia sinistra (sicut audivimus) insinuare nitebantur; it should be Pisavie.

Ita quod in narrationibus et petitionibus vestris plures nobis adversabantur, et multa obiciebantur. Responsio tamen ad illa non fuit difficilis cum veritas nos non laceret, & eadem nos turbatos liberaret, licet hoc solum grave nobis esset, quod vix potuerunt induci quidam ut aliquam fidem adhiberent veritati. Porro cum singulos Cardinales visitassemus et super statu vestro terrarumque vestrarum Anglie, Wallie, Hibernie, et de facto Bedeford, et Pisavia, et aliis articulis nobis injunctis instruxissemus diligenter, habitoque postmodum colloquio cum Papa in secreto die Mercurii proxima ante festum Santi Thomæ Apostoli, coram Papa et fratribus causam adventus nostri plene exposuimus, petitiones vestras tunc ibi Domino Papæ committentes. Veruntamen quia Nuncii Comitis Tholosani, Episcopi, Milites & Clerici post festum Santi Michaelis in Curia uniformiter steterant, et Papa cum fratribus jam per multos dies super facto illo licet novum plene deliberaverant, distulerunt usque post Natale de vestris negotiis providere; Et sperabatur quod dictus Comes competens responsum esset accepturus, licet Rex, et Gallici prædicti sibi fortiter resisterent. Die Jovis proxima recepit Papa literas Portuensis Episcopi Legati Aleman, quod idem Portuen. tractatum habitum inter Reges Alemanie & Francie, super Matrimonio de quo scitis, impedivit; Dixit tamen nobis Papa, quod Rex Francie pro eodem facto Nuncios suos ad Imperatorem iterum transmissit, sed quid egerunt adhuc nescivimus. De Falkasio de Breath dicebatur nobis circa principium adventus Domini, quod erat in veniendo Roman, attamen die Dominica proxima ante Natale Domini quando recederet lator præsentium percepimus, quod non ille erat de quo cavebatur illa die quia die Dominica detinet eum quod captus erat in Francie & detentus. Valeat Dominus noster, et quicquid Papa disponendum de facto vestro duxerit, Dominus nichilominus dirigat actus et voluntates vestros et nostros, si placet vigilatis caveatisque vobis.

In hac forma scribitur Archidiacono Colecestrensi de Causa illa non prosequenda. REX eisdem Judicibus, salutem. Reminimus nos vobis alias inhibuisse, ne in Causa quam movit coram vobis in Curia Christianitatis Archidiaconus Colecestrensis, contra dilectum et fidelem nostrum G. de Boeland, Decanum Capelle nostre Sancti Martini London. super procuracione quam idem Archidiaconus sibi fieri erigit pro Ecclesia de Newport, quæ est dicti Decanatus pars maxima et præcipua, procederetis, cujus proculdubio processus in nostræ cederet læsionem dignitatis: cujus optentu dicta Capella nostra ab omni jurisdictione Episcopi Diocesani subditorumque ejus soleat et debeat immunis permanere; hincque inhibitioni appellationem ex parte vestra recolimus interdictam. Ne igitur suggeri possit quod ab hiis desistere velimus, vel in præjudicium Regiæ dignitatis præsumatis in dicta Causa procedere, tam dictam inhibitionem nostram quam interdictam appellationem præsentibus literis innuimus. The Bishoprick of Acaden in the County of Connacht in Ireland becoming voyd, and the Clergy thereof according to their custome electing a Bishop without the Kings precedent license and Royal assent, contrary to his Royal prerogative; and exceptions being now taken both to the manner of the Bishops Election, and likewise against his person; Henry de Londres Archbishop of Dublin thereupon (conceiving the donation thereof to be devolved to himself by lapse, in which he was grossly mistaken) writ this Epistle to receive the Kings Royal pleasure how to proceed in this case for the maintenance of the Kings prerogative, which I found in the White Tower Chappel.

Unde ad instituendam et observandam debitæ sollemnitatis formam tam in Regia dignitate quam in electionis celebratione, examinata postmodum coram nobis eadem electione, ab adversariis Electi plura fuerunt obiecta et prolata, tam in personam Electi quam in formam eligendi; propter quæ videbatur ipsa electio minus valida, si universa deberent judicari et conservari secundum aliorum consuetudinem regnorum et Regis dignitatis conservationem, de quibus gentis illius ruditas usque ad tempus præsens noticiam non habuit, nec eas observare consuevit. Dumque videbatur ex hiis quæ omissa sunt tam in modo electionis, quam in observatione Regis dignitatis, ipsius Ecclesie ordinatio ad nos tanquam superiorem devolvi, quia volumus et affectamus Regiam dignitatem in illis partibus firmari, et induci, et consolidari ubi quondam convaluit, nec obtinuit cum in partibus eisdem nullus Anglicus fructificare possit adhuc, — aut morari; maxime propter loci paupertatem et gentis contrariæ hostilitatem; Super ordinatione ejusdem Ecclesie consilium et voluntatem vestram nobis significetis; fidei nostro præsentium latores credentes, qui de hiis et aliis vobis plenius exponet. Excellentissimo Domino suo & amantissimo, Henrico Dei gratia illustri Regi Anglie, &c. suus eadem gratia H. Dublinensis Archiepiscopus, salutem & devotum in omnibus famularum. Quot et quantos labores, quantas etiam expensas sustinuerimus pro Domino Rege patre vestro, necnon et pro vobis, non est necesse vobis exprimere, cum satis et vobis et vestris liquida sint et manifesta. Regis igitur excellentie cum quanta possumus supplicamus devotione, quatinus ad labores et expensas pro vobis et vestris factas oculo pietatis respicientes, Justit. vestro Hibernie dare velitis in mandatis, ut nos et Ecclesiam nostram super possessionibus et dignitatibus nostris a bonæ memoriæ H. Thomas Fitz-Adam, to whom the King committed the custody of his Forests in Ireland, distraining and apprehending some of the Archbishop of Dublin's men and Tenants within the Forest, exempted by King John's and other Charters from Forest Laws and Duties, the Archbishop excommunicated him for this his proceeding, yet afterwards offered to absolve him upon his submission; the Archbishop upon this occasion writ this Letter and the former, sent by a special Messenger to the King mis-relating the proceedings, extant in the Bundle of Letters and Certificates I found in the White Tower, (about An. 9 H. 3.) as I conjecture.

Excellentissimo Domino suo & amantissimo H. Dei gratia illustri Regi Angl. Domino Hibernie, &c. devotus suus H. eadem gratia Dublinensis Archiepiscopus, Apostolicæ sedis Legatus, cum fidelitate promptum et devotum servitium. Terræ et tenementa Ecclesie nostræ ipsi ab antiquo in liberam elemosinam assignata semper pro majori parte libera extiterunt a Forestariis et omnibus aliis exactionibus mundanis. Punta est etiam Ecclesia nostra in suis libertatibus antiquitus debitis et consuetis per Cartas et confirmationes inclitæ memoriæ Domini J. patris vestri a Forestariis et omnibus aliis mundanis exactionibus et oneribus. Et si forte aliquando contra libertates illius præsumptuosè fuisset aliquid attemptatum, unde et venerandæ memoriæ antecessor noster exulavit ærumpnis et tribulationibus septennis exilii, libertates ipsas in statum debitum reformavit. Hoc vestra et fidelium vestrarum discreta provisione deletum esse videtur a consequentia per Cartam vestram ad partes Hibernie nuper transmissam, in qua non solum Ecclesiis & Ecclesiasticis viris, sed omnibus secularibus & mundanis antiquas debitas et consuetas libertates libertates concessistis et confirmastis. Hiis autem non consideratis ut deceret T. An. 9 H. 3. filius Ade cui Forestam vestram de Hibernia commisit, terras nostras contra antiquas et debitas Ecclesiarum nostrarum libertates infestare contendit, et novas oppresiones et exactiones inducere, capiendo homines nostros et denarios, potius voluntate propria, ut videtur, quam auctoritate Regia. Qui cum propter huiusmodi et alios graves excessus ab Archidiacono nostro fuisset excommunicatus, tandem ad cor reversus, absolvi meruit; de hoc autem & propter negotia vestra cum disposuissemus vestram adire presentiam, supervenerunt nuntii vestri qui nobis negotia vestra presentaverunt, qui cum nondum recessu latoris presentium cum Justiciario in remotis partibus agente locuti fuissent, post ejus allocutionem secundum ipsius responsionem ad commodum & utilitatem vestram in omnibus faciemus. Interim, si placet, donec ad vos veniamus significare dicto T. filio Ade & aliis Ballivis vestris, ut a dictis molestacionibus nostris cessant, et nobis et Ecclesiarum nostrarum debitas permittant libertates. Latori autem presentium David nuncio nostro super his quae vobis dicet ex parte nostra de hiis & aliis vestris negociis credatis, in cujus ore multa posuimus vobis dicenda, per quem quaedam munuscula Regiae celsitudini transmittamus, in proximo per Dei gratiam inissuri vel personaliter allaturi meliora. Conservet Altissimus incolumitatem vestram in tempora longissima.

How little cause this Archbishop Henry had to complain to the King, or to Excommunicate Thomas Fitz-Adam, yea how insolently and violently he demeaned himself in Excommunicating this Kings Officer against the Kings prerogative and the Kings Justices commands, and what an enemy, Traytor he was to the King, this Letter of Fitz-Adam to the King and his Council, concerning the difference between him and this Archbishop will abundantly evidence, extant in the same Bundle in the Tower, with his precedent Letters.

R Everendo Domino suo H. Dei gratia Regi Angl. Domino Hyb. &c. suus, si placet, Thomas filius Ade, salutem & fidele servitium. Sciatis, Domine, quod terra vestra Hybernia Dei gracia in bono statu est, set Dominus Dublinensis nullo modo patitur agenda vestra adeo bene se habere ut vobis expediret in partibus vestris, et nititur omnibus viribus suis vos exheredare de Foresta vestra in Hibernia, ut vobis alias mandavi: Ingerendo michi custodienti Forestam illam per praeceptum vestrum diversa intollerabilia occasione illius Forrestae. Contigit quod quidam octavo Epiphaniae proximo praeterita qua Justiciarius itinens in Foresta ad inquirendum plenius jura vestra Forrestae, venerunt contra me Forestarii turpiter verberati et lacerati, dicentes, quod ex quo possunt vadia hominum Archiepiscopi secantium nemus vestrum in Foresta vestra — homines Archiepiscopi, et per praeceptum ejus, cum clamore et utragio insurgunt in eos, et vi vadia sua a Forestariis extorqueunt, Forestarios turpiter infestantes. Eodem die venientes quidam homines de eadem Foresta indicaverunt michi quendam malefactorem conversantem in Foresta in terra Archiepiscopi, qui a longo tempore in vita Domini mei patris vestri usque ad hoc tempus destruerat Forestam; Et est malefactor ille — prout tota terra testatur totius regni vestri. Hoc audito, misi servientes nostros ad querendum malefactorem illum, & illo invento in domo sua, servientes scrutaverunt domum, si possent invenire in domo sua perinde esset melius athaciandus, et sumerant arcum suum cum sagitta sanguinolenta, et perchias Cervi sanguinolentas cum corio et quadam portione venationis — Servientes duxerunt ad me malefactorem cum athaciamento: Ego vero incontinenti feci convenire omnes probos homines cujusdam villae vestrae de eadem Foresta, et feci ducere malefactorem illum cum athaciamento coram eis, et athaciamentum coram eis inhebiari, et malefactorem posui in prisonam vestram. Hoc audiens Dominus Archiepiscopus, misit ad me Decanum Dublin. cum tribus Presbyteris, et postulavit hominem suum quietum captum super terra Ecclesiae. Ego vero intelligens illum non esse reddendum, et maxime Presbytero (mero,) nisi Archiepiscopus vellet eum replegiare ad habendum illum in Curia vestra, nolui eis illum dimittere. Nec mox, eadem die, scilicet vigilia Epiphaniae, mandavit omnibus Presbyteris Civitatis Dublin. et extra, quod (a divinis) cessarent dummodo essent in villa. In crastino, in die Epiphaniae, venerunt ad me duo Presbyteri, & postulaverunt dictum malefactorem quietum ex parte Archiepiscopi; subentes de parte sua ne illum plus tenerem, et nisi illum ita redderem excommunicarent me. (A daring insolency.) Hoc audito, appellavi ad Dominum Archiepiscopum ab illo die in viij. dies; si hoc nichil esset per eum pro vobis et statu vestro, et libertatibus

An. 9 H. 3. libertatibus vestris, et pro me et hominibus meis coram Archiep. in villa Dublin. ad bozam; et si hoc esset parum, ego appellavi supradicto modo in presentia Domini Papæ; et si hoc probesse non posset, petii inducias quousque loquutus fuisssem cum Iusticiario vestro Hiberniæ. Hiis omnibus postpositis steterunt in contrariis; in eadem die Epiphaniæ pronunciarunt sententiam Excommunicationis in me. Super quo nimium motus fui ad Archiepiscopum in crastino, et monstri ei gravamen et pudorem minus circumspecte et consulte quam deceret michi fore illatum; et ipse interrogabit hominem suum quietum et absolvet me; et dixit, quod ego nec alius potui capere hominem illum nec alium super terram suam quamvis esset in Fozesta.
 Dicens * Terram esse suam, Remus esse suum, Fozestam esse suam, Feras esse omnino refutavit, nec potui absolvi. Et ego mandavi Iusticiario causam Sententiæ in me latæ, rogans quod mandaret super hoc voluntatem suam. Iusticiarius vero mandavit michi, quod nullo modo redderem malefactorum quietum, nisi Archiepiscopus vellet replegiare ad habendum eum in Curia vestra. Mandavit etiam eidem Archi-episcopo quod replegiaret Sententiam qualemcumque in me latam, et tantum inde faceret ne deterius inde contingeret, et ne negocia vestra remaneret facienda, et michi in nullo potuit proficere: Immo per totam terram vestram facit me prosequi, prohibendo communionem hominum et assiamenta villarum, ita quod ad quoddam arduum negotium vestrum exequendum interesse non potui; videlicet, quod habe-retis donationem Ecclesiarum de Connallia, quam nunquam habuistis. Ad hoc, quod in tota Hybernia non habetis unam Ecclesiam dandam. Nec etiam potui esse ad tenend. Affisas vestras Dublin. in Octabis Sancti Hylarii; et ita in hunc modum promovebat idem Archiepiscopus negocia vestra in partibus Hyberniæ. Quidam vero dixerunt Archiep. quod defamaverat me multum; et ultra, quod ad me excommunicand.

 (non debet procedere) et etiam propter privilegium quod habetis, ut dicunt, quod capitales Wapllivi vestri non sunt excommunicandi, vobis inconsultis. Ad quod respondit Archiepiscopus, quod cum videret privilegium illud tunc crederet vos illud habere, sed non antea. Ita et in hunc modum se habet idem Archiepiscopus erga vos et erga me pro vobis, super quo, si placet, vobis et michi provideatis. Scituri, quod in mandatis meis non invenietis me alium quam mandatorum certarum rerum: et quamvis vincula quibus ligatus sum molestant me, sustineo illa donec vobis super prædictis provideatis, quia volo vos pro posse meo tenere intus Wallivam libertatum vestrarum super prædictis, * et pro Deo et servicio meo provideatis michi, si fieri potest, quod absolvet ab alio, non ab Archiepiscopo, qui fecit pronuciari Sententiam in me latam, quoniam hoc vobis cederet ad honorem: desicut credo, quod tenebat me in Sententia illa, quousque abquiescam in omnibus voluntati ejus
 — sed hoc non expediret vobis, secundum quod adhuc operatur erga
 vos. Provideatis etiam vobis de aliquibus probis hominibus & legalibus (in terra) Hybern. ad prosequendum negocia vestra, et maxime contra dictum Archiepisco-pum, qui proponit exheredare vos in partibus illis — solus ad iura vestra manutenenda, quamvis non esset nisi contra dictum Archiepiscopum. Quoniam apponit se — et principaliter ad libertates vestras prosteruendas. Ego mando vobis agenda vestra, prout se habent, & — emendanda illa — ubi emendacione indigent libenter emendarem. Voluntatem vestram & beneplacitum super prædictis & omnibus aliis, si placet, michi scire faciatis. Valeat Excel-lentia vestra in Domino.

 commissa inter Abbatem & Conventum Ramseys ex una parte, & Nicholaum Recto- London.
 rem Ecclesie de Corthewrd ex altera. Et partibus in presencia nostra constitutis, ex parte Abbatis & Conventus Ramsef. facta fuit conditio in hunc modum, Richard-us, &c. sint viri Religiosi et in protectione Domini Papae constituti, et a Sede Romana indultum sit eis ne liceat cuiquam possessiones suas Ecclesiasticas ausu temerario invadere vel perturbare, Nicholaus Rectoz Ecclesie de Corthewrd. in dispendium anime suae, tanquam filius Leviathan, possessiones suas Ecclesiasticas perturbare non cessat, ipsos & homines suos interdum per se, interdum per alios inquietando iniuste, et sic privilegia sua violare presumit. Dicunt etiam Abbas & Conventus, quod in privilegiis a Sede Romana eis indutis lata est sententia Excommunicationis in omnes tales invadentes et perturbatores; unde dicunt ipsum Nicholaum incidisse in sententiam Excommunicationis a summo Pontifice latam, et petunt ut appellatur per Iudices suos desistere a tali perturbacione, et satisfacere commissis. Et etiam ut adeat Sedem Romanam, et ibi impetret beneficium absolucionis a summo Pontifice a quo est Excommunicatus. Et ut plenius constet eidem Nicholao, in quibus dicunt ipsum possessiones suas Ecclesiasticas perturbasse, dicunt quod cum mota fuit quardam Causa auctoritate Domini Papae inter ipsos et Thomam Rectorem Ecclesie de Anewelle super decimis de Dominico Reginaldi le Moine in villa de Anewelle, idem Nicholaus pro viribus suis nitebatur praedictas decimas a Monachis Ramsef. subtrahere, et adhuc nititur. Eodem modo fecit Nicholaus in quadam Causa mota inter ipsos & Theobaldum de Lest, super decimis de Dominico dicti Theobaldi. Eodem modo fecit idem N. in aliis & similibus Causis, ut dicunt dicti Abbas & Conventus. Et propter istas causas dicunt dictum N. incidisse in sententiam Excommunicationis a summo Pontifice latam. Ista dicunt salvo sibi jure addendi, mutandi, vel minuendi: Recitata igitur ista condicione coram nobis & eidem Nicholao traditis, sigillis nostris in iudicio signata, sponte et sine difficultate aliqua jurisdictioni nostrae se subiecit, et litem contestatus est intentioni dictorum Abbatis & Conventus penitus contradicendo. Et datus fuit dies de consensu parcium ad testes producendos; quo die idem N. contumaciter se absentavit. Et quia nolimus, licet de jure possemus, in ejus absencia testes contra ipsum admittere, fecimus ipsum pluribus et legitimis edictis vocari. Tandem praecedentibus aliis legitimis penis, propter multiplicatam contumaciam suam sententia excommunicationis ipsum innodavimus, et excommunicatum publice denunciari fecimus. Cum autem in praedicta sententia per quadraginta dies et longe amplius praedictus Nicholaus perseverare non erubuit, nec adhuc erubescit; dedimus in mandatis Domino Lincolnensi Episcopo, ut seriem facit excellentiae vestre significaret, qui quod suum erat in hac parte diligenter esse executus: postquam vero decrevisset ipsam fore sufficiendum per brachium seculare; et super hoc litteras vestras Wiccomiti Huntingdon direxisset, prout nobis intimatum est, suggessit vobis idem Nicholaus, quod praedicti Abbas et Conventus traxerunt eum in Causam coram nobis super hoc; quod idem N. perturbaret pacificam possessionem suam de quodam Manerio suo de Strevele: Maxime quia idem N. araniavit versus eos Assisam mortis antecessoris super eodem Manerio. Nos vero quia nolimus quod factum nostrum vos lateat in aliquo, Dominationi vestre ea qua decet reverentia significamus, quod nunquam in presencia nostra de praedicto Manerio facta fuit mencio, nec etiam de aliquo Laico feodo dictam causam contingente. Sed jam per unum annum integrum durabit contencio inter eos super Decimis in condicione praescripta nominatis, et super perturbacione possessionis suae de eisdem Decimis: Si enim super jam dicto Manerio vel aliquo alio Laico feodo vel etiam Laicis catallis coram nobis mota fuisset questio, statim decrevissemus convictionem talium ad nos non pertinere. Valeat dominacio vestra in Domino.

tuntur, vel ipsi vel aliqui qui eis consensum præstiterant aut favorem, regno præstentur; aut ulterius promoveantur in ipso. Non enim decet ut aliqui super Domini Regis et nostra capita dominantur, de quibus constet nos mortali fuisse odio persecutos. Paternitas igitur vestra circa ista consideret, et attendat ea quæ honori suo expediant, et ad Domini Regis et regni pertineant tranquillitatem et pacem.

In the Plea-Rolls of Michaelmas Term, An. 9 & 10 H. 3. I met with this memorable Case for suing in Court Christian for a Lay-fee, against the Kings prohibition.

Philippus de Ardern Clericus attach. fuit ad respondendum Johanni filio Roberti, quare trahit eum in Placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Laico feodo ipsius Johannis fil. Robert. contra Prohibitionem, &c. Unde idem Johannes per Attornatum suum queritur, quod idem Philippus trahit eum in Placitum de bosco de Lec, et de moza de Wycton; Et similiter de hoc, quod ubi ipse Johannes & homines sui capiunt vadia ipsius Philippi pro deterioracione bladi et prati, et aliorum dampnorum; de illa captione trahit idem Philippus eum in Placitum, per quod deterioratus est, &c. ad valenciam C. Marcatum, et inde producit sextam, &c.

Et Philippus venit & dicit, quod non debet eidem Johanni vel Attornato suo de aliquo Placito respondere, quia excommunicatus est; et inde profert literas Domini Archiepiscopi Ebor. quæ hoc testantur in hæc verba; W. Dei gratia, &c. Sciatis quod Abbas de Kokerland, et de Kokerland et de Rokeham Priores denunciaverunt vobis, seobilem virum Johannem filium Roberti auctoritate Domini Papæ vinculo excommunicationis innovasse. Mandantes ut ipsum talem denunciaremus, quod vobis ad instantiam Magistri Philippi latozis præfencium significamus, ut super hoc certitudinem habeatis. Valete. Dat. &c. Et ideo idem Philippus dicit, quod non vult ei respondere nisi Curia consideraverit.

Et Johannes per Attornatum suum venit & dicit, quod de Placito coram illis Judicibus non queritur, quia de decimis Scenorum et Molendinorum quod ibi exigebat libenter faciet quod de jure facere debet, sed de prædicto Laico feodo suo; et præterea de quodam Heremitagio, et de decima Bestia foreste suæ eum implacitavit contra Prohibitionem, &c. coram W. Thesaurario, et G. Penitenciario Eborum; et inde habet sextam, &c. et bene concecit ei, &c. decimas Sceni, et Molendinorum, et Pannagii.

Et Philippus hoc totum defendit, nisi tantum de decima Bestia quam erigit, et unde Ecclesia sua fuit seista; & dicit quod ipse & homines sui semper habuerunt pasturam suam per totum in foresta, & idem Johannes & homines sui capiunt homines suos et auferunt ei pasturam et communam suam.

Ad diem illum quia Johannes nichil ostendit per citationes vel alio modo, quod idem Philippus aliquod Placitum secutus fuit in Curia Christianitatis, de aliquo Laico feodo, consideratum est quod Philippus erat inde quietus, et Johannes in misericordia. Et prohibitum est Philippo ne sequatur aliquod Placitum contra Cozonam Domini Regis.

Dies datus est ei de audiendo Judicio suo in Octab. Sancti Hillarii prece parium.

From which Case I shall observe, 1. That the Ecclesiastical Courts had then no Jurisdiction of Lay-fee, Common of Pasture, Lay-contracts or Services, and were strictly prohibited to hold any Plea of them against the Kings Crown and dignity. 2ly. That they and the Popes Delegates then held Plea with the Kings permission of the Tithes of Hay, Mills, and Pannage. 3ly. That an * Excommunication by the Popes Delegates in England published and certified into the Kings Court by any Bishop or Archbishop, was no good barre in Law against the Plaintiff, whereof the Judges would take no notice, though pleaded in barre in this Case, unless Excommunicated by the Archbishop himself.

Tom. 2. p. 402. l. 40. after Decano, adde. About this year, (as I conjecture) the Prior and Covent of St. Benedi<sup>ct</sup> de Hulmo, having upon their petition obtained a License to elect an Abbot, after their election sent this Certificate to the King, humbly imploring his confirmation of the Abbot elected by them, in this form: the Original whereof I found in the White Tower, expressing great humility, devotion and affection to the King in their proceedings therein.

Everendo Domino suo H. Dei gratia illustri Regi Angliæ, Domino Hiberniæ, Duci Normanniæ, Aquitaniæ, Com. Andegaviæ; Frater L. Prior Sancti Benedi<sup>cti</sup> de Hulmo, & ejusdem loci humilis Conventus, salutem in eo qui dat salutem

An. 10 H. 3. Regibus. De licentia nobis eligendi Pastorem a donatione vestra benigne concessa, vobis multiplices referimus gratiarum actiones. Qua grante obsecra, nos unanimi assensu & communi voluntate omnium fratrum Capituli nostri, invocata Sancti Spiritus gratia, iuxta formam Concilii et mandatum vestrum nobis per fratres nostros & Com-monachos a Serenitate vestra directum; Dominum Robertum de Torkesey Priorem de Ramsesya, virum morigeratum, bene literatum, Deo (ut firmiter credimus) acceptabilem, vobis et regno vestro utilem et fidelem, et ad regimen Abbatie nostrae intus et exterius providum et discretum, elegimus in Pastorem nostrum et Praelatum. Hinc est quod vestre quanta possumus humili affectione supplicamus Dominationi, quatinus divinae pietatis intuitu, et beati patris et patroni nostri Benedicti, electioni nostrae secundum Deum (ut credimus) celebratae, assensum et favorem vestrum praebere non dedignemini. Et eundem Electum nostrum ad gratiam vestram (si placeat) admittatis. Scientes pro certo, quod nos apud Deum semper speciales habebitis intercessores. Valeat Excellentia vestra per tempora longa.

Tom. 2. p. 403. l. 35. after absolutionis, adde; Pope Honorius having gratified King Henry, by his menacing Bull to Geoffry de Lisimaco, earnestly demanded by Otto his Legate all the arrears of the 1000. Whereupon the King appointed Lawrence of London his Proctor to defend the rights of his Crown before these Delegates, against this Bishop, being elected without his precedent License or Royal assent.

In the Fragments of Placita Assisarum Term. S. Mich. anno 12 H. 3. Rot. 13. dorso, (extant in the Tower of London) before the Justices Itinerant, I met with this memorable Attachment for suing in Court Christian for all the Tithes belonging to a Chappel, and by consequence for the Advouson it self; the first of this Kind I have observed.

Magister Ricardus de Eseburn attachatus fuit ad respondendum Johanni de Sancto Georgio, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis contra prohibitionem Domini Regis, de advocacione Capellæ ipsius Johannis de Tudeham; unde idem Johannes dicit, quod antecessores sui fuerunt in seisinâ de advocacione ipsius Capellæ per 100 annos, & semper presentaverunt ad eandem Capellanum. Et prædictus Ricardus exigit ab eis omnes decimas ad eandem Capellam spectantes, et ita * indirecte et advocacionem, quia si amitteret decimas illas, ita per consequens amitteret advocacionem illius Capellæ.

* The ground of the Writ of Indicavit, in like cases, Register, f. 35. 36. Fitz. Nat. Brev. 44. 45.

Et Ricardus venit & dicit, quod de nulla advocacione trahit eum in placitum, sed revera Capella illa sita est infra Parochiam suam, et Ecclesia sua semper habuit tertiam partem decimarum de garbis, et minutas decimas. Ita quod antecessores ipsius Johannis dederunt suas partes illarum decimarum quibusdam Monachis qui illas diu tenuerunt; et postea concesserunt cuidam Capellano decimas illas, qui illas decimas diu tenuit et nunc clamat in Capella, unde Episcopus loci sequestravit decimas illas in manum suam et tenet illas. Et prædictus Johannes sepius tenuit illas

An. 12 H. 3. illas in manu sua sine servicio quod faceret Capellæ illi. Et unde idem Ricardus petit illas sicut de aliis parochianis suis, et non alio modo, &c.

Postea convenit inter eos, quod si prædictus Johannes habeat ibi Capellanum qui Capellæ illi deserviat, libenter concedit idem Capellano decimas illas percipiendas; alioquin non concedit, quod decimæ remanerent in manu laicali.

By which Record and Plea it is evident: First, That owners of Lands originally, as well as our Kings, did by their Charters give their Tithes to what persons or Churches they pleased, as all the Charta Antiqua, and * Mr. Selden's History of Tithes abundantly evidence. 2ly. That they might lawfully give their Tithes to a Chappel, to maintain a Chaplain to do Divine Services therein, which gifts were admitted good in Law against the Parson of the Parish Church within which the Chappel was situated. 3ly. That the Bishop sequestred the Tithes belonging to the Chappel; that the Parson of the Parish claimed them, whiles there was no Chaplain to officiate in it; and that the Patron could not justly detain them in his own hands, during the vacancy of a Chaplain.

The Kings Tenants in Capite, and others alienating some of their Tenements to religious Houses without his special License, and others of them removing from their Tenements held of the King to the Lands held of Monasteries, to his prejudice; he thereupon issued Proclamations to all Sheriffs, to prohibit such Alienations and Removals; and to inquire of all offences of this kinde, before the Statute of Mortmain.

R EX Vic. Kanc. salutem. Præcipimus tibi, quod statim visis Literis illis per totam Ballivam tuam clamari facias, quod nullus qui de nobis tenet in Capite in Balliva tua, et Dominicis nostris, sicut corpus et tenementum suum diligit, aliquid de tenemento suo conferat, vel vendat, vel aliquo alio modo alienet alicui Domui religioſe, vel aliquibus personis Ecclesiasticis sine licentia nostra. Firmiter etiam prohibeas quod nullus de nobis tenens in Capite, sive miles, sive liber homo, sive alius se transferat a terra quam de nobis tenet, ad terram alicujus Domus religionis vel personæ Ecclesiasticæ ad manendum super eam, per quod simus perdetes in serviciis, tallagiis, vel aliquibus aliis modis ad nos pertinentibus. Diligenter etiam inquiras per sacramentum proborum et leg. hominum Com. tui, qui de hominibus nostris de nobis tenentibus in capite Dominicis nostris, sicut prædictum est, viderint, vel vendiderint, vel alio modo alienaverint aliquid de tenementis suis, et quibus viris Religioſis vel Ecclesiasticis personis ea alienata fuerint, et a quo tempore, et quantum singula illa tenementa alienata valeant. Notum sit omnibus Christi fidelibus, quod cum Dominus Henricus Rex Anglie, mandatum Domini Patris suscepisset super transgressionibus Ecclesie Romanae et Clericis Italianis et aliis in Regno Anglie contra pacem suam illatis corrigendis, idem Dominus Rex hoc sicut decuit emendando a pluribus fide dignis didicisset, quod per Hubertum de Burgo quondam Justiciarium Anglie, videlicet tempore predictarum transgressionis, factae fuerunt transgressionis illae. Et Dominus Rex volens hoc emendare, misit quosdam de suis ut corpus suum arrestarent, et eorum eo adducerent responsurum de transgressionibus illa et aliis transgressionibus, et praesertim de transgressionibus illa. Qui Hubertus inde praemunitus fugit in quandam Capellam, a qua ipsum sequentes, licet hoc eis non esset injunctum, timentes Dominum Regem, extraxerunt, & Londonium adduxerunt. Quod cum Dominus Rex audivisset, ut libertas Ecclesiae in omnibus observaretur illa, ipsum ad eandem Capellam reduci praecipit, et in eodem salbo reponit. In qua cum per dies plures moram fecisset, requisitus, utrum vellet tenere se in Capella illa, vel exire, & stare iudicio terrae Domini Regis super transgressionibus praedictis, & super aliis quae ei ibidem obicerentur, tam a Domino Rege, quam a pluribus aliis de eo multis modis conquerentibus; Tandem sponte elegit, quod exire voluit ad standum juri. Tamen petiit misericordiam Domini Regis, & sic exivit, & Ballivi Domini Regis qui tunc praesentes erant ipsum receperunt, & Londonium duxerunt, & tradiderunt eum Constabulario Turris. Et cum Dominus Rex adhuc esset incertus, utrum spontanea voluntate an coactus exivisset, misit ad eum Nobiles viros Dominum S. de Sedgrave tunc Justiciarium Anglie, J. de Lascey, Comitem Lincolniae, & Constabularium Cestriae, B. de Insula, & alios viros idoneos Clericos & Laicos. Quibus ad ipsum venientibus & ipsum inde alloquentibus, Respondit, quod gratis exivisset, & non coactus, nec pro aliquo defectu villualium, & tali modo exivit ad faciendum voluntatem Domini Regis de terris suis & catallis, & de corpore suo, & pigebat eum quod tam diu moram ibidem fecerat. Postea vero cum Dominus Rex nichil adhuc ei inde concederet, eo quod multi de eo de novo conquesti fuerunt, tam de morte hominum quam de multis per eum injuste exheredatis, & aliis pluribus criminibus & transgressionibus, volens de eo conquerentibus justiciam exhibere, praecipit eum deliberari a custodia praedicti Constabularii, ut liberè venire posset ad Curiam suam, conquerentibus de eo tam Domino Regi pro transgressionibus contra Dominum Papam, quam contra seipsum et omnibus aliis responsurus; & sic venit apud Cornhill in Londoniis Vigilia Sancti Martini, & comparuit coram Dominis R. Comite Cornubiae & Pictaviae, W. Comite Warren, R. Marescallo Comite Pembroke, J. Comite Lancastriae, & Constabulario Cestriae, S. de Sedgrave Justiciario, Radulpho filio Nicholai, & aliis fidelibus Domini Regis, tam de corpore quam de terris & omnibus aliis rebus. Tandem Dominus Rex pietate motus, ad instantiam Magnatum Anglie, & ad petitionem ipsius Huberti, & suorum parentum & amicorum, & similiter de permissione conquerentium, Judicium posuit in respectum, licet Judicium jam in eadem Curia Domini Regis formatum esset: per quod ipse & sui attendentes corporis sui periculum imminere, & exheredationem haeredum suorum, spontanea voluntate concessit provisionem subscriptam, scilicet, Quod omnes terrae & omnia tenementa & libertates in omnibus rebus quae tenuit de Domino Rege in capite, & de Domino J. Rege patre suo, remaneant Domino Regi quietè, imperpetuum, & haeredibus suis, tam de Wardis, Ballivis, quam de aliis rebus, & omnes cartas, & circographa, & instrumenta quae habuit de praedictis reddidit Domino Regi, & concessit, quod si aliqua impofterum inveniantur in cujusvisque manibus fuerint, pro nullis habeantur. Et Dominus Rex de gratia sua concessit, quod ipse Hubertus & haeredes sui habeant & retineant terras & tenementa quae eidem Huberto descenderant ab antecessoribus suis, & similiter omnes terras & tenementa quae tenuit de aliis, & de alterius dono quam de dono Regum. Itatamen, quod omnibus inde conquerentibus secundum consuetudinem regni sine dilatione ipse & sui respondeant, & omnia alia catalla ubicunque sint remaneant Domino Regi tam in auro & argento, quam in denariis & aliis mobilibus, & corpus suum remaneat apud Castrum Divis. & in custodia Dominorum *R. Tom. 2. p. 458. l. 33. after Februarii, adde; The Popes Legates and our Popish Prelates bearing the chiefest sway in King Henry's Councils and Government of the Realm during his Minority, not only endeavoured by degrees to draw the consueance of all Causes touching Advowsons, Presentations, Church-lands, Freeholds, Debts, Goods, Chattels, and Civil contracts in England and Ireland, into their Ecclesiastical Courts, but likewise to introduce and advance the Canon Laws and Decretals, compiled by Gratian, Pope Gregory the 9th. and others, above the Common and Antient Laws of the Realm. For which end they presumed to read them publicly (without the Kings authority) in the Schools of London, encouraged thereto by Pope Gregory the 9th. his command; (as Mat. Paris assures us, An. 1235.) His quoque temporibus Papa Greg. videns turbosam Decretalium prolixitatem, sub quodam compendio eas eleganter abbreviavit et collectas, solenniter et authentice per totius mundi latitudinem legi precepit et divulgari. Illas autem ab auctore ipsarum Gregorianas appellamus. Whereupon the King to preserve the rights and prerogatives of his Crown, and Laws of the Realm against the batteries of those Papal Canons and Decretals, issued not only frequent Prohibitions to Ecclesiastical Judges, not to hold Plea of Advowsons, Free-holds, Trespasses, Debts, Chattels or things not belonging to them, but also prohibited the reading or teaching the Canon Laws in their Schools, as this Writ of Proclamation to the Major and Sheriffs of London imports.

<sup>e</sup> St. Edw. Cooke, in his posthumous Institutes, (who had a most unhappy faculty in mistaking most Records he cites) affirms, this writ was issued to them, to suppress the Readings of such learned men in the Laws of the Realm, who kept Schools of the Law in the City of London, and taught such as resorted to them the Laws of the Realm, taking their foundation of Magna Charta and Charta de Foresta, which the King by ill advice sought to impeach. Whereas our learned Antiquary <sup>f</sup> Mr. John Selden asserts, Credibile non videtur de Legibus Anglicanis earumque praedicatione mandatum hoc fieri. And Sir Edward Cooke himself in his Commentary on the Statute of Merton, cap. 9. asserts, That the Nobility of England have ever had the Laws of England in great estimation and reverence, as their best Birth-right; and so have the Kings of England as their principal Regality and right belonging to their Crown and dignity. Yea <sup>g</sup> Broton, a Judge under King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. and <sup>h</sup> Fleta resolve; Lex facit Regem: Et quia per legem factus est Rex, attribuat igitur Rex legi, quod ley attribuat ei, videlicet, Dominationem et potestatem; et dignum est quod per ipsum tueatur lex, cui honorem tribuit et potestatem. Therefore it is altogether incredible that this Writ was intended either of the Common Laws of England, or Readings on the Great Charters of Liberties or of the Forest, but only of the Canon and Roman Papal Laws: formerly burnt, torn, suppressed, banished the Realm by King Stephen, as M<sup>r</sup>. Selden proves at large in his ad Fletam Dissertatio, c. 5 & 8. and I have <sup>a</sup> elsewhere most fully evidenced.

And great reason had the King and his Council to prohibit the Reading and use of the Canon Law and Popes Decretals, especially the Decrees of Gratian then most cryed up, authorized by Ensebius the 3<sup>d</sup>. and other Popes; For as Marc de Valsan a learned French Advocate, in his accurate Treatise, De la Puissance du Pape, & de Libertes de l'Eglise Gallicane, l. 3. c. 2. and <sup>c</sup> others inrefragably prove, That all the Ancient Popes Decretal Epistles (collected by Gratian) on which his Decrees are founded, are mere forgeries and Impostures, never heard of in the World till above 830 years after Christ, not mentioned by any antient Ecclesiastical History or Father; far different both in style, matter, from these Popes genuine Epistles, inconsistent with the state of the Church in the ages wherein they lived, yea not extant in the ancient Roman Code of Canons, as <sup>d</sup> Gratian himself acknowledgech. And as there are such a grand number of Errors, Falsities, Forgeries, in the body of the Canon Law compiled by Gratian, that Antonius Augustinus in the first Dialogue of his first Book De Emendatione Gratiani, asserts, it will be a very difficult thing to number all his Errors in a whole day, (amongst which he enumerates the antient Popes forged Decretal Epistles, out of which there are about 500 Canons, and Rubricks extracted by Gratian;) So these their Decretal Epistles and his Decrees out of them, were purposely published, to overturn the antient Orthodox Doctrine of the Apostles, primitive Church, Fathers, the Canons of several Councils, the Prerogatives, Rights, Laws of all Christian Emperors, Kings, Realms, and to advance the Popes, Prelates, Clergies usurped Jurisdiction over them: For which end these forged Epistles and Decrees of Popes are thus cryed up by Pope Nicholas and Gratian, as inrefragable, yea equal to the Canonical Scriptures. <sup>e</sup> Inter Canonicas Scripturas Decretales Epistolæ connumerantur: Whence they decree, Omnes sanctiones Apostolicæ sedis inrefragabiliter observandæ sunt, tanquam ipsius divina voce Petri firmatæ. Quicquid Romana Ecclesia statuit, ab omnibus est observandum; et Pontificalibus sit alienus officis, qui Apostolicis non vult obedire præceptis: (to wit, the Popes not Christs Apostles precepts.) Tolerandum est jugum quod a Sancta sede imponitur licet intolerabile videtur. <sup>f</sup> Ab Apostolicis præceptis non licet recedere. Apostolicis præceptis nullus superbe resistat. Non potest statutis Pontificum consuetudo cuiusquam retrahari. Yea more, <sup>g</sup> Constitutiones Principum et Imperatorum Ecclesiasticis Constitutionibus non præminent sed obsequuntur. Leges et Judicia Imperatorum Ecclesiastica jura dissolvere non possunt. Constitutiones Regum contra Canones et Decreta Pontificum Romanorum, nullius sunt momenti. In Ecclesiasticis causis Regia voluntas Sacerdotibus est postponenda. Tribunalia Regum Sacerdotali sunt potestati subiecta: Constitutiones Principum Ecclesiasticis legibus opponendæ sunt ubi Canonicis Decretis obviaverint. Dedit enim Deus Sacerdotibus Principatum multo perfectiorem Principatibus Regum. Nunquid iustum vobis videtur si cedat spiritus carni (id est Ecclesiastica constitutio seculari constitutioni, as Johannes de Thierry, Bartholomæus Brixienfis, and others Gloss it) si a terrenis ecclesia suparentur, et si divinis (as they style their Canons) præferantur humana? To omit other Paradoxes of this nature.

Pope Eugenius the 2<sup>d</sup>. having confirmed these and the rest of Gratian's Antimonarchical Canons, Rubricks, extracted out of his predecessors forged Epistles, sent them to all Universities and Christian Realms to be publicly read, interpreted, observed; and sent <sup>i</sup> Gratian himself, (who first taught them in Rome) to the University of Paris, and Vacarius into England there openly to read and expound them in the University of Oxford, as the Laws by which all Churches, Kingdoms, Kings, Christians, ought to be governed, especially in all Ecclesiastical affairs. Which as the Universities and Churches of France would never receive nor submit to, as Marc de Valsan, <sup>k</sup> Claude Fauchet, and Pierre de Pithou assert; so King <sup>l</sup> Stephen as soon as they were taught in England, silenced Vacarius from reading them, tearing

An. 19 H. 3. and burning the Books themselves. After which being introduced again and publicly read in the Schools in London during King Henry's minority; together with Pope Gregory the 3<sup>d</sup>. his Decretals, then newly published and sent into England and all other Countries to be publicly read and taught: when he came to years of discretion, he prohibited the reading and teaching of them, by the premised Writ, as inconsistent with his royal Prerogative, the Common Laws, Statutes, and Priviledges of the Realm, which Popes, their Legates, and his own usurping Prelates endeavoured to subvert, or enervate by their Canons and Ecclesiastical constitutions.

It was the Observation of Henry de Bracton (a Justice Itinerant, An. 29 & 30 H. 3<sup>d</sup>. writing about this time,) in his Book, b De Legibus & Consuetudinibus Angliæ. Episcopi contrarii sunt Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliæ; et Curia Christianitatis in quibusdam contraria est Legi et consuetudini Angliæ; especially in cases of Bastardy; they then endeavouring with all their might to subvert the c Common Law, in making children born before marriage legitimate, and inheritable, by their Canon Laws and Constitutions, which were Bastards, illegitimate, and not capable to inherit Lands by the Common Lawes and Custom of England. Whereupon if Bastardy were pleaded generally in barre of any real action, it ought not to be tried in Court Christian, nor by Certificate from thence to the Kings Court, d cum nihil aliud sit, sub tali obscuritate transmittere inquisitionem de Bastardia faciendam, quam venire contra Legem et Consuetudinem Angliæ. Ad talem igitur errorem tollendum, necesse est causam (bastardia) addicere. Besides the Popes and Bishops before and about this time, by their Canons and Constitutions, engrossed the Consuance of all causes touching Advowsons, Presentations, Church-lands, Snies by or against Clergy-men and Religious persons, antiently belonging to the Kings Crown, Courts alone, to their Ecclesiastical Courts, and attempted to make the King, as well as other Patrons subject to Lapses, if he presented not within 6 months to Bishopricks, Abbies, Churches and Ecclesiastical Dignities whereof he was Patron, or to which he had right to present by his Prerogative; against the rights of his Crown, and this Maxime of the Common Law, Nullum tempus occurrit Regi; which e Edmund Archbishop of Canterbury then endeavoured by a special Bull from the Pope to divest him of, to the prejudice of his Crown; yea they f prohibited Clergymen to grant any Aydes to Kings, without the Popes special license, and exempted the Clergy from all Secular Jurisdiction. Whereupon he, his Judges and Council, had very good reason to issue forth the precedent Writ, to prohibit the publick Reading or Professing of the Canon Law, so diametrically contrary to his Prerogative, and subversive to the antient Laws and Customes of the Realm. The rather, because some h Canonists then and since have publicly asserted, Statuentes contra libertatem Ecclesiæ sunt excommunicati. Item scriptores Statutorum, Consilarii, Potestates, Consules, atque Rectores locorum ubi Statuta edita sunt: item iudicantes secundum illa atque redigentes iudicata in publicam formam. Et quod statuta huiusmodi sint nulla. Impprimis igitur, non solum Papa sed etiam quilibet Episcopus potest dicta Statuta tollere, et declarare esse contra Ecclesiæ libertatem, atque mandare sub excommunicationis pena ipso facto incurrenda, illa non esse observanda, etiam non citatis Statuentibus: Et quia Episcopus tenetur ex debito officii præcipere Statuentibus contra libertatem Ecclesiæ, ut de libris Statutorum illa cassent; nec sufficit si permittat illa revocari tantum, quia tenetur ex debito officii illa cassari facere, et ad id sunt iurejurando ascripti; ideo non satisfacit debito Episcopalis officii si tantum declaraveris esse contra libertatem Ecclesiæ, quia hoc non est eorum Canonum, mandantes dicta Statuta cassari debere, quæ contra Ecclesiæ sunt libertatem. Item Episcopus animabus eorum, qui excommunicationem incurrunt providere non posset concedendo absolutionem, nisi vere et realiter dicta Statuta cassata fuerint; Quare debet præcipere Statuentibus quibus ab universo populo commissum est, ut dicta Statuta cassent, et nisi obedierint, censuris affectos esse declarandi sunt, atque eorum loca interdicto supponenda donec obedierint, et poenitentiam condignam egerunt. Therefore it was great reason for K. Henry and his Council strictly to prohibit the Readers and Teachers of such Antimonarchical, Papal Canons, Laws, and Decretals, which thus Excommunicated, Interdicted all Kings, Parliaments, Peers, Judges, and Officers of Justice to make Acts or execute any Statutes in defence of their Crowns, Realms, Laws, Properties, Persons, against the Popes and Bishops Antimonarchical usurpations on them, or their pretended Liberties of the Church; till they should not only repeal, but null their Statutes of this nature,

The Bishop of Worcester having Excommunicated the Kings Baylif, for seising into the Kings hands the Church of Fekenham, to which the King had presented his Clerke, though appropriated to the Abby of Lyra by former Charters, he upon sight of them revoked his presentation, and requested the Bishop to absolve his Baylif, and take off his Sequestration, commanding the Church to be restored to the Abbot and Monks of Lyra by this Writ.

contingentia. Quod audientes Magnates, Regis preceptis continuo paruerunt; credentes se vel Imperialia vel alia ardua negotia provisuros. Venis igitur die Sancti Hilarii Londonias infinita Nobilium multitudo, scilicet regni totalis universitas. Et cum voluntatem Regis audirent, in Regio Palatio Westmonasterii confederunt; surrexit in medio Willhelmus de Kze Clericus ac Domini Regis familiaris, vir quidem discretus & legum terrarum peritus, ut quasi mediator inter Regem & regni Magnates, Regium propositum & voluntatem in publicum propalaret. Ait igitur; Mandat vobis Dominus Rex, quod hactenus quicquid fecerit, ex hoc nunc & amodo, vestrum omnium, quasi fidelium & naturalium hominum, consiliis se subdet indubitanter. Veruntamen illi qua sua tractantes, sui thesauri custodes hactenus extiterunt, infideliter computum pecuniarum omnium reddiderunt receptarum. Nunc ideo Dominus Rex, pecunia penitus destitutus, sine qua quislibet Rex extat desolatus, auxilium a vobis simpliciter postulat pecuniarum. Ita videlicet, ut illa pecunia ad beneplacitum vestrum collecta, secundum dispositionem aliquorum vestrum ad hoc electorum, in usus regni necessarios reservetur expendenda. Quod verbum cum omnes & singuli, nil tale expectantes, graviter acceperunt murmurantes, Alter in alterius iactantes lumina vultus, dixerunt ad invicem: Fuderunt partum montes, en ridiculus iocus! Et indignantes responderunt; se undique & sepe nunc vicesima, nunc tricesima, nunc quinquagesima gravari promittendo & persolvendo; asserentes, indignum nimis fore et injuriosum, permittere Regem tam leviter seducibilem, qui nunquam unum ex inimicis regni, etiam minimum, repulit, vel exterruit, nec fines regni unquam ampliavit, sed arcebat, et alienis subjugavit; ut a naturalibus hominibus suis, quasi a servis ultimae conditionis, in detrimentum eorum, et alienorum subamen, tantam pecuniam, tot, toties, extorqueere argumentis: Quod cum Rex audisset, cupiens murmur hoc sedare generale, pollicebatur sub iuramentando, se nunquam amplius Nobiles regni injuriando lacerare, vel molestare; dummodo sibi ad praesens tricesima pars nobilium Anglia benigne concessa solveretur; quia paulo ante multa pecunia, quam Imperatori miserat, suum thesaurum in magna parte (ut asseruit) pro matrimonio sororis suae, & iterum in proprio, mutilaverat. Ad quod non tacite responsum fuit, quod haec omnia sine consilio fidelium suorum fecerat, nec debuerant esse poenae participes, qui fuerant a culpa immunes. Seceperunt tandem in locum secretum secretiorum, ut Regis exactioni contemperantes, & exigentia satisfacientes, inirent consilium de modo & quantitate iuvaminis, quod exigebatur, contemnendo. Secedentibus igitur illis seorsum, Gilebertus Basset Regi in communi dixit audientia, minus quam deceret in verbo circumspiciens: Domine mi Rex, mittatis aliquem de vestris, qui interfuit illorum, scilicet Baronum vestrorum, colloquio; sedebat enim ille, dum haec diceret, Regi paucis intermediis collateralibus. Ad quod ex alia parte respondit Richardus de Percy, qui in colloquio Magnatum extiterat, non sine causa stomachatus; Quid est, amice Gileberte, quod dixisti? nunquid & nos alieni, & non de Regis amicis sumus? Et reprehensus est Gilebertus in verbo illepido & repentino. Et sic deceptionibus multiplicatis, protrahunt colloquium in moram quadriduanam.

Rex vero admodum perturbatus, suorum cupiens Baronum sibi gratiam conciliare, se ex tunc deinceps, quicquid factum fuerat antea, dedit se consilio fidelium ac naturalium hominum suorum. Praeterea, de hoc quod dicebatur, quod conabatur ea quae concesserat, et Chartas confirmaverat, per authenticum summi Pontificis infirmare: dicebat Rex, hoc falsum esse. Et si tale quid forte fuerat suggestum ei, in irritum affirmavit, seque talia penitus revocare. Praeterea, sereno vultu, et spontanea promissit voluntate, libertates Magnae Chartae suis fidelibus regni sui, ex tunc inviolabiliter observare. Et quia videbatur non penitus immunis a sententia, quam tulerat Archiepiscopus Stephanus cum omnibus Episcopis Angliae, in omnes violatores praedictae Chartae, quam malo consilio fretus in parte laxerat, fecit in publico innovare sententiam preparatam, in omnes eiusdem Chartae contraditores aut violatores. Sic, ut si ille per aliquem conceptum rancorem forte eam non observaret, in latam sententiam gravius recideret. (Thus did the King voluntarily subject himself to the Excommunication and Censure of his Bishops, as well as his other Subjects, to procure their favours and a supply of his pressing publick necessities.) Unde factum est, ut omnium corda hac audientium, ubi mirabiliter in verbo illo conciliavit. Et deliberatum est, quod videretur durum, subito consilium quod in praesentiarum habuit, ab eo quasi reprobum sequestrare, appositione aliquorum Magnatum additorum illud roborant, adjuvantes ei Comitem Warenne, Willielmum de Ferrariis,

Et fecit eos Rex jurare quod nullo modo muneribus, vel aliquo alio modo a via veritatis deviant, quin darent ipsi Regi sanum et salubre regno consilium, sicut antea fecerat Rex apud Windleshores. Concessa est igitur benigne tali conditione Regi ea vice tricesima regni pars, omnium scilicet mobilium, ad thesaurum suum restituerandum; salvis tamen unicuique auro suo & argento, equis & armis, in Reipublica militatam expendendis. Quae pars tricesima, sub hac forma per quemlibet Comitatum diligenter colligitur. Eligendi sunt quatuor fide digni Milites, cum Clerico, quem Rex illis addet in unoquoque Comitatu, & jurati de fidelitate una cum Clerico Regis, pecuniam colligent; & collecta reponetur in Abbacia, sacra Aede, vel Castro: Illi si forte velit Rex a proposito (quod tamen absit) resilire, & reddatur unicuique quod suum est, fideliter distributum. Consentientibus igitur primum Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi cum suis Episcopis et Clero, sub hac conditione concessa est Regi tricesima mobilium regni ab omni Prelato, secundum tenementum Baronum suorum, et Milite, per totum regnum generaliter colligendum. Sæpe tamen annexum fuit in conditione, quod ex tunc et deinceps consilio alienigenarum, (especially of Othobon, and other the Popes Legates, who most swayed, infatuated him, and pillaged his Subjects) qui semper fuit, non regni amici esse consueverunt, et regni bona distrabere, non adunare, et omnium innaturalium derelicto, suorum fidelium et naturalium hominum consiliis adhaerebat. Et sic soluto Concilio, non sine interiori murmuratione & multa concepta indignatione, eo quod cum difficultate tanta Regis animum ad salubre consilium contorquerent, & consiliis eorum, a quibus omnem honorem terrenum habet, obscurarent, ad propria quisque remeavit.

The King in pursuance of his promise to the Bishops and Nobles in this Parliament, for the salvation of his soul, and exaltation of the Church, &c. re-confirmed the Great Charter of Liberties, and of the Forest, being now of full age, notwithstanding they were made during his minority, by this Charter enrolled in his Charter-Roll of that year (in the Tower of London) not formerly published to my knowledge.

The Abbot of S. Saviours of Blavia in Gascoigne, as the Popes Delegate, having denounced a sentence of Excommunication and Interdict against the Earl of Tholouse and William A. de Tantal, the Kings Subject, on behalf of the Prior of Manfo, whom they banished and deprived of his Lands and Goods, for opposing and acting against them by the Popes command, and refusing to make restitution of them to the Prior according to his sentence; he thereupon revived and aggravated his sentence of Excommunication against them, and all places, persons that should harbour, or any wayes converse with, or assist them. Which they notwithstanding contemning, the Abbot thereupon certifying the King of this their contempt, desired and required him to compel William A. de Tantal, being his Subject, to obey his sentence, in making restitution to the Prior according to the sentence, or else to enforce him thereto by his secular power, by seising his Castles and Lands, or by any other means, till he performed his sentence; threatening to denounce a sentence of Interdict against all the Kings Lands and Subjects in Gascoigne, in case he neglected to do it: Whereupon the King issued forth this Writ to his Seneschal of Gascoigne, to seise his Lands and Goods, if he made not restitution to the Prior within 40 dayes after admonition to do it; as this memorable Record (discovering the insolency, tyranny of Popes Legates and Delegates over Kings, Earls persons, Lands and Subjects) informs us.

REX Senescallo suo Wasconiae, salutem. Litteras dilecti nobis in Christo Abbatis Sancti Salvatoris de Blavia recepimus in hac forma: Illustrissimo Domino H. Deigratia Anglorum Regi, P. divina miseratione Abbas Sancti Salvatoris de Blavia, salutem, et Apostolicis obedire mandatis. Cum auctoritate sedis Apostolicæ qua fungimur in hac parte, sententias latas pro venerabili viro R. D. Priore de Manfo ac Decano Burdegalsensi contra Comitum Tolosanum, & Willielmo A. de Tantalo hominem vestrum, & Senescallum ipsius Comitum, contra restitutionem ipsius Villæ de Manfo, Justiciario Seculari, & aliis ad plenum dominium ejusdem Villæ spectantibus, cum fructibus ex præmissis medio tempore perceptis, & dampnis, & expensis, et excommunicationes in personam Comitum memoratorum, et Willielmi A. de Tantalo Senescalli ejusdem Comitum, et Interdicti sententiam in totam terram ipsius Comitum, et etiam in quemlibet alium locum ad quemcumque ipsum Comitum contingeret devenire quandiu ibidem existeret præses, eidem confirmavimus Justicia mediante, et ipse Comes et prædictus W. Tom. 2. p. 489. l. 44. after utilitatem, adde: The occasion of the Kings sending to the Pope for this Legate Orhobon, and his proceedings in this Council, are thus briefly related by * Mat. Westminster. Ipsi quoque temporibus, praenituit Regem tot & tantos honores fratri suo Richardo, necnon & Gilberto Marescallo, & quibusdam aliis, qui sibi videbantur ingrati, contulisse. Misit igitur Romam nuncios secretos et familiares ad Papam, rogans attentius, ut per Legatum in ipsum Angliae regnum, (quod sibi specialiter spectare videbatur) quem dignaretur sine dilatione destinare, statum regni periclitantem procuraret reformare. Magister igitur Orhobon, Sancti Nicolai in Carcere Tulliano Diaconus Cardinalis, venit Legatus in Angliam, circa festum beatae Mariae Magdalenae (Anno 1237.) qui postea in Octavis beati Martini solenne celebravit Concilium London. in Ecclesia Sancti Pauli, quod per tres dies continuos perduravit. Convocatis omnibus Prelatis Angliae & Walliae, Dominis Cant. & Ebor. Archiepiscopis, de prima et proxima sessione a dextris ipsius Legati altercantibus, in dicto Concilio, multa ad reformationem status Anglicanae Ecclesiae fuerunt agitata, et quaedam vetera innovata. Et ne videretur nihil fecisse, aut pro nulla Ecclesiae reformatione in Angliam venisse, fuit sub formidabili poena, ut Ecclesiae non dedicate dedicarentur.

all Alienations made by him to the prejudice of his Crown, and the See of Rome, An. 22 H. 3. non obstante juramento; which * Bull as I found in the White Tower and rescued from oblivion, so I likewise there found this parchment Note of three more Bulls * See Tom. 1. to the same effect soon after, (transcribed upon some special occasion) though not the Bulls themselves.

Transcriptum Bullæ Gregorii Papæ, per quem ortatur Regem Angliæ, ad revocandam alienata in præjudicium Cozonæ, non obstante juramento; cum Decreto, quod Rex non tenetur ad ejus observationem.

Transcriptum Bullæ Gregoriæ Papæ, quod revocet alienata, &c. non obstantibus juramentum et instrumenta, &c.

Transcriptum Bullæ Gregorii Papæ, per quem mandat Prælati et Nobilibus, quod inducerent Regem ad revocandum alienata, &c. et quod pareant O. (Ottoni) Cardinali, quem Papa misit ad Regem ad injungendum ei, quod non obstante, &c. sua revocet alienata.

To which Note there is this memorable Cedula affixed, which I conjecture to be a Decree of this insolent Pope, vacating an Act made by the King, Prelates and Nobles in Parliament but the * year before, against the Aliens governing or residing * See p. 93. 94. in the Realm.

Castamus illud statutum factum, quod regnum Angliæ de cetero per indigenas gubernetur, necnon errent alienigenæ non reverfuri, exceptis illis quorum moram fideles regni communiter acceptarent. Ordinantes per dominium nostrum, quod liceat alienigenis morari in dicto regno secure. Et quod Rex possit alienigenas et indigenas vocare secure ad consilium suum, quos sibi viderit utiles et fideles, sicut facere potuit ante tempus prædictum: That so his Legate Otho might thereby rule both the King and Kingdom at his pleasure, as he did to their grand prejudice and oppression. On the Dorfe whereof is written with the same hand, Non ostendatur alienigenis nec indigenis nisi Magistris Ricardo de Chaddewell, & Henrico de Cantuaria, the Popes and his Legates Privy-Counsellors.

* Mat. Paris, and † Mat. Westminster relate this memorable Story of Pope Gregory's grand indignation against King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. and the English for lending aid to the Emperour Frederick his Brother-in-law, against his Italian Rebels, and writing an Epistle to this Pope, to deal more mildly with him: Eodem anno (1238, p. 148. An. 22 Hen. 3.)

statim post Pascha, misit Dominus Rex Angliæ militare præsidium ad Dominum Imperatorem subandum contra Rebelles suos in partes Italiæ sub ducatu Henrici de Trubleville, viri in re militari peritissimi, & Gulielmi Elelli Valentini, cum quo etiam misit J. Mansel, & Willielmum Hardel Clericum & Civem Londinensem, cum pecunia stipendiarius distribuenda. Et strenuè per totam astatem exercitus Regis Imperatori militavit, & quorundam Civitatum Cives, volentes obviare, vicerunt, & Imperio reddiderunt non sine magno damno Longobardorum, Imperio Rebellium; ubi strenuè dictus J. Mansel gessit, a Rege stipendiatus. Quod Papa nimis moleste tulit, unde maximam contra Anglos accepit indignationem. Et circa idem tempus direxit * Rex elegantem Epistolam Papæ, petens, ut mitius ageret cum Domino Imperatore (whom he Excommunicated, absolving all his Subjects from their Allegiance and obedience to him, and stirring them up to rebell against him to depose him: ) quod gravius accepit Papa, secus respondens quam deceret, et commotus est in tantam iram, ut per aliquod tempus omnia negotia, præcipue Anglicorum suspenderentur. To such an height of Antichristian insolency was this arrogant usurping Pope grown, that King Henry must neither assist his Brother-in-law and Ally against his rebellious trayterous Subjects with his Forces or Purse, nor presume to write to this Pope to deal more Christianly and mildly with him, without incurring his high indignation, and suspending all English-men's Suites and Affairs in the Court of Rome: Yet notwithstanding his indignation for a season; circa idem tempus Domino Imperatore circa Mediolanum obsidionem continuante, omnes fere mundi Principes, exemplum a Rege Angliæ accipientes, ei præsidium militare destinarunt; being all their Cases and concernment to ayde each other against their rebellious Subjects, though fomented, excited, protected by Popes themselves in their Rebellions.

The same year a wicked false Clerk of Oxford (as Fabian informs us) endeavouring to murder the King, was condemned, executed as a Traytor, and his Quarters sent to, and hung up in several parts of the Realm by the Kings command

An. 22 H. 3. for his Treason, notwithstanding his sacred Orders, as Mat. Paris, Mat. Westm. and others thus register to posterity, for the terror of all other Traytors.

Et resistens, significabit Regi Anglorum, ut munit omnes regni sui Prælatos ex parte Imperatoris, (by his Imperial Sovereignty) ne veniant ad illud generale Concilium (the ancient undoubted right of calling, or recalling General Councils being solely in the * Emperour, not Pope) in personis et rebus securitatem in ditione sua penitus denegantis, et nolentis ubi prædesse inimicus ejus capitalis, causam committere dubio solo tam excellentem. Dominus Papa, ei contra scripsit; significans eisdem Prælati, ut humanis minis postpositis, Patri suo spirituali obedirent et obsecundarent, nec omitterent quin ad Concilium communiter venire ad terminum statutum properarent. (which yet could not absolve them in the Court of Heaven or Earth from their disobedience to the Emperor, against * Solomon's, Saint † Paul's and Peter's express Precepts, as the event did evidence: ) Sed cum omnes vasto mari se commendassent, cessant, Rege vero hæc omnia malo nimis consilio permittente. Whereupon, Impe-rator scripsit Regi Angliæ elegantem Epistolam, in qua increpat Regem, quod in perniciem regni sui, et imperii, terram suam, per Papales quæstionarios depauperari, et ipsum solenniter excommunicari permittit, qui magis rationabilem quam alii Principes Christiani, haberet excusationem huic præcepto Domini Papæ re-their Purses to maintain the Popes wars against the Emperor, (instead of resisting the Saracens in the Holy Land,) who then took * Viterbium and distressed Rome in ira magna, ad ultionem super diffamatione magna, qua nomen suum Dom. Papa

Nota.

This pragmatical Pope Gregory so far interested himself in Suites depending in the Kings Temporal Courts, as at the suit of a Freer to send this Bull to the Abbot of Waltham, to assist the Freers brother in a Suit then depending, to recover a small Inheritance detained from him; the Original whereof I met with in the White Tower.

Leyc. ff. Mattheus Persona de Skakerton attachatus fuit ad respondendum Willielmo de Oddeston de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra prohibitionem Domini Regis, &c. Et unde queritur quod idem Mattheus petiit ab eo in Curia Christianitatis duas marcas quæ non sunt de Testamento, &c. Et unde dicit, quod detulit ei prohibitionem Regiam vigilia festi Sancti Petri ad vincula, anno 25. Unde dicit, quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valenciam 4 marcarum. Et Mattheus venit & defendit contra ipsum & sectam suam, Quod nunquam secutus est placitum illud postquam detulit ei prohibitionem. Et ideo consideratum est, quod vadit legem, se duodecima manu. Et venit cum lege à die Pasche in tres Septimanas apud Westm. plegii de lege, Robertus de Eggeton, de Comitatu Wygorn. & Johannes de Crutterbir. de eodem Comitatu.

Ricardus filius Roberti optulit se 4 die versus Priorem de Wymundham de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra prohibitionem, &c. Et Prior non venit, &c. Et habuit diem per Essoniatorem suum, &c. Mem. 19 intus.

Idem Ricardus optulit se 4 die versus Johannem Turf, Hugonem Dache, Willielmum filium Walteri, Thomam Hardekin, Radulphum Goodie, Willielmum Aylsted, Reginaldum Malling, Nicholaum Mory, Ernaldum Underwode, & Nicholaum Sutorum de placito, quare secuti sunt idem placitum in eadem Curia Christianitatis, contra eandem prohibitionem. Et ipsi non venerunt, &c. Et habuerunt diem per Essoniatorem suum ad hunc diem, &c. Et quia Wiccomes non attachiavit eos sicut præceptum ei fuit, præceptum est ei, quod attachiet eos quod sint ad eundem terminum; et Wiccomes sit auditorus Iudicium suum de eo, quod ipsos non attachiavit.

Cornub. Robertus filius Ham. Esson. Willielmi de Beckeley opt. se, &c. versus Adam, de Keryor, Johannem de Rotomago, & Henr. de Trewyth de placito, quare secuti sunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis ipsius Willielmi quæ non sunt de Testamento, &c. contra prohibitionem, &c. Et Adam & alii non venerunt. Et Johan. attach. fuit per, &c. Et Henr. per, &c. Rot. 10. dorf.

Essex. Lucas de Terlinges & Walterus Godyler opt. se, &c. vers. Rogerum Decanum de Wyham de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis eorum quæ non sunt de Testamento, &c. contra prohibitionem, &c. Gratanter quidem loco subsidii à singulis dictorum Abbatum sanam unius anni reciperemus. Ad quod ab eis optinendum (nisi modo alio commodius & decencius negotium istud procurare possitis) laborare curetis. Intimantes eisdem ex parte nostra, quod ex mera gratia sua auxilium ad præsens ab eis postulamus: Volentes ex eo ipsi in aliquo præjudicari; nec si nobis concedatur ad præsens quod trahi possit in consequentiam. Teste Rege apud Bard. 4 die Octobris.

How the Archbishop executed this Commission without success, (these Abbots refusing to grant him any Ayd of wool or monies, but only of their prayers,) Mat. Paris thus relates, as Tom. 2. p. 603.

An. 27 H. 3. Tom. 2. p. 652. l. 4. after shrewith, adde; Mat. Westminster records, Anno 1143. that by Pope Innocent the 4th. and his Cardinals instigation, ipsa tota civitas Viterbii, cum partibus adjacentibus, per Reinerum de Viterbio Cardinalem, conversa est ad Romanos, qui partes Papæ confovebant. Et eodem tempore recesserunt ab Imperatoris fidelitate multi Nobiles et Potentes: qui igitur oderunt eum, extollentes caput, comminati sunt ei, quod eum usque ad internecionem persequerentur. Humiliatus igitur Imperator secundum illud Davidicum (Imple facies eorum ignominia, & quærent nomen tuum Domine) formam pacis obtulit Ecclesie; scil. ut juraret, se libenter stare censuræ Ecclesiasticæ, de injuriis ei illatis satisfacturum, ita scilicet ut præcognosceret in quibus, et prævisa via, et omnibus præcognitis: (refusing to take a blind general Oath without particulars.) Quod cum denegaretur ei, magis solito desavit in Ecclesiam, et viros Ecclesiasticos. Fecit etiam inter alias suas tyrannides, (so they styled his Royal Justice against trayterous Monks and spies) duos fratres de Ordine Predicatorum, & tot de Ordine Minorum incarcerari, quia Episcopos inter Principes et Magnates, in Imperatoris et Imperii detrimentum, deprehensi sunt basulasse, (to stir them up to revolt from him to the Pope, and take up arms to dethrone and destroy him, for which he might have justly hanged them for Traytors) qui in carcere ob immanitatem pressuræ desecerunt. Et tunc temporis (by reason of the Popes extortions, the Corruptions of his Court, Clergy, and these Treacheries against the Emperour, in partibus maximè ultramontanis, multiplicati sunt heretici, (as the Monk files them, for opposing the Popes Usurpations, Errors, Vices,) præcipuè illi, quos Paterinos appellamus, (the same with the Waldenses or Albigenses) qui temporibus retroactis latuerunt, & deprehensi gravi morte puniebantur; Jam non erubescerent, neque punitionem, neque Ecclesiasticam censuram formidantes, in publicum, et recta cerbice prozumpunt, ita ut finis mundi a multis creditur imminere. Transiit ergo annus ille Ecclesiæ periculosus, regno Angliæ præcelsosus, Italicis præliofus, Templariis, Hospitalariis schismaticus, & scandalis generativus.

An. 28 H. 3. Tom. 2. p. 615. l. 35. after conferendus, adde: This Bishop of Bath was elected by the Prior and Monks of Bath alone, who refused to joyn with the Chapter of Wells in the election; whereupon they opposed it: but the Pope being his friend, the King at the Popes request approved his Election, and issued this Writ for restitution of his Temporalities; with a saving of his Royal right, and the right of the Church of Wells.

† A Treatise concerning Oaths, exacted by Ordinaries and Ecclesiastical Judges. * Mar. Paril. Additament. p. 199, 200, 207.

Tom. 2. p. 706. l. 31. after Junii, adde: That these Inquisitions and Recognitions upon Oath, thus successively prohibited by all the premised Writs to the Bishop of Lincoln, his Archdeacons, Officials, Rural Deans and Clerks, were Articles of Inquiry in their Visitations, which † some peremptorily deny, not acknowledgements of Deeds or Civil Contracts with Oaths to perform them under pain of Ecclesiastical Censures, as they assert, is most evident. 1. By the Writs themselves. 2<sup>ly</sup>. By Archbishop Boniface and his Suffragans Articles and Constitutions against these Writs and Prohibitions, Tom. 2. p. 890. * Artic. 9. Cum Prelati Ecclesiastici inquirere volunt de peccatis subditozum, prohibentur Laici ne de veritate dicenda, aut de credulitate, aliquod Juramentum erponant, aut Prelatis super hujusmodi obediant, propter quod multozum excessus et peccata mortalia incorrecta et impunita relinquuntur, &c. p. 907. Cum insuper Prelati Ecclesiastici ex officii sui debito inquirent, de mozum disciplina, peccatis et excessibus subditozum, quia Rer, Magnates et alia Potestates seculares ipsozum officia impediunt in premissis, Laicis sibi subditis * inhibendo, ne ad mandatum ipsozum Prelatozum, de veritate dicenda subeant juramentum, &c. Impedientes vero ne hujusmodi juramenta prestantur, per Interdicti et Excommunicationis sententias arctius compellantur.

4<sup>ly</sup>. By Archbishop Stratford's and his Councils Constitutions, An. 1340. De impedientibus Jurisdictionem Ecclesiasticam: Accidit novitate perversa, quod cum Ecclesiarum Prelati de mozum disciplina, peccatis et excessibus subditozum nituntur inquirere, Magnates et Potentatus alii seculares, officia impedire molientes eozum, inhibent laicis ipsozum tenentibus aut natis, (by the Kings Writs to the Sheriffs and them) ne ad Ordinariozum citationes pro suozum criminum vel excessuum correctionibus canonicis subeundis, (quozum correctio et punitio ad ipsos Ordinarios noscitur pertinere de consuetudine de de jure, &c.) * extra locum sui domini veniant vel compareant coram eis: Et ne in locis sui domini per Prelatos exerceantur premissa, impediunt, et procurant nequiter impediri; sibi que super his Jurisdictionem Ecclesiasticam exercentes, et suis subditis, et pro eozum culpis et excessibus poenitentias corporales, seu pecuniarias imponentes, ac ipsos facere cogentes, eadem sicut ordinare ipsis licet; aut poenitentis corporalibus juxta modum excessuum suozum impositis, redemptiones pecuniarias prout fuisse poterunt admittentes, de et super extorsionibus et excessibus indicant; sicque indicatos attachant ac incarcerant; ac super his in foro seculari eos sibi respondere compellunt: quibus multas pecuniarias ea occasione in dicto foro seculari imponi procurant et faciunt indebite (as they falsely suggested) pro libito voluntatis. 5<sup>ly</sup>. This is most irrefragably evident by Bishop Grossthead's own Articles of Inquiry, (whereupon those Writs then issued) intituled, Articuli Inquisitionis per Archidiaconatus Episcopatus Lincoln. a singulis Archidiaconis facienda, being 50 in number, published of late in the 2<sup>d</sup>. Tome of * Sir Henry Spelman's Councils; the same in effect and form with our Bishops and Archdeacons modern Visitation Articles, (which they inforce Lay-men to inquire of upon Oath) which I shall here present you with.

On these very Articles of Inquiry, the King, his Council and Judges prohibited any Lay-men to be cited, to make Inquisitions or Recognitions upon Oath, by the * premised Writts.

From these Visitation Articles we may observe: 1. That the prohibiting of Priests marriages, (against Gods Law and institution) made them very incontinent, to keep Whores, Concubines, frequent Nunneries and deflower Nuns, to satisfy their lusts. 2<sup>y</sup>. That sundry Priests in that age were married and had children, whose sonnes sometimes succeeded their Fathers in their Benefices, notwithstanding all Canons and Constitutions made against it. 3<sup>ly</sup>. That Pluralities, Non-residence, and Clergy-mens exercising any Temporal Jurisdiction, Office, or employments, and studying the secular Laws of the Realm, were prohibited as scandalous and criminal in this age. 4<sup>ly</sup>. That the Bishops in all their Visitations and Inquiries, amongst other things endeavoured to advance their Jurisdiction over all Lay-mens persons, rights, privileges, to subject them to their own and their Archdeacons, Officers, Inquisitors censures; which Encroachment King Henry and his Council thought meet to restrain, by successive Writts of * Prohibitions issued to this Bishop of Lincoln Groshead, and others.

If the premises be not sufficient to answer the Objection, that these Prohibitions were not intended of these Visitation Oaths and Articles of Inquiry, then set on foot by Groshead; I shall then adde for further satisfaction, that it is generally agreed, that all <sup>a</sup> Episcopal Visitations were originally founded on Acts 15. 36, 42. Then Paul said unto Barnabas, let us go again, and (ἐπισκεψώμεθα, Visitemus) visit our brethren in every City, where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they do: and Paul went through Syria and Cilicia confirming the Churches, (by his preaching personally to them) without using any such Citations out of their own Parishes, or Articles or Oaths of Inquiry, as Groshead with his Archdeacons, Deans and Officials then prescribed to and enforced on the people of his Diocese, of which we find no mention or intimation in the Acts of the Apostles, nor in the antient Canons or Constitutions we read of concerning Bishops Visitations: in our own or other Churches; Witness those of <sup>b</sup> Boniface Archbishop of Mentz (an Englishman, and Popes Legate,) sent by him to our English Bishops, Anno Domini 745. of the Council of Cloveshoeve under Cuthbert Archbishop of Canterbury, Anno 747. cap. 3. of the Council of Calcuth under the Popes Legates, An. 787. cap. 3. and of Odo Archbishop of Canterbury, An. 943. c. 3. which enjoyn every Bishop at least once every year, to go in circuit throughout his Diocese, cum omni vigilantia <sup>c</sup> predicando verbum Dei (as Saint Paul did) *populumque diversæ conditionis ac sexus aperte doceat, diligenter Conventicula per loca congrua constituendo, quo cuncti convenire possunt ad audiendum verbum Dei, et omnibus viam salutis demonstraret, utpote eis qui raro audiant verbum Dei, Prohibens et inter cetera peccamina, paganas observationes, gentiliūque errata, ne aliquis per incuriam pastoris per devia cuiuslibet ignorantie errans, rugientis leonis morsibus invadatur, & vigilantis cura gregem sibi commissum pascat, confirmet: Et ne quis turpis lucris gratia, sed spe mercedis eterne, gregem sibi commissum pascere studeat. 31 H 3. Bishops or Archdeacons out of, and remote from their own Parishes, to their great travel and expence; no more than a Bishops, Archdeacons, or Ministers summoning all the Sick persons or Prisoners in their Diocesse, Archdeaconries or Parishes to meet them at the places where they visit, or at their Parish Churches, is or would be reputed a real, legal or canonical visitation of the Sick, or Prisoners, within our Saviour Christs, or St. James words or meaning, Mat. 25. 36, 39, 40, 43, 44. Jam. 1. 27. c. 5. 14, 15 or within the Order for visiting the Sick, in the Book of Common Prayer prescribed by Act of Parliament; which orders Ministers, to go and enter into Sick persons Houses, Chambers to visit them, not they to send for them into the Church, or their own Houses: this new kind of Visitation being in truth a visiting of the Bishops and Archdeacons by the Ministers, Churchwardens and others repairing to them; not a visitation of them by the Bishops or Archdeacons, contrary to the Apostolical primitive constitution, custome, and the antient Canonical legal form of all Episcopal and Archidiaconal Visitations, who personally repaired to every Church they visited, and there first of all preached Gods Word unto the People, and then with all care and diligence viewed the Fabricks, Ornaments, Veltments, Utensils, Books and necessary appurtenances of each Church, the persons, manners of the Ministers and People with their own eyes, and so needed no such Inquiries or Visitation Articles upon Oath concerning them, their Ministers or Parishioners, as Bishop Grossthead, his Archdeacons, Deans and Officials then endeavoured to inforce upon the People or Churchwardens by Ecclesiastical censures; which King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. his Council, and Judges thereupon prohibited as illegal Innovations, Grievances, Vexations by the premised Writs: Much less needed they such printed Books of numerous, various, unauthorised Articles, Oaths, as others have since illegally invented, inforcing the Churchwardens of every Parish to buy their Books of Articles at dear rates, and then to make Presentations on them upon Oath; for which Presentations they must likewise pay Fees: A device of later times rather to pick the Peoples Purfes, and ensnare their Consciences, than to reform their vices; Which the premised Councils condemn as a gross abuse; and *Clandius Effencus

Et hoc paratus est defendere Lege contra ipsos & sciam suam, sicut Curia consideraverit. Et ideo consideratum est, quod varet Legem sc. xii. manu. Et veniat cum lege sua a die Nativitatis Sancti Johannis Baptiste in unum mensem. Plegii de lege, Jordanus de Budiford, & Richardus de Clendon. Et preceptum est eidem Waltero, quod interim absolvi faciat predictos Drogonem et Aliciam, et homines ipsozum qui occasione predicta sunt Excommunicati. Et ad hoc faciendum invenit predictos plegios, qui hoc manuceperunt. Et preterea Magister Johannes de Staunton filius predicti Walteri hoc idem manucepit, et obligavit ad hoc quandam custodiam quam habet in Comitatu Somerset. Postea venit predictus Walterus ad diem predictum, et non potuit deducere, quin ipse occasione distinctionis quam predicti Drogo et Alicia fecerunt pro predicto scutagio ipsos Excommunicavit, et Excommunicatos denunciavit. Et postea * per preceptum Justic. denunciavit ipsos a sententia illa absolutos, et super hoc fecit Literas suas patentes quas Henricus de Monte Attoznatus predictozum Drogonis et Alicie proferit, et que hoc testantur. Such was his vexation and falshood in his place.

* Nota.

Henricus de Monteforte optulit se 4 die versus Magistrum Willielmum de Lenteneley de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de advocacione Ecclesie de Niny, que pertinet ad liberum tenementum suum in eadem Vill. contra prohibitionem Domini Regis, &c. Et Willielmus non venit, &c. Et mandatum fuit Episcopo Bathon. quod faceret eum venire ad hunc diem; Et Episcopus nichil inde fecit, sed mandavit, quod summonuit eum, &c. Et ideo preceptum est Vicecom. quod summoncat dictum Episcopum, quod sit a die Nativitatis Sancti Johannis Baptiste in unum mensem, & ibi habeat predictum Magistrum Willielm. &c. Et Episcopus sit audieturus Judicium suum; for his contempt in not bringing him in at the day.

To these I shall annex some Suits prosecuted by the King himself and his Attorney, against several persons for holding and prosecuting Suits in Court Christian, for Advowsons of Churches, and his free Chappels, against his Crown and Dignity, in Michaelmas Term, in this 31. year of his reign.

- Heref. ff. Laurentius del Brock qui sequitur pro Rege, optulit se 4. die versus Archid. de Hertford. Magistrum Richardum, Thomam, & Nicholaum Penitenciar. ejusdem loci de placito, quare tenuerunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Ecclesia Sancti Michaelis de Coventr. quam Dominus Rex contulit Radulpho de Leyc. Clerico suo, vacante sede Coventr. & Lychf. contra Cozonam et dignitatem, et contra prohibitionem Regis, &c. Et ipsi non venerunt, &c. & præceptum fuit Vic. quod distr. Episcopum Hereford. quod esset ad hunc diem. Et quod haberet, &c. Et Vic. nichil inde fecit. Ideo sicut alias præceptum est Vic. quod distr. prædictum Episcopum, ita quod habeat Corpus ejus a die Paschæ in unum Mensem, & ibi habeat, &c. Et Vic. sit auditurus judicium suum, &c.
- Staff. Salop. Dominus Rex per Laur. de Brock, qui sequitur pro eo, optulit se quarto die versus Henricum Creke de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Ecclesia Sancti Michaelis de Coventr. quam Dominus Rex contulit Radulpho de Leyc. Clerico suo, vacante sede Coventr. & Lychf. contra Cozonam et dignitatem Domini Regis, et contra prohibitionem, &c. Et ipse non venit, &c. Et Vic. mand. quod non est inventus. Ideo sicut prius, & si inventus fuerit, quod capiat, ita quod habeat Corpus ejus, &c. a die Paschæ in unum Mensem, &c.
- Warw. Leyc. Dominus Rex per Laurentium del Brock, qui sequitur pro eo, optulit se quarto die versus Decanum & Capitulum de Lychf. de placito, quare secuti sunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Ecclesia Sancti Michaelis de Coventr. quam Dominus Rex contulit Radulpho de Leyc. Clerico suo, &c. contra Cozonam et dignitatem nostram, et contra prohibitionem nostram. Et Decanus & Capitulum non venerunt, &c. Et præceptum fuit Vic. quod distringeret Episcopum Hereford. ita quod haberet Corpus suum a die hunc diem, & quod Episcopus ibi haberet, &c. Et Vic. nichil inde fecit. Ideo sicut alias præceptum est Vic. quod distr. eum per omnes terras, &c. quod sit a die Paschæ in unum Mensem, &c. Et Vic. sit auditurus judicium suum, &c.
- London. Capellan. Dom. Regis. Prior Sancti Gussac. attach. fuit ad respondendum Domino Regi de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Abbocatione Ecclesiæ de Lugwarden, quæ ad Dominum Regem pertinet, contra prohibitionem suam. Et nunc Laurentius del Brock qui pro Rege sequitur, dicit, quod ipse secutus est placitum prædictum in prædicta Curia Christianitatis de prædicta Abbocatione, quæ est præbenda Domini Regis, et quæ Dominus Rex dedit Magistro Johanni Maunsell. Unde Dominus Rex dampnum habet, &c. Et inde producit sectam. Et Prior venit & defend. vim & injur. contra ipsum & sectam suam, quod nullum placitum secutus est de Abbocatione prædicta post prohibitionem, &c. Et ideo concessum est, quod Prior vad. legem 12 mann, &c.
- Hereford. ff. Idem Laurentius qui sequitur pro Rege, optulit. se 4 die versus Magistrum Johannem
- Ibidem.

nem Batcum de placito, quare tenuit predictum placitum contra prohibitionem predictam, &c. Et Magister non venit, &c. Et Vic. mand. quod Clericus est, & quod noluit invenire pleg. quia nullum habet laicum feodum, &c. per quod, &c. Et ideo mandatum est Episcopo Hereford. quod fac. venire ipsum Johannem ad predictum term. ad respondend. Domino Regi de predicta transgressione. An. 31 H. 3.

Laurentius del Brock, qui sequitur pro Rege, optulit se quarto die versus Magistrum Radulphum de Lacock de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis contra libertates Ecclesie beate Mariæ de Stafford, quæ est libera Capella Domini Regis, et contra prohibitionem nostram. Et ipse non venit, &c. Et Vic. Wiltes alias mandavit quod Clericus fuit, &c. Unde mand. fuit Episcopo Coventr. quod faceret eum venire, &c. Et Episcopus nichil inde fecit, nec breve misit. Ideo Episcopus sum. &c. a die pasch. — Et primi, &c. Wiltes. Warr. Suff. ff. Capella Domini Regis.

These with some more such Suits in the Plea-Rolls of this Term, sufficiently discover the Bishops and other Ecclesiastical Judges frequent usurpations upon the Kings Crown, Temporal Courts, and Subjects Free-holds, Liberties, with their manifold contempts and illegal Excommunications against his Prohibitions to restrain their usurpations; without which they had engrossed to themselves by degrees all Suits for Lands, Advowsons, Trespasses, Debts, Contracts triable in the Kings and Temporal Lords Courts; which these Prohibitions, and Actions for damages against the Prosecutors, and Ecclesiastical Judges, sometimes fined to the King for their contempts, and exceeding the bounds of their Ecclesiastical Jurisdictions, did in a good measure prevent, though not totally redress.

As the King by his premised Patents granted Tithes of all Hay and Mills in his Demefn Lands to Churches, and likewise of his Venifon taken in his Forests to several Bishops and Abbots; so he did by this Charter grant to the Prioress and Nuns of St. Mariæ in Chester the 4th. part of the Tithes of all the Victuals spent by him in his house, while he held the Earldom of Chester in his hands, and that his Son and all Earls of Chester and their heirs, should be chargeable with these Tithes, where ever they resided, according to a former Charter of Hugh Earl of Chester, which he hereby confirmed.

REX omnibus, &c. salutem. Sciatis nos concessisse Prioressæ et Monialibus Sanctæ Mariæ Cestrie quartam partem Decimationis omnium victualium domus nostre quocienscumque, quandocumque et quamdum nos esse contigerit apud * Castrum, dum retinuerimus in manu nostra Comitatum Cestrie; Ita quod alicui, siue filio nostro, siue alii Comitatum predictum Cestrie dederimus, Comes ille, et qui pro tempore fuerint successores sui Comites Cestrie, dare teneantur predictis Prioressæ et Monialibus et earum successoribus quartam partem Decimationis omnium victualium domus suæ, ubicumque idem Comites aut familie suæ fuerint per totam Angliam, prout per Cartam Hugonis quondam Comitis Cestrie predecessores sui specialiter obligantur. *William de Cantelupo, Son of * William Lord Cantelupo, a man of great birth, stonack and courage, who kept a great Retinue when Bishop of Worcester, with his whole Family, and the Family of the Treasurer of Lychfeld were accused, appealed both for drowning and murdering several of the Kings Subjects in a most barbarous manner at Kemesey, whereupon the King issued this memorable Writ of Inquiry for the full and particular discovery, as well of the Commanders and Plotters, as Actors of this horrid Trespass, though the Bishops own menial Servants, he being suspected (as it seems) to abet them therein.*

An. 34 H. 3. in Turri London

In the Plea-Rolls, Termo Pasch. & Term. Sancti Michaelis, An. 34 H. 3. in the Tower, there are these Suits upon contempts for suing in Court Christian, against the Kings Prohibition, Crown and Dignity.

Kermerd.

Thomas Episcopus de Sancto David, attach. fuit ad respondendum Mereduk fil. Ros de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de furtis levat. in terra ipsius Mereduk. in Keytheynoc, quod spectat ad Cozonam et dignitatem Domini Regis, &c. Et unde queritur, quod cum detulisset ei Literas Prohibitionis apud Kermerd. ubi fecit ordines suos, dictus Episcopus nichilominus tenuit dictum placitum postea in Curia Christianitatis; unde dampnum habet ad valenc. &c. Et inde producit sectam, &c.

Et Episcopus venit & defendit vim, &c. Et dicit defend. quod nunquam tenuit placitum de furtis levatis in Curia Christianitatis, &c. Et hoc bene defend. contra ipsum & sectam suam. Et ideo conf. est quod vad. Legem suam se 12 manu. Et veniat cum lege die Pasch. in 15 dies: pleg. de Lege Willielmus Hay & Willielmus de Wilton. Et ad diem illum venit dictus Episcopus & sufficiens, fecit legem suam. Et ideo consideratum est, quod Episcopus inde sine die. Et Mereduk in misericordia.

Ibidem.

Idem Episcopus attach. fuit ad respondend. prædict. Mereduk. de placito, quare ad præsent. ipsius Mereduk. non admittit idoneam Personam ad Ecclesiam de Landeveny, cuius Ecclesie Advocacionem idem Mereduk distraxerat versus ipsum Episcopum per Assisam ultimæ præsentacionis inter eos captam, coram Balivo de Kermerd. sicut ei Dominus Rex alias mand. &c. Et unde queritur, quod cum secutus fuit breve Domini Regis ultimæ præsentacionis in Curia de Kermerd. versus ipsum Episcopum de Advocacione prædictæ Ecclesie, & dicta Assisa ibidem capta, fuit: Ita quod per Assisam illam recuperaveris seisinam suam, & habuit breve Domini Regis ad ipsum Episcopum, quod ipse admitteret idoneam personam ad præsentacionem suam, dictus Episcopus recusabit idoneam personam admittere, in præjudicium et destructionem Cozonæ et dignitatis Domini Regis, et ad dampnum ipsius Mereduk. C. Libz. &c.

Et Episcopus venit & defendit vim, &c. & dicit, quod non debet hic in Curia Laicali respondere. Quia dicit, quod examinatio Personæ, utrum sit idonea vel non, mere spirituale est, et ad forum suum spectat; nec vult, nec debet inde hic respondere. Præterea dicit, quod placitum de Advocacionibus Ecclesiarum in partibus suis est mere spirituale, et ipse et prædecessores sui semper placitaverunt prædictum placitum; unde non vult, nec debet de illo placito hic respondere, nec parere, nec facere inde ad mandatum Domini Regis, licet plac. illud deducatur in Curiam Domini Regis. (A strange, disloyal, contemptuous Plea.)

Nota.

Nota.

Et quia Dominus Rex est in seiteina de placitis Advocacionum Ecclesiarum in Curia sua per totum regnum suum; ita quod omnes Episcopi postquam loquela inde deducta sit in Curia Domini Regis debent ad mandatum Regis idoneam personam admittere. Et Dominus Rex non petit, quod ipse Episcopus respondeat de examinatione idoneitatis, quia si unus non idoneus præsentatus sit, admittat alium qui sit idoneus, set * tamen quod ad mandatum suum de loquelis deductis in Curia sua, idoneum Clericum admittat, &c. Et ipse Episcopus dicit, quod non vult hic inde respondere, nec mandato Regis parere, set dicit quod ipse vult habere dictum placitum in Curia sua, quod est manifeste contra Cozonam et dignitatem Domini Regis,

Regis, et ad exheredationem Domini Regis. Et Episcopus non vult aliud dicere, consideratum est, quod predictus Episcopus est indefensus in Curia Domini sui; Et predictus Mereduc recuperet dampna sua, et Episcopus in misericordia; Et Dominus Rex provideat sibi de Jure suo, &c. Postea preceptum est Ballivo de Kermerden quod distringat Episcopum per Baroniam, quod admittat idoneam personam, &c. Et damna tarata sunt ad 20 Marc. et mandatum est dicto Ballivo quod fac. denar. levare, &c. (A memorable Case.)

Wall. ff. Idem Mereduc per eundem Attorn. opt. se 4 die versus eundem Episcopum de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de fureis levatis in terra ipsius Mereduc in Keytheynot quod spectat ad Cozonam et dignitatem Domini Regis, &c. Et quare tenuit placitum in eadem Curia de laico feodo ejusdem Mereduc in eadem Villa, contra prohibitionem, &c. Et ipse non venit, &c. Et Vic. mand. quod Episcopus attach. fuit per Tankard de Hosp. & Johannem Dumeit. Ideo ponatur per mel. pleg. & quod sit ad eundem Terminum. Et primi, &c.

Kermerd. ff. Dies datus est Mereduc filio Ros, per Attorn. suum quer. & Episcopo Menevens. de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis, de Advocatione Ecclesie, &c. Et de placito, quare non admisit, &c. a die Sancti Michaelis in 15 dies. Et prohibitum est predicto Episcopo, ne sequatur dictum placitum infra predictum tempus. In the Fragment of the Plea-Rolls of Trin. Term. An. 35 H. 3. I meet with these Suits and Attachments for holding and prosecuting Pleas of Chattels, Lay-fees, and Adwofsons in Court Christian, against the Kings Prohibition, Crown and Dignity.

A. B. &c. optulerunt se 4 die versus Stephanum Decanum Bristoll. de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico feodo suo, &c. in suburbio Bristoll. contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et Stephanus non venit, &c. Et precept. fuit Vic. Glouc. quod, &c. Et unde mand. quod preceptum est Ballivo Bristoll. quod attach. eum, &c. qui, &c. Et preceptum est Vic. G. quod non omittat propter libertatem predictam, quin attachiet, &c.

Glouc. Willielmus Abbas Sancti Augustini Bristold. attach. fuit ad respondendum Willielmo Wylekoc de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico feodo ipsius Willielmi in Bristold. contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et unde predictus Willielmus queritur, quod predictus Abbas eum traxit in placitum in Curia Christianitatis de 8 seldis in Bristold. coram Archid. de Glamorgan quas ab eo petiit; ita quod eum fecit excommunicari postquam ei detulit predictam Prohibitionem, unde dicit quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valenciam C. libz.

Et Abbas venit & defendit vim & injuriam quando, &c. Et bene defendit, quod nunquam implacitavit ipsum de predictis 8 seldis, quare dicit quod implemet est inde in seisma et semper fuit, nec aliquas seldas ab eo erigit nec unquam exigebat. Et Willielmus Wylekoc non potest hoc deducere. Ideo predictus Abbas inde sine die. Et predictus Willielmus in misericordia.

Glouc. Patricius de Chahurs attachiatus fuit ad respondendum Abbati Sancti Petri Glouc. de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de advocatione Ecclesie de Pambrey, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et unde idem Abbas queritur, quod idem Patricius traxit eum in placitum de predicta advocatione coram Episcopo Sancti Andreze in Scotia postquam ei detulit predictam Prohibitionem; unde dicit quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valenciam —. Et inde producit sectam, &c.

Et Patricius per Attornatum suum venit & defendit vim & injuriam, &c. Et bene defendit, quod nunquam secutus fuit aliquod placitum in Curia Christianitatis de predicta advocatione post primam Prohibitionem. Et hoc offert defendere contra ipsum & sectam suam. Ideo, &c. per 12 manu. Et ven. cum lege in Crastino Sancti Michaelis.

In a broken Plea-Roll (torn off from the Bundle) about the same year, as I conjecture, there are these Law-suits upon Prohibitions.

Norht. Willielmus de Ferariis Comes Dereb. per Attorn. suum optulit se 4 die versus Thomam de Ferar. & Magistrum Hubertum Personam Ecclesie de Hengham de placito, quare secuti sunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis que non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio contra, &c. Et ipsi non ven. &c. Et mandatum

This active Pope likewise, some few moneths after, sent this original Bull (I rescued from the rubbish in the White Tower) to King Henry, humbly intreating, (not requiring or commanding) him for the reverence he did bear to the See Apostolick and him, favourably to assign and restore the Royalties and possession of the Bishoprick of Imelic in Ireland to Gilbert Bishop thereof, and to afford him his counsil, favor and assistance therein.

INNOCENTIIUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei, charissimo in Christo filio illustri Regi Angliae, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Tom. 2. p. 797. l. 29. after infigations, subjoyn. It is very observable; First, That the form of this General Excommunication then denounced was prescribed and assented to by the King, and all the Temporal Lords. 2ly. That whereas the Bishops and Clergy in the Council of Oxford, and other Synods had thrust into their General Excommunications sundry Clauses concerning their pretended Church-liberties, which the King and Lords never assented to, and which they publicly denounced every year; thereupon the King, Nobles, and all the Commons publicly protested before the Archbishop of Canterbury, and all the Bishops in this Parliament, That if any of them, or any other should insert into this or any publick form of Writings or Excommunications already made, or to be made, any other thing, clause, or articles, than they herein prescribed and agreed to, that they never assented, nor would assent thereto, but did plainly contradict the same. 3ly. That the King himself, with his own mouth in the pronounciation of this Sentence, exempted out of it all pretended Liberties claimed by the Pope or Clergy, against the ancient and accustomed Liberties of his Realm, and the Dignitie, Rights of his Crown, Comes de Warwico, Petrus de Sabbaudia, ceterique Magnates Anglia, consenserunt in Sententiam Excommunicationis generaliter latam apud Westm. tertio decimo die Maii anno regni Regis predicti 37. in hac forma, scilicet, Quod vinculo prefate Sententie ligentur omnes venientes contra libertates contentas in Cartis communium libertatum Anglia, et de Foresta; et omnes qui libertates Ecclesie Anglicane temporibus Domini Regis et Predecessorum suorum Regum Anglia optentas et usitatas, scienter et maliciose violaverint aut infringere presumpserint. Et omnes illi qui pacem Domini Regis et regni perturbaverint; et similiter omnes qui Jura et libertates Regis et regni diminuerint, infringere, seu immutare presumpserint. Et quod omnes venientes contra premissa, vel eorum aliqua ignoranter, et legitime moniti, infra quindenam post monitionem premissam dictam transgressionem non emendaverint, extunc predictae Sententie Excommunicationis subiacebunt. Ita tamen, quod Dominus Rex transgressionem illam per considerationem Curie sue faciat emendari. Sciendum autem, quod si in scriptis super eadem Sententia a quibuscunque confectis seu conficiendis, aliud, vel aliter appositum, vel adjectum fuerit, aut articuli aliqui alii in eis contenti inveniantur, Dominus Rex, et predicti Magnates omnes, et Communitas populi protestantur publice in presentia venerabilium Patrum B. Dei gratia Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi totius Anglia Primatis, necnon et Episcoporum omnium in eodem Colloquio existentium, quod in ea nunquam consenserunt, nec consentiunt, sed de plano eis contradicunt. Preterea, prefatus Dominus Rex in prolatione prefate Sententie omnes libertates contra consuetudines regni nostri antiquas et usitatas, et dignitates, et Jura Coronae sue, ore proprio specialiter sibi, et regno suo salvabit, et ercepit. In cuius rei memoriam et in posterum veritatis testimonium, tam Dominus Rex, quam predicti Comites, ad instantiam aliorum Magnatum, et populi, presenti scripto sigilla sua apposuerunt.

By which Record it is apparent; First, That the King and Nobles then had and claimed an antient legal Right to prescribe the Forms of all publick Excommunications, not the Bishops alone, and to a joyn in the denuntiatiions of them with the Bishops. 2ly. That the Bishops could not legally make nor prescribe any new Forms, Clauses or Articles of Excommunication without them or their assents thereto. 3ly. That all the Clauses and Articles of Excommunication thrust by the Bishops and Clergy into their General Sentences of Excommunication, made and published by Simon Langton Archbishop of Canterbury in the Council of Oxford, by Archbishop Boniface in the Council of Lambeth, by Archbishop Peckham in the Council of Reding, and other Bishops in their Synods, not ratified by the King and Lords, (published as Canonical, by Lyndewode, John de Aton of old, and in Sir Henry Spelmans Second Tome of Councils of late,) are illegal, contrary to this Royal protection of the King, Lords and Commons of England, and the Great Charter of Liberties, yea meer usurpations on the Subjects Liberties and Consciences, fit to be exploded, and severely punished by Regal prosecutions against those who maliciously or presumptuously denounced, or shall hereafter denounce them against the King, his Officers or Subjects.

Jordanus Vicarius de Stanes attachiatus fuit ad respondendum Willielmo de la Poyle de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis, quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra Prohibitionem Domini Regis, &c. Et unde idem Willielmus queritur quod prædictus Jordanus implacitavit ipsum de una marca argenti apud Evelham, coram Procentore de Evelham, auctoritate literarum Domini Papæ; et postea coram Vicario de Stanwell. Ita quod postquam ei detulisset Prohibitionem Regiam, ne prædictum placitum sequeretur; idem Jordanus spreta Prohibitione Regia, secutus fuit prædictum placitum versus eum, et fecit ipsum excommunicari. Et unde dicit, quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valenciam 40 marcarum, et inde producit sectam: (to recover his damages, and stay further proceedings.)

Et Jordanus venit & defendit vim & injuriam quando, &c. Et bene defendit contra ipsum & sectam suam, quod ipse nunquam implacitavit, nec aliquod placitum secutus fuit versus eum de prædicta marca, nec de aliquo alio. Moreover in the same Rolls, I finde these following Attachments, Suits, for holding and prosecuting Pleas in Court Christian, De laico secodo, et de advocacionibus Ecclesiarum; as Rot. 13. dorf. Nicholaus Scot opulis se, &c. versus Robert. Scot, quare secutus est placitum, &c. de catallis, &c. quæ non sunt, &c.

Magist. Bernardus le Coromalleynes vers. Abbatem de Evesham, quare tenuit placitum, &c. quæ non sunt, &c. Et fuit attach.

Rogerus de Wardington opt. &c. versus Abbatem de Thornton, quare secutus est plac. &c. de catall. &c. quæ non sunt, &c.

Simon le Moign opt. se, &c. versus Magist. Hugonem de S. Edmundo de plac. quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis, de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et Magist. Hugo non venit, &c.

Johannes de Pelingsford opt. se, &c. vers. Luc. de Deveney & Willielmum Personam de Wyfle de plac. quare tenuerunt plac. in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et vers. Galfridum Burgoil, quare secutus est idem placitum, &c. Et ipsi non venerunt, &c.

Galfr. de Sancto Laco opt. se, &c. versus Willielmum del Parrot Vinetarium, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis, de catall. &c. contra, &c. Et versus Will. Decanum Northampton, quare tenuit idem plac. contra eandem Prohibitionem, &c. Et ipsi non veniunt, &c.

Agnes uxor Johan. de Godemarches opt. se, &c. versus Ad. le Parchenur & Alic. ux. ejus, quare secuti sunt plac. de, &c. quæ non sunt, &c. contra Prohibit. &c. Eadem Agnes opt. se vers. Magist. Willielmum de Obrey Official. Archiep. Cant. quare tenuit idem placitum. Et Offic. non venit. Et alias mandat. Archiepiscopo, quod fac. eum venire, &c.

Jordanus de Kingestown vers. A. Wynton. Elect. quod habeat Galfrid. Personam Ecclesie de Stamewel, ad respond. eidem Jordano, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis, de advocacione Capellæ de Kingestown, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et Electus non venit. Et fuit attach. Et pon. per meliores pleg.

From these and sundry other Prohibitions, and Attachments, Suits upon them this year, in one or two Terms space in the Common Pleas, with above one hundred more during King Henry the third his reign, extant in the Plea and Clause Rolls, and in Henry de Bracton (a learned Lawyer and Justice under this King) De Legibus & Consuetudinibus Angliæ, l. 3. c. 2, to 17. we may evidently discern, not only the studious endeavours of Ecclesiastical Courts, Judges to enlarge their Jurisdictions, and usurp, engross to themselves the consueance of all Temporal causes, against the Kings Crown, Dignity, frequent Prohibitions and Attachments successively issued by his Judges to restrain these injurious Usurpations; but likewise conclude, that Bishops, Ordinaries, and Courts Christian, had then no legal Jurisdiction at all to meddle with, dispose of, or distribute the Chattels or Debts of any Lay-persons dying intestate; they being not Catalla & Debita de Testamento, but Intestatorum, or de Intestato decedentibus, as * their own Canons stile them; which are as opposite, as contradictory to each other, as the Goods, Debts of persons unmarried, are to Catalla & Debita de Matrimonio; as is evident by Glawvil, l. 7. c. 5, 6, 7, 8, 16. l. 12. c. 20. and Bracton, l. 2. c. 26. And that their disposition or distribution of them, as well as holding such Pleas, was then declared to be an illegal Usurpation, as the * Prohibition in the Clause-Roll of 39 H. 3. m. 17. dorso, (Quod usurpatis vobis placita de laicis feodis, et de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio) with others, evidence. This Usurpation of Ordinaries over Intestates Goods, King Henry 3d. his Nobles and Judges opposed, prohibited during his reign, as the forecited Prohibitions, yea the very Articles, Constitutions of Archbishop Boniface and his Suffragans, evidence. Which our Kings, Judges, Nobles likewise opposed in succeeding ages, as <sup>b</sup> John Stratford and his Suffragans in their

libi bona decedentium ab intestato in suis districtibus ad ipsos * Dominos pertendentes fore, quambis erroneè devoluta, ne per Ordinarios bona hujusmodi pro debitozū solutione sic decedentium, ac in alios pios usus pro ipsozū animarū salute convertantur utiliter, (prout consensu Regio et Magnatum regni Anglia, tanquam pro jure Ecclesiasticæ libertate, ab olim extitit ordinatum) impediunt, in derogationem Ecclesiasticæ libertatis, jurisque et jurisdictionis Ecclesiasticozū impedimentum et læsionem enozmem. Whereupon they then denounced a Major Excommunication against all opposers or hinderers of their disposal or distribution of Intestates Goods. To justify which their Innovation and usurped Jurisdiction, they pretended they had it antiently granted them by an * Ordinance of Parliament assented to by the King and Nobles of the Realm, (prout consensu Regio et Magnatum regni Anglia, tanquam pro jure Ecclesiasticæ libertate, ab olim extitit ordinatum:) Which Ordinance must needs be either a wilfull forgery, (there being no such Ordinance extant in History or Record, as Lindewode ingenuously confesseth in his Gloss thereon,) or else a gross mistake, or perverting of the † premised Clauses in King Henry the 1. King John's, or King Stephen's Charters of Liberties; neither of which gave them any legal Jurisdiction at all over Lay-mens Chattels or Goods dying intestate, as I have proved, and the premised and subsequent Suits, Attachments on, and forms of Prohibitions clearly evidence: Wherein I am much confirmed by this passage in Ranulphus de Glanvilla, (most expert in the antient Laws and Customs of this Realm) Chief Justice of England under King Henry the 2<sup>d</sup>. in his Tractatus de Legibus & Consuetudinibus Angliæ, tempore Regis Henrici secundi compositis, printed Cum Privilegio, London. 1604. lib. 7. cap. 16. who resolves, that this was then and in former ages the Law and Custom of the Realm concerning Intestates Goods; Cum quis Intestatus decesserit, omnia catalla sua sui Domini esse intelliguntur; si vero plures habuerit Dominos, quilibet eozū catalla sua recuperabit, quæ in feodo suo reperiet. * Usurarii vero omnes res, siue Testatus, siue Intestatus decesserunt, Domini Regis sunt. This then being the antient Law, Custom of the Realm, Prerogative of the King, and Right of every Lord of Manors, it is very improbable that the King and Lords would develt themselves of this their Jurisdiction over, and Right in Intestates Goods, to vest them in the Bishops and Ordinaries disposal, by any such Parliamentary Ordinance, as Archbishop Stratford and his Suffragans pretend in their premised Constitution, and Ordo-ben before them, there being none such extant; who could not pretend the least Jurisdiction or Right thereto by any Law of God, nor of the Realm, except that clause they thrust into King John's Charter, which really gave them no such Jurisdiction, and was omitted in King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. * his Grand Charter of Liberties, ch. 18. As for the Charter of King Stephen to the Bishops and Clergy, (extending only to their own Goods and Chattels in right of their Churches, not to Lay-mens) made at the Bishops own solicitations, (who advanced him to the Crown against their Oaths) he being a meer Usurper, his Charter was of no greater validity to binde his successors in point of Prerogative, then his other Charters were in case of the Crown-Lands granted by him to his Prelates, Nobles and Adherents; which were soon after resumed by King Henry the 2<sup>d</sup>. (notwithstanding King Stephen's Charters) upon this ground; * Quia Chartæ in balozis præjudicium legitimo Principi minime facere debent. Whereupon our Bishops in succeeding ages, procured special † Patents and Licenses from our Kings to make their Wills, and dispose of their Goods by them, without insisting on King Stephen's Charter, authorizing them freely to make their Wills and devise their Church-goods without such Licenses. If therefore they could not devise their own Goods and Chattels by their Wills without our Kings special License, much less could they dispose or distribute the Goods, Chattels of all Lay Intestate persons, without the special consent of the King and Lay-Lords by Act of Parliament, which they cannot produce. As for their Plea of Prescription, that they have used to dispose of and distribute the Goods of Intestate persons to pious uses time out of mind; they may likewise argue, they have used to hold Plea of Lay-fees, Advowsons, Debts, Chattels, and other things not belonging to them, time out of memory, notwithstanding all Prohibitions, Complaints, Attachments against them for it; but being done by usurpation only, not not of right, yea apparently against the Kings Prerogative, Laws and Customs of the Realm, they shall not take advantage of their own wrongs to deprive the King, his Courts, Subjects of their just Rights, Liberties; and Nullum tempus occurrit Regi, will be a sufficient answer to this and all other their gradual Usurpations on the Crown or Subjects Rights. Which I humbly submit to the grave consideration of the learned Judges and Professors of the Common Law, for whose information, benefit, and the just defence of the Kings Crown, Dignity, Prerogative, against the Usurpations of Popes, Bishops, Legates, Nuncios, Ordinaries, Ecclesiastical Courts, Judges in former and late times, I have inserted into this Chapter most of the Suits and Attachments upon Prohibitions extant in the Plea-Rolls or Writs, of King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. (in the Tower of London) omitted in my Second Tome; which will satisfy the World, and all usurping Canonists, that such Suits, Prohibitions, and Attachments on them, are no Innovations, nor Invasions of the ancient Rights, Liberties of the Church, as they and their predecessors falsely pretend, and most confidently publish in their * Constitutions, Glosses, Discourses, which they cry up for the Ecclesiastical Laws of our Church and Realm, though never so reputed by our Kings, Parliaments, or learned Judges, as I shall further evidence (if God permit) by examining most of them, in their due Chronological Series.

Tom. 2. p. 820. l. 1. before The King, adde; In the Plea-Rolls in the Tower, Anno 38. H. 3. I met with this memorable Record in vindication of the Kings Ecclesiastical Prerogative against the Pope himself and his Delegates, in a case concerning the Privileges of his Free-Chappel of S<sup>t</sup>. Mary of Salop, and others.

Henricus Abbas Salopie attachiatus fuit ad respondendum Domino Regi de placito, quare in Domini Regis et liberæ Capellæ suæ beatæ Mariæ Salopie præjudicium non modicum, quæ exempta est, ita quod * Dominus Papa, nec aliquis alius Juxta Ecclesiasticam Jurisdictionem aliquam in ea habeat, exercuit Jurisdictionem in Capella de Fythesho, quæ pertinet ad Capellam Domini Regis prædictam, spoliando de eadem Capella de Fythesho Clericos dictæ Capellæ Salopie, qui tam ex collatione Decani & Canonorum ejusdem Capellæ obtinuerunt. Et unde Laurencius de Brok qui sequitur pro Rege queritur, quod prædictus Abbas misit ad Ecclesiam de Fythesho, quæ est de Capella Regia prædicta, & de advocacione Domini Regis, in qua quidam Clericus Domini Regis fuit institutus per Ballivos Domini Regis sicut pertinet ad libertatem Domini Regis, misit ibidem homines suos ad destituendum prædictum Clericum, et instituendum alium Clericum, qui dicebat se esse admissum per Episcopum, qui nullam Jurisdictionem in ea habuit, et quandam cistam contra privilegia Domini Regis, quæ deposita fuit in prædicta Ecclesia cum foralibus, et aliis bonis fregerunt, & bona in eadem inventa ceperunt & asportaverunt, & trisurare fecerunt blada prædicti Clerici Domini Regis, & asportari, in dedecus Domini Regis, et magnum præjudicium libertatis Capellæ Domini Regis prædictæ, unde dampnum habet ad valenciam 100 Marcarum.

* Nota.

Et Abbas venit & defendit vim, &c. Et dicit, quod quicquid ipse fecit in prædicto negotio, fecit per mandatum Magistri Hugonis de Sancto Edmundo, cui commissum est Jurisdictio in negotio Crucesignatorum, et per Literas suas patentes; quæ testantur, quod mandavit dicto Abbati quod super injuriis et violentiis manifestis Roberto de Aton Clerico Crucesignato, Personæ Capellæ de Fythesho a Richardo de Honton Canonico Ecclesiæ beatæ Mariæ Salopie, et quibusdam aliis tam Clericis quam Laicis, celerem justiciam de die in diem procedendo sine omni strepitu Judiciali, eidem exhibere curaret. Et si dictam Richardum et alios dictas violentias et injurias dicto Crucesignato intulisse invenerit, eosdem ad satisfactionem condignam per censuram Ecclesiasticam compelleret, contraditores et rebelles per censuram eandem appellatione remota compescendo. Ita se gerentem, &c. Profert etiam formam qualiter debet procedere sub sigillo prædicti Hugonis, quæ testatur, Si Crucesignatus aliquis dicat Conservatori seu Executori Crucis; Talis tenetur michi vel tali in tanta summa pecuniæ ex Testamento vel aliunde, veluti ex mutuo vel hujusmodi, sive per fidei dationem, sive per Cartam, vel aliam rationem, quia non procedetur per indaginem judicalem, sed inquisitionem, nequaquam citet, sed denunciaret Executor sive Conservator per aliquem Bedellum, sive per duos nuncios juratos, illi qui dicitur teneri in aliqua summa pecuniæ Crucesignato nomine ipsius Crucesignati, sive nomine executorio, sive etiam idem Executor Testamenti velit in Terræ Sanctæ subsidium aliquam

An. 38 H. 3. aliquam porcionem pecuniz assignare pro mortuo etiam Crucesignato. Et si ille cui denunciatum est venerit vel comparuit coram Executore Crucis, Quærat statim Executor, Tenerisne tali Crucesignato in tanta? &c. vel sic, Fecistisne talem injuriam tali? &c. Si confiteatur se teneri vel fecisse, Executor compellat eum ad satisfaciendum de die in diem sine strepitu Judiciali nullo obstante privilegio: si negetur, Juret incontinenti de veritate dicenda, &c. Unde dicit, quod per prædictam commissionem et prædictam formam ipse restituit quendam Robertum de Acton audita probatione sua, quod ipse spoliatus fuit de Ecclesia de Fythesho, in cujus possessione extitit per unum Annum & amplius per Episcopum Lychesfeldensem. Et quia prædictus Abbas non dedit, quin Ecclesia de Fythesho sit de advocacione Domini Regis, et de Capellaria eius; Et etiam dicit, quod ipse destituit Clericum per Decanum & Capitulum admissum, & restituit prædictum Robertum, et hoc est contra libertatem Domini Regis, quod ipse aliquam Jurisdictionem deberet exercere, nec sua Jurisdictio in tantum se extendit ut possit destituere et instituere aliquem, maxime de eis quæ pertinent ad Capellariam Domini Regis, consideratum est, quod Dominus recuperet dampna, et Abbas in custodia, &c.

From which memorable Record I shall observe: First, That neither the Pope himself, nor his Delegates, no more than the Bishop, could exercise any Jurisdiction in or over the Kings Free-Chappels, or the Churches belonging to them. 2ly. That the large Priviledges granted by Popes to those who Crossed themselves for the Holy Land, and speedy righting of their Injuries in a summary way, extended not to the Kings Free-Chappels, or Chaplains in them. 3ly. That the King by Judgement of his Court and Judges recovered Damages against this Abbot, and likewise committed him to Prison, for violating the Priviledges of his Crown and Free-Chappel, notwithstanding this his Plea and Justification, by the Pope and his Delegates authority.

Rot. 19. dorso. In the same Plea-Rolls upon an Attachment for suing in Courts Christian for two Chappels, the Prosecutor renounced his Suit there to avoid the like Fine and Imprisonment for this offence to the King.

Richardus de Chastyllun Procurator Willielmi de Chastyllun venit & dicit, quod non vult sequi versus Magistrum Galfridum de Tethese in Curia Christianitatis super Capella de Chelesham, et Belesham. Et de hoc invenit plegium Priorum de Wenelok qui manucepit pro eo, &c.

As the King and his Judges this year were carefull to prohibit all encroachments of Bishops and Ecclesiastical Courts upon the Rights and Prerogative of his Crown, so were they likewise to prevent it in Corporations and other Temporal Courts, as this memorable Record attests, relating to the City of Batho, (for which I serve in Parliament,) who were not guilty of those disloyal usurpations, or illegal exactions then suggested against them, as their Plea and Issue manifests.

* Nota.

Præceptum fuit Vicecomiti, quod venire faceret coram Consilio Domini Regis 12. et distozibus et discretiozibus Civibus Bathoniz, ad respondendum Domino Regi pro se et tota Communitate Civitatis Bathoniz, de placito, quare sine assensu Domini Regis, eligerunt sibi Pajozem et 12. Juratores, qui placita quæ placitari solent in Hundredo Domini Regis, tenent et determinant coram eis, ad exheredationem Domini Regis, &c. Et unde queritur, quod elegerunt sibi Henricum le Taillur, qui gerit officium Pajozitatis, et capit consuetudines de Summariis et Pannicis Civitate Bathoniz.

Et Cives Bathoniz veniunt & defendunt, & dicunt, quod nunquam elegerunt sibi Pajozem, nec Pajozem habere clamant, nec Juratores elegerunt ad aliqua placita terminanda, nec unquam aliquas emendas ceperunt ratione Pajozitatis de aliquibus transgressionibus in Civitate Domini Regis. Et de hoc ponunt se super Patriam. Ideo præceptum est Vicecomiti, quod venire faciat, &c. nisi H. de Bracton prius ad paries illas venerit 12. de visneto, &c. qui nec, &c. & qui non sunt de homagio Prioris Bathoniz ad recognoscendum, &c. à die Sancti Michaelis in quindecim dies, &c. Et Cives ponunt loco suo Johannem le Simiter, & Johannem de Claver-ton, &c.

† To wit, by their own authority, or for the purposes suggested, they having then a Maior for other purposes, by Charter.

The Kings Proctor in the Court of Roma being this year authorized by the King to take up 300 Marks for dispatch of the Kings businesses there by his Commission, and taking it up from the Popes Usurers, Merchants there, entred into this ensuing Obligation to them for payment thereof, under severe forfeitures and penalties, which the King must incur in case of non-payment thereof.

Teste meipso apud Linc. 3. die Maii, anno regni nostri 39.* These 24. Writs issued this year to this one Sheriff of Lincoln, against those illegal usurpations of the Bishop, Dean, Archdeacon, and Officials upon this Kings Crown, Prerogative, his Subjects liberties and properties; which is very remarkable, Henry Lexington was then Bishop.

In the decayed Plea-Rolls of Term Mich. An. 39 H. 3. as I conjecture (in the Tower,) I met with these Suits for holding and prosecuting Suites in Ecclesiastical Courts for Free-holds and Lay-Chattells, against Prohibitions and Attachments.

Magister Eustachius de Cestreton attachatus fuit ad respondendum Hugoni de Loges, quare contra Prohibitionem, &c. traxit eum in placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico feodo ipsius Hugonis in Cestreton, &c. Unde idem Hugo queritur, quod ipse erigit ab eo in Curia Christianitatis de certa pecunia pro decimis molendini, et certum pratum, scilicet, tres acras prati, & prateria de Wareto, et de terris incultis, si illas locaverit, ipse petit decimum denarium, & inde producit fellam, &c.

* Wareto.
See Sir Henry Spelman's

pag. 165.

Et Magister Eustachius venit & defendit contra eum & contra fellam suam, quod nunquam traxit eum in placitum de aliqua certa re, nisi tantum de decimis sceni et molendini, sicut decima inde dari debent; nec aliquam acram prati petit, nec denarium de molendinis, nec aliquid de wareto vel terra, nisi tantum garbas, et ideo preceptum est eidem Eustachio; quod de nullo placito de extero sequatur in Curia Christianitatis, nec de aliquo laico feodo, nec de aliquo quod sit contra Coronam Domini Regis.

Johannes Bec. optulit se 4 die versus Magistrum Robertum de Herfes Archidiacono Lincolniz de placito, quare contra, &c. tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico feodo ipsius Johannis in Boby, &c. Et Magister Robertus non venit, &c. Et Vicecomes mandavit quod non habet laicum feodum. Et ideo mandatum est Domino Episcopo Lincolniz quod distringat eum, quod sit in Octabis Sancti Martini.

Radulfus de Windeburg optulit se 4 die versus Magistrum Rogerum de Burton de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico feodo ipsius Radulphi in Windeburg, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et Magister Radolphus non venit, &c. nec habet laicum feodum. Et ideo mandatum est Domino Archiepiscopo Eborum quod distringat eum quod sit a die Sancti Martini in 15. dies, &c. Et idem Radolphus non sequitur versus Iudices.

Nicholaus de Wottesden attachiatus fuit ad respondendum Richardo filio Godefridi de Wicumb de placito, quare in Curia Christianitatis tenuit placitum de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et unde queritur, quod cum Agnes Bradford & Rogerus filius ejus implacitaverunt ipsum coram predicto Nicholaio, posendo ab eo 30. s. quæ non fuerunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, et ipse detulisset ei breve Domini Regis in Capella de Wuburn in crastino Sancte Elenz anno regni Domini Regis, nunc anno 40. ne placitum illud inter eos teneret, predictus Nicholaus spreta Prohibitione tenuit predictum placitum coram eo, et ipsum fecit excommunicari; Unde dicit, quod deterioratus est, et dampnum habet ad valenciam Centum solidorum. Et inde producit sectam, &c.

Pat. 40 H. 3.
Rot. 6. Buks.

Et Nicholaus venit, & defendit vim & injuriam quando, &c. Et bene defendit contra ipsum & sectam suam, quod nunquam tenuit placitum de aliquibus catallis in predicta Curia postquam ipse predictum breve Domini Regis detulit. Et hoc offert defendere versus ipsum & sectam suam, sicut Curia consideraverit. Et ideo consideratum est, quod predictus Nicholaus vadiet legem se 12. mann. Et veniat cum lege in Octabis Sancti Hillarii. Plegii de lege Adam Averill, & Richardus de Norwico.

Postea à die Sancti Johannis Baptiste in quindecim dies venit predictus Nicholaus, & fecit legem suam. Ideo consideratum est, quod ipse Nicholaus inde sine die, & Richardus filius Godefridi in misericordia pro falso clamore. Et prohibitum est predicto Nicholaio ne ulterius Richardum predictum placitet; et injunctum ei, quod sine dilacione faciat ipsum absolvi. Postea venit predictus Richardus, & questus fuit, quod predictus Nicholaus eum nondum fecit absolvi. Immo impetrabit breve Regis de capiendo ipsum occasione predicti placiti. Ideo preceptum est Vicecomiti, quod attachiet eum quod sit a die Pasche in unum mensem, ad respondendum de transgressionem predicta.

vexation.

Idem Richardus optulit se 4. die versus Magistrum Johannem de Cumpton de placito, quare ipse simul cum predicto Nicholaio tenuit predictum placitum in eadem Curia, contra eandem Prohibitionem. Et ipse non venit, &c. Et plures fecit defalcas. Ita quod mandatum fuit Episcopo Lincolnienfi, quod faceret eum venire, eo quod Clericus est, et non habet, &c. Et quia Episcopus obiit, mandatum est Officiali Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis, quod faciat eum venire in Octabis Sancti Hillarii, &c.

Richardus filius Martini de Oteringham optulit se 4. die versus Magistrum Thomam de Grimmeton de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis, &c. contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et ipse non venit, &c. Et fuit attachiatus per Willielmum de la Chambre de Holm, & Adam Horeband de eadem. Ideo ponatur per meliores Plegios, quod sit à die Sancti Hillarii in quindecim dies. Et primi, &c.

Johannes filius Willielmi Effonator Galfrid. de Wolmerston optulit se 4. die versus Priorem de Monte Acuto de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento, &c. Tom. 2. p. 935. l. 21. adde; I found in the White Tower Chappel this Epistle and Petition of the Freers Minorites to King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. to confirm their intrusion into S. Edmunds by his second Charter, not deeming the Popes Bull they had got, sufficient; which the Abbots and Monks contemned and set at nought: wherein they highly extoll his piety, liberality, care to propagate Religion and Order, asserting his and other Kings Ecclesiastical prerogatives therein. Gloriosissimo Principi & in Christo amantissimo Domino, ac piissimo patri Domino Henrico, Dei gratia illustrissimo Regi Anglia, Domino Hybernia, Duci Aquitania, sui devoti & supplices servuli & alumpni, Frater H. Fratrum minorum in Anglia, minister humilis, cum universo Capitulo eorundem Oxonia celebrato, quicquid salutis & prosperitatis, gratiæ & gloriæ optari potest tantæ benignitati. Cum à primo ingressu Ordinis nostri in terras vestro Regimini & Dominio subjectas, clementiam vestram nobis semper invenerimus in omnibus favorabilem & benignam, Ita ut indefessa largitatis munificentia in omnibus Calibus utitur, hujus vitæ mortalis transitoria necessitas quantumvis viles & abjectos, de vestra liberalitatis habundantia, tanquam pater filios sustentare non cessaveritis et sovare, contra calumpniantes & persequentes defendere, & * obsecrantibus ex zelo pii amoris, disertis rationibus, iuxta datam vobis celsitus industriam, & efficacibus excusationibus obviare, & ut sub compendio dicamus, ab omnibus semper malis protegere, et in bonis promovere; Non sufficit nostra mendicitas iuxta condignum perolvere gratias, nec quicquam rependere vestræ Celsitudinis tantæ bonitati, sed Dominum à quo bona omnia procedunt, qui quod uni ex minimis suis sit, sibi fieri protestatur, totis cordum medullis indefessa precum instantia pro vobis supplices unanimiter exoramus, ut a vestra dominatione noxia semper depellat, et omnia vobis profutura concedat. Sane inter omnia vestræ pietatis beneficia, præcipuum et excellens reputamus, sic et Christo Jesu Domino nostro reputari indubitanter arbitramur, et ad gloriam Divini nominis pro animarum procuranda salute, quod Domum nostri Ordinis apud Sanctum Eadmundum in area vestra propria, ubi fratres in non modico numero Domino servientes et Sancto Eadmundo, doctrinam prædicantes, salutaria consilia tribuentes, ac pro vobis et vestris orantes, commorari poterunt, firmo decreto auctoritate et virtute Regia collocatos, sicut evidentius Chartæ Regiæ declarabant, solemnibus missio Justiciariorum à latere vestro firmavit, et patentium literarum Regalium tenores quæ ad memoriam præsentibus et futuris in testimonium habentur et apertissime protestantur. Hoc itaque quod ab initio fratres fieri optaverunt, ob hoc præcipue & solum, quod locus ille efficaci auxilio medelæ spiritualis ad expurgandas spurcitas plurimum indigebat; Apostolicam sedem adierunt, obtinueruntque primum Monitozias Abbati et Monachis directas, ut fratres benigne sustentarent, omnibus pro impensis: postea increpatozias inde retulerunt, et ita pro * nihilo ductis, demum procurantibus fratribus ab eadem Sede efficacia privilegia, † cum aliis literis Papalibus Monachis directis, cum cogentissimis præceptis et executione potenti sunt obtenta. Quin hæc omnia præfati * Monachi aspicientes, in nullo penitus mandatis postpositis de suscipiendis iuribus animarum et sustentandis, parere voluerunt; donec Deus, in cuius manu sunt corda Regum, cor vestrum igne sui amoris accensum, ad illud converteret, ut per manus vestras operaretur jam ad salutem animarum in terra vestra. Scimus enim & pro certissimo tenemus, quod nisi vestræ potestati vel clementiæ pietas affuisset, nihil omnino de tam salutari re fuisset actum, quod ineffabiliter Dei ad gloriam, et ad lætitiā peccatozibus adveniat, toti populo ad salutem, vobis ad honorem in terris, et ad cumulum gloriæ cederet in cælis; Ideoque pauperum amantissime pater! absit à vestræ bonitatis con-stantia, opus negligere tantæ pietatis, sed amore Dei sapienter recogitet mansuetudo vestra — qui creduntur in mundum, potestate, sapientia & benignitate sua, ipsum indefessa longanimitate bonitatis suæ sustinet & gubernat, nec unquam deferere dignetur. Hoc namque nunc intelligere debent Reges terræ, ut tanquam filii carissimi, devotis cordibus disciplinam patris cœlestis apprehendere, ut in sustentandis nobis, id ipsum, ab ipsis ad Dei cultum et animarum medelam pia devotione facta sunt, sic ipsum indefinenter imitentur in terris, ut cum ipso perpetuo regnare mereantur in cœlis; Quod unanimiter petimus, servi a Domino, a Patre filii, humiles ab Excelso, & humiliter requirimus totis cordibus sicut audemus, quatinus ad confortanda & confirmanda penitus in devotione ad Dominum pro nobis, devotorum corda servulorum vestrorum de throno Regiæ Majestatis præcipere dignemini, novas literas patentes exire ad Sanctum Eadmundum publicandas, quibus plenius innotescat universis, Domum nostræ Ordinis pro perpetua stabilitate manere vultis, et ab hæredibus vestris Regibus Angliæ, pro vestra et eorum et antecessorum vestrorum salute, ad Dei gloriam et beati Eadmundi meritum et honorem, sibi debet, surta quod a vobis præceptum est, fratribus Ecclesiæ fieri, perpetuo protegi ac defendi. Tantum si placet Dei intuitu, & salutis animarum, nostræque mendicitatis obtentu facientes, ut & divinæ propitiationis, qui pro recuperandis animabus perditis mori dignatus est, habundantiorem gratiam conquirere, & paupertatis nostræ devotionem vobis indissolubiliter astringere merito debeatis. In Dignitatis vestræ prosperitate conservet (Vos) nobis Deo & populo suo per tempora longiora.

About the 43<sup>d</sup>. year of King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. Thomas Lidel Bishop of Dun in Ireland being oppressed and distrained by the Earl of Ulster, for refusing to appear and answer in his Court, to the prejudice of the Kings Crown and Dignity, and violation of his Oath of Fealty to him, sent his Archdeacon to the King with this Epistle, imploring his Royal assistance and relief against these vexatious oppressours; wherein he asserts, that it is the principal part of Regal Dignity to defend the Church, and restrain the disturbers of Ecclesiastical Liberty, which he earnestly presseth him to discharge in his particular Case, to prevent the mischiefs therein specified, and prevent his recourse to the Court of Rome, there to seek for redress, which Letter I discovered in the White Tower.

Excellentissimo viro & Domino suo reverendo H. Dei gratia illustri Regi Angliæ, Domino Hyberniæ, & Duci Aquitaniæ; Th. Divina miseratione Dunen. Ecclesiæ Minister humilis, salutem & orationum suffragia. Cum ad Regiam pertineat dignitatem Ecclesiæ defendere, Ecclesiasticæque libertatis perturbatores compescere; Nos quoque qui vobis fidelitatis fecimus Sacramentum, per Dominum Will. de Bourg Com. Ulton. novis & indebitis exactionibus quas nunquam aliquis prædecessorum nostrorum alicui Com. hæcenus facere consuevit, hiis diebus indebitè opprimimur & gravamur: Et quod in præjudicium Regiæ dignitatis vestræ, et Sacramenti quo vobis et Cozonæ vestræ sumus addicti læsionem, in Curia ipsius Com. respondere nolumus sicut nec tenemur, terras ad Crociam nostram pertinentes nobis in Curia sua adjudicavit, ac Paneria nostra spoliavit bonis nostris. Quare Dom. A. Archidiaconum nostrum, præsentium bajulum nostrum & Cleri nostri procuratorem et Nuncium ad vestræ transmittimus refugium: Excellentiæ vestræ humiliter ac devotè in Christo supplicamus, quatinus qualiter prædecessores nostri Dunen. Episcopi pro salvandis Regiis libertatibus adversus Comites Ulton. stare consueverunt, et quos labores pro Regiis negotiis sustinuerunt ad memoriam, si placet, revocantes, Dom. Archid. in hiis quæ vestræ Majestati pro nobis et Clero nostro plenius explicabit benigne exaudire, et gravaminibus quæ nobis injustè inferuntur, remedium exhibere dignemini opportunum. Pro Iesu Christi nomine, et animæ vestræ salute salubriter prospicientes, quod magnificum nomen vestrum, quod à primo adventu Anglicorum in Ulton. tam reverenter hæcenus recitatur in singulis Missis per Dunen. Dioc. celebratis, ubi plures quam alicubi in Hybern. infra tantæ terræ spatium usque ad hæc tempora habundant sacerdotes et Religiosi, pro defectu defensionis debite a tam salubri memoria non cesset, quod absit. Si enim in hiis nostris pressuris celerius remedium nobis vestra non adhiberet Magnificencia, oportet nos Monasteria nostræ Dpoc. desolatata, et Paneria nostra vasta, et totam Dpoc. relinquere interdictam, et quatinus poterimus Curiam Romanam adire pro remedio ibidem perquirendo. Valeat et vigeat Excellentia vestra diu et benè in Christo.

Et legem illam fecisset; et ei injunctum esset per Iusticiarios hic, ne prædictum placitum ulterius teneret, et si prædictum Ricardum occasione prædicti placiti excommunicasset, ipsum Ricardum sine dilatione absolvi faceret. Idem Nicholaus ipsum Ricardum nondum absolvi fecit, sicut ei injunctum fuit per Iusticiarios hic, &c. Immo impetravit literas Regis de capiendo prædictum Ricardum occasione prædicti placiti, &c. Et unde prædictus Ricardus queritur, quod cum vadiasset ei legem, scilicet legem in oñibus Sancti Michaelis anno 44 H. 3. et illam legem fecisset in Curia Regis hic, et injunctum ei fuisset, ne ulterius prædictum placitum teneret, et si ipsum occasione prædicti placiti excommunicasset vel excommunicari procurasset, ipsum absolveret vel absolvi procuraret; prædictus Nicholaus spæta Inhibitione Iusticiariozum, sententias Excommunicationis, quas prius in personam suam singulis diebus festiualibus innodaverat, publice et solempniter iterum promulgavit, ac quosdam hospites suos qui cum ipso in domo sua voluerunt hospitari, excommunicavit, et ipsos cum ipso communicantes coram ipso fecit summoneri, in Ecclesia Omnium Sanctorum de VVycumbe, et coram Cruce spoliari et denudari, et circa Ecclesiam illam suffigari. Et postea literas Regias de capiendo ipsum Ricardum tanquam excommunicatum in prædicta sententia perseverantem per quadraginta dies et amplius impetravit. Ita quod idem Ricardus partes suas fugit, nec ausus fuit moram ibidem facere donec remedium inde optineret per R. de Thurkelby: Et cum idem Ricardus in extremis laborabat, mortis extrema senserat, Zara Ecclesiastica postulaverat, ipsi administrari firmiter inhibuit, et denegari. Dicit enim, quod quando corpus Laurentii le Criur, qui interfectus fuerat, deferabatur in prædicta Villa de Wycumbe ad domum ipsius Ricardi, Hugo le Criur et alii Servientes de banco, qui ibidem venerant ad servitium mortuorum decenter peragendum, in domo prædicti Ricardi pro prædicto mortuo, prædictus Nicholaus omnibus qui interfuerunt nunciavit, prædictum Ricardum per longum tempus fuisse excommunicatum, et in prædicta sententia perseverasse, propter quod omnes qui ibidem convenerant ipsum reliquerunt, et secum noluerunt communicare, et detulerunt corpus prædicti defuncti ad quoddam Hospitale extra Wycumbe, ad grave dampnum ipsius Ricardi, et in contemptum Inhibitionis Iustic. unde dicit quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valenciam Centum librarum: Et inde producit sectam, &c.

Et Nicholaus venit, et defendit vim et injuriam quando, &c. Et bene defendit, quod nunquam postquam vadiasset prædictam legem non traxit ipsum Ricardum in placitum in Curia Christianitatis, quia dicit, quod non fuit Ordinarius loci illius, nec alienus Ordinarii vices gerebat, nec unquam post excommunicavit, nec ali-quem cum ipso commorantem, nudum circiter Ecclesiam fecit sustigari, nec aliquod breve Domini Regis impetravit de capiendo ipsum Ricardum tanquam excommunicatum, nec ipsi Ricardo in periculo mortis Jacenti Jura sua denegavit, nec inhibuit denegari, nec unquam impedivit Capellanos Clericos nec Laicos celebrare servitium mortuorum pro predicto Laurentio in domo ipsius Ricardi, si illud servitium ibidem fecisse voluissent. Et de hoc ponit se super patriam. Idem præceptum est Vicecomiti quod venire faciat hic in vestris Sancti Hillarii duodecim, &c. per quos, &c. Et qui nec, &c. ad recognoscendum in forma predicta; quia tam, &c. Et concessum est hinc inde. The Verdicts and Judgements thereupon are not entred in the Plea-Rolls.

By all these premised Complaints, Suits and Attachments upon Prohibitions in the Common Pleas in one or two Terms, we may clearly discern; First, our Bishops, Archdeacons, Officials, and other Ecclesiastical Judges manifold encroachments upon the Rights, Prerogatives of the King, and Jurisdiction of his Temporal Courts. 2ly. Their frequent high contempts of the Kings Prohibitions issued to them. 3ly. Their intollerable oppressions, vexations of Subjects by such injurious Suits, to their great damage, enforcing them to sue to the Kings Courts for Prohibitions, Attachments, and Writs to recover their damages thereby sustained, with their manifold delays, defaults, and contempts, in refusing to appear upon summons and Attachments against them. 4ly. Their frequent malicious Excommunications of them; and such who conversed with them, when enjoined by the Judges to absolve them, of purpose to hinder, discourage them and others to sue for Prohibitions to restrain these their injurious usurpations. 5ly. The Kings, Judges care and readiness in that age to restrain these their Usurpations and Excommunications, by Prohibitions and Attachments against the Ecclesiastical Judges themselves, and Prosecutors of such Suits before them, by their instigation, who were for the most part Clergy-men, (as you may observe) they all combining about this time by their \ Articles and Constitutions*, to trample the Kings Prerogative, Courts, Judges, Officers, Laws of the Realm, and Subjects Liberties under their feet, and bring them under their Interdicts and Excommunications for issuing Prohibitions and Attachments against them.

Tom. 2. p. 948. l. 10. after Westm. insert; \ Anno gratia 1261. impetrata fuit palam littera de absolutione Regis et Edwardi filii sui super juramentis præstitis, prout diximus: sed Edwardus illam absolutionem noluit accipere, Rege in pertinacia persistente. Audientes Magnates Regem taliter absolutum, missis nunciis humiliter rogabant, ut communiter præstitum juramentum inviolabiliter observare vellet, & si quid displiceret, eisdem ostenderet ad emendandum. Qui nequaquam acquiescens, dure et minaciter respondit, dicens; quod eis a conventionione deferentibus, non amplius acquiesceret, sed unusquisque deinceps suis propriis defensionibus procederet. Hereupon Boniface Archbishop of Canterbury, and John Maunsel Treasurer of York the Popes Chaplain, by the Kings command, issued this Mandate to the Abbot of St. Maries in York; wherein they inserted Pope Alexander's memorable Bull, dissolving, nulling all leagues and confederacies against the King by the Barons, enjoining them faithfully to obey and submit unto him, under pain of Excommunication of their persons, and Interdict of their lands; absolving the King from his Oath to observe the Articles of Oxford: and admonishing Hugh de Bygod before sufficient witnesses to surrender the Castles of Scardeburg and other Forts to the King; as this Certificate of the Abbot, (which I found in the White Tower) will more at large inform us, and of Hugh de Bygod's answer thereunto.*

All these Prohibitions, Suits abundantly evidence the many encroachments of the Ecclesiastical Courts upon the Kings Crown, dignity, and Subjects liberties this year.

Tom. 2. p. 994. l. 2. after August. adde; 1 found this memorable Case upon an Attachment, for suing in the Spiritual Court against the Kings Prohibition, Placita Assisarum (in the Tower) Anno 47 H. 3. coram M. de Litelebery & sociis suis, &c. Magister Galfridus de Gates Archidiaconus Cycestr. in misericordia pro pluribus defaultis versus * Johannem de Frye. Item Magister Johannes attachiatus fuit ad respondendum prædicto Johanni de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et quare idem Archidiaconus simul cum Bartholomæo Vicario de Billinghamst. pendente prædicto placito in Curia Regis coram Justiciariis apud Westm. in deceptionem Curie Regis, ad mandatum Johan. Episcopi Cicestr. litteras Regis Wicecomiti Suffex. directas, de capiendo prædictum Johannem tanquam in excommunicatione contumaciter perseverantem impetraverit: Et unde prædictus Johannes queritur, quod cum quidem Bartholomæus Vicarius de Billinghamst. implacitasset ipsum coram prædicto Magistro Galfrido in Curia Christianitatis in Ecclesia Cathedrali Cycestr. exigendo ab eo unum denarium de annuo redditu de laico tenemento ipsius Johannis in Billinghamst. & idem Johannes die Jovis proximo post festum Sancti Martini anno quadragesimo sexto, detulisset ei litteras Domini Regis de Prohibitione in prædicta Ecclesia Lycestr. ne prædictum placitum teneret: Idem Galfridus spreta Prohibit. prædicta, tenuit prædictum plac. inter eos, et ipsum suspendi fecit et excommunicari; et postea in deceptionem Curie Domini Regis, pendente prædicto placito coram præfatis Justiciariis apud Westm. impetravit breve Domini Regis de capiendo ipsum, contra Coronam et dignitatem Regis; Unde dicit, quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valenciam 40. marc. &c.

Et Magister Galfridus venit & defendit vim & injuriam quando, &c. & quicquid est contra Coronam, &c. Et bene cognoscit, quod ipse tenuit prædictum placitum, et de catallis quæ mere pertinent ad spiritualitatem. Quia dicit quod consuetudo Billinghamst. talis est, quod illi qui panem benedictum dant diebus Dominicis, offerunt cum pane benedicto unum denarium, vel unam candelam de valore unius denarii: Et quia prædictus Johannes detinuit oblationem illam de denario, et de candela offerenda cum pane benedicto sicut prædictum est; questus sit prædictus Vicarius ipsi tanquam Archidiacono suo, et ipse tanquam Ordinarius tenuit inde placitum inter eos, ut de oblatione, mere pertinente ad spiritualitatem. Et de impetratione brevis Domini Regis de capiendo ipsum Johannem dicit, quod prædictum breve nunquam impetratum fuit per ipsum, nec ipse Johannes unquam per breve illud captus fuit nec imprisonatus.

Et Johannes dicit, quod nec ipse nec pater suus unquam aliquem denarium obtulerunt cum pane benedicto, nec aliquam candelam; nec aliquis parochianus de parochia de Billinghamst. hujusmodi oblationem dat, nisi fuerit ex voluntate sua, et non aliquo jure, vel aliqua * consideratione antiqua. Et petit quod hoc inquiratur. Postea, quia prædictus Johannes non potest ostendere, quod prædictum breve de capiendo ipsum impetratum fuit per prædictum Archidiaconum; nec ipse unquam per breve illud captus vel imprisonatus fuit, consideratum est, quod idem Archidiaconus quoad quoad hæc sine die. Et similiter quia idem Johannes non potest ostendere quod idem Archidiaconus tenuit aliquod placitum de aliquo laico tenemento suo, nec de aliquibus debitis vel catallis nisi tantummodo de prædicta Oblatione, quæ mere pertinet ad spiritualitatem, et quod placitum in Curia Regis non potest nec debet terminari, consideratum est, quod prædictus Archidiaconus inde sine die; et Johannes in misericordia pro falso clamore.

sponsam sibi non incestu copulabit, nec huiusmodi carnalis sed proprio, dum in Crucis penderet patibulo, sanguine consecratam. Hec quidem tam sancta, tam cunctis orthodoxis fides zelatoribus veneranda, nostris seculis adeo vili penditur, quod suspiciosus ululatus est ingendum, ut audacia nonnulli presumptuosa et audaci presumptione in ipsam se intrudent laica potestate; statim ipsas irreverenter evertentes, Ecclesiasticasque libertates armatis viribus in sponsum contumeliam et opprobrium multipliciter depzimentes. Hanc Regia Maestas, ad Christi laudem et reverentiam, injurias Ecclesie tanquam proprias, serbida zelatrix fides, prosequens et ulciscens, materialis macronem gladii contra presumptores huiusmodi totiens ad compescendam ipsorum insolentiam acuit et exercet, quotiens ob necessitatem vel utilitatem Ecclesie requiritur a Prelatis. Cum igitur in Ecclesiam de Sandeacr. nostrae Diocesis, quidam se laici, non sine gravi libertatis Ecclesiasticae subversione, violenter intruserunt, ac eam in presensentiarum ausu sacrilego vi laica detineant occupatam; vestram excellentiam obnixe requirimus et rogamus, quatinus ad amovendam inde vim prefatam, auxilium vestri velitis dextram extendere cum effectu. Et quod Judai Oxonienses non recipiant a Scholaribus prædictis pro libra in septimana nisi duos Denarios; et similiter fiat in minori forma secundum quantitatem; alioquin Judai puniantur secundum constitutionem regni. Et quod quotiescunque & quodocunque Major & Ballivi Oxoniæ Sacramentum fidelitatis suæ præstabunt in loco suo communi, Communitas ejusdem Villæ denunciaret Cancellario Universitatis, ut per se vel per aliquas electas personas præstationi Juramenti prædicti, si voluerit, interstet. Quod quidem Juramentum tale erit, quoad Scholares prædictos, videlicet; Quod ipsi Major et Ballivi conservabunt Libertates et Consuetudines Universitatis prædictæ; alioquin non valeat Juramentum ipsorum; sed interim præstetur secundum formam præscriptam; Si vero Cancellarius, nec per Procuratorem interesse voluerit, ad Juramentum nihilominus procedatur. Et quod duo Aldermanni sint electi & deputati de illis, qui pro tempore fuerint, secundum quod ordinati erant de Domino H. de Eborum ad exhibendam justitiam cum præpositi abfuerint, sub eadem pœna quâ præpositi tenentur, si negligentes vel malitiosi inveniantur. Et quod quilibet Burgensis Oxoniæ pro familia sua respondeat; Ita quod si aliquis de familia sua mortem vel gravem injuriam alicui Clerico vel suis inferet, Palefactorem exhibeat idem Burgensis, ut fiat de eo justitia; alioquin infligabitur pœna secundum consuetudinem regni. Et quod quotiescunque debeat fieri temptatio panis et cervisie ab eisdem Burgensibus, præcedenti die denunciatur Cancellario et Procuratoribus Universitatis prædictæ; ut si per se vel per aliquos ad hoc deputatos per ipsos (si voluerint) intersint temptationi prædictæ; alioquin non valeat ipsa temptatio. Si vero dicti Cancellarius et Procuratores Universitatis per se vel per suos interesse noluerint, ad prædictam temptationem nihilominus procedatur. Upon the Liberties of the Kings and Subjects of Engl. & Irel. K. Henry 3.

Isabella de Rocheford traxisset ipsas in placito coram predicto Stephano, petendo ab ipsis quater viginti marcas, quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio: Et predicta Johanna & Editha in crastino Purificationis beate Mariæ hoc anno in Ecclesia de Renesbiry desulissent ei Regiam prohibitionem, ne predictum placitum teneret, &c. Et unde predicti Johanna & Editha queruntur, quod predictus Magister spreta predicta Prohibitione tenuit predictum placitum: Ita quod primo fecit ipsas ab ingressu Ecclesiæ suspendi, et postea excommunicari. Unde dicunt, per quod deteriorati sunt et dampnum habent ad valenciam viginti librarum. Et inde produciunt scilicet, &c.

Et predictus Magister venit & defendit vim & injuriam quando, &c. Et bene defendit, quod nunquam tenuit placitum predictum post Prohibitionem: Et hoc paratus est defendere, prout Curia consideraverit. Ideo consideratum est, quod vadit ei legem se 12. manū. In the same Term and Roll, I finde this Plea in an Assise of Darrein Presentment to the Church of Mallebergh, wherein the Popes provision of it to his Nephew upon the Bishop of Sains translation to Bath, was pleaded and allowed.

Assisa venit recognitura quis advocatus tempore pacis presentavit ultimam personam qua mortua est ad Ecclesiam de Mallebergh que vacat, &c. Et cujus advocatorem Ricardus filius Stephani clamat versus Walterum Episcopum Sarum; et unde dicit, quod quidam Willielmus antecessor suus tempore pacis, et tempore H. Regis avi Domini Regis nunc, presentavit quendam Robertum Clericum suum ad predictam Ecclesiam, qui ad presentationem suam fuit admissus et institutus, et ultimo obiit persona in eadem tanquam a vero patrono presentatus. Et Episcopus per Attornatum suum venit, et dicit, quod non debet ei ad hoc breve respondere, quia dicit, quod predicta Ecclesia non est Ecclesia per se, immo Capella pertinet ad matricem Ecclesiam de Alsinton, unde petit Judicium de brevi suo.

Et Ricardus dicit, quod qualitercunque predicta Ecclesia de Mallebergh modo consolidata sit predictæ Ecclesiæ de Alsinton; tempore quo predictus Willielmus antecessor suus presentavit predictum Robertum Clericum suum ad predictam Ecclesiam, fuit Ecclesia illa matris Ecclesia et per se parochialis.

Et Episcopus dicit, quod post tempus predicti H. Regis avi, quidam Ricardus, quondam Episcopus Sarum tempore Domini Regis nunc presentavit quendam Martinum de Patreshull, qui ad presentationem suam fuit admissus et institutus. Et post mortem predicti Martini quidam Robertus tunc Episcopus Sarum presentavit quendam Clericum suum ad predictam Ecclesiam, qui ad presentationem suam fuit admissus; et institutus. Et postquam Rogerus consecratus fuit in Episcopum Bathoniensem et Wellensem, Dominus Papa contulit eandem Ecclesiam Andree nepoti suo, et quod advocatio illa pertinebat ad Episcopatum Sarum, et Ricardus non potest hoc dedicere. Ideo predictus Episcopus inde sine die, et predictus Ricardus in misericordia pro falso clamore.

Capellanum, et Bedam le Den, de placito, quare secuti sunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt, &c. contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et ipsi non venerunt, &c. Et Robertus fuit attach. per Johannem de Lyndeseye in Lync. &c.

Ibid. Rot. 14. Hereford. Thomas de Colecestr. per Attornatum suum optulit se 4. die versus Fratrem Galfridum procuratorem Abbatis et Conventus de Couches, de placito, quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt, &c. contra, &c. Et ipse non venit. Et habuit diem per Essoniatorem suum ad hunc diem postquam comparuit in Curia, scilicet, à die Sancti Michaelis in quindecim dies. Et vadiaverat ei inde legem se 12. man. Ideo consideratum est, quod prædictus Thomas recuperet dampna sua quadraginta librarum versus eum. Et ipse et plegii sui de lege in misericordia, scilicet Robertus de la Grave de Com. Warr. et Willielmus fil. Martini de Com. Essex. &c.

Ibid. Rot. 17. dor. Norff. Radulfus de Norff. Effon. Willielmi Galuz optulit se 4. die versus Magistrum Godefridum de Merton de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt, &c. contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et versus Priorem Norwyc. quare secuti sunt idem placitum in eadem Curia, contra eandem Prohibitionem, &c. Et ipsi non, &c. Et prædicti Magister et Prior fuerunt attach. per, &c. Ideo ponantur per meliores plegios, quod sint in Crastino Animarum. Et primi, &c.

This Term there fell out this notable Case concerning Bastardy, whether it should be tryed by the Countrey or the Certificate of the Bishop of Bayon in Normandy, where the Marriage was alledged; and resolved it should be by the Bishops Certificate, to be returned into the Kings Court here.

Ibid. Rot. 19. dor. Linc. Rogerus de Nevill petit versus Talebotum de Talebot de Hyltesham unum mess. centum acras terre, quindecim acras prati cum pertin. in Gynnewardely qua Thomas Talebot de eo tenuit, et qua ad prædictum Rogerum reverteri debent tamquam escaeta sua, eo quod prædictus Thomas Bastardus fuit, et obiit sine hærede de se, &c.

Et Talebotus per Attornatum suum venit et dicit, quod prædictus Rogerus nichil clamare potest in prædicto tenem. nomine escaeta; quia dicit, quod prædictus Thomas Talebot non fuit Bastardus, immo, de legitimo Patrimonio procreatus. Et hoc paratus est verificare sicut Curia consideraverit, &c.

Et prædictus Rogerus dicit, quod prædictus Thomas Talebot qui de ipso tenuit prædictum tenem. fuit Bastardus, et obiit sine hærede de se; et quod ita sit, petit quod inquiratur per patriam.

Et prædictus Talebotus dicit, quod huiusmodi inquisitio de Bastardia in hoc casu non spectat ad forum seculare; dicit enim, quod quidam Talebotus pater prædicti Talebot. conversatus fuit in partibus transmarinis, scilicet in Normannia in Episcopatu Bayesensi, et ibi duxit uxorem Johannam nomine, de qua suscitavit prædictum Thomam ex legitimo Patrimonio, et hoc paratus est verificare sicut Curia consideraverit. Ideo mandatum est Episcopo Bayesensi quod diligenter inquirat, utrum prædictus Thomas natus fuit ex legitimo Patrimonio, an Bastardus? Et quid inde inquisierit, scire faciat hic in Oñabz S. Martini, &c. So as the Kings Writ in this Case ran into Normandy in this Age.

Adam de Wymrual optulit se 4. die versus Magistr. Gilbertum de S. Leofordo, et Nicholaum de Rodes; quare prædicti G. tenuit plac. &c. de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt, &c. Et quare prædicti N. secutus est idem plac. &c. Et ipsi non veniunt, &c.

Ibid. Norff. Petrus de Goudre de Kynston optulit se 4. die versus Magistr. Thomam de Shyton Archidiacon. Noting. &c. quare ipse simul cum aliis, Nich. de Fenton Offic. ejus, Hug. de Sutton Decano de Byngnam tenuerunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico scodo ipsius Petr. in Kynston, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et Vic. sit aud. eo quod non respond. de exitibus.

This year there was a notable perpetual League and Confederacy entred into between King Henry of England, and Alphonso King of Castile; against all men of the world, saving their faith to the Church of Rome; which I found in the White Tower.

Et Willielmus & Decanus veniunt et dicunt, quod post Prohibitionem Domini Regis nunquam tenuerunt nec secuti sunt placitum illud; sed verum volunt dicere, quod revera idem Willielmus vendidit eidem Gilberto et cuidam paricipi suo decimas garbarum suarum de Ecclesia sua pro 37 marcis; et quia denarios illos non reddidit ad terminos statutos, ille sicut persona implacitavit eum in Capitulo ante Prohibitionem: Et petit Judicium, si illud potuit facere vel non? Et Gilbertus venit et hoc totum cognoscit, sed dicit, quod reddidit ei prædictos denarios; sed nullam festam inde habet: Et dicit, quod idem Willielmus petit ab eo quandam poenam: Et Willielmus dicit, quod nullam poenam ab eo erigit nec eriget. Et ideo consideratum est, * quod bene licet eidem Willielmo sequi placitum illud in Curia Christianitatis cum sit de Decimis, et prædicto Decano tenere illud. Et Gilbertus in misericordia.

Johanna de Wantcon attachiata fuit ad respondendum Johanni de Meyfy de placito, quare secuta est placitum in Curia Christianitatis de laico feodo ipsius Johannis in Charesend, contra Prohibitionem, &c. Et unde predictus Johannes queritur, quod cum predicta Johanna traxisset ipsum in placitum in Curia Christianitatis coram Magistro Galfrido de Oudbridlegh Offic. Episcopi Wigorn. de laico feodo ipsius Johannis, & idem Johannes die Veneris proximo post festum Translationis beati Thomæ Martyris in Ecclesia Sancti Johannis de Cyrecestr. detulisset ei Regiam Prohibitionem, ne predictum placitum sequeretur; predicta Johanna spreta Prohibitione predicta, secuta est predictum placitum de die in diem versus eum: Ita quod primo fecit ipsum suspendi ab ingressu Ecclesie, et postea excommunicari: Unde dicit, quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valenciam quadraginta librarum. Et inde producit scellam, &c. Et Johanna venit et defendit vim et injuriam quando, &c. Et bene defendit, quod nunquam secuta fuit predictum placitum, contra predictam Prohibitionem. Et hoc parata est defendere sicut Curia consideraverit. Ideo consideratum est, quod vadiet ei legem se 12. man: Et veniat cum lege sua hic crast. &c. Plegii de lege, Richardus Tyril & Thomas de Churchebull de eodem Com. &c. Postea venit predicta Johanna et fecit legem suam. Ideo predicta Johanna inde quiet. et Johannes in misericordia, &c.

By all the premised successive Prohibitions, Attachments, Suits, Proceedings, besides sundry others contained in the Fragments of the decayed Plea-Rolls in the Tower, which I pretermitt, and those printed in * Bracton and † Fitzherbert during the long Reign of King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. it is most apparent, that notwithstanding his over-great compliance with, and connivances at the Usurpations, Exactions of the Popes, and Court of Rome, their Legates, Instruments in sundry particulars, to which he was necessitated to procure their favour, advise, and assistance against the frequent invasions, injuries of the French, and other potent Enemies abroad, and of his undutifull, refractory, rebellious Prelates, Barons at home, invading, undermining the Rights and Prerogatives of his Crown, and to obtain the Realms of Sicily and Apulia for his Son Edmund: yet he with his Parliaments, Judges, and Courts of Justice constantly maintained, asserted his Sovereign Ecclesiastical Prerogative against all Papal and Prelatical usurpations thereon, and the Lawes, Liberties, Properties of his Realms, Subjects in England and Ireland, in the Particulars of greatest moment, and most publick concernment to him and his people.

1. In issuing out frequent Prohibitions to, and Attachments against his Archbishops, Bishops, Archdeacons and other Ecclesiastical Judges, Courts, and likewise to and against the Popes Legates, Delegates, for holding Pleas of any matters, Causes belonging to his Crown, Dignity or Temporal Courts, seising their Temporalities, fining and imprisoning their Persons for their contempts and disobedience to his Prohibitions, Prohibitions, as well as his Lay-subjects: <sup>a</sup> Quia nullum majus crimen, quam contemptus & inobedientia: omnes enim qui in regno sunt (as well Prelates, Clergymen, Popes Legates, as Lay-Lords and Subjects) obedientes esse debent Domino Regi, et ad pacem suam, et cum vocati vel summoniti per Regem venire contempserint, faciunt seipsum exleges, et ideo utlagari deberent, non tamen ad mortem vel membrorum truncationem, cum causa utlagationis criminalis non existat, sed in perpetuam prisonam, vel regni abjuracionem, et communione omnium aliorum qui sunt ad pacem Regis, as Judge Bracton and other the Kings Judges then resolved.

2ly. In summoning all Archbishops, Bishops, Popes Delegates, and other Ecclesiastical Judges, Persons to appear before him and his Judges in his Temporal Courts, in all causes wherein their Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction or usurpations on his Crown were brought in question, as the sole proper Judges thereof, not the Pope or themselves, as well as of all Temporal Jurisdictions, they being both originally vested in and flowing from the King; whence <sup>b</sup> Bracton and his Judges then resolved: In Spiritualibus debet Rex estimare vel Justitarii sui, an sua sit Jurisdictio vel non? Si Juxta Ecclesiasticum falcem ponens in messem alienam aliquid præsumperit contra Coronam et dignitatem Regiam, sicut de laico feodo vel de Catallis, cum Prohibitionem a Rege susceperit, superledere debet in omni casu, saltem donec confiterit in Curia Regis, ad quem pertineat Jurisdictio: quia si Juxta Ecclesiasticus estimare posset an sua esset Jurisdictio, in omni casu indifferenter procederet non obstante Regia Prohibitione. Debet igitur vel omnino superledere, vel cum attachiatus fuerit, venire, vel mittere, quod examinato placito in Curia Regis, de consilio Curie superledeat, vel procedat, quod si non fecerit poena debita puniatur. Since then the King, and his Temporal Courts, Judges who represented his Person, did thus summon Archbishops, Bishops, Popes Delegates, and all other Ecclesiastical Judges personally to appear before them, determine all Causes concerning the extent of their Papal or Ecclesiastical Jurisdictions, restrain, correct their usurpations, excesses, contempts; but they on the contrary could not summon, examine, inhibit the Kings Temporal Courts, Judges, nor excommunicate, interdict them by our Laws for any of their Judgements, Prohibitions, Proceedings, restraining their pretended Church-Liberties, or Ecclesiastical Jurisdictions or Exorbitances, (though they <sup>c</sup> oft-times attempted it by their antimonarchical Canons and Constitutions) they must be acknowledged to be Supreme, and Super-intendent over, not subject or subordinate to them, as well in Ecclesiastical as Temporal Causes and Affairs.

3ly. In summoning, commanding Archbishops, Bishops from time to time by Sheriffs and Writs, not onely to make Certificates to the Kings Courts and Judges in cases of <sup>d</sup> Mairimony and Special Bastardy, but likewise to summon all Deans, Archdeacons, Clerks, Prebends, Ecclesiastical Judges, Persons within their Provinces or Diocesses having Benefices, and no Lay-fees, to appear in the Kings Courts, and bring their Bodies thither by a certain day, to answer all Suites and Complaints there pending against them; when they refused voluntarily to appear upon Summons, especially for prosecuting Plaints, or holding Plea in Ecclesiastical Courts, of Lay-fees, Advowsons, Debts, Chattels, Contracts or Trespasses not belonging to them, against the Kings Prohibitions, in lationem Coronæ et dignitatis nostræ Regis; and seising their Temporalities, attaching, fining and imprisoning their Persons, for wilfull neglects, or contempts in such cases; which <sup>e</sup> Bracton thus more particularly relates as the Law and practice in that Age.

Et Vicecomes mandavit, quod prædictus B. Clericus est, & quod noluit plegios invenire, nec habet laicum feodum per quod potuit distringi; Et ideo mandatum est Ordinario loci, sicut Archiepiscopo, Episcopo, et huiusmodi, quod faciet talem Clericum venire ad talem diem, nisi talis sit, quod forte restatum sit quod talis Clericus habet laicum feodum, & catalla in laico feodo per qua distringi possit. Es Vicecomes per fraudem mandaverit quod nihil haberet, in quo casu, fiat ut supra de fraudibus Vicecom. Sed quid si Clericus præbendam habuerit, laicum feodum scilicet, & noluerit plegios invenire, queritur, an Vicecom. eum distringere possit statim per præbendam: vel si cum præceptum habuerit de attachiando retorum fecerit Ordinario, an Ordinarius distringere possit Canonicum per præbendam suam: videtur quod neuter, nec Vicecomes nec Episcopus; Vicecomes non licet Warrantum habere ingrediendi libertatem sine Episcopo vel alio Ordinario, cum Episcopus sit caput Ecclesie, et Canonici membra. Item, Episcopus per tale retorum, sine speciale præcepto Domini Regis, cum Canonici adeo libere teneant præbendam suam de Ecclesia, sicut ipse Episcopus Baroniam suam, et Canonici sunt quasi unum corpus per se in Ecclesia: Et quamvis Episcopus sit caput Ecclesie, tamen Canonici habent sua bona a bonis Episcopi separata, Et ideo cum Episcopus a Domino Rege speciale mandatum habuerit, ex hoc * incipit habere Jurisdictionem, et coercionem in Præbendis, quasi ordine observato. *Forma Brevis tunc talis est: H. Dei gratia, &c. venerabili in Christo patri B. eadem gratia Episcopo London. salutem: Mandamus vobis quod venire faciatis coram Justiciariis nostris, &c. ad talem diem talem Archidiaconum, vel talem Decanum vel Canonicum ad respondendum C. de tali placito, &c. ut supra. Et tunc addatur hac Clausula: Et unde Vicecomes noster Midd. mandavit præfatis Justiciariis nostris quod prædictus Archidiaconus, vel talis alius qui Clericus est, noluerit plegios invenire, nec habet laicum feodum per quod distringi possit, et habeatis ibi hoc Breve. Teste, &c. Si autem Episcopus nihil fecit ad mandatum Domini Regis, tunc fiat Irrotulatio, sic: A. optulit se quarto die versus B. de placito tali, & B. non venit, & aliàs præceptum fuit Vic. quod attachiaret eum. Et Vic. mandavit quod Clericus fuit, &c. ut supra: et ita quod mandatum fuit Episcopo tali, quod faceret eum venire, et quod mitteret Breve, et ipse nihil inde fecit. Et ideo summoneatur Episcopus quod sit ad talem diem, et ibi habeat prædictum talem ad respondendum prædicto A. quare, &c. Item, Breve originale, et ad ostendendum, quare prædictum B. coram præfatis Justiciariis ad talem diem non habuit sicut ei mandatum fuit. *Forma Brevis talis est: Rex Vicecom. salutem. Summone per bonos Summonitores F. London. Episcopum quod sit coram Justiciariis, &c. ad talem diem, et ibi habeat talem Archidiaconum, vel talem Clericum, ad respondendum tali de placito quare, &c. ut supra. Et in fine, ad ostendendum quare non fecit eum venire coram Justiciariis nostris ad talem diem, sicut ei mandatum fuit, et quare non misit Breve, &c. Ad quem diem aut facit eum venire, aut non facit; si autem non, tunc observabitur solennitas Attachiametorum, sicut in aliis distractionibus, et statim distringatur Episcopus per Baroniam suam, quod sit ad alium diem, et ibi habeat Clericum præfatum ad respondendum, &c. Et summoneat Episcopum quod tunc sit ibi auditurus iudicium suum, quod præfatum Clericum non habuit ad talem diem, &c. sicut ei mandatum fuit, et fiat Irrotulatio sic: A. optulit se quarto die versus B. de tali placito, ut supra. Et B. non venit, & aliàs mandatum fuit Episcopo quod faceret eum venire ad talem diem. Ad quem diem non fecit eum venire, & ita quod præceptum fuit Vicecomiti quod summoneret eum quod esset ad hunc diem, & ibi haberet prædictum B. ad respondendum, &c. Et similiter, quod Episcopus esset ad ostendendum quare non fecit eum venire ad alium diem, sicut ei mandatum fuit. Et Episcopus non venit, nec habuit ipsum B. et ideo distringatur per Baroniam suam, quod sit ad talem diem; et ibi habeat prædictum B. ad respondendum, &c. Et ipse Episcopus sit auditurus iudicium suum de hoc quod ipsum B. &c. *Forma Brevis talis est: Rex Vicecomiti, salutem. Præcipimus tibi, quod distringas F. London. Episcopum per terras suas quas tenet in Baronia in Com. tuo, quod sit coram Justiciariis, &c. ad talem diem, et ibi habeat talem Clericum ad respondendum tali de tali placito, &c. Et similiter ad audiendum iudicium suum de hoc, quod præfatum Clericum non habuit ad talem diem sicut ei mandatum fuit, et habeas, &c. Ad quem diem si non venerit Episcopus nec Clericus, procedatur contra ipsum Clericum de contemptu secundum considerationem Curie, et ne maleficia remaneant neant impunita, apponat Rex manum suam in defectu Episcopi, ita quod Clericus arrestetur et detineatur quousque Episcopus eum petierit ex officio suae jurisdictionis ut ei liberetur, vel ex certa causa detentus remaneat, nec propter hoc Vicecomes nec Ballivi sui poenam incurrant, cum executio juris non habeat insuriam. Episcopus autem et Superiores possunt pro injuria, et pro crimine arrestari. By all which Forms of Legal Process and Proceedings both against our Archbishops, Bishops, and other Clergy-men of inferiour degree in that Age, the Sovereign Jurisdiction of King Henry and his Temporal Courts, and Judges over them as his Ministers, is most perspicuous to all the World.

4ly. This his, and his Courts of Justice Sovereign Jurisdiction over them, was likewise evidenced by several sorts of Writs and Mandates then frequently issued to our Archbishops, Bishops, Ecclesiastical Judges and Ordinaries for several purposes and occasions, commanding them to do and execute, or prohibiting them not to do or perform such or such Actions relating to their Episcopal Jurisdictions or Functions; witness these Writs of Quare impedit, Quare Incumbravit, Quare non Admisit, De Clerico Admittendo, De Copia Libelli deliberanda, De Cautione admittenda, De Assisa Ultima Praesentationis, Cessavit de Cantaria, Ne admittas, De Nonresidentia pro Clericis Regis, De Praesentatione ad Ecclesiam, Praebendam, Capellam, &c. De Revocatione Praesentationis, De Permutatione Beneficiorum, * De Residentia facienda, and other Writs of like nature, whereof there are multitudes (over-tedious to transcribe) in the Clause and Patent Rolls of King Henry the 3d. since printed in Bracton, the Register of Writs, the Old and New Natura Brevium, and Books of Entries; and their punishing them by legal Actions, Attachments, Fines, seizures of their Temporalities, Persons, and Judgements against them, in Temporal Courts for their neglects or contempts therein.

5ly. It most evidently appears by this Kings and his Judges taking no notice of, but rejecting all * Excommunications or other Ecclesiastical Censures denounced against any of his Subjects by the Pope or his Delegates, not allowing them to be certified and pleaded in barre in any of his Courts of Law. By his and his Judges strict Examinations of the Justice and legality of all his Archbishops, Bishops, or other Ecclesiastical Judges Censures, Excommunications denounced against any of his Subjects, causing them to be put in due execution when concluded by him and his Judges to be just, legal; but superseding, * commanding, enforcing them to be repealed, and the Subjects to be absolved from them, yea enlarged out of Prison, if taken by Capias Excommunicatum, when adjudged to be illegal, fraudulent, vexatious, issued against his Prohibitions, or after Appeals, and awarding damages to the Parties injured, for their vexation; as the premised Instances, and these Passages of Henry de Bracton flourishing under him, most clearly demonstrate.

* Competit etiam tenenti exceptio dilatoria, ex persona petentis, eo quod separatus est a communione gentium, propter lepram qua est in anima, ut si fuerit specialiter excommunicatus, quia sicut quis poterit habere lepram in corpore, ita & in anima. Excommunicato enim interdicitur omnis actus legitimus, ita quod agere non potest nec aliquem convenire, licet ipse ab aliis possit conveniri. Qui autem hujusmodi exceptionem apposuerit, oportebit eum habere probationem, quia simplici voci tenentis non erit fides adhibenda, nec etiam cussilibet de populi testimonio, quia oportebit eum qui eripit in hoc casu, habere literas Ordinarii, sicut Archiepiscopi, vel Episcopi, vel alterius Iudicis Ordinarii, vel Delegati, rei veritatem testificantes, quod talis nominatim excommunicatus sit; et ex tali causa: vel si Ordinarius praesens sit, et hoc testificetur viva voce. Fuerit enim vocem interdicti oportet, potius quam audiri; nec solum vox eorum interdicitur, sed si quid ab ipsis fuerit impetratum, firmitatem non obtinebit. Cum excommunicato autem nec orare, nec loqui, nec palam, nec abscondite; nec vinci licet, exceptis quibusdam personis. But was the Bishops and Ordinaries Sentence and Excommunication then conclusive to the Party, King, or Judges, that they might not except against, or examine the reason and legality of it, for the Subjects relief, if injured or grieved by it, without appealing against it to the Archbishop or Pope? No verily, for he subjoyns in the same Chapter, that the Party himself might thus except against it, when pleaded. Item dicere poterit, quod si excommunicatus fui, hoc fuit de facto, quia nulla subivit causa alia, nisi quod Iudici Ecclesiastico obtemperare noluit

(All which particular allegations the Kings Judges were to examine and determine.) In fine vero notandum, quod ubi quis fuerit rite excommunicatus, et in ea pertinacia et excommunicatione pertinaciter perseveraverit per 40. dies, claves Ecclesiæ contemnendo, tunc (ut gladius gladium adjuvet) ad mandatum Episcopi vel ejus Officialis capiatur excommunicatus. Sed nunquam capiatur aliquis ad mandatum Iudicum Delegatorum, et Archidiaconorum, vel alterius Iudicis inferioris; quia Rex in Episcopos coercionem habet propter Baroniam. Cum autem talis capi debeat rationabili de causa, cum Cancellarius literas Episcopi recipit, fiat Breve in hac forma: Rex Vicecomiti, salutem. Significavit nobis venerabilis Pater N. per literas suas patentes, quod talis ob manifestam contumaciam suam excommunicatus est, nec se vult per censuram Ecclesiasticam iusticiare. Quia vero potestas Regia sacrosanctæ Ecclesiæ in suis querellis deesse non habet, (when just) tibi præcipimus, quod prædictum talem per corpus suum (secundum consuetudinem Angliæ) iusticies, donec sacrosanctæ Ecclesiæ tam de contemptu quam de injuria ei illata ab eo fuerit satisfactum. Teste meipso apud Westm. &c. Qui cum captus fuerit & Ecclesiæ satisfecerit, deliberabitur ad mandatum Episcopi per tale Breve. Rex Vicecomiti, salutem. Quia venerabilis Pater talis Episcopus significavit nobis, quod talis quantum ad mandatum suum, vel ad mandatum talis venerabilis Patris talis Episcopi, à te capi, & per totum corpus suum tanquam contemnente[m] claves Ecclesiæ iusticiarii præceperimus, beneficium absolutionis impendit, tibi præcipimus, quod a p[ri]sona nostra qua detinetur, ipsum deliberari facias quietum, &c. Et notandum, quod ad nullius mandatum deliberari debeat, nisi ad mandatum Domini Episcopi; nec antequam ipse mandaverit quod Ecclesiæ sic satisfecerit, nisi captus fuit per fallam suggestionem Ordinarii, vel aliorum Prelatorum, vel si per maliciam Adversarii, ut eum excludat ab actione quam versus eum instituit. (A common practice in that and succeeding Ages, to maintain the usurped Jurisdiction of these Court, and bring much grist to their Mills. To prevent which the King and Judges ordained this remedy:)

* Lib. 5. cap. 11, 12.

Et si ita, tunc fiat tale Breve ad ipsius deliberationem. Rex Vicecomiti, salutem. * Ostensum est nobis ex parte talis, quod cum aliquando appellasset quendam talem in Comitatu tuo de Roberia & hujusmodi, & tibi à nobis præceptum esset, quod talem appellatum attachiaret: Idem appellatus ut ipsum talem appellentem gravaret, et appellum suum annullaret, falso suggestit Episcopo tali, quod idem appellans in quadam excommunicatione perseveraret contumaciter per quadraginta dies et amplius, et ita quod literas ab eodem Episcopo impetravit ad nos directas, quod extenderemus brachiumulare, per cuius deceptionem idem appellans captus est, et in p[ri]sona nostra detentus, ut dicitur. Et quia nemini debet fraus sua patrocinari, tibi præcipimus, quod si prædictus talis appellans fecerit te securum de clamore, &c. tunc pone per vadium, &c. prædictum talem appellatum, quod sit coram, &c. inde responsurus. Et interim facias prædictum talem appellentem deliberari a p[ri]sona nostra, nisi captus fuerit alia occasione quare deliberari non debeat. Teste, &c. Si autem fortè captus non fuerit, et Iudex aliquis maliciose suggererit Episcopo, quod quis excommunicatus fuerit, fiat Breve Vie. de non capiendo talem, ut supra de * prohibitionibus. Besides the Party in such cases, by a Suit at Law against the Prosecutor and Judge, might then recover his full damages for his illegal vexation and imprisonment; and the Prosecutor and Judge be also fined, imprisoned for their usurpations and contempts against the Kings Crown, Dignity, and Writs of Prohibition.

6ly. This King evidenced his Ecclesiastical Sovereignty, by his own, his Nobles, Commons, Parliaments frequent publick oppositions, and Prohibitions, not only against Papal Exortions, Provisions, Innovations, but likewise against all Canons and Constitutions made by Popes, Prelates, Clergy-men in General Councils at Rome or elsewhere abroad; or in National, Provincial or Diocefan Councils or Synods in England, derogatory or prejudicial to the Rights or Prerogatives of for the honour of the Common Laws of England, and the Judges and Professors of it in that Age; Wherein though the Lord Chancellors, Treasurers, with other Chief Officers of State, and sundry of the Judges were Archbishops, Bishops, Popes Legates, and Delegates, by means whereof they much advanced the Popes and their own Jurisdictions by degrees, to the prejudice of the Crown, the Kings Tem-overthrow the Common Laws, and Liberties of the Realm, nor Kings Prerogatives, grounded on, supported by them, and by his Temporal Judges, Nobles, Officers entrusted with their execution; the chief Supporters of him and his Prero-

By this Letter we may clearly discover the hypocritical carriage, dissimulation, and Machiavillian policies of Popes, Legates, Cardinals and Romish Agents in that Age.

Here, p. 92. l. 14. after decimo, this should have been inserted; I likewise found this Bull of Pope Gregory and Otto his Legate to Walter Bishop of Coventry, to absolve his beloved daughters the Nunnes of the Monastery of Cornebury, from the observance of the Hospitalers of Jerusalem, whose Habit they had then taken upon them out of simplicity; and to profess the Rule of Saint Augustine in that Monastery, thereto serve God in it; which was delayed and opposed for five years space by the Hospitalers opposition: whereupon he ordered his Legate upon the Nunnes request to see it executed: this Bull, with Appeals and proceedings thereon I found in the White Tower, in this Instrument.

Hujus igitur auctoritate Mandati discretum Magistrum Petrum de Burdella Clericum nostrum ad prafatum Monasterium de Cornebur. nuper duximus destinandum, qui voluntate Monialium ibidem degentium singulatim et diligentius inquisita, reperuit quod partes duas earund. volunt juxta mandatum Apostolicum beati Augustini Regulam proferre. in ea grata obsequia Domino exhibere, prout tam ex fidei relatione prafati Magistri, quam ex literis inde confectis ipsius Monasterii & fratrum Nunciorum Hereforden. & Wigorn. sigillis munitis dediscimus evidenter. Nos igitur de prudentia vestra obtinentes fiduciam plenioram, Paternitati vestre auctoritate qua fungimur mandamus, quatinus accedentes personaliter ad Monasterium supradictum, & pradictas Sorores quae volunt beati Augustini regulam proferre, ab observantia Divinis Hospital. Jerosolimitani penitus absolventes, post ipsarum habitum depositum, et professionem receptam, concedatis eisdem, ut juxta provisionem summi Pontificis, secundum tam dictam regulam ibi vivere valeant, et dignum Domino reddere famulatum, prafati Hospitalis & cujuslibet alterius in omnibus aliis jure salvo. Contradictores per censuram Ecclesiasticam compescendo. Datum Certeliam, 7. Kal. Novembris, Pontificatus Domini Gregorii Papae 9. anno undecimo.

Hujus igitur auctoritate mandati ad dictum locum de Cornebur. personaliter accedentes, ab omnibus ipsius loci Monialibus propter quam actibus quae post ipsarum voluntatem Magistro P. de Burdella tam viva voce quam literis declarata, ipsas revocaverunt, exceptis etiam duabus quae nunquam consenserunt juxta formam mandati nobis directi, Hospitalariorum habitum deposuimus, & earundem Monialium ad observantiam regulae beati Augustini professione recepta, eis concessimus, ut ibi secundum eandem regulam viverent, et dignum Domino redderent famulatum. Et in testimonium hujus rei tam nostrum quam venerabilis fratris Domini Hereforden. Episcopi, & de Bora, & de Carlym. Abbatum; & de Wurmesleg, & de Ralpet, & de Ewyar Priorum, & Decan. & Praeceptoris Hereford. qui personaliter negotio praedicto interfuerunt huic scripto apposita sunt sigilla. Actum anno gratiae 1237. pridie Non. Novembris.

Dictus etiam Procurator petiit, & respondit hoc modo; petit Procurator Priorissae & Conven. de Cornebur. quod Procurator Hospital. exprimat verum quod suum locum a Dom. Papa pro Sororibus, vel post sententiam & ejectionem a Domino Legat. Sorores de Cornebur. admiserunt quamplures alias Fratribus irrequisitis, nec consentientibus, contra obedienciam eis debitam & professionem eorum emissam, ut idem Procurator dicit; quod si ——— sententiam compet. una defensio si est, competit alia, ——— & ad hoc, quod Procurator Hospital. petit Sorores admissas a domo amoveri, et domum fratribus restitui. (Dicit) Procurator, Priorissae et Conventus, quod hoc fieri non potest propter auctoritatem iudicatis, qua continetur, quod dictae Sorores ibidem vivere debent, et dignum Deo reddere famulatum.

Die Luna Kalend. Martii, Magister Petrus Procurator Hospital. Jerosolim. comparuit contra Dominum W. de Lacy, Priorissae & Conven. de Cornebur. per Magistrum W. de Bacon Procuratorem sufficienter constitutum, comparentes, qui quidem Magister W. ——— cavit sub poena trium Marcarum sterling. pro Domina S. E. de Lacy, quod prox. die litis ratum habebit quod nomine suo faceret, & sufficienter comparebit in causa processura, prout dictaverit ordo juris: cui Procuratori & defensori libell. subscript. & traditi erant sub hac forma. Coram nobis, venerande Pater O. miseratione divina, &c. proponit Procurator Hospital. Jerosolimitan. contra dictum S. E. de Lacy, quod cum domus de Cornebur. cum omnibus ad eam pertinentibus, eis caritative collata fuisset, iidem Hospitalar. quasdam Sorores ordinem ipsorum professas illic admiserunt, & dictae Dominae S. E. de Lacy ad horum instantiam custodiam temporalium domus praedictae concesserint. Sed ipsa E. R. processu temporis ex fide non agendo, ingressum dictae domus eisdem, ut valuit & voluit penitus fecit denegari; ac quasdam ex Sororibus praedictis habitum ipsorum deponere induxit, & quinque ex ipsis habitum deponere nolentibus simul cum fratre eorum Presbytero illic existente nomine eorum abinde recedere coactis, mulieres quamplures eis penitus irrequisitis, illic fecit admitti in eorum prejudicium & gravamen. Petunt igitur mulieres sic admissas abinde penitus amoveri, domumque praedictam cum suis pertinentiis sibi restitui, Custode praedicta taliter versata; adjecta petunt, etiam si placet Fratrem & Sorores praedictas ab nunc ad domum suam restitui, & expensas circa eis factas eis refundi, quas aestimant 10. libr. sterlingorum, hac præfens omni destituta subsidio, & ex destructione præterita magna oppressa Caristia, Babyloniorum est exposita faucibus, ut Soldanus ipse cum (exercitu) copioso totam Provinciam usque ad portas Acon. hostili jam occuparunt insultu, & spiritu superbiz tumidus, vendicare sibi Civitates & Castra in suæ fortitudinis impetu commineatur, treugarum fide quas hætenus cum Christianis interat non servata. In quibus omnibus non est qui redimat, neque qui salvum faciat, nec qui ferat auxilium, nec qui terram miserabilem consoletur ex omnibus caris ejus, circumspicit undique quærens in tribulatione subsidium, & non venit. Jacet obfessa canibus, nec invenit liberantem; Regionem nostram labore multiplici & gravibus ex pensis exultam, in temperamentum Caristia alieni devorant & circumquaque devastant; nec solus sine resistentia exteriorem infideles absorbent propriam — dilato — quam desperato subsidio fiduciam habent, ut in — ipsorum castra influant, & maritimæ civitates maximæ quas cismarinæ Christianitatis paritas minore non sufficit, & contra hostilem frequentiam defensare, quin potius quasi parvus grex in luporum medio constitutus, circumseptus undique ac directus ubique suarum ovium deprædationem eo formidat, immensis quo frequentius prædictorum luporum molestat incurribus & discurrentibus exercitibus agitur. Ut quis igitur, Rex inclite, Regia potentia non consurgit, & Regalis — brachium non insurgit? usquequo exaltabitur contra nos Christiani nominis inimicus? quamdiu terra Christi sanguine rubricata conculcari tam enormiter à bestiis permittetur, quæ sic posset de facili libari & perpetua pace muniri, & in antiquum integritatis statum — de prædictis partibus refarciri? Cum enim aliorum hostium undique sublata formidine Babyloniorum timorem nocumenta supersint, & cæteris quodammodo spinarum aculeis ac fructibus hostilibus dissipatis, Babylonica tamen radice offendiculum habeat — cujus custodiæ tribulationes multimodas & periculosas inquietudines experitur. Ad extirpationem ipsius quam præsentis potissimè temporis opportunitas subministrat, adventus vester diutina oblatione præmissus et anxie ab omnibus expectatus foret necessario festinandus, ut Babylonis nomen, et germen, et progenies, simul et reliquæ perderent. Ne qua de cætero radix hostilis amaritudinis sursum germinans superesset quæ in eradicationem Christiani nominis efferatis animis consurrexit; & jam si radix illa nullis impedita, quod absit, obstaculis germinationem hostium fidei, & virium collectionem diutius permittatur excrecere, tunc pax subveniendi voluntas perficeret ubi foret congrui temporis possibilitas retardata. Meminisse debet magnificentia Regia damna gravia & injurias graviores quas gens Babylonica adversus Christicolarum exercitum pluries intempavit; non quidem ex suo robore, sed aut permissione divina juxta nostrorum & exigentiam prædictorum, aut ex multiplicatione roboris quæ sibi contra Christianitatem ex regnis Saracen, adjacentibus infuebat; mox enim dum contra Babyloniam Christicolæ prævalerent, concurrebat undique infidelis populus infidelitatis suæ undique afferens fulcimentum: sed ubi Baldaca, Mofa, Halapia, & Damascus, opulentissima revera regna — nocissimæ civitates. Ex quibus utique si robur validum accedebat, si confortabantur brachia pessimorum nullus ambigit qui temporis illius supputat rationem, verum Radye H. pessima ramis huius detruncatis quam de facili extirpationi pateat & eradicationi subiaceat leviorum, dicat non — comprobatur manifestum. Proinde Celitudinem Regiam flebilibus vocibus quantum possumus obsecramus in Domino Jesu Christo, quatinus felicem ac potentem vestrum adventum, vel saltem auxilium (quod in prædictæ terræ — defensionem, et confusionem inimicorum crucis Christi suspirantes et anxii expectamus) dignemini, sicut imminens requirit negotium, Crucifigi (amore) maturare, ut nobilissimis Deo auctore temporibus in perenne nominis vestræ præconium, in Terræ sanctæ liberationem et pacem ex Regiæ strenuitatis potentia contra hostes residuos desiderata victoria subsequatur. Valeat Regalis magnificentia per tempora longiora. Dat. Alion. 4. die mensis Aprilis, sexto Indictionis.

Petunt igitur mulieres sic admissas penitus inde amoveri, domumque prædictam cum suis pertinentiis sibi restitui. Petunt etiam Fratrem & Sorores prædictas ab Nuncio ad domum suam restitui. Hæc autem proponunt contra prædictas mulieres alias admittentes, ut si sua credant interesse principaliter, sive secundo pro jure suo proponant & defendant, prout sibi viderint expedire, H. dicentes salvo sibi jure, &c.

BOOK V. CHAP. II.

Containing several Records and Historical Passages, evidencing the Ecclesiastical Supremacy of our renowned King Edward the I. in and over all Persons, Causes Spiritual as well as Temporal, in England, Ireland, and other his Dominions; His Oppositions against Papal, Prelatical Usurpations, Incroachments on the Rights of his Crown, Laws, Subjects Liberties. The Chief Transactions, Bulls, Letters between him and the Popes, Court of Rome, from the beginning of the First, to the end of the Tenth Year of his Reign; With some other particulars of Note, and publick concernment.

After the Death and Funeral of King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>, in the year of our Lord 1272. as some; or 1273. as others compute it; Prince * Edward, his Son, Heir apparent to the Crown of England, being at that time in the Holy Land, toward which he began his Voyage Anno 1269. where he obtained many glorious Victories against the Saracens; who thereupon suborned an Assassin to kill him, under pretext of delivering a Message to him from the Soldan of Babylon, who stabbed him into the body with a poysoned knife, to the hazard of his life: His Nobles notwithstanding his remote absence, wound, uncertainty of his life, and former Feuds between them, his Father and him, were so loyal, as to proclaim him King, and swear Fealty and Allegiance to him as their Sovereign Lord; thus related by Mat. Westmister, Walsingham, and others; † Rege igitur sepulto, sicut mos est Regibus sepeliri, Gilbertus & Johannes, Comites Gloverniæ & Warenniæ, necnon Clerus & populus ad magnum Altare Ecclesiæ Westmonaster. celeriter properarunt, Eadwardo primogenito Regis fidelitatem iurantes, qui si viveret penitus ignorarunt. Agebat enim in remotis partibus transmarinis, contra Christi adversarios bellaturus. Postmodum frater Robertus Kilwardby, with the premised Earls, cum aliis Prælati et regni Proceribus, ad Novum Templum Londini pariter convenerunt, qui Eadwardum absentem Dominum suum legitimum recognoverunt, paternique successorem honoris: & facto Sigillo novo, de assensu Regina matris statuerunt Custodes Regni; & constituerunt fideles ministros & custodes, qui Regis fisco præessent, thesaurum regni ad opus Regis novi ex integro reservarent, & pacem regni fideliter custodirent. Sicque pax novi Regis Eadwardi in cunctis regni finibus proclamatur. The Writs whereby they proclaimed the Kings Peace being not recited in our Historians, I shall here present you with out of the Records in the Tower of London. The first of them were directed to all the Sheriffs of England, to proclaim in their respective Counties; the other to the Kings Chief Justice of Ireland, to be there proclaimed, who with others was authorized likewise to receive the Fealty, as well of all the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Clergy, as Nobles and other Lay-Subjects in Ireland, due unto him as their King and Sovereign Liege Lord.

Venerandæ Dominationi vestræ duxi significandum, quod viri religiosi, de Dore & de Hagenham Abbates, juxta mandatum Domini Regis per vos eis directum, in Octavis Sancti Hilarii personaliter accesserunt ad vadum ultra Montgomeri, obviam Domino L. filio Griffini Principis Wallie, ad accipiendum ab eo, nomine dicti Domini nostri Regis, sacramentum fidelitatis. Quibus associavi quosdam de hominibus Ballivæ meæ; qui apud dictum vadum multum ultra horam nonz adventum dicti Domini L. expectantes; nec ipse venit, nec aliquod mandatum eis direxit. Valeat veneranda Dominatio vestra semper in Domino.

I find also by the same Bundle, that the Sheriff of Cumberland informed the Chancellor, that Ralph Bishop of Carlisle did then hinder his men and tenants within his liberty to take the Oath of Fealty to the King, whereupon he distrained them to come and take it before the Chancellor himself by a certain day, to their great vexation: the Bishop hereupon sent this Letter to the Chancellor, denying the information against him as false and scandalous; desiring that he and his Tenants might take the Oath before the Sheriff, or any others he should appoint to receive it, as they formerly professed to do.

Viro venerabili, & amico suo speciali Domino Waltero de Merton. illustris Regis Angliæ Cancellario; R. permissione divina Karleskensis Ecclesiæ Minister humilis, salutem, & sinceræ dilectionis semper affectum. Vestre dilectioni significandum duximus in hac parte, quod nos præsentia virosum fide dignorum rogari fecimus Sub-vicecomitem suum, ut ipse dictam fidelitatem reciperet ab hominibus nostris: et insuper literatoz rogavimus Dominum Richardum prædictum, et etiam per Milites et alios amicos nostros apud Appelby in Comitatu Westmerlandie, ubi extitit; ut ipse eandem fidelitatem ab hominibus libertatis nostre reciperet, vel a suis recipi præciperet. This Bishop (as it seems by way of revenge) excommunicated the Sheriff in his Ecclesiastical Court without Citation or Articles, upon complaint of the Abbot of Hulmo, for distraining him for Debts due to the King, and executing his Office. Whereupon I find (in the same Bundle of Writs) this memorable Prohibition issued to the Bishop, informing him, that he had no power to question or excommunicate any of the Kings Sheriffs or Officers for doing their Duties, or executing his Commands; in which, if they offended, they were onely responsible to the King, upon complaint; that these Proceedings of his were against the Kings Crown and Dignity, and his Oath of Fealty to the King; commanding him forthwith to absolve him from his Excommunication.

EDWARDUS Dei gratia Rex Anglie, Dominus Hibernie, & Dux Aquitania, venerabili in Christo patri R. eandem gratia Karlesensi Episcopo, salutem. Monstravit nobis dilectus & fidelis noster, Richardus de Crepping Vicecomes noster Karlesensis, graviter conquerendo; Quod, cum nuper distrinxisset Abbatem de Hulmo pro debitis, in quibus nobis tenetur, ac etiam pro aliis quæ ad officium Vicecomitis secundum regni nostri consuetudinem pertinent, quos in ipsum Richardum, ea occasione, ad querimoniam ipsius Abbatis, non citatum nec coram vobis implacitatum, Excommunicationis Sententiam fulminastis. Et quia nobis (si ita est) in facto prædicto multipliciter existat derogatum, præsertim cum (in Culpa vestra) per hoc viam nostre Prohibitioni præcluseritis, quæ in hujusmodi casibus locum habere debet et solet: Nec Vicecomes aut alii Ballivi nostri, pro hiis exequendis, (quo ad debita nostra per præceptum nostrum levanda, aut alia quæ ad officium suum per præceptum nostrum pertinent) in placitum trahi non debeant, aut consueverint in Curia Christianitatis; Vobis districte prohibemus, ne prædictum Vicecomitem per hujusmodi Sententias, aut aliter super hujusmodi executionibus Mandatorum nostrorum, aut aliis quæ ad Officium prædicti Vicecomitis lege et consuetudine regni nostri pertinent, placitum teneatis in Curia Christianitatis. Sententiam Excommunicationis, si quam in ipsum ea occasione tuleritis, revocantes; ne (quod absit) vobis impingi possit vel debeat, quod iura Coronæ et Dignitatis nostre impugnare, contra fidelitatem nobis debitam, intendatis; cum correctio et placita de excessibus Ballivorum nostrorum ad nos et dignitatem nostram debeant et consueverint, secundum regni nostri consuetudinem, pertinere.

The King being acquainted with his Chancellors proceedings, and his impartial Justice in righting his oppressed Subjects in his absence, against the Bishops Usurpations, and others vexations, returned him this Letter of Thanks, commanding and encouraging him to proceed as he had begun, promising to ratifie whatever he

EDWARDUS Dei gratia Rex Anglia, Dominus Hibernia, & Dux Aquitania, Ibidem, nu. 11; dilecto Clerico & Cancellario suo Waltero de Morton, salutem. Hereupon the Chancellor issued forth this Writ in the Kings name to prohibit the injuries and oppressions of Reginald de Gray Justice of Chester, and his Officers, against the Liberties and Customes of the Country, of which the gnerality of the County had often complained, which yet they increased, instead of reforming, notwithstanding former Inhibitions to restrain them.

Nos attendentes, quod ex hiis, si taliter fuerint attemptata, possent de facili dampna gravioza in partibus illis suboriri; et volentes super hiis remedium adhiberi, vobis mandamus firmiter insungentes, quod ab hujusmodi dampnis, contentionibus indebitis, et gravaminibus penitus desistatis; et ipsos, saltem usque adventum nostrum in Anglia, in pace dimittatis; ne animus noster, ea occasione, in dicto adventu nostro ex hujusmodi sollicitudine et reclamazione possit vel debeat in aliquo perturbari. The Kings Peace being thus proclaimed, and justice executed in England and Ireland, all Archbishops, Bishops, and Clergy-men swearing Fealty to the King, as well as the Nobility and Laity; the first thing he and his Council did, was to make a publick Declaration and Protestation against Pope Clement the 4th. his late usurpation; who a little before his Father King Henry's death had by his absolute Papal * Provisions conferred the Bishoprick of Winton on John de Pontiffra, and the Archbishoprick of Canterbury upon Robert Kilwardby, without the Kings precedent license, approbation, or Monks election, contrary to the Kings Prerogative, the antient Rights of his Crown, the Laws of the Realm, and Liberties of the Church; rejecting William de Chilenden (duly elected by the Monks of Canterbury by King Henry's license; whom he approved after their election) when presented to him, without any legal reason by his absolute Papal power, that so he might usurp the disposal of all other Bishopricks in England by these & other former like presidents. These Bishops being thus intruded by the Popes Provisions into these Bishopricks in King Henry's reign, King Edward the 1. and his Council, to prevent the like usurpations for the future, refused to restore the Temporalities to them, before they had made this publick protestation by their Proctors in the Kings name, for the vindication of the Prerogative and rights of his Crown against these Provisions, in the Bishops, Chancellors and sundry others presence, called together for that purpose, in S<sup>t</sup> Stephen's Chappel in Westminster, (where-

In the premised Bundle of Writs and Letters to Walter de Merton the Kings Chancellor, An. 1 Edw. 1. (which I found in the White Tower Chappel) there is this Letter of Pope Clement written to him on behalf of the Archbishop of Canterbury, advanced by his mere provision to that See, which I conceive was only to procure the restitution of his Temporalities.

Suo præcordiali Domino W. de Merton, Domino Regis Cancellario, salutem & sinceræ charitatis affectum. In negotiis venerabilis patris R. Dei gratia Cantuar. Archiepiscopi, quæ habet expedienda coram vobis, volumus et rogamus, quod favorem et gratia uberrime sibi fiat; et quicquid in eisdem favoris feceritis intuitu nostri, gratum habebimus proculdubio et acceptum. Valete. Datum apud Thexedener. 8. Kal. Augusti, Pontificatus nostri anno septimo. Which restitution could not be obtained by the Popes Letter, without the precedent Protestation.

Eborum.

The Abbot of Saint Augustines in Canturbury being duly elected by the Monks, by the precedent License and assent of the Kings Lieutenants in England, repairing to the Popes Court for his confirmation, where he was put to vast expences, (nothing being there obtained without great Bribes and Gifts;) he meeting with King Edward there in his return from the Holy Land, and informing him of his grand expences for his confirmation, the King thereupon sent this Letter from thence to his Vicegerents in England, to grant him Writs to levy such an Ayd from his Tenants towards his Expences as had been formerly used in such Cases, (as he there informed him) and for the Restitution of his Temporalities, as these two Original Writs I found in the Tower, assure us.

EDWARDUS Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, & Dux Aquitaniæ, dilectis & fidelibus suis W. eadem gratia Eboracensi Archiepiscopo, Angliæ Primate, Rogero de Mortuo mari, & Roberto Burnell, salutem. Accedens ad Romanam.

Et ideo vobis mandamus, quod eidem fratri Galfrido Temporalia Abbatis predictae sine dilatione liberetis, una cum omnibus inde perceptis a tempore quo dictus Episcopus dictae Ecclesiae prohibuit de prefato Galfrido, iuxta veram estimationem eorundem perceptorum per vos fideliter faciendam; de quibus idem Abbas nobis ad voluntatem nostram teneatur respondere. In cujus, &c. Dat. &c. apud Cantuar. 18. die Septembris. Anno regni nostri primo.

Et mandatum est omnibus tenentibus de Abbacia predicta, quod eidem Galfrido tanquam Abbati suo, in omnibus quae ad Abbaciam illam pertinent intendentes sint & respondentes. Dat. ut supra.

After the death of Pope Clement the 4th. the See of Rome continuing voyd for two years and ten moneths, by reason of the Cardinals discord about the election of a Successor, at last An. 1272. (after King Henry the 3<sup>d</sup>. his decease) they elected one Theobald Pope, who was with King Edward the First in the Holy Land; as * Mat. Westm. thus stories.

Post mortem Papa Clementis, per duos annos, & decem menses, sedes Apostolica vacans fuit. Igitur Cardinales convenientes in unum, Dominum Theobaldum Archidiaconum Leodicensem, qui commorabatur in transmarinis partibus cum Eadwardo communiter elegerunt. Qui, de sua electione auditis rumoribus, ad Curiam properavit, & summum Sacerdotium est adeptus. De isto dicti fuerant isti versus.

Papatum munus tenet Archidiaconus unus, Quem patrem patrum fecit discordia fratrum.

Prince Edward hearing tydings of his Fathers death, and his being proclaimed King in England, in his return from the Holy Land, repaired to this new Popes Court, his late Chaplain, familiar friend and fellow Souldier; who at his request, (by his meer Papal authority) excommunicated the murderers of his kinsman Henry, son and heir to the King of Germany at Viterbium, and disofficed, disinherited some of them by his Imperious Decree, till they should come personally to Rome to purge, or submit themselves to his absolute Order in all things, as Mat. Westm. and Walsingham thus relate.

† His diebus, cum Eadwardus in Civitate Acon. diuinus expellasset Christianorum & Tartarorum auxilium, eo quod proposuisset per manum validam Saracenos delere, videns se ab utrisque delusum, quia Christiani ad propria recesserunt, & Tartari, qui & Moalli, intestina tyrannide perierunt, dimissis in Acon. stipendiariis, mare transiit, applicans in regno Siciliæ. Cui cum honore Rex Carolus obviam, ipsum deducens usque ad Urbem veterem, in qua Romana Curia residebat. Pater Gregorio, modo Domino, nuper familiari suo, exposuit Eadwardus pericula Terræ sanctæ. Petit postea quod sententialiter condemnaret Aldebrandinum, Commitem dictum le Rus, et Guidonem de Monteforti, qui Henricum primogenitum Regis Alemanniæ cognatum suum in Viterbio funestis gladiis peremerunt, dum Pissarum solemnitis assisteret, in contemptum Ecclesiæ et scandalum nominis Christiani. Papa igitur his commotus protinus propter hos mandavit. Comes Rubeus se purgavit. Dominus Papa Guidonem de Monteforti, tam pro contumacia, quam offensa, anathemate perpetuo condemnavit, et sacrilegii, homicidii, Scarii, et læsæ Majestatis reum pronuntiavit sententialiter, et infamem, ita ut neque condere Testamentum, neque testimonium ferre, neque Praeses, Consul vel Potestas esse poterit Civitatis. Hunc etiam ad omnibus officiis, dignitatibus seu etiam administrationibus civilibus aut publicis, sequestratum et exheredatum usque in quartam generationem decrevit. Quod decretum fuit ab omnibus inviolabiliter observari, quousque idem Guido ad Curiam Romanam advenisset, et se voluntati Patris in omnibus submisisset. Praeterea

In a Bundle of Writs of King Edward the First in the White Tower, in the second year of his Reign, I met with the draught of this Prohibition concerning Tithes of Assarts within the bounds of Wyndeshore Forest, belonging to the King, prohibiting any Suits for them in the Ecclesiastical Court by the Dean and Chapter of Sarum.

Cum Decretum de Assartis factis infra Forestam seu bundas Forestæ nostræ de Wyndeshore sunt de advocacione nostra, et ad nostram pertinere debent collationem, et super perceptione earundem sit querela sive placitum inter vos et Decanum et Capitulum Sarum in Curia Christianitatis motum, cum huiusmodi placita ad Coronam et dignitatem Regiam pertinere noscuntur: Vobis mandamus, quatinus prosecutioni dictæ querelæ seu placiti in Curia Christianitatis supersedeatis omnino usque ad primum Parliamentum nostrum, in quo Parlamento compareatis cum munimentis vestris ad faciendum et recipiendum coram Nobis quod iuris fuerit et rationis. By which it appears, that all the Jurisdiction of Pleas for Tithes originally belonged to the Kings Crown, Dignity, Courts, not to Courts Christian; and even in that Age, the tryals for the right of Tithes of Assarts within the Kings Forests, whereof the King had the advowson and collation, was to be tryed and determined onely before the King in his Parliament, or other Temporal Courts, not in Ecclesiastical. Whereupon the King afterwards issued a Writ to the Constable of Wyndeshore Castle, to sequester these Tithes to his use.

What Bishops and Abbots were this year elected or restored to their Temporalities in Ireland by the Kings special Grace, and dispensed with in some particulars prejudicial to his Prerogative, with a Proviso that it should not turn to his future prejudice nor be drawn into example, these Records will inform us.

I found in the White Tower this Original Bull of Pope Gregory 10. to K. Edw. 1. imploring his royal favor to, and protection of the Lands, goods and person of this Archbishop of Cassal, against suites and oppressions, who had taken up the Cross for the Holy Land (purposely to secure himself from his Debts and Creditors) whom this Pope had taken into his own and St. Peter's protection upon that account.

Gregorius Episcopus, Servus servorum Dei; Charissimo in Christo filio E. Regi Anglia illustri, salutem, & Apostolicam benedictionem. Honori Regio satis addicitur, si ob reverentiam summi Regis (* qui solus habens in regnis hominum potestatem, solus Regibus dat salutem) Ecclesie ac earum Ministri terrenorum Regum ac Principum potentie oportunitis protegantur auxiliis et congrui subsidii præsidio foveantur. Sane venerabilis frater noster Cassalensis Archiepiscopus, zelo fidei ac devotionis accensus, miserabili statui terræ Sanctæ compatiens, signo biblicæ Crucis assumpto, ad ipsius terræ subsidium se accingit; propter quod ipsum quam et Ecclesiam Cassalensem cum omnibus bonis suis quæ impresentiarum obtineret, sub beati Petri et nostræ protectione suscepimus, apud te credimus promoveri, ut tam ipse quam eadem Ecclesia subsidii adiutori subsidio, et Regalis gratiæ subnixi subsidio, abstrahantur ab oppressionibus malebolozum quorumlibet, et ad votivorum prosperitatem successuum dirigantur. Confidenter igitur Celsitudinem tuam requirendam duximus & effectuose rogandam, quatinus eidem Archiepiscopo & Ecclesie pro divina nostra reverentia, sic te reddas affectu benevolens & opere gratiosum, ut idem Archiepiscopus tuo fretus auxilio, tuoque favore sussultus, liberè possit perficere Votum suum, et ipsa Ecclesia nullam incurrat exinde in suis Juribus lesionem, sed oblati potius proficiat incrementis. Et tu per hæc & alia quæ in terris gesseris æternæ vitæ gaudia merearis. Dat. Lugduni 4. Non. Octobris Pontificatus nostri anno tertio.

An. 2 E. 1. In a Fragment of Plea Rolls, or Placita de An. 2 E. 1. Rot. 19. (in the Tower of London) I find these Attachments for contempts on Prohibitions for suits in Court Christian for Goods and Debts that concerned not Testament or Marriage.

Placita 2 E. 1. Rot. 19. Bedf. Ricardus Prior de Bismade attachiatus fuit ad respondend. Johanni de Gisors, &c. de placito, quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Catallis et Debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra prohibitionem, &c. Et unde prædictus Johannes Magister Hospitalis Sancti Johannis Jerusalem in Anglia traxit eos in placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Bismade in Ecclesia Conventuali de Bismade, &c. quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio. Et cum idem Johannes & Stephanus die Veneris in dicta Ecclesia Conventuali detulisset prædicto Priori de Bismade Prohibitionem, &c. prædictus Prior de Bismade super Regia prohibitionem, fecit eum primo suspendi ab ingressu Ecclesiæ, et postea excommunicari, ad dampnum ipsius ad balenciam quadraginta librarum. Et inde producit sectam. Et Prior venit, & defendit vim & injuriam, &c. quod non tenuit placitum contra prædictam prohibitionem: & hoc paratus est verificare prout Curia consideraverit. Ideo consideratum est quod vadit ei legem se 12. manu, &c. a die Sancti Michaelis in 15. dies. Plegii de lege Johannes de Gros, &c. Postea ad diem illum prædicti Johannes de Gisors & Stephanus versus prædictum Priorem veniunt, & ipse non venit. Et ideo consideratum est, quod prædictus Johannes, &c. recuperent dampna sua quadraginta librarum, & Prior in misericordia. Postea venit prædictus Prior in propria persona sua. Inde nichil inde, &c. Et misericordia pardonatur ad instantiam, &c.

Ibidem Rot. 29. Midd. Abbas de Bello loco per Attornatum suum optulit se, &c. quare secutus est placitum in Curia Christianitatis, de catallis et debitis quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, &c. Et ipse non venit, & præceptum fuit Vicecomiti quod attacharet, &c.

Ideo sicut prius præceptum est Vicecomiti, quod attachet eos quod sint, &c.

By these several Attachments and Suits upon Prohibitions we may discern;
1. The Prelates, Clergies, and Ecclesiastical Courts continual, restless Encroachments and Usurpations upon the Kings temporal Jurisdiction, Courts, Rights, Priviledges, Crown, Dignity, and Subjects liberties in the beginning of the reign of King Edward the 1. as well as during the reign of King Henry 3. notwithstanding all former Prohibitions, Attachments, Suits, Complaints and Judgements against them in such cases. 2ly. This Kings and his Judges constant care to obviate, prohibit, suppress, punish these their bold usurpations and encroachments, by Prohibitions and Attachments against the Prosecutors of such Suits, and the Ecclesiastical Judges who held and encouraged them. 3ly. That their Courts and Jurisdiction Ecclesiastical, were then confined only to Chattels and Debts which concerned Matrimony and Testaments, (not to other Chattels, Debts, Advowsons or Freeholds;) which Jurisdiction they enjoyed, not by any Original Archiepiscopal, Episcopal, or Ecclesiastical right inherent in themselves, or derived to them from Christ or his Apostles, (as Popes, Popish Prelates, Canonists, and others most erroneously assert;) but by the mere grant, grace, favour, or connivance of our Kings, and other Christian Emperors, Princes in foreign parts, and that only in their Right, Steeds, Names, as their Deputies, Delegates, and Substitutes.

This is most perspicuously evident; First, by our Saviour Christs own resolution and answer in a case of the same nature, thus recorded to posterity by St. Luke the Evangelist, Lu. 12. 13, 14. And one of the Company said unto him, Master, Speak to my Brother, that he divide the Inheritance with me: And he said unto him, Man, Who made me a Judge or divider over you? By the 12. Apostles and whole Churches determination, Acts 6. 2, 3, 4. Then the 12. (Apostles) called the multitude of the the Disciples unto them and said, It is not reason that we should leave the Word of God and serve Tables; wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you 7. men of good report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint for this business; But we will give our selves continually to prayer, and to the Ministry of the word: And the saying pleased the whole multitude. By St. Pauls positive resolution, 2 Tim. 2. 4. No man that warreth (a spiritual warfare) intangleth himself with the affairs of this life, that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier; compared with 2 Tim. 4. 1, 2, 4, 5. Acts 13. 2. Rom. 1. 1. Mat. 28. 19, 20. Acts 20. 28. to 36. 1 Pet. 5. 1. to 5. 1 Cor. 6. 4, 5. & most Expositors on these Texts.

2ly. By St. Bernards Resolution from the precedent Texts, who wr. t thus to Pope Eugenius, his Scholar; * Putasne hac tempora sustinuerint, si hominibus litigantibus pro terrena hereditate & flagitantibus abs te iudicium, voce Domini tui responderis; O homines, Quis me constituit Iudicem super vos? In quale tu iudicium mox veniris?

&c. Et tamen non monstrabunt puto, qui hoc dicent, ubi aliquando quisquam Apostolorum Iudex sederit hominum, aut dibitor terminorum, aut distributor terrarum. Stetisse denique lego Apostolos iudicandos, sedisse iudicantes non lego. Cui illud, non fuit. Itane imminutor dignitatis servus, si non vult esse major Domino suo?

aut discipulus, si non vult esse major eo, qui se misit? aut filius, si non transgreditur terminos quos posuerunt patres sui? Quis me constituit Iudicem? ita te Dominus & Magister? & eris injuria servo discipuloque, nisi iudices universos? Quidni contemnant iudicare de terrenis possessionibus hominum, qui in celestibus et Angelos iudicabunt? Ergo in criminibus, non in possessionibus potestas vestra: quoniam propter illa, et non propter has accepistis claves regni Caelorum, Præbaricatores ut excludatur, non Possessores. Quam tibi major videtur & dignitas & potestas, dimittendi peccata, an prædia dividendi? Sed non est comparatio. Habent hæc infirma et terrena Iudices suos, Reges et Principes terræ. Quid fines alienos inbaditis? Quid falcem vestram in alienam messem extenditis? Non quia indigni eos, sed quia indignum vobis talibus insistere, quippe potioribus occupatis. The very same is likewise asserted by most antient and modern Commentators and Expositors on St. Luke, ch. 12. v. 13, 14. Yea by * Johannes Ferus in his Commentary on St. Matthews Gospel, lib. 3. cap. 16. on these words of Christ to Peter, Tibi dabo claves regni cælorum; who from thence, and St. Bernards premised passages concludes, That neither St. Peter, nor the Pope himself hath any Temporal Monarchy, Iudicature, or Jurisdiction, in or ober any Temporal possessions or affairs, to divide, distribute any Temporal estates, goods or chattels, by any Divine or Ecclesiastical right: Therefore no other Apostle, Bishop, or Ecclesiastical person whatsoever can pretend thereto.

3ly. It is undeniable; That the Jurisdiction, Probate, Conusance, Judicature of all Wills, Testaments concerning Lands or Goods, together with the disposition and administration of all Intestates Goods, Chattels, Debts, & all causes concerning them, or Matrimony, antiently belonged to Emperors, Kings, Princes Temporal Courts, Jurisdctions, & Judges alone, (not to Bishops) who made many Laws, Constitutions, Rescripts, Judgements and Resolutions concerning them, collected and recorded by the Emperor Justinian, Codicis lib. 1. Tit. 7. De Episcopali audientia, lib. 3. Tit. 28. De inofficioso Testamento, Tit. 29. De inofficiosis Donationibus, lib. 6. Tit. 21. De Testamento Militis. Tit. 22. Qui Testamenta facere possunt vel non possunt. Tit. 23. De Testamentis, & quemadmodum Testamenta ordinantur. Tit. 24. De heredibus instituendis, Tit. 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33. & Tit. 34. Si quis aliquem testari prohibuerit vel coegerit. Tit. 36. De Codicillis. Tit. 37. De Legatis. Tit. 39. Si omissa sit causa Testamenti. Tit. 41. De his quæ pæna nomine in Testamentis vel Codicillis scribuntur: Tit. 42, 43. De fidei commissis, & Legatis. & Tit. 44. to 61. Lib. 5. Tit. 1. De Sponsalibus & Arris sponsaliciis. Tit. 3. De Donationibus ante Nuptias, vel propter Nuptias, & Sponsalitiis. Tit. 4. De Nuptiis. Tit. 5. De Incestis & inuitilibus Nuptiis. Tit. 6. De Interdicto Matrimonio inter pupillam & tutorem, seu curatorem, filiisque eorum, & Tit. 7. to 40. By several Imperial Lawes, Edicts and Judgements to the same purpose in Codice Theodosii. In Legis Wisigothor. l. 3. Tit. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. lib. 4. Tit. 2. & 5. lib. 5. Tit. 2. lib. 7. Tit. 5. Lex 4, 5. Edictum Theodoricis Regis, cap. 20. to 40. & 72. Leges Burgundiorum, Tit. 43. 60. Leges Longobardorum 1. Tit. 14. Lex 13. Lib. 2. Tit. 18. Leges Neapol. lib. 3. Tit. 40.

An. 2 E. 1. Leges Anglorum, Tit. 13. Capitalia Caroli Magni & Ludovici, Lib. 7. Tit. 246, 247. registred in Frid. Lindebrogius his Codex Legum Antiquarum, where you may peruse them: And by Sir John Davis his Irish Reports, fol. 52. where it is resolved, That all Causes, as well of Patrimony as of Testament, were Civil Causes, and appertained to the Jurisdiction of the Civil Magistrate, as is well known to all Civililians, until Christian Emperors and Kings, to do honoz to Prelates and Clergy-men, granted or allowed them cognisance or Jurisdiction of such causes, cum non fuit sic ab initio.

4ly. That Bishops, Ordinaries, Ecclesiastical persons, Courts, both in forraign parts and our own Realm, obtained the Conusance, Jurisdiction of all Testamentary Charters, Debts, Cases, and Probates of Testaments, and also of Matrimony, by the grant of Princes, and consent of our Kings and Nobles in Parliament, or else by Custom, connivance, or gradual insensible usurpations on the rights and prerogatives of the Crown, is evident not only by the last recited Laws, Authorities, but confessed by Osborn the Popes Legate, by Boniface, and John Strasford Archbys of Canterbury in their Constitutions, and by * Will. Lyndwode himself, our greatest Canonist, in his Gloss on Archbishop Strasford his Constitutions, De Testamentis: where he propounds and resolves this question; Sed possit quæri, unde provenit hæc libertas (Ecclesie) quoad casum nostrum (de Testamentis?) Videtur namque quoad primum, quod Ecclesia non haberet se intromittere de tali approbatione Testamentorum, sed potius pertineret ad Iudices Laicos, ut in L. consulta distalia, &c. Dic, quod hæc libertas quoad approbationem hujusmodi (Testamentorum) fundatur super consensu Regio et suorum Procerum in talibus ab antiquo concessio. Item, super consuetudine in ea parte de scientia Regum Angliæ diutius conservata.

5ly. Sir * Edward Cooke and our other Judges resolved in Hensloes Case Trin. 42 Eliz. and before that, in the Tear-Books of 2 R. 2. Fitz. Testament 4. 11 H. 7. f. 12. b. Brooke Administrator 50. & Testament 271. That the Probate and Conusance of Wills and Testaments did not anciently, but of late times belong to the Spiritual Courts within this Realm, and that not by the Spiritual Law, but by the consent of the King and Nobles; the Temporal Lords in all other Countries except England, and the Lords of Manors in many places of England, having till this day the probate of Wills by Custom and Prescription. In what particular year, or by what Kings particular grant our English Bishops, Ordinaries, and Spiritual Courts first obtained this new Jurisdiction of proving, disproving, and holding Plea of mens Wills, Testaments, and matters contained in or relating to them, I cannot positively determine, but I conjecture they began after the reign of King William the Conqueror, and his Sons, in the reign of King Henry the 2. That which induceth me hereunto, is this passage in Ranulphus de Glanvilla, Tractatus de Legibus & Consuetudinibus Regni Angliæ, lib. 7. where after he had treated of the manner of making Testaments, c. 5. & 6. Debet autem Testamentum fieri coram duobus vel pluribus viris legitimis Clericis, vel Laicis, & talibus qui testes inde fieri possunt idonei, &c. (which this King H. 2. likewise * settled for a Law in Ireland, in the Council of Cassal, An. 1172. c. 6.) He thus begins his 8. Chapter. Si quis autem auctoritate hujus brevis conventus aliquid dixerit contra Testamentum, scilicet, quod non fuit rationabiliter factum, vel, quod res petita non fuerit ita ut dicitur legata, tunc quidem placitum illud in Curia Christianitatis audiri debet et terminari: Quia placita de Testamento coram Iudice Ecclesiastico fieri debent, et per illos qui Testamento interfuerunt testimonia, secundum iuris ordinem terminari. Which being the first authority I meet with concerning the Jurisdiction of Ecclesiastical Courts in cases of Testaments, and questions arising on them; whereof I finde no mention in any of our ancient Saxon, Danish, Norman Kings Lawes or Constitutions, nor in the Lawes or Charters of King Henry the 1. or King Stephen, I thereupon conjecture, that King Henry the 2. by some Charter or Condescension first granted them this Jurisdiction; And that upon this account, because most mens [1] Wills and Testaments in that age were written and attested by Priests and Clergymen, when they came to visit them in their sick beds, (few others being then able to read or write) and all Clergymen being [2] prohibited by the Canons and Constitutions of Pope Honorius, Eugenius the 2. and Alexander the 3. in the Council of Latran under him, Anno 1180, before Glanvil vil writ his Book, or was made chief Justice, (viz. [3] Anno 1181, or 1194. Anno 2 E. 1. as others compute) to take any Oath, or give Testimony upon Oath before any Secular Judges or Court in any Criminal or Civil Cause, without the Popes or their Bishops [4] special license; thereupon they obtained this Jurisdiction of Probate of Wills, and all causes, goods concerning them, from King Henry 2. at or about the time he purged himself from the murder of Thomas Becket, and quitted much of his antient Sovereign Regal Jurisdiction to the Pope and English Prelates, to purchase his peace from their vexations and Censures.

6ly. This point was likewise thus unanimously resolved by our Judges in Ireland, in Sir J. Davis his Irish Reports, The Case of Trial of Legitimacy and Bastardy, f. 51, 52. Our Kings of England though they (of later times) granted or permitted their Bishops & Ecclesiastical Courts to have Consuance & Jurisdiction of Causes of Matrimony and Testament; yet they alwayes had and reserved a Superintendency and Jurisdiction to direct and regulate their proceedings therein by the rules of the Common Law, and to restrain and correct their proceedings if extravagant or illegal, by their Writs and Prohibitions directed to Bishops and Ordinaries, and by Attachments and Consultations, extant in all ages in our Records and Law-books.

In the Book stiled Regia Majestas, or the Statutes of Scotland, collected by John Skene, printed at Edinburgh, An. 1609. dedicated to King James, Book 1. ch. 2. Causas pertaining to the Kirk, Sect. 1. & 6. there is this clause, The Pley of Douries and Testaments pertains to the Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction. And l. 6. c. 36. Of Testaments; & ch. 37, 38, 39. Of the Division of any gudes on ane Testaments, of Witnesses and Executors, Payment of Debts approved by the Testator, I finde sundry Laws concerning Testaments, which lie in his Margin, and Sir Henry Spelman in his Concils, Tom. 2. p. 37. attribute to Malcolm the 2. King of Scotland in the year of our Lord 1130. in the reign of our King Henry the 1. But these pretended Lawes are transcribed verbatim out of Glanvil and Magna Charta, by Mr. Skene, who quotes Glanvil in his Margin; and so is his Law of Intestates goods, which he attributes to William King of Scots, Anno Dom. 1165. ch. 22. as his quotation of Glanvil to it clearly manifests; the Scots Kings deriving sundry of their Laws from our English Kings as their Supream Lords, to whom they did homage and swore fealty, not our English Kings from them. This Jurisdiction in the probates and cases of Testaments and last Wills derived from our Kings, our Ecclesiastical Courts, Judges, have for the most part enjoyed ever since King Henry the 2. his reign, but not before, for ought appears.

But though they then obtained this Jurisdiction in cases of Matrimony, Testaments, Wills, Legacies, Testators Debts and Chattels, yet neither before, then, nor for many years after, did they receive or enjoy any legal Jurisdiction over the Chattels, Goods, or Debts of persons dying intestate, especially Laymens.

The first Law extant which seems to ordain ought concerning Intestates Goods, is this, in the last Classis of our [5] King Edmunds Laws, An. Dom. 944. De Sponsalibus contrahendis, c. 4. Si quis virginem vel viduam ducere velit, & hoc illi placeat & amicis suis, &c. Postea dicat Sponsus, quia bonorum parte uxorem donat, præter hanc quam ex ejus beneplacito ipsa prius coaptaverat: Et quid ei destinat si supervixerit ipsum. Si sic quoque eveniat, tunc justum est, ut ipsa habeat dimidiam partem omnium bonorum, et si prolem inter se susceperint, integritatem ipsam donec transeat ad secundas nuptias; whether he made a Will or died intestate, as some expound it. But this Constitution seems to be only by vertue of the husbands præcontract at the espousals, to which this recited Law relates, and not by this or any precedent Law or Custom of the Realm touching Intestates goods, of which I can find no mention or footsteps in any of our old Saxon Kings Lawes or Constitutions.

The first Expresse Law now extant made in this our Realm concerning Intestates Goods, is that of King Edward the Confessor, (which Sir Henry Spelman conceives not to be first made and introduced by him, sed Antecessorum suorum legibus (præsertim Regis Canuti, ut animadvertit Malmesburius) ducta plerumq; stiled, Leges S. Edwardi Regis, quas in Anglia tenuit, id est, observavit, non quas tulit, hoc est, instituit) viz. cap. 5. De intestatorum bonis, (promulged about the year of Christ 1056.) Si quis intestatus obierit, libertusque hæreditatem (to wit, his Goods and Chattels) æqualiter dividant; yet with a salvo of the Wives portion, as some conjecture.

K. Edward 1. An Exact History of Popes Intollerable Usurpations, B. 5. ch. 1.

An. 1 E.1. conjecture. This Law was afterwards inserted verbatim into the Lawes of King William the Conqueror, Lex 36. published by Mr. <sup>b</sup> Selden out of the Copy of Abbot Ingulphus, and into the Charter of King Henry the 1. Upon which Law (thus ratified both by the Confessor and Conqueror) the antient Writs De rationabili parte bonorum, extant <sup>c</sup> in Glanvill, <sup>d</sup> Bracton, <sup>e</sup> Fleta, the <sup>f</sup> Register of Writs, and <sup>g</sup> other Lawbooks (in common use in the Reigns of King Henry the 2. and his successors) were originally grounded. From whence it is most irrefragably evident, that both before and during the Reigns of King Edward the Confessor, William the Conqueror, William Rufus, (and likewise of King Henry 1. and 2. Richard the 1. King John, and Henry the 3d. as I have <sup>h</sup> elsewhere proved) the Bishops, Ordinaries, and Ecclesiastical Judges of this Realm had no legal power at all to distribute or dispose of the Goods, Chattels or Debts of those who dyed Intestate, but only their Children, and Kinred; or the King, or Lords of whom they held their lands.

This Law of the Confessor and Conqueror was grounded on, and transcribed out of the Law of the Twelve Tables, the Lawes of the Roman Emperors Severus, Antoninus, Dioclesian, Maximianus, Valentinianus, Theodosius, Justinianus, and others made and used among the Romans, recorded by Justinian, Codicis lib. 6. Tit. 54. De legitimis liberis, & ex filia nepotibus ab Intestato venientibus; Tit. 57. de legitimis Hæredibus; Tit. 59. De bonis maternis & materni generis; which enacted, that the Goods and Estates of persons dying intestate should be equally shared, and divided between their Children, Nephews, and those of the same stock. But if they died intestate without Children or lawfull Heirs; that then they should usually accrue to the publike Treasury; unless in cases of Mariners, Souldiers, Military Officers, Courtiers, and some sort of Artificers; whose Goods and Estates by the Lawes of the Emperors Constantine, Theodosius, and Valentinian, (made out of special favour to them) were to remain so, and be distributed if they died Intestate without Children or heirs, among their fellow Souldiers, Officers, Courtiers, Artificers, for their better encouragement.

The like Laws I meet with among the antient Laws of the Wisigoths, made by King Euricus about the year 504. Si pater vel mater Intestatus discesserint, tunc sorores cum fratribus in omni parentum facultate absque alio abjectu, aequali divisione succedant.

In hereditate illius qui moritur, si intestatus discesserit, filii primi sunt. Si filii defuncti, nepotibus debetur hereditas. Si nec nepotes fuerint, pronepotes ad hereditatem vocantur. Si vero qui moritur, nec filios nec nepotes, seu patrem vel matrem reliquit, tunc avus aut avia hereditatem sibi vindicabit.

Quando supradicta persona defuncta, qua aut de superiori aut inferiori genere discreto ordine veniunt, tunc illa persona qua sunt à latere constituta requirantur, ut hereditatem accipiant defuncti, qui intestatus discesserit. Nam illa persona qua sunt à longioribus constituta, nihil se existiment illis prioribus posse repetere.

Qui fratres tantummodo & Sorores reliquit, in ejus hereditate fratres & sorores aequaliter succedant. Si tamen unus patris & matris filii esse videantur. Nam si de alio patre vel de alia matre alii esse noscuntur, unusquisque fratris sui aut sororis, qui ex uno patre aut ex una matre sunt geniti, sequantur hereditatem. Filii tamen qui ex diversis patribus & una matre sunt geniti ad accipiendam maternam facultatem aequali successione deveniant. Similiter quoque hii, qui de diversis matribus sed uno patre oriuntur, divisionis ordinem teneant.

Agreeing with these Laws I finde the <sup>1</sup> Edict of Theodoricus King of Italy, cap. 22. 24. Si quis intestatus mortuus fuerit, si ad ejus successionem veniat qui inter agnatos atque cognatos gradum vel titulum proximum invenitur, Salvo jure liberorum ac nepotum. Fiscus tunc agat, quando nec parentum, nec filiorum, nec nepotum, nec agnatorum, nec cognatorum, nec uxoris & mariti, quæ succedat extare comperitur persona, secundum veterum constituta.

Since then these antient Laws not only of the Pagan, but Christian Roman Emperors & Kings of the Wisigoths and Italians, out of which the Confessors and our other Laws concerning Intestates Goods and Estates were derived or transcribed, did thus expressly distribute them to their Children and Kinred, or for want of such to the publique Exchequer, or other persons, and not leave them to the arbitrary distributions or administrations of their Bishops, or other Ecclesiastical Persons or Courts; no doubt our antient Kings and Laws, (from King Edward the Confessor, even to King Edward the 1. after the Conquest) did the like, especially in the cases of Laymen. And although the aforesaid <sup>m</sup> Laws of the Wifigoths, lib. 4. tit. 2. Lex 12. enacted in the case of intestate Clergy-men, Monks and Nuns; Clerici, vel Monachi, sive Sanctimonialiter, qui usque ad septimum gradum non reliquerint heredes, & sic moriantur, ut nihil de facultatibus suis ordinent, Ecclesia sibi cui deferbirent, (not the Bishop or Ordinary) eorum substantiam vindicabit; Wherewith this <sup>n</sup> Edict of Theodoric King of Italy accords; Clericos religiosasq; personas intestatas deficientes, quotiens defuerit qui jure succedat, locum Ecclesie suae secundum leges satere debere precipimus; yet neither of them gives the least power to Bishops or Ordinaries to distribute any of them to pious, or retain them to their own uses. By what Law of our Realm, or lawful Jurisdiction, any of our Bishops, Ordinaries, or their Officers can then either claim or exercise authority to distribute any intestate Temporal or Ecclesiastical persons goods to pious or other uses in this age, I cannot discern.

a Matthew Westminster renders us this Account of the Proceedings in this Council, and of the Greek Emperors, Patriarchs, and Bishops acknowledgement of the Supremacy of the Pope and Church of Rome over all other Prelates and Churches, as an Article of their Faith, Creed, which they never before assented to.

Anno Gratia 1274. Kalend. Maii, sub Papa Gregorio decimo, apud Lugdunum fuit Concilium maximum celebratum, quod a Kalend. prædictis, usque ad 16 Kalendas Augusti duravit. In hoc Concilio Dominus Papa Eadwardum commendavit omnibus, dicens, Terram Sanctam fuisse deperditam, nisi venisset citius ad eandem. In hoc Concilio Papa statuit, quod subsequentes septem annos de cunctis convenientibus Ecclesiasticis in subsidium Terræ Sanctæ Decimæ solberentur. In hoc etiam Concilio de conversione Gracorum, post schisma, lætitia magna fuit. Qui Graci literas auro bullatas cum literis Prælatorum de Gracia attulerunt ad Concilium, quarum tenor sequitur.

The Pontificians then, and ever since have much triumphed in these public acknowledgements and submissions of this Greek Emperor, and the Patriarchs, Bishops, Clergy, Churches of Greece, to the Primacy of the Popes and Church of Rome, which they could never before inforce, or induce them to acknowledge or submit to: But if they will seriously consider, 1. The great probability that these Epistles were meer forgeries, as the barbarousnes of their stile, the names of the Patriarch, Bishops Sees, and other Historians pretermision of them, import. 2ly. That the submission of the Emperor and Greeks therein made, was not voluntary; But 1. By urgent necessities extorted from the Emperor himself. 2ly. That he used great violence to enforce his Bishops and Clergy to submit unto it. 3ly. That the Patriarch of Constantinople, and other Greek Prelates, Clergymen, Nobles, Magistrates, and the People stoutly opposed it, and that it produced great Schisms in that Church and Empire. 4ly. That the Emperor was forced to make sundry Apologies to them thereupon, that it was done only out of necessity, and policy, to avoyd present dangers threatening both that Church, Empire, and Constantinople it self, without any prejudice to the Greek Church for the future; not upon any real grounds of conscience, piety, or verity: upon all these considerations, this submission will be no advantage at all to the Pontifician Cause or Primacy; the verity whereof

this passage of * Nicephorus Gregoras, a famous Greek Historian flourishing in that age, most clearly discovers. *Proinde tot difficultatibus circumbentibus Imperator Palæologus, pene ad desperationem compulsus, Legatos ad Papam mittit, de inuenda heteris et nobæ Romæ Ecclesiarum concordia, modo * Caroli expeditionem abertteret. Ea Legatio à Pontifice benigne audita est: ea se facile, quæ Imperator petisset, confecturum esse * pollicito. Stansque suos Legatos illis adiungit, qui concordiam conciliarent atque amplecterentur. Cujus hæc tria capita fuerunt. Primum, ut in sacrorum velaminum hymnodis, Pæpæ cum quatuor Patriarchis mentio fieret. Alterum, ut liceret cuivis Romam veterem, quæ Curia major & perfectior esset, appellare. Tertium, ut illi Principatus in omnibus deferretur. De appendice vero sacri Symboli, quam illi novarunt, aut alio quovis argumento, tum nulla acrior contentio incidit: sed (quod ad eas quidem res attinebat) pacata & tranquilla fuerunt omnia. At Patriarcha Josephus, ea concordia repudiata, sede sua cessit: nec multo post, relicta urbe, se in Archistrategi Monasterium ad Bosphorum contulit, ubi reliquum ætatis tranquillo & religioso otio exigeret. His rebus Sacerdotum collegium concitatum, haud obscure ferebat, se non esse quieturum: plebemque ab Imperatoris illa concordia rebocabat, Partizii et Cozonarum tempus esse clamitans; ita ut magnus inde tumultus excitaretur, atque in atrocem tempestatem erumperet: & Imperator externis negotiis velicis, omne suum studium ad res domesticas transferre cogeretur, urbana pericula externis graviora ratus. Erant enim non pauci & Magistratus etiam, qui decretis illius acriter adbererentur. In eas igitur redactus angustias, duas sibi patere vias arbitratus, summa necessitate nihil tertium admittente in presentia: ut aut omnes sibi assentirentur, aut hostium loco haberentur, Quamobrem adversariorum animos, principio verborum blanditiis, et comitate morum conciliare sibi, et obnoxias reddere studebat: captam eam esse rem, nullo studio nobilitatis, sed propter difficultates temporum. Esse autem prudentiæ, impendentes præcavere calamitates: et si quid ad grabioza mala abertenda nobandum sit, non esse contandum. Si enim hostes adventarent, urbe adhuc multis in partibus lacerata, modoque instaurata, & velut à multiplici dudum morte reviviscente, presentia mala graviora futura superioribus; ac dominos fore hostes, non tantum sacrorum, sed omnium simul, liberum, conjugum, & rerum: quorum domini vi abrepti, libertate cum servitute commutata, non corporibus tantum, sed animis etiam hostium sequi voluntates cogerentur. Id etiam reliquum fore, ne quis mores partios ac vetera instituta tueretur; immo ut sacra leges et sanctiones expeditissime et depraverentur et eborterentur. Quæ cum ipse prævideret, necessitati parere haud recusasset: exiguusque damnum, quod prudentiæ munus sit, magno emolumento potuisset: minoraque* legationes, custodix, excommunicationes, flagra, mutilationes, omnia denique quibus bi-rosum fortium et mollium animi expleantur. Ac quorum studium cognitione regebatur, (qui pauci erant) ii magnis et fortibus animis omnia libenter tolerabant et perpetiebantur, quæ potestas Imperatoris inferebat. Maxima vero pars veri judi-cii expers, sæx plebs, et circumfozanea turba, semper nobis rebus gaudens, asperis belut in scena pallis induti, ubique terrarum sparsim et passim bagati sunt, ubi Christianos esse audierunt: in Peloponeso (inquam) Achaia, et Thessalia, et Colchide, ubique denique gentium extra ditionem Imperatoris: neque universalem pacem conferre volentes; neque inter sese: sed aliis aliis nominibus ascriptis, partim Arsenii aut Josephi Patriarcha festam profutendo, partim alia jactitando, tempus terebant; plerique et decipientes et decepti. Nec enim deerant, qui oracula in vicis & urbibus, quasi modo à Dei conspectu reversi, cantarent: nec post Ecclesia instauratio-nem, vita ratione mutata. This was the sad issue of this Emperors compliance with the Pope and Church of Rome, soon after generally disavowed by the Greek Church and Prelates.

Inter alios, qui nolbant concedere, Magister Richardus de Peccham, Decanus

Statimque Papa pæbavit eum ab omni beneficio, (such was his tyrannical Papal

In quo Statuta Ann<sup>o</sup> 3 E. 1. multa ad utilitatem Regni fuerunt publicata, inter qua Judæis fuit interdicta extranara licentia usurandis. Et, ut possent a Christianis discerni, præcepit Rex, quod ad instar tabularum, ad unius palmæ longitudinem, signa ferrent in exterioribus indumentis.*

In this Parliament (not in 18 E. 1. as <sup>a</sup> Sir Edward Coke very confidently affirms) against this Historians Testimony, the expresse Records of Claus. 4 E. 1. m. 8, 11. and other Authorities, this Statutum de Judaismo, against the Jews usury was made for the honour of God, and a voiding of many sins arising from it, by the piety of the King. Pur ceo qe le Roy ad vieu qe mults des males & disberisons des prebes hommes de sa terre font avenus par les Usuriers qe les Jetoies ont fait en arere, et que mults des peches ent ouint surs de ceo, mesque luy & ses anne' eyent grand pren de la Jewrie tout en ceo en arerement, pur quant en le honour de Dieu, et pur le common pren del poeple ordeine le Roy est establie, que null' Jeto desormes ne püss riena Usur p sur les terres, rents, ne sur autres choses, et qe null' Usurp ne curge de Seint Edward prochainement passe en abant, mes qe les Cobenantz abant faitz soient tenus sabs, qe les Usurers mes cessent.

Besides this particular Law, there were many excellent usefull Statutes made in this first Parliament of his, as the Laws themselves well known to all Common Lawyers, and Sir <sup>a</sup> Edward Cookes Commentary on them in his second Institutes sufficiently evidence: I shall only present you with the Prologue, and some few of his Lawes relating to the Priviledges and Jurisdiction of the Clergy, controlling some Canons of the Pope formerly used, to the obstruction of publike justice, proper to my History.

These be the Acts of Kyng Edward, sonne to Kyng Henry, made at Westminster at his first Parliament generall after his Coronation, on the Manday of Easter U. 3 E. 1. the 3. year of his Reign, by his counsell, and by the assent of Archebishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priours, Clerges, Barons, and all the Commynalty of the Realme, being thither summoned; because our Soberayne Lord the King had great zeal and desire to redress the State of the Realme in such things as required amendment, for the common profit of holy Church, and of the Realme. And because the state of holy Church had been evill kept, and the Prelates and Religious Persons of the Land greved many wayes, and the people othertwise intreated then they ought to be, and the peace lesse kept, and the Lawes lesse used, and the offendours lesse punished, then they ought to be, by reason whereof the people of the Land lesse feared to offend; the Kyng hath ordained and established these Acts under-written, which he intendeth to be necessary and profitable to the whole Realme. From which Prologue I shall observe: 1. That this King esteemed it a principal part of his Kingly office, to promote the common welfare of, and redresse and reform the grievances in and of the Church, as well as in and of the State and Realm of England; and that by advise of his Lords and Commons, as well as of his Bishops, Prelates and Clergy, in his high Court of Parliament, not in a Convocation. 2ly. That when Prelates, Clergymen, and their Officers grieve and intreat the Subjects otherwise then they ought, they may without scandal be complained of in Parliaments, as well as Temporal Officers, who grieve, or evil intreat them or the Kings Lay-Subjects. 3ly. That it is an ancient proper Right of our Kings and Parliaments to take diligent notice of, and make Lawes to reform all abuses and oppressions, as well of and in the Church as Civil State, and that in the first place.

Chap. 1. First the Kyng willeth and commandeth, that the peace of holpe Church and of the Land be well kept, and maintained in all points. And that common right be done to all, as well poore as ryche, without respect of persons. And because that Abbots, and the Religious of the Land have been overcharged and so greved by the resort of great men and other, so that their Goods have not been sufficient for themselves, whereby they have been greatly hindered and impoverishd, that they cannot maintain themselves, nor such Charity, as they have been accustomed to doe. It is provided, that none shall come to eat or lodge in any house of Religion of any others foundation then of his own, at the costs of the house; unless he be required by the Governour of the house before his comming thither: And that none of his own costs, shal entre and come to lye there against the will of them

Anno 3 E. 1. that be of the house. And by this Statute the King entendeth not, that the grace of hospitality should be withdrawn from such as need, nor that the Founders of such Monasteries should overcharge or greve them by their often comynge. It is provided also, that none high nor low, by colour of kindred, affinity, or allyance, or by any other occasion, shall course in any Parke, nor Fysh in any Pond, nor come to eat, or lodge in the house or Mannour of a Prelate, or any other Religious person, against the will of the Lord or his Bailiffe, neither at the cost of the Lord nor at his own. And if he come in, or enter with the good will or against the will of the Lord or his Bailiffe, he shall cause no doore, locke, nor wyndowe, nor nothing that is shutte, to be opened or broken by himself or any other, nor no manner of vitaille nor other thinge shall take by colour of buyinge or otherwise. And that none shall threshe corne nor take corne, nor any manner of vyttaille, nor other goodes of Prelate, man of Religion, or any other Clerk, or Lay person, by colour of buying, nor otherwise, against the will and license of him, to whom the thing belongeth, or of the Keeper, be it within Market Town, or without. And that none shall take Horses, Oxen, Ploughs, Carts, Ships, nor Barges, to make carriage, without the assent of him to whom such things belong. And if he do it by the assent of the party, then incontinent he shall pay according to the covenant made between them. And they that offend against these Acts, and thereof be attainted, shall be committed to the Kynges prison, and after shall make Fyne, and be punished according to the quantity and manner of the trespassse; and after as the King in his Court shall think convenient. And it is to be known, that if they to whom such trespassse was done, will sue for damages, they shall be thereto received, and shall be awarded and restored to the double. And they that have done the trespassse, shall be likewise punished in the manner abovesaid. And if none will sue, the Kyng shall have the suite, as for a thing committed against his commandement, and against his peace. And the Kyng shall make enquiry, from yere to yere, what persons do such trespassses after as he shall think necessary and convenient. And that they that be indicted by such enquests shall be attached and constrained by that great distresse to come at a certain day containing the space of a moneth, in the Kynges Court, or where it shall please the Kyng. And if they come not at that day, they shall be distreined again of new by the same distresse, for to come at another day, containing the space of six weeks at the least; and if they come not then, they shall be judged as attainted, and shall yeld double damages (at the Kyngs suit) to such as have taken hurt or damage, and shall make a grevous fyne after the maner of the trespasss; And the Kyng forbiddeth and commandeth, that none from henceforth do hurt, damage, or grevance to any Religious man, or person of the Church, or any order, because they have denyed meat or lodging unto them, or because that any complaineth in the Kyngs Court, that he hath been greved in any of the things abovementioned. And if any do and thereof be attainted, he shall incurre the pain abovesaid. And it is further provided, that the points abovesaid shall as well binde our Counsellours, Justicers of Forests, and other our Justicers, as any other persons, and that the foresaid points be maintained, observed and kepte. Likewise the King forbiddeth upon grevous forfeitures, that no Prelate, Abbot, man of Religion, or Bapliste of any of them, or of other, receibe any man contrary to the form abovesaid. And that none shall send to the house or Mannour of a man of Religion, or of any other person, his men, horse, or doggs to sojourne, nor none shall them receibe, and he that doth (seeing the King hath commanded the contrary) shall be grevously punished. Yet it is further provided, that Shyriffes from henceforth shall not lodge with any person, with any more then 5. or 6 horses; And that they shall not grebe Religious men nor other by often comynge or lodging, neither at their houses nor their Mannours. This Act was principally made for the benefit of Prelates and Religious persons, to redresse the grievances and abuses therein specified.

Chap. 2. It is also provided, that when a Clerk is taken for gilt of felony, and is demanded by the Ordinary, he shall be delivered to him according to the priviledge of holy Church, on such peril as belongeth to it, after the Custome aforesayd. And the King admonished the Prelates, and enjoined them upon the faith that they owe to him, and for the common profit and peace of the Realm, that they should be endited of such offences by solemn enquest of lawful men in the Kings Court, in no manner shall be delibered without due purgation, so that the King shall not need to provide any further remedy therein. An. 3 E. 1.

This Privilege of Ordinaries demanding Clerks imprisoned for felony, and delivering them to them, was contrary to the antient Lawes and Custom of the Realm, introduced after Becket's death, by the Kings special grace and condescension: The abuse whereof by Prelates and Ordinaries, was restrained by this Act in 3. particulars. * 1. In demanding those for Clerks who really were not in sacred Orders. 2ly. In delivering them without making any Inquisition of the felony or crime for which they were committed, so as they escap'd unpunished, or unattainted, & the King lost the forfeiture of their lands or goods. 3ly. By their delivering them out of their Prisons without any legal purgation after they were found guilty by Inquisition before the Kings Judges. And if they did any thing against the Kings ordination and Injunction, he threatens punishment and further remedy of these their exorbitances, to the publike prejudice and disturbance of the Realm.

Chap. 5. And because elections (of Bishops and others) ought to be free, the King commandeth upon great forfeiture, that no great person nor other, by force of arms, or menacing, shall disturb any to make free election.

Chap. 21. That the Guardians of Archbishopricks, Bishopricks, Abbots, Churches, and all Spiritual Dignities, in time of Vacation, shall keep and sustain the Lands without waste and destruction.

This was intended only of what was waste and destruction by the Common Law and Statutes, against waste. But the King and his Guardians of them did, and might by Law take Deer out of their Parks, Conies out of their Warrens, Fish out of their Ponds, and sell their Cops woods for the Kings provision and benefit, as far forth as the Bishops themselves might do; as I finde by the Liberate Roll of 3 E. 1. m. 9. that very year, and sundry other Records of such Guardians accounts and allowances, in the Fine and Liberate Rolls.

Chap. 28. And that none of the Kings Clerks, nor of any Justicer, from henceforth shall receive the presentment of any Church, for the which any plea or debate is in the Kings Court, without special license of the King; and that the King forbiddeth upon paine to lese the Church and his service.

This punished the frauds and abuses of the Kings own Clerks, and Chaplains of his Judges and Officers, who prejudiced Patrons and their Clerks; by turning them out of the livings they injuriously usurped, and out of the Kings service.

Chap. 40. Touching the oathes of Champions it is thus provided, because it seldom happened, but that the Champion of the Demandant is forsworn, in that he sweareth, that he or his Father saw the seisin of his Lord, or his antecessor, and that his Father commanded him to deraigne the right; that from henceforth the Champion of the Demandant should not be compelled so to swear: Neverthelesse his Oath shall be kept in all other points.

This Act regulated and abolished inconvenient clauses in antient Legal Oathes to prevent perjury; much more then * New illegal Oathes imposed on the Subjects without Act of Parliament, to present on numerous Articles devised by Ordinaries and Visitors, wherein there is more apparent danger of perjury, then in Champions Oathes, ought to be prevented. * See Tom. 2. p. 706, 707, to 712. & Here, p. 78, to 83.

Chap. 48. And for as much as it is great Charity to do right unto all men at all times (when nede shall be) by the assent of all the Prelates it was provided, that Assises of Novel disseisin, Mortdauncester, and Darrein presentment should be taken in Advent, Septuagesima, and Lent, eben as well as Enquestis may be taken, and that at the special request of the King, made unto the Bishops.

Before this Statute, the Kings Justices Itinerant could not hold these Pleas, nor swear Juries, or take Oathes on these times before them, without the Popes or * Archbishops special licenses & dispensations in whose Province they were held, as this Statute intimates, & Pat. 8 H. 3. m. 2. Claus. 11 H. 3. m. 8. inform us; without incurring Ecclesiastical Censures: Which was first grounded (as I conceive) upon this Ecclesiastical Law of King Edw. the Confessor c. 3. * *De Temporibus & diebus Pacis Regis. Item vigiliis Sanctæ Mariæ, Sancti Michaelis, Sancti Johannis Baptiste, Apostolorum omnium & Sanctorum, quorum solennitates à Sacerdotibus Dominicis annunciantur diebus, & omnium Sanctorum in Calendis Novembris, semper ab hora nona vigiliarum, & subsequente solennitate. Item in parochiis in quibus dedicationis dies observatur. Item in Parochiis Ecclesiarum, ubi propria festivitas Sancti celebratur. Et si quis devote ad celebrationem Sancti adveniat, pacem habeat eundo, et substans, et redeundo. Item omnibus Christianis ad Ecclesiam causâ orationis euntibus, pax in eundo et redeundo sit eis. Similiter ad dedicationes, ad Synodos, ad Capitula venientibus, sive summoniti sint, sive per se quid agendum habuerint, sit summa pax. Etiam si excommunicatus aliquis absolvendi causa ad Episcopum confugerit, absolutus, eundo et redeundo pacem Dei et Sanctæ Ecclesiæ habeat. Quod si aliquis ei forsiterit, Episcopus inde Justitiam faciat. Veruntamen, si quis arrogans pro Episcopi justitia emendare noluerit, Episcopus Regi notum faciat. Rex autem constringat malefactorem, ut emendet cui forsiterit, scilicet primum Episcopo, deinde sibi: et sic erunt duo gladii, et gladius gladium iudabit.

The Bishops being many of them Judges, by their Canons extended this Law beyond its intention, which was only to secure persons from arrests, not to prohibit necessary legal trials on these times and days. John de Britton, (a Judge and Bishop under King Edw. the 1. at this time, as * some observe,) records, that Pleas on those times were prohibited by the Canons of the Church; his words are these. * On si ilz y soient assés des Jours uncore purrount ascuns estre remuables par vercy challenges de parties, et auri pur le temps en cas. Car homes ne seunt pas murs: Car (per) Canon est defendu de seinte Eglise sur peyne de excomengement, que de la Septuagisme jelsq; al Citas de Pasche, ne del commencement de Advent jelsque al Citas de la Epifagne, ne en jours de Quatre temps, ne en jours de major Letanies, ne en jours de Robsours, ne en la semayne de Pentecost, (to which he addes) ne en temps de fier blees, ne de vendenges que dursant de la Saynt Margaret, jelsq; al 15 de Saynt Michael, ne en solennes jours festivals de seints de saynts, nullus ne jurge sur le Ebangelles, ne nul secular pled ne teigne, ne summons se ne face en temps abantdits, issint que tout cel temps soit done a Dieu prier, et de appeler conteskes, et de accorder ceur que sont a discord, et pur coiller les biens del terre, dont le people doit blyze. Les Evesques nequedent et les Prelates de Sepnt Eglise sont dispensations que Assises et Juries sont prises en tiels temps par resonables enchesons. But these real or pretended Canons being prejudicial to publike Justice and Legal trials, were now abolished as a grievance in this Parliament at the Kings request, and that by the assent of his Bishops, which else he would have reformed without them, being a publike grievance, against the Great Charter, ch. 29. and his Coronation Oath, Not to delay Justice to anyman, especially in these Actions requiring speedy remedies.

I finde in the Clause Roll of 3 E. 1. m. 16. Dorso. a Lease of an House, Lands and Rents in Badelkyng, made for life by Andreas de Scaccario, Domino Francisco de Bononia Legum Doctore et illustris Regis Angliæ Consiliario; which Mr. * Selden conceives to be Francus Accursus a famous Doctor of the Civil Law, whom the King made use of in his affairs in forreign parts; but that the Canon Law and professors of it had then any publike countenance or encouragement under this King or any of his predecessors, I cannot finde by Record or Story, being generally exploded and discountenanced for the * promised reasons, as inconsistent with the Kings prerogative, and Common Law in many things.

* Matthew Parker Archbishop of Canterbury rendreth us this account of Pope Gregories fraud and impostures, in granting Dismes to King Edward the 1. both before and in the Council of Lyons, under pretext of relieving the Holy Land, the greatest part whereof he and his Agents converted to their proper uses. *Itaque Gregorius Edwardo ad eos sumptus, quos in Syria fecisset recuperandos, potestatem concessit bonorum in Anglia quorumcumque, tam Temporalium quam Spiritualium decimam partem a Clero percipere. ad deliberandum de publicis, privatisque negotiis fuisset, in Angliam à Gregorio Papa An. 3 E. 1. missus venit Romanus quidam Clericus Raymundus, natione Guasconus, cum auctoritate viros Ecclesiasticos Papalibus animadversionibus compellendi, Decimam tam Temporalium quam Spiritualium Edwardo Regi solvere. Et quia sine mora collecta pecunia Rex perexiguam tulit partem; Raymundus enim (qui nomine Regis huic conficienda pecunia præfectus fuit) Papalis potius et Romana cupiditatis, quam Regis necessitatis quæstio existimari jure debuit. Qui cum rationes retulisset pro suis in hoc negotio, Expensis atque opera non modicam portionem detraxit, deinde Papæ Domino suo donum tanto Pontifici dignum exhiberi postulavit. Quæ duæ rationes, hanc tam copiosam pecuniam pene totam absorpsit, ut Regi ex præfatum benevolentia dix aliquid Regis dignum gratiis relictum sit. Cumque hoc exemplo Gregorius Papa in Christianas Ecclesias Romano more grassandi occasionem nactus esset, Concilium Generale indixit Lugduni, ubi cum inutiliter de conjungenda Græca cum Romana Ecclesia multa acta essent, illius Conjunctionis ex Paleologi Græcorum Imperatoris & Episcoporum Græcorum literis ad Papam datis spes inanis, assu Gregorii totum Concilium lactabisset, decretum fuit, ut toto proximo septennio proventuum Ecclesiasticorum decima pars in Terræ Sanctæ subsidium solberetur. Cujus (ut patebit postea) cum Quæstiones a Papa constituti essent, in Romanam abarritam, non illius negotii expeditionem aut curam, tota conversa est.

* Hanc Decimam cum Gregorius postulasset, deliberandi diem Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Prælatiis statuit, quo vel consentirent, vel dissentienti causas & rationes ostenderent. Adveniente die plerique contradicere non ausi apertis suffragiis assenti sunt. Inter quos Robertus Kylwarby Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus ab ipso (ut diximus) Papa constitutus. Pater, inquit, Sancte, Opus & creatio manuum vestrarum Ego sum, & Ecclesia mea Ecclesia vestra, bona mea, bona vestra sunt; Disponite ergo de Ecclesia mea, & de bonis meis, sicut de bonis propriis. Inter ceteros autem qui contradicere statuerunt, erat Simon quidam de Mepham Decanus Lancoloniensis, qui Papa tradidit Schedulam excusatoriam, Angliæ Ecclesiæ exspilationes diuturnas et varias continentem, quibus ita defecta et depreffa, aut dix aut ne dix quidem asurgere aut se attollere possit. Cui perlecta Scheda Papa, Dictasti Schedulam hanc D. Decane? Et ille; Pater Sancte, Ego dictavi & scripsi. Et Papa; Nunquid consensu, vel contradicis? Et ille; Domine, non contradico? Et Papa; Aliud est consentire, aliud non contradicere. Quid igitur, consentis? Eodemque iterum modo respondit, Domine, non contradico. Cumque aliter non responderet, præbatur eum dicto citius omnibus beneficiis Ecclesiasticis. Cujus metu ceteri sine contradictione assensus suos præbuere. Tandem ipse Decanus ne solus dissentire videretur, & dignitates amitteret, una cum reliquis assensus est, & elapso triennio beneficiis suis restitutus. In eoque Concilio Papa, quo facilius in oppressos antea actis injuriis Anglos sese insinueret, Edwardum Regem ob terram sanctam sua præsentia & adventu servatum in finitibus laudibus extulit. Hujus Decimæ solutione a Clero promissa, Concilium fratim a Gregorio dissolutum est. This being the Popes principal design in summoning it, to extort a 7. years Disme from the Clergy, by these pious Papal fraudulent pretexes.

Soon after the Council of Lions, Pope Gregory the 10th. sent Raymundus de No-gerris his Chaplain, as his Nuncio into England, Wales, Scotland and Irelana for certain affairs of the Church, especially to demand and receive from the King 8. years arrears of the Annual Tribute, and Peter-pence, then due to the Church of Rome, by virtue of this original Bull, which I found in the White Tower Chapel; desiring the King therein to grant him a safe conduct through his kingdom, and to assist and advise him in his affaires when required by him.

What answer the King returned to this his Bull, and another of like nature, precedent to it, appears by his memorable Epistle to this Pope, thus recorded in the Clause Rolls, An. 3 E. 1. m. 9. Cedula.

 Teste meipso apud Westm. 19 die Jan. Anno Regni nostri Tertio.

By which Record it is apparent, 1. That notwithstanding the Kings great obligations to this Pope Gregory for the two Dismes granted him, his entertainment in his Court in his return from the Holy Land, and his double Letters and Nuncio sent to him, to demand and receive this annual rent of 1000 Marks, granted by King Johns Charter, yet he denied to pay it without the advise and consent of his Prelates and Nobles in Parliament. 2ly. That he conceived it contrary to the Rights of his Crown, and his Coronation Oath newly taken, to preserve and maintain them inviolable. 3ly. That he delayed his answer thereto from one Parliament to another, yea never paid him one farthing thereof, nor his 4. next successors.

The Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield and his Official suing a Merchant in their Spiritual Court for Debts and Chattels in his hands belonging to the King, against his Prohibition to them; thereupon the King issued this Writ to summon them to answer this their contempt.

<sup>a</sup> Mat. W. Westminster informs us; Obiit hoc anno Johannes Bretoun Episcopus Herefordensis, qui admodum peritus in Juribus Anglicanis, librum de eis conscripsit, qui vocatur, Le Bretoun; Cui successit Thomas de Cantilupo. Which is likewise recorded by Johannes Bale Catalogus Scriptorum Brit. Centur. 4. c. 44. Johannes Pitsens Relationum Hist. de Rebus Anglicis, Tom. 1. Etar. 13. An. 1275. Sir Edward Cookes Preface to his 10. Report, Dr. Cowels Interpreter, Tit. Britton, Centurie Magdeburgenses 13. c. 10. and Francis Godwin in the Life of Britton Bishop of Hereford, who all record, that this Bishop was a great Lawyer, and that he writ a Book, De Legibus Anglicanis, spending his time in hearing secular Causes, instead of preaching the Gospel, and discharging his Episcopal function; for which John Bale Bishop of Offery passed this censure upon him: Johannes Bekton (so he styles him) utriusque Juris Doctor, & Episcopus Herefordensis, magna per hos dies apud Regem & Principes autoritate valebat, in Jurisprudentia insigniter eruditus, sed qualis interim fuerit in studio Legis utrinque pro Evangelii ministerio, ad quod tunc vocabatur, apud nullos certe scriptores invento. Leges utiles ac necessarias fore, quis non novit? Dum pro privato leguleiorum commodo non sint, sed pro communis civium utilitate conscriptæ. Facta sunt Leges (inquit Isodorus) ut earum metu humana coercentur præcepta audacia, itaque maneat inter improbos Innocentia. At Evangelii ministerium Episcopum, qui solis eloquiis ac promissionibus Christianum pacificare gregem, in illis versari, quæ ad causas spectant forenses, ut in Anna et Caiapha, plus quam Judaicum est. Nihilominus concessit Johannes ad communem (ut dicunt) Anglorum Reipublica utilitatem, ingens opus ex variis scriptis collectum.

Teste Rege apud Bathon. 15 die Sept. Stephen Bishop of Waterford was then Treasurer of the Kings Exchequer in Ireland, as appears by the Kings Writ of Liberate to the Auditors of his Accounts, and other Records.

The King presenting to the Archdeaconry of Dublin, by reason of the Temporalities of the Archbishoprick then in his hands, and the Prior and Chapter of St. Trinity in Dublin pretending the Archdeacons of Dublin had a right thereto; the King by his Ecclesiastical Prerogative summoned both parties with their Evidences to appear before him, and appointed special Delegates to hear and decide the cause, which they did accordingly, who awarded the right to the King, and his Clerk to be installed, as this Record attests.

Thomas Walsingham stories, a Hoc tempore frater Johannes de Derlington, Ordinis Praedicatorum, Confessor quondam Regis Henrici, anthozitate Papali in regno Angliae Collector efficitur Decimarum, salva Papali reverentia contra sui Ordinis professionem tali officio deputatus.

He further relates; b Eodem tempore Papa Gregorius 10. apud Arescium defunctus, ibidem traditur sepultura, cui successit Innocentius Quintus, natione Burgundus, factus autem Papa sedet mensibus quinque, diebus duobus, mortuoque Romae, & in Lateranensi Ecclesia sepelitur. Cui eodem anno successit Adrianus Quintus, natione Januensis, dictus antea Octobonus, qui tituli Sancti Adriani Diaconus Cardinalis, a Papa Clemente Quarto in Angliam missus est. Hic Papa factus, statim constitutionem quam Papa Gregorius Decimus fecerat de inclusione Cardinalium pro electione Summi Pontificis, suspendit, proponens jam aliter ordinare; sed morte praeventus, constitutionem suspensam reliquit, sedit vero mensibus duobus Papa. Richard Aubin being imprisoned at Norwich upon a Capias Excommunicatum, by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and afterwards released upon caution to obey the Churches command, yet after that retaken and imprisoned for the same cause in London, the King thereupon issued a Writ to the Archbishop, to certify the truth of his case, & for his enlargement, whereupon the Archbishop returned this Certificate.

Datum apud Gennyng. 2. kalendas Maii, Anno Dom. 1278. Whereupon it seems he was enlarged, as the Writ imports.

The King sending a Prohibition this year to the Dean of the Arches, notto hold Plea of a Debt, belonging to his Temporal Jurisdiction, the Archbishop of Canterbury certified him, that he was there impleaded not by the Dean of the Arches, but by the Popes special command, whom he ought to obey, and would obey.

Brev. Regis
Anno 5 E. 1.

Serenissimo Principi & Domino suo Reverendo, Domino E. Dei gratia Regi Anglie illustri, Domino Hibernie, & Duci Aquitanie, suis frater Robertus Cantuariensis Ecclesie Sacerdos indignus, salutem in eo per quem Reges regnant, & Principes dominantur, cum omni reverentia tam debita quam devota. Prohibitum est per Curiam vestram Decano de Arcubus London. ne teneat placitum de Catallis aut Debitis, quæ Magister Henricus de Haukele petit a Magistro Radulpho de Fremingham. Noverit igitur Excellentia vestra, quod non tenetur ibi de placito per Decanum, unde exequitur mandatum Apostolicum mihi sub certa forma directum, cui obedire debeo et obediam. Hac autem est rei veritas, propter quod (si places) non credat vestra Serenitas, quod Decanus præterit huiusmodi Executionis aliquid faciat in vestra præiudicium dignitatis. Dat. apud Mortelabr. 2 Idus Maii, Anno Domini 1278. A very insolent Certificate of an Arch-prelate to his Sovereign; but being advanced to the Archbishoprick by the Popes provision, not Kings previous assent and approbation, no wonder he preferred and obeyed the Popes commands before the Kings.

I shall conclude this 5th. year of King Edward the 1. with this most memorable Record and Case. Gilbert de Thychewell being sued in the Ecclesiastical Court for Chattels and Debts. whereof they had no Jurisdiction; and sending a Prohibition to them out of the Kings Court to stay the proceedings, delivered in open Court by the Kings Messengers to Nicholas Chapple the Judge, he in a most insolent contemptuous manner; (encouraged as it seems by Archbishop Boniface and his Suffragans) instead of obeying it, denounced a publick Excommunication against those who delivered the Prohibition, and against all who ayded, countenanced or favoured that Writ, not excepting the Kings person; citing the said Gilbert to remote places, to attend them from day to day to vex and weary them, and caused him to be Excommunicated in Churches with Bells ringing, and Tapers burning and extinct: For which high contempt against the Kings Prohibition, Crown and Regal authority, illegal Excommunication and vexation, he was prosecuted at the Kings suit to his damages of 1000*l.* and at the Parties suit to his damage of 100 mark, and found guilty by the Jury and imprisoned; as Placita curam Rogero de Seyton & sociis suis Justiciariis de Banco apud Westm. a die Pasche in 15. dies, Anno regni Regis Edwardi quinto, Rot. 15. dorso, (remaining in the Treasury of the Receipts of the Kings Exchequer) thus record to posterity.

et non modicum gravamen, &c. Et unde Dominus Rex per prædictum Gilbertum An. 5 E. 1. qui sequitur pro eo, queritur, quod cum idem Gilbertus breve suum de Prohibitione prædicto Nicholao, die Jovis proximo post festum Sancti Marci Evangeliste, anno regni Regis nunc tertio, in pleno Capitulo apud Doking, per quendam Thomam Tristrem porrigi fecisset, ne placitum de Catallis et Debitis, quæ non sunt de Testamento vel Patrimonio, contra Prohibitionem Domini Regis tenerent, præfatus Nicholaus post prædictum breve per eos receptum, in personas illud breve differentium, et eidem favorem præstantium sententiam Excommunicationis, non excipiendo personam Regis, fulminabit, et per decem Capellanos sibi subiectos de Decanatu de Hecheham ipsam sententiam solempniter prædictis die et loco pulsatis Campanis et accensis Candelis publicari fecit, trahens ea occasione prædictum Gilbertum in placitum in Curia Christianitatis coram eo apud Brakedene, die Sabbati proxima post festum Sancti Barnabæ anno prædicto, denuncians ipsum ratione prædicti brevis impetrati in sententiam generalem incidisse, et postquam ipsos per diversos labores et expensas per diversa loca fatigasset, eum eadem de causa esse Excommunicatum die Veneris proxima ante festum Exaltationis Sanctæ Crucis anno prædicto apud Doking, denunciari fecit de die in diem. Et similiter ubi Wic. Norff. ex parte Domini Regis et per eius præceptum in propria persona die Dominica proxima ante festum Sancti Nicholai anno quarto, efficaciter monuit, quod sententias et huiusmodi errores sine mora rebocaret, idem Nicholaus prædictas sententias et errores ad mandatum Domini Regis et Wic. monitionem non rebocavit, immo prosequeretur in Coronæ et Regiæ dignitatem lisionem, et Regis contemptum Pille Librarium prædicti Gilberti dampnum Centum Marcarum, et inde productum sextam, &c. Et Magister Nicholaus venit & defendit vim. & injur. quando, &c. Et quicquid, &c. Et bene defend. quod ipse nunquam Excommunicationis sententiam in prædictum Gilbertum, nec in aliquem breve Domini Regis prædictum differentem, auxilium, consilium, vel favorem præstantes fulminabit, nec ipsam Gilbertum ea de causa ad loca remota in Curia Christianitatis ad placitum trahit, nec Excommunicatum eadem de causa denunciabit. Et hoc offert defendere contra ipsum & familiam suam, sicut Curia consideraverit. Ideo consideratum est, quod vadant eis legem se 12. man. Et prædictus Nicholaus instanter fecit legem suam. Ideo ipse inde quietus & prædictus Gilbertus in misericordia. Et quo ad hoc quod prædictus Gilbertus dicit, ipsum Nicholaum sententiam Excommunicationis non excipiendo personam Domini Regis, in omnes consilium, auxilium et favorem præstantes, fulminasse, dicit, quod ipse nunquam huiusmodi sententiam fulminabit. Et quod ita sit ponit se super patriam. Et Gilbertus qui sequitur pro Domino Rege similiter. Ideo præceptum est Vicecomiti, quod venire faciat hic in Octavis Sanctæ Trinitatis, nisi J. de Lovetost prius, &c. duodecim, &c. per quos, &c. Qui nec, &c. ad recogn. in forma prædicta. Quia tunc, &c. Postea ad diem illum prædictus Gilbertus qui sequitur pro Domino Rege, optulit se quarto die versus Magistrum Nicholaum. Et ipse non venerit, & habuit diem ad hunc diem, ut patet superius. Et ideo præceptum est Vicecomiti, quod distringat eum per omnes terras, &c. Et quod de exitibus, &c. Et quod habeas corpus ejus a die Sancti Michaelis in 15. dies apud Salop, ad audiend. prædict. Jur. Et præceptum est Vicecomiti, quod habeat corpora Recognitorum ad præfatum terminum, &c. Postea in Octavis Sancti Johannis Baptiste Anno regni nunc sexto, venerunt Jur. qui dicunt super Sacramentum suum, quod prædictus Nicholaus die quo prædictum breve ei porrigendum fuit, in pleno Capitulo de Doking, per prædictum Thomam de Tristrem ne prædictum placitum teneret; statim post receptionem eiusdem per quosdam Presbyteros quos ad hec deputavit, in omnes illos breve illud differentes, et consilium, auxilium, et favorem eidem præstantes, in eodem Capitulo sententiam Excommunicationis fulminabit, non excipiendo personam Regis. Ideo mandatum est Episcopo Norwic. quod fac. eum venire hic in Octavis Sancti Michaelis audiend. inter Record. et Iudicium suum. Postea venit prædictus Magister Nicholaus, et committitur Gaol. pro contemptu.

From which memorable Record I shall observe, 1. The strenuous endeavours of Ecclesiastical Judges and Courts in that age, to enlarge their Jurisdiction, and usurp the consuance of Pleas of all Goods, Chattels, Fees, and other Temporal things, not belonging to them. 2ly. Their strange insolencies and contempts, in fulminating

An. 5 E. 1. Excommunications in their open Courts, and Churches, with Bells and Candles, against all such who sued, prosecuted or delivered the Kings Writs of Prohibition to restrain their Usurpations, and against all who advised, counselled, assisted or granted such Prohibitions, not excepting the King himself. 3ly. Their great and intollerable vexations of such who sued such Prohibitions by new Citations, to attend them de diem in diem at remote places, and denouncing new Excommunications against them. 4ly. The Kings deep resentments of these their high contempts, and affronts against his Crown, Dignity, Regal Jurisdiction, and of the vexation of his Subjects, and his royal prosecutions against them for it, both at his own and the parties suit, to recover damages against, fine and imprison them for these contempts, usurpations and vexations. 5ly. Their impudency in denying and pleading a special Not guilty, though most guilty thereof, against their own knowledge, with their manifold defaults and delays to tyre out and discourage their prosecutors, and prevent Judgements against them. 6ly. That all such general Excommunications denounced by Ecclesiastical Judges, are illegal, and that the King by his Prerogative ought to be specially excepted out of them.

An. 6 E. 1. About the same time Walter Bronescombe Bishop of Exeter (of whose frauds and oppressions you may read in * Godwins Catalogue of Bishops) and his Officials, cited sundry of the Kings Subjects, and Officers into his Ecclesiastical Courts for Debts and Chattels, that concerned not Matrimony or Testament, and for Trespases, Freeholds, and other things of which they had no legal Jurisdiction; excommunicating, and putting them to pecuniary redemptions and grievous penalties, to their great oppression and vexation, and withall exacted illegal Oathes and obligations from them, against the Kings Crown, Dignity, and Subjects Liberties; the King upon the complaints of Edmund Earl of Cornwall and his Officers, and of the whole County of Cornwall, of these his exorbitances, issued a special Commission in the 6. year of his reign to some Judges, to inquire of, hear and determine these his Exorbitances and Usurpations, before whom he was prosecuted at the Kings suit, to his Damages of 10000 l. which the Bishop denying in some sort, appealed to the King, Pope, and Court of Rome, from the Kings Justices; for which his misdemeanor, high affront and dishonour to the Kings Crown and Dignity, he was adjudged undefended, ordered to satisfy the King his 10000 l. Damages: and likewise to answer his contempt for this his enormous appeal to the Pope, in affront of the Kings Crown and Dignity, before the King and his Council; as this memorable Record at large informs us.

Per quod quidem mandatum præfati R. & W. mandaverunt Vicecomiti Comitatus prædicti, quod venire faceret coram eis apud Lanceaneton die Veneris prox. post festum Nativitatis Beate Mariæ Anno supradicto, tot & tales probos & legales homines de Com. prædicto, per quos rei veritas melius super præmissis sciri poterit & inquire. Et quod sciri faceret eidem Episcopo, quod tunc esset ibi facturus super præmissis, & recepturus quod iustum fuerit. Ad quem diem venerunt prædicti Justic. ibidem & Vic. summon. fecit totam patriam Cornub. secundum tenorem brevis prædicti. Et Vic. testatur, quod scire fecit prædicto Episcopo, quod esset hic ad hunc diem. Et ipse Episcopus modo be- nit, &c.

Et Mich. de Northampt. qui sequitur pro Rege queritur, quod cum Dominus Rex ratione Regis dignitatis et Coronæ suæ tale habeat privilegium, quod nullus in regno suo de aliquo qui sit de Regno Angliæ alicui homagium sive fidelitatem alicui facere debeat, vel aliquis huiusmodi homagium vel fidelitatem ab aliquo recipere debeat, nisi facta mentione de fidelitate Domino Regi debita, eidem Domino Regi fideliter observanda, idem Episcopus in contemptum Domini Regis, et ad manifestam quoad privilegium prædictum ipsius Domini Regis exheredationem, et ad dampnum, et ad dedecus ipsius Domini Regis, ad valentiam decem Millia librarum, de Henr. de Pomeray, Tho. de Kanc. Johe de Bello prato, Laur. fil. Richardi, Johanne le Soer, Willielmo de Map, Eudon. de Grancell, Rogero le Gros, Johanne le Lung, Radulph. de Boyvill, Guidon. Nouannt, Willielmo de Rostou- reks, et Henr. de Cannell obligationem per scripta, et de multis aliis, et de Com- munitate dicti Com. et etiam per Sacramentum huiusmodi obligationes recepit, quod eidem Episcopo in omnibus empyis suis firmiter adhererunt in dictis obliga- tionibus, * nulla mentione facta de fidelitate Domino Regi observand. sicut prædi- tum est. Et hoc idem Mich. qui pro Rege sequitur, offert se belle verificare versus prædictum Episcopum, sicut Cur. Domini Regis consideraverit, &c.

Noverint universi Christi fideles, quod cum ego Tho. de Kanc. Miles, violentiæ et debonestationi Presbyteris et Clericis apud Gargaul Exon. Dioc. injuriose et bi- olesenter illatis interfuissem, opem, audaciam et consilium aliis seberius delinquendi nequiter adhibuissem, hiis non contentus conspirationi factæ contra Sanctam Ec- clesiam et venerabilem patrem W. Dei gratia Exon. Denum filiis pacis in- tervenientibus et salvatione mea procurantibus, ad cor rediens, pro emendatione et satisfactione dictorum criminum corporali juramento interveniente promisi, et promitto quingentas Marcas sterlingorum prædicto patri solvend. secundum ipsius patris ordinationem terminis statuendis; eodem Juramento gratis affirmans, quod de cætero huiusmodi violentias seu injurias, vel quascunque alias contra Ecclesiam seu Ecclesiasticas personas nisi cum moderamine inculpata tutelæ me defendendo, non committam, et hoc sub poena quadraginta librar. præmissa plenarie complend. per dictum Juramentum meum obligo me et astringo. An. 6 E. 1. bocatione me retrudat, et sic excommunicatum denunciari publice faciat, quoutque de p[re]dictis omnibus ad plenum per me fuerit satisfactum. Renunciens super hiis omnibus, omni cabillationi, appellationi, Epistola Domini Adriani, exceptioni, Regia prohibitioni, privilegio Crucesignatorum, indulto, et utriusque Juris cuiusque remedio per quae p[re]missa possent impediri, seu quoquo modo retardari. In cuius rei Testimonium p[re]sentibus Sigillum meum apposui. Hic Testibus Domino Radulpho de Arundell Milite, Domino King de Plumton, Johanne le Chamberlain, Richardo de Derteford Clerico, Tho. de Trevill. Clerico, Thom. Rector Eccl[esi]e de Bonquimmot, Rogero de Gyves, & aliis. Actum & Datum apud Tytyng. xv. Kal. Jun. Anno Domini MCCLXXV.

Et Mich. de Northampt. qui sequitur pro Rege, petit Iudicium de p[re]dicto Episcopo, tanquam de ipso qui est indefensus. Et ideo consideratum est, quod p[re]dictus Episcopus indefensus est quoad p[re]dicta, et ideo in misericordia. Et satisfacet Domino Regi de dampnis suis. Et datus est ei dies coram Domino Rege, a die Sancti Michaelis in tres septimanas ubicunque tunc fuerit in Anglia, ad respondend. super contemptu per eundem Episcopum Domino Regi facto per p[re]dictas suas Appellationes, quia valde enormiter sonant in p[re]judicium Domini Regis et Coronae suae, et in p[re]judicium totius Communitatis Angliae. Which is thus further aggravated and recorded, Rot. 3. Et quia huiusmodi Contemptus eidem Rogero & Waltero ita videtur esse gravis et inauditus, et ita in dedecus Domini Regis redundare, et etiam totius Regni perturbationem, cum in huiusmodi placitis in Curia Dom. Regis nunquam huiusmodi Appellationes, scil. ad Curiam Romanam, fieri consueverunt. Consideratum est, quod p[re]dictus Episcopus quoad hoc est indefensus, et datus est ei dies coram p[re]dictis R. & W. a die Sancti Michaelis in Tres Septimanas, ubicunque, &c. Ad audiend. super hoc Iudicium suum, secundum discretionem Domini Regis.

Item, idem Mich. de North. qui sequitur pro Rege, petit Iudicium de p[re]dicto Episcopo, tanquam de ipso qui est indefensus. Et ideo consideratum est quod p[re]dictus Episcopus indefensus est quoad p[re]dicta, et ideo in misericordia, et satisfacet Domino Regi de dampnis suis, ad taxationem per Dominum Regem et Consilium suum faciend. Et datus est ei dies coram Domino Rege, a die Sancti Michaelis in Tres Septiman. ubicunque, &c. Et ad respondend. super Contemptu per eundem Episcopum Domino Regi facto per p[re]dictas suas Appellationes, quia valde enormiter sonant in p[re]judicium Domini Regis et Coronae suae, et in p[re]judicium totius Communitatis Regni Angliae. Et quia p[re]dicta super quibus Mich. queritur pro Domino Rege, ita specialiter tangunt Dominum Regem in dedecus p[re]dicti Episcopi, qui ita contemptabiliter recedit a Curia, ut Dominus Rex super hoc plenius cerciozetur, inquiratur rei veritas per patriam.

Queritur etiam idem Mich. qui sequitur pro Rege, quod ubi Willielmus de Monketon Vic. Domini Regis Com. p[re]dicti, fecerat quandam districtionem super Episcopum p[re]dictum per Averia sua per p[re]ceptum Domini Regis, et pro debito ipsius, ubi venerunt, quidam Willielmus Vicarius Ecclesie de Langewe, Decanus de Poudrechire, die Lunae prox. ante Festum Ascensionis, Anno regni Domini Regis nunc sexto, apud Bomyne in pleno Comitatu, ubi idem Vic. tenuit placitum ipsius Domini Regis, ipsum Vic. per p[re]ceptum ipsius Episcopi pro eo quod districtionem p[re]dictam pro p[re]dicto debito fecerat, solempniter excommunicabit, in laqueum Coronae Domini Regis, et in eius respectum et dampnum ipsius 1. Milia librarum: et ad dampnum Vic. p[re]dicti Centum librar. Et quod ita sit paratus est verificare, sicut Cur. Domini Regis consideraverit, &c.

 Regis in perpetuam elemosynam, et eundem Priorem sic denunciabit Excom-municatum, quousque fecit finem cum ipso pro 20 marc. De Sabulone dicunt, quod postquam Dominus Rex præceperat prædicto Wic. quod ipse prædictum Sa-bulon. caperet in manum suam, et ad opus ipsius Domini Regis appropriaret, Dominus Episcopus per sententias suas inhiuit ne sine sua licentia aliquis inde caperet.

Michael. de North. qui sequitur pro Rege quer. quod idem Episcopus excommu-nicasset prædictum Willielmum de Moneketon imponens ei, quod ipse debuerat contempnisset præceptum Domini Regis de quodam Excommunicato capiendo. Ac Dominus Rex eidem Episcopo postea mandasset, quod idem Episcopus propter prædictum contemptum in prædicto Willielmo nullam infligeret penam, cum ad Dominum Regem pertineat, et non ad dictum Episcopum, huiusmodi contemptus Ballivorum ipsius Domini Regis corrigere, dictus Episcopus non obstante dicta inhibitione eidem super hoc facta per Dominum Regem, dictum Wic. denunciabit esse Excommunicatum, in manifestum Domini Regis contemptum, et ad dampnum ipsius Domini Regis 10 millia librarum. Et quod ita sit paratus est verificare, sicut Curia consideraverit, &c.

Et prædictus Episcopus ad hunc Articulum nihil vult respondere, sed facit suas Appellationes ut supra, &c.

Et prædictus Mich. qui sequitur pro Rege, petit Iudicium de ipso tanquam de indefeso. Et ideo consideratum est, quod prædictus Episcopus quo ad hoc sit inde-fesus. Ideo ipse in misericordia. Et satisfaciatur Domino Regi de dampnis, &c.

Et prædictus Comes Cornubiæ in propria persona sua quer. de prædicto Episcopo, quod ubi ipse & antecessores sui habuerunt quoddam passagium ultra aquam de Efshe, & a transeuntibus pecuniam recipere pro eodem passagio. Ac cum homines ipsius Comes de

An. 6 E. 1. de Elshe de hominibus predicti Episcopi pro passagio aqua predicta certum quid cepissent, predictus Episcopus homines Willatæ predictæ de Elshe excommunicabit, et excommunicatos denunciabit, et Capellam ejusdem Willæ in Interdicto posuit. Ita quod illa Capella sic Interdicta fuit per septennium, et adhuc est. Ita quod homines ejusdem Willatæ ad celebrationem obsequii audiend. longius de tribus leucis adeunt, et ita evenit quod multi multociens ipsorum submersi sunt præ multitudine aquæ torrentis, in læsionem Coronæ Domini Regis, et ad exheredationem predicti Com. et dampnum suum 5. millia librarum. Et quod ita sit paratus est verificare, sicut Curia consideraverit, &c.

Et predictus Comes petit Judicium de predicto Episcopo tanquam indefenso. Et ideo consideratum est, quod predictus Episcopus super hoc sit indefensus, et ipse in misericordia. Et satisfacet dicto Com. de dampnis suis, &c.

Queritur etiam idem Comes, quod cum H. de Monteforti & Thomas Trevet Justic. qui quidem Henr. predicti Episcopi fuit Præbendarius, coram ipsis in Com. predicto die Sabbati prox. post festum Sancti Jacobi, anno regni Regis nunc tertio apud Lanceaneton, auctoritate Regia, cum inde Warantum non habuissent, sed præcipue ad procuratorem et ad instantiam predicti Episcopi, maiorem partem Comitatus Cornubiæ acquirere, et terminand. quædam placita Coronæ et Gaol. deliberand. venire fecissent. Ad quem diem Johannes de Bello prato tunc Vic. Cornub. & Senescallus predicti Comitatus, Alanus de Bloho, Osbertus de Hoylaund, Willielmus de Roslowrek, Johannes le Lung, Robertus de Marisco, Johannes de Rosgawar, Eudo de Alneslow, Hug. le Gros, Richardus Bylon, Rogerus Payen, Lucas de Penhat, Henr. de Hextelworth, & Henr. Caural, Ballivi tam predicti Com. quam Vic. coram eisdem Justic. venerunt ad præcepta eorundem Justic. audiend. & persciend. prout decet, qui quidem Justic. habita eorum presentia, eorum corpora custodiri, et in prisona Domini Regis poni præceperunt, ad quorum præceptum ita factum est, nulla mentione facta ob quam causam hoc fecerunt, nec aliquo Waranto ostenso quod sic faciendi potestatem habuerunt. Et postea per quendam Johannem de Exon. Ballivum predicti Episcopi, 12 Jur. patriæ illius, & inimicos predicti Richardi Bylon Clerici, coram ipsis venire fecerunt, & per eorum Sacramentum nulla calumpnia aperte ipsius Richardi Bylon allocata inquisierunt, si idem Richardus fuit culpabilis de latrocinio, viz. de quadam vacca furata, qui quidem Jur. ipsum inde acquiesceverunt. Et postea idem Episcopus imposuit ei maliciose, quod debuit maledixisse de Domino Rege et de ipso Episcopo, ob quod idem Episcopus ipsam Richardum in prisona sua apud Lanceaneton poni fecit, et per 40 dies et amplius ipsum ibi detinuit: Et postea ad prisonam suam apud Exon. deduci fecit, quo audito quidam Radulphus Bylon frater ipsius Richardi Bylon, quoddam Breve Domini Regis predicto Episcopo directum impetravit, quod idem Episcopus corpus ipsius Richardi coram Domino Rege ad quendam certum diem haberet, quo omisso ipsum adhuc detinuit, et Dominus Rex secundo et tertio in forma predicta ei mand. Cumque idem Episcopus tertio mandato Domini Regis perpendisset, se ulterius non posse supersedere, ipsum Richardum in prisona sua occidit, et occidi fecit, ita quod post hoc nullus rumor de eo auditus fuit, nec sciri poterit quo devenit. Et predictus Radulphus frater predicti Richardi præsens est, et ipsum Episcopum præsentem de morte predicti Richardi fratris sui per verba de feloniam appellabit. Dicit etiam predictus Comes, quod postquam predicti Johannes de Bello prato, & alii Ballivi Domini Regis predicti dissentierant, sicut predictum est, idem Episcopus ipsos excommunicabit, et per sententias excommunicationis graviter molestabit, per quod idem nec aliqui alii de Episcopatu suo in servicio dicti Com. in partibus illis ausi sunt commorari; unde dicit, quod deterioratus est et dampnum habet ad valentiam quinque millia librarum. Et hoc offert verificare, sicut Curia consideraverit, &c.

Et quia predictus Radulphus predictum Episcopum de morte predicta appellabit, dictum est predicto Episcopo, quod sufficientem manucaptionem inveniat quod erit coram Domino Rege a die Sancti Michaelis in tres septimanas, ubicunque, &c. super Appellatio predicta placitum Domini Regis receptur. Et idem Episcopus manucaptos subscriptos invenit in forma predicta; scilicet, Reytridus de Arundell, Richardus de Heywys, Willielmus Resseron, Bernardus de Bodbran, Johannes de

 Jordanus de Hatton, Johannes Loli, Walterus Germon, & Robertus le Flemmyng, qui quidem Manuceptores ipsam Episcopam prout decet in hujusmodi Appellatione manuceperunt, &c.

Et Episcopus dicit, quod revera predictus Johannes de Bello prato & alii predicti fecerant ei quandam transgress. ad quem transgress. audiend. & terminand. impetravit ipse à Domino Rege, quod predicti Henr. & Thom. ad partes illas accederent, & qui Offi-cium suum super hoc fideliter fecerunt, absque hoc, quod ipse per eos aliquam injur.
 dictis Johanni & aliis heri procurasset, & de hoc voc. Record. rotulorum predictorum Justic. Et de Brevibus Domini Regis sibi directis pro predicto Clerico, coram Domino Rege venire faciendo, dicit, quod revera Dominus Rex super hoc misit diversa Brevia, & ipse ad quodlibet Breve ita sufficienter respond. Domino Regi, quod omnino eidem Regi satisfecit, & de hoc voc. inde ad War. testimonium Domini Regis, & sui Cancellarii. Et ideo dictum est ei, quod ipse habeat coram Domino Rege ad prafa-tum terminum, predictum Recordum & predictum Testimonium, &c. These proceedings are again repeated and recorded, Rot. 3, 4, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. of the same year.

The Bishop instead of reforming and forbearing these high illegal Usurpations, Excommunications, and treasonable, tyrannical proceedings against the Kings Prerogative, and the Subjects Rights, Liberties, upon these Informations and Judgements, after sundry complaints against him, that he procured the Bishop of Bangor, by command from the Archbishop, to come into the Diocess of Exeter, and to excommunicate all those Clerks and others of what quality soever, who had complained to the Kings Justices, accused, or given evidence or verdicts before them against him, in every Parish Church on all Lords-days and Holy-days, with Bells ringing, Tapers burning and extinguished; yea summoned many people of Devonshire and Cornwall to appear before him, and to travel from one County to another, examining those upon Oath, who had appeared before the Kings Justices upon their summons, (to serve the King and inform against the Bishop for invading the Rights of the Kings Crown, violating his Laws, and injuring and oppressing his Subjects) who excited them thereto, and re-examining what the Justices had examined before them, against the Laws and Custom of the Realm, to the ill example of other Prelates, and subjecting of the Kings Crown, Dignity, Laws, and peoples Liberties to the Bishops Usurpations. Moreover the Bishop himself and his Officials Excommunicated the Under-Sheriff of Cornwall, and divers of the Kings and Earls Bayliffs, for arresting Felons, and distraining him and other Clergymen for Debts and Amerciaments due to the King, till they released the prisoners and distresses, and entred into Bonds to pay great sums to the Bishop; and some Bayliffs dying excommunicate, the Bishop by his Officials cast their corps out of the Churchyard when buried, till their Friends compounded with his Officers for great sums of money to re-interr them, to the high contempt, dishonour and damage of the King, the Earl, County and People, the disinherison of the Rights of the Crown, the prejudice of the Kings Officers, Service, and great discontent, terrour and oppression of his people; as this new Remonstrance, Complaint of the Earl and County of Cornwall against him to the King, informs us more at large, thus recorded in this Plea Roll.

K. Edward 1. An Exact History of Popes Intollerable Usurpations, B. 5. ch. 1.

An. 6 E. 1. By this memorable Record, Petition, Remonstrance, Complaint, and others preceding and following, it is most evident: 1. That our Bishops, with their Officials, Archdeacons, Deans, and other Officers in this age, endeavoured to usurpe and engrosse all sorts of Temporal Causes into their own hands, and Spiritual Courts, to fulminate Excommunications, with other Ecclesiastical censures against them for Civil offences, extort moneys, bonds, and impose pecuniary Fines upon them, to the great prejudice of the Kings Prerogative, and peoples intollerable vexation. 2ly. That they endeavoured to exempt themselves from all secular and Regal Jurisdiction or Censures, for such Exorbitances or Usurpations, and to subject themselves wholly or principally to the Popes Judicature, to which they appealed from the Kings Justices, who was ready to protect, comply with them against the King and Subjects. 3ly. It is observable, That the King by his Attorney declared the damages he sustained by these several Usurpations of this Bishop upon the Rights of his Crown and peoples Liberties, to amount to no lesse then Thirty One Thousand Pounds, which he had Judgement to recover against him; that the Earl of Cornwall declared his damages thereby received, to amount to Ten Thousand Pounds, for which he had likewise Judgement, and a Writ of Execution against him; and the Sheriff of Cornwall One Hundred Pound damages awarded against the Bishop, for his injurious Excommunication denounced against him; besides the Thousand Pounds damages to the King and Earl, specified in the last Remonstrance: Which presidents if strictly pursued, would deterre all Bishops, with their Chancellors, Commissaries, Officials, from the like Usurpations and injurious Excommunications, since revived, continued, to the Kings dishonour, and the peoples unsufferable vexation. 4ly. That this Bishop by way of revenge, caused the Pope and Archbishop of Canterbury to Excommunicate and Interdict those of Cornwall, who complained against, and prosecuted these Usurpations, Oppressions of the Bishop and his Officers; who after two years contest, to avoid the Judgements given against him upon the premised Verdicts by the Kings Justices, solicited Queen Alienor and the Bishop of Bath and Wells (then Chancellor of England) to become Arbitrators, to make a final accord and release of all Suits, Judgements, Differences pending between him and the Earl of Cornwall, their Officers and Tenants, in all Temporal or Ecclesiastical Courts whatsoever; which they accordingly did, as appears by this their award made between them, to the Earls and Kings great disadvantage, by the Chancellors power, who favoured his brother Bishop, and caused this award to be entred on Record in his favour An. 8 E. 1. which I shall here insert.

* Ralph Holinshed in his Chronicle, and Bishop Godwin in his Catalogue of Bishops, * Page 1303, p. 326. render us this further account of this Bishop of Exeters frauds and oppressions. He did by a Policy purchase the Lordship and House of Clift Sachfeld, and enlarged the Barton thereof by gaining of Cornish Wood from the Dean and Chapter fraudulently; building then a very fair and sumptuous house there; he called it Bishops Clift, and left the same to his Successors. Likewise he got the Patronage of Clift Fomeson, now called Sowton, and annexed the same to his new Lordship, which (as it was said) he procured by this means. He had a Frier to be his Chaplain and Confessor, which died in his said House of Clift, and should have been buried at the Parish Church of Faringdon, because the said House was and is in that Parish; but because the Parish Church was somewhat farre off, the wayes foul, and the weather rainy, or for some other causes, the Bishop commanded the Corps to be carryed to the parish Church of Sowton, then called Clift Fomeson, which is very near, and bordereth upon the Bishops Lordship; the two Parishes being then divided by a little Lake called Clift. At this time one Fomeson, a Gentleman, was Lord and Patron of Clift Fomeson; and he being advertised of such a Burial towards in his Parish, and a leech way to be made over to his Land, without his leave or consent required therein; calleth his Tenants together, goeth to the Bridge over the Lake between the Bishops Land and his; there meeteth the Bishops men, bringing the said Corps, and forbiddeth them to come over the Water. The men nothing regarding the Prohibition, do pzeis forwarde to come over the water, and the others do withstand, so long, that in the end, my Lords Fryer is fallen into the Water. The Bishop taketh this matter in such grief, that a holy Fryer, a Religious Man, his own Chaplain and Confessor, should be so unreverently cast into the Water, that he falleth out with the Gentleman, and upon what occasion I know not, he sueth him in the Law, (in his own Ecclesiastical Court, where he was both party and Judge) and so vexeth and tormenteth him, that in the end he was fain to yeld himself to the Bishops debotion, and seeketh all the wayes he could to curry the Bishops good will, which he could not obtain, untill for Redemption he had given up and surrendered his Patronage of Sowton, with a peece of Land; all which the said Bishop annexed to his new Lordship. Thus by Policy he purchased the Honour of Bishops Clift; by a Devise gaineth Cornish Wood; and by Power wresteth the Patronage of Sowton from the true Owner. Yet because he thus enlarged his Churches possessions and Jurisdiction by these unchristian frauds and oppressions, he was at his death (July 22. 1280.) cryed up for a most sincere Father of the Church, an unparalleled Saint, worthy all love and honor, by this Epitaph engraven on his Tomb in our Ladies Chappel of Exeter, where he was buried.

On the other hand <sup>b</sup> Archbishop Kilwardby, advanced meerly by the Pope, by his own Pontifical authority this year, without any Commission from the King, Totam Cantuariæ Provinciam visitationis jure peragravit, seque donis non imperitando, sed artificiose, ut fratres sui ordinis solebant, suadendo locupletavit. At hac visitatione Academias ipsas Metropolitica auctoritate ingressus est; & Oxonii in Scholis, non modo de Theologia, sed de Philosophia, atque Logica argutè disceptavit. In quibus artibus multas Oxoniensium opiniones & sententias tanquam minus probabiles reprehendit, atque refellit; quas opiniones Johannes Peckam qui cum in Archiepiscopatu proxime secutus est, instituta Cleri Synodo, cum inania tantum & inepta sophisticorum essent deliria, * tanquam hæreticas, et a fide Christiana abhærentes, condemnavit.

This Archbishop having gained much wealth by his Visitation, and other means in England; * a Nicholao 3. Papa Romam ad præcium participandum accitus est, ab eo- que Cardinalis Hostiensis & Portuensis Episcopus creatus est; that so he might by his Papal Provision and authority confer it on another, who would pay well for it, and be sure to serve his turn upon all occasions, without any previous consent of the King, or election by the Monks, as his predecessors had done in the cases of Kilwardby, Sr. Edmund, and Stephen Langton before, to the prejudice of the Kings Right and Prerogative, and Monks privilege. In pursuit whereof, as <sup>c</sup> Matthew Westminster stories, Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Robertus per Nicholaum tertium Papam, ab Archiepiscopatus onere absolutus, vocabatur ad Cardinalatus honorem. Post cuius vocationem, Monachi Cantuarienses Dominum Robertum Burnel Bathon. & Wellensem Episcopum, Regis Cancellarium, postularunt; cuius postulatio per Summum Pontificem quassabatur, et Frater Johannes de Peckam, Ordinis fratrum Minorum, vir perfectissimus in doctrina, per Romanam Curiam præficebatur Ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariæ in Pastorem.

* Matthew Parker Archbishop of Canterbury writes thus of Kilwardby his translation, Cantuariensi Archiepiscopatu non tam sponte cessit, quam ut alium sui ordinis atque loci virum illius scaturiginis minorum in Anglia fratrum sicut ipse fuerat Provinciale, loco suo a Papa surrogari procuraret. Horum igitur fratrum aucta, & Monachorum extenuata tam Regi quam Papa gratia, cum Robertus, ex illo fratrum græge, Cantuariensi Archiepiscopatu cessisset, Papa eundem Archiepiscopatum Johanni Peckam, Monachis Cantuariensibus non modo non requisitis, sed etiam invitatis contulit, eumque sine Suffraganeorum presentia Romana in Curia consecravit, Nam Monachi Johannem Burnel Bathoniensem Episcopum, necnon Cancellarium postularant, fulaverant, qua postulatione spreta et contempta, Johannes in Archiepiscopatum Papali voce tanquam fulmine immissus est. The Chancellor, Bishop Burnel, being very wealthy, chusing rather to recede from his right to the Archbishoprick, then to contest it with the Pope, or Peckam, to avoid the Popes displeasure, and the King then needing the Popes favour to promote his forreign affairs, was content to connive at this Papal usurpation for the present.

Our Records inform us; 1. That the Archbishoprick of Canterbury became ipso facto voyd in Law, by this Popes creating Kilwardby Cardinal of Ostia, and translating him to the Bishoprick of Portua; whereupon the King forthwith committed the Custody of the Temporalities, and presented to Livings becoming voyd by this his translation. On which <sup>d</sup> Polydor Virgil hath this special observation; Hinc cernere licet apud nostros Pontifices aliquod spicere iam tum fuisse, cum per legem paucis liceret duas simul obtinere Provincias, quando Robertus Portueni Episcopatum consecutus, & Cantuariensi abdicavit. Quod legem nunc prece ebertam, nam quisque pro opibus, pro potentia, plures habent Episcopatus, ut nullum illozum (ita credere par est) recte gubernent; qui talem commissi gregis curam non officio, sed atque Deo cupiditate metiri videntur. A sharp, but true censure of this abuse by the Popes own Collector of Peter-pence in England, when he penned his History. 2ly. That the King out of special grace and favour to this translated Archbishop, granted him liberty to receive the rents of several Livings he had reserved to himself, after his translation, belonging of right to the King by the vacancy, and received the stock of the Archbishoprick from him, at the same rate he received it upon his installment from the Guardian of the Temporalities: I shall present you with some of these Records to these purposes.

<sup>a</sup> Matthew Parker stories, that this new created Archbishop John Peckam, (who succeeded Kylwarby) before his advance to this See, Lugduni cum esset, juri civitatis atque Pontificio operam dedit; in quibus ut uberiores haberet progressus, Italiam Academiis perlustravit. In his cum diuturnam operam posuisset multumque profecisset, Romanam Curiam adiit: In qua causas tanta juris peritia tractavit, ut sacro Papa palatio causarum auditor a Papa praefereretur. Cessu, incessu, et sermone glorioso et elato fuit. Cumque (after his consecration and mission to Canterbury by the Pope) magna ex more solemnitate atque pompa Cantuariæ in throno ac sede collocandus esset, literis suis Winton. Exon. Wigorn. Bathon. Norwicen. Hereforden. Ciceitren. Rossen. Landaffi Episcopos, Abbatesque ac Priores sua provincia locupletiores interesse, ac tam magnifico convivio carnem ternam, volucres, pisces, et ejusmodi munera exhibere iussit. Monachi Cantuarienses hanc in Archiepiscopatu conferendo Papæ Nicholai injuriam, qui Regia æquissima jura ferre non poterant, inbiti perpessi sunt. Hic frater Johannes (ut Robertus Kylwardby in Concilio Gregorii decimi ante fecit) subinde se Papæ creaturam; Papamque suum Creatorem agnoscit: Sed dirus ille Creator (which is worthy observation) suam creaturam in primo Archiepiscopatus ingressu, exactis quatuor marcarum millibus, diripuit, penique destruxit. Qua de re his verbis ad Papam suum creatorem cujus calum Romæ situm cum omnipotentia existimabatur, scripsit.

Ecce me creastis, et quanto creatura a suo naturaliter appetit perfici creatore, sic in meis oppressionibus censeo per vos recreandum. Sane nuper ad me perbenit cuiusdam executionis litera horribilis in aspectu, et auditu terribilis, quod nisi infra mensem Perceptoribus Lucanensibus cum effectu de quatuor millibus marcarum quæ in Romana Curia contrahi, satisfaciam, ex tunc sum excommunicationis sententia innodatus, et in Ecclesia mea, et aliis majoribus, pulsatis campanis, accensis candelis, excommunicatus denunciaret singulis diebus Dominicis et festis. Hanc tam grandem solutionem impossibilem sibi futuram, rescribit. Quoniam & Robertus Kylwarby, discedens Ecclesia Cantuariensis bona secum abstulisset, & ante eum Bonifacius adificia Archiepiscopalia caduca & ruinosam reliquisset, et Rex unius anni redditus retinisset, & sibi ad unius anni sumptus sustinendos magna sumenda est pecunia. Qua in Angliam jam crebris solutionibus exhausta, haberi vix aut ne vix quidem poterat. Et ad Gentilem quendam suum in Romana Curia familiarem scribit; se conatum ad accipiendum mutuo duo millia marcarum pro intronizationis sue sumptibus, octavo idus Octobris proximi faciendis. Illa autem Papalis cantela, ut hi, quibus pecunias mercatoribus suis solvendas imperaret, agnoscerent se ad suos usus mutuos prius accepisse, non nova jam fuit, sed à Rustando quondam Papa in Anglia quastore callidissimo in usum, novo exemplo introducta. Johannes sapè atque multa non modo Papa, sed Cardinalibus suoque confratri, atque predecessori Roberto Kylwarby, ut ab hac solutione liberaretur scripsit; quod cum impetrare non poterat, datus est ei post diuturnam intercessionem agre tandem unius anni ad solvendum dilatio. Interea Robertus Kylwarby Anglicanis spoliis locuples, in dignitatis sua culmine positus, cujus usuram perexiguo percepit tempore, Romæ vita functus est. Quo mortuo atque intestato, frater Johannes Peckam ad Papam, qui intestatorum bona, pauperibus et pijs usibus ipso jure Pontificio concessa sibi referbabit, de restituendis Cantuariensi Ecclesiæ 5000. marcas, quas Robertus Romam discedens ab eadem Ecclesia iniuste abstulisset, literas dedit. Ad quas etiam repetendas procuratorem Anselmum quendam suum constitutum cum multis ad Cardinales mandatis misit. Etsi mirum videri possit hominem satis astutum atque callidum, quique ipsas Romanas versutias longè dectius tempore cognovisset, ejusmodi expectatione atque spe decipi voluisse. Praeterea cum suo exemplo, ex antedictis quatuor marcarum millibus, Papam non reddendis, sed exigendis rationibus assiduam dare operam, intellexisset. Sed dum hac petitione liberari se saltem ab illa 4000. marcarum prestatione sperabat, pro eisdem solvendis, literis nobis Papales execrationes minantibus illico interpellatus est. Quo quasi imperato sibi silentio re perinde atque spe excidens princeps conticuit. Thus the Pope preyed upon his own creatures, and they upon the Church of Canterbury, and England in that age.

Cæterum nobis non displicet, quod vos de Abbate de Basingwerk exigitis ea quæ vos & predecessores vestri semper hæcenus jussu & pacifice percipere consuevistis, set intencionis nostræ fuerat cum pro ipso vobis scripsimus, vobis ea potius suadere quæ ad honorem vestrum spectare noscuntur, quam eisdem Abbati aliquam immunitatem præstare ad id faciendum, quod ipse & predecessores sui vobis & progenitoribus vestris semper hæcenus jussu & debite facere consueverunt. Verumtamen vos rogamus, quod ad ipso alia non petatis, quam ea quæ jussu et debite petere debetis, et hæcenus percipere solebatis, et ipsum adeo humaniter tradetis, quod ad justam querimoniam suam, cui sicut nec cæteris de regno nostro in justitia deesse non possumus, nos non oporteat iusticiariis nostris ibidem demandare, quod auditis suis querimoniis sibi fieri faciant iusticiæ complementum. Articulum autem pacis inter nos & vos ibidem, de quo vestra litteræ mentionem faciebant, videlicet de placitis & controversiis in Marchia & Wallia audiendis & terminandis, aliter non intelligimus, nec intelligi potest, quam temporibus predecessorum nostrorum Regum Angliæ, & etiam temporibus nostris semper hæcenus usitatum extitit & consuetum; nec etiam aliud ex verbis pacis elici potest, nisi quod controversiæ & contenciones motæ in Marchia secundum Leges Marchiæ, & illæ quæ in Wallia oriuntur, secundum leges Wallie, audiri & terminari debent, ad certos dies & loca quos nos ibidem partibus duxerimus præfigendos. Et idcirco coram iusticiis nostris in partibus illis, ad dies et loca quos ipsi vobis scire facient, coram ipsis venietis, ad faciendum & recipiendum quod iusticia dictaverit secundum leges supradictas. Aliæ autem vera illius articuli interpretatio fieri non potest, nec aliud unquam intelleximus aut intelligimus in hac parte, sinistra siquidem ad alicujus fallam suggestionem de vobis non credemus, set potius speramus quod facta dictis compensabitis, et erga nos et nostros semper fideliter vos geratis. In most of the Fine and Clause Rolls of King Edward the 1. I find sundry Writs of like nature, for delivering the Goods and Chattels of Bishops, Abbots, and also of Laymen who held of the King in Capite, on their Demesne Lands or elsewhere, seised by the Escheators, Sheriffs or Bayliffs of the King, for satisfaction of Debts and Duties owing to them, to the Executors of their last Wills and Testaments, only upon sufficient pledges or security given by them to the King, to satisfy all Debts and Duties owing to him in the first place; but I find no one president in any Records during his reign, nor before or after it, of any such Writs for restoring the Goods of any Bishop, Abbot, Tenant in Capite, or other Tenant of the King dying Intestate, to his Administrators: From whence it seems most apparent to me; 1. That Administrators of Bishops, Abbots, and other of the Kings Tenants dying Intestate, are not within the meaning or intention of that Act, but only the Executors of such of them who actually made Testaments in their life time, as the words, quod clarum fuerit et restorum relinquatur Executoribus ad faciendum Testamentum defuncti, most fully and positively declare. 2ly. That our Bishops and Canonists straining, extending this Law to Administrators of persons dying Intestate, and reputing the surplussage of their Estates, after their Debts and Duties satisfied, and Wives and Childrens shares deducted, to be de Testamento; and thereupon distributing them to such pious uses as they think meet, is a direct contradiction to the words and intention of this Act, and repugnancy in it self; Testate & Intestate, Executoribus ad faciendum Testamentum defuncti, & Administratoribus Intestati ad faciendam voluntatem Ordinarii, being as opposite and contradictory to each other, as Life and Death, Executors and no Executors, Testament and no Testament; which all their Evasions to enlarge their Jurisdiction over Intestates Estates can never reconcile, no more then they can * Light and Darknesse, God and Mammon.

Whereupon this new elected Archbishop repaired to Rome to Pope Nicholas the 3. for his confirmation and consecration; where his election was declared null by the Bishop and Cardinals to whom the Pope referred the examination thereof, for some pretended defects therein: yet because he had the majority of voices, and was a deserving man, lest the Church should continue longer void to its prejudice, he by his own usurping Papal provision created and consecrated him Archbishop, and sent this Bull to the King, (the Original whereof I found in the White Tower) informing him of the premises, and desiring his Royal favour for the restitution of his Temporalities.

Upon which the King was pleased to restore his Temporalities.

Thus this Pope by his Provisions usurped a power to confer the Archbishopricks of Canterbury and Yorke, and likewise to ratifie the election of the Abbey of St. Edmunds, as appears by this Patent.

This Pope not content with these Provisions and Usurpations in England, the Archbishoprick of Dublin in Ireland being then void, and in the Kings hands, he did by his Papal plenitude of Power confer it by Provision (without the Kings license, or the Deans and Chapters election) on Freer John de Derlington, his former *Tax-gatherer in England; who resorting to the King in person, and taking an Oath of Fealty to him, (entered verbatim in the Patent Roll) he out of his special grace not only restored the Temporalities of the Archbishoprick to him, but likewise granted him the free use and exercise of all Liberties and ordinary Jurisdiction within his Archbishoprick, as amply as any of his predecessors claimed or enjoyed them by his or his Progenitors Charters, as these Records attest.

Anno 7 E. 1.

Edwardus Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, & Dux Aquitanie, dilectis Clericis ejus Magistro Thomæ Bek, & Johanni de Kirkeby, salutem. Cum quidam Galfridus le Chapeleyn quondam provisionem in Ecclesia Sancti Martini Magni London. quæ est libera Capella nostra, de quodam Præbenda in eadem sibi ad executionem venerabilis patris J. London. Episcopi, quancumque ad hoc se offerret facultas conferenda, a sede Apostolica impetraverit; propter quod idem Episcopus de Præbenda quæ fuit Johannis le Fauconer defuncti in eadem Ecclesia quam dilectus Clericus noster Magister Johannes de Cadomo vendidit ex collatione Decani Ecclesie memorate prædicto Capellano, ut accepimus prohibere intendit, et per diversa privilegia nobis a sede Apostolica sit instituta, ut Capellæ nostræ libere ab hujusmodi provisionibus penitus sint exempta; unde posset nobis et hæreditibus nostris futuris temporibus magnum præjudicium generari, si dicti Capellani provisione in hac parte sortiretur effectum: Vobis mandamus, quod prædicto Magistro Johanni, vel nuncio suo, tam pro iure nostro quam ipsius Clerici nostri salvando Brevia competentia de magno sigillo nostro, eis quorum interest dirigenda super præmissis in forma debita faciatis. Teste meipso apud Card. 8 die Junii, anno regni nostri septimo.

Ibidem.

Excellentia vestra, si placet, monstravit Willielmus de Lewes & Walterus de Tothylle Capellani & Canonici vestri libera Capella de Hastings ibidem residentes, quod Dominus Episcopus Cicestrensis et ejus Officiales, (always usurping upon the Kings Prerogatives) non cessant eis graviter et iniuste molestare, videlicet ad Synodum suam citando, Ecclesias suas ad prædictam liberam Capellam vestram spectantes interdicens, ita quod mortuos sepelire, et infantes baptizare, nec missas in eisdem Ecclesiis celebrare non possunt, ab eorum dampnum non modicum et gravamen, et ad maximum præjudicium et contemptum præfate Capellæ vestræ, ab hujusmodi molestis auctoritate Apostolicæ immunitatis existentis. Super istis petit remedium, &c. Præterea Dominus Rex consulit prædicto Waltero de Tothylle Præbendam quam Galfridus de Wynton tenuit, cum omnibus suis pertinentiis quam habet, excepto quadam domo quam dictus Galfridus edificavit sibi & successoribus suis; quare petit litteras Domini Regis Ballivi de Hastings, quod plenam iusticiam in hac parte sibi faciat, quia non habet ubi caput suum possit reclinare. Dicamus noster petit deponi, nec vult ulterius esse Decanum, (by reason of the Bishops vexations, and violations of his Priviledges.)

To which I shall subjoyn this memorable Prohibition to Oliver Sutton Dean of Lincoln, and the Canons thereof, and Archdeacon of Derby, for exercising Jurisdiction over his Free-Chappel of All Saints in Derby, in derogation of his Crown and Dignity, by Excommunicating the Ministers thereof, and giving occasion to draw them out of the Realm by Appeals.

 Cum ipsa Ecclesia Omnium Sanctorum, cum Præbendis & aliis pertinentiis suis, sit libera Capella nostra, et ab omni Jurisdictione ordinaria exempta, ac Domino Papæ immediate subjecta, et ex donatione prædecessorum nostrorum Regum Angliæ ad Decanatum Ecclesie Lincolnæ pertineat. Ac Magister Jordanus de Wynburn Archidiaconus Derb. Jurisdictionem ordinariam pro libito sibi vendicet et multipliciter usurpare contendat, sententiam Excommunicationis in quosdam ipsius Ecclesie Derb. Ministros de sacro cum de jure non possit temere proferendo, in grave præjudicium libertatum nostrarum, et Regis dignitatis, necnon et sedis Apostolicæ contemptum manifestum, ut intelleximus. Nos ne nobis præjudicium in hac parte generetur prohibere cupientes: Vobis mandamus firmiter inhibentes, sicut alias per litteras celeberrimæ memoriæ Domini H. Regis patris vobis inhibuit fuisse compertimus, ne Coventrensis, et Lichfield, Episcopo, Archidiacono Derb. vel eorum Officialibus, Decanis, vel aliis quibuscunque Jurisdictionem ordinariam in dicta Ecclesia Omnium Sanctorum sibi vendicantibus, aliquo modo pareatis vel intendatis, contra libertates et privilegia nostra prædicta. Et quia audivimus præteritu contentione hujusmodi super libertatibus dictæ Capellæ nostræ inter vos et ipsum Archidiaconum exortæ, quasdam Appellationes fuisse interpositas occasione quarum posset nobis de facili super libertatibus prædictis præjudicium generari, eidem Archidiacono per alias litteras nostras nuper inhibuimus, sicut et vobis tenore præsentium inhibemus, ne ipse vel vos occasione Jurisdictionis prædictæ per modum querelæ vel Appellationis alicujus super prædictis libertatibus extra Regnum nostrum Angliæ aliquo modo agitetis vel agitari procuretis, in præjudicium nostrum et Ecclesie supradictæ. In cuius, &c. Teste Rege apud Westm. 28 die Aprilis.

This Dean and his Officials refusing to receive another Writ of Prohibition issued to them in the Kings name, and contemptuously rejecting and trampling it under their feet; the King thereupon issued two successive Writs against them, to appear before him and his Council, to answer this high contempt of his Royal authority, as this Record informs us.

Edwardus Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, & Dux Aquitanie, Venerabili in Christo Patri R. eadem gratia Lincoln. Episcopo, salutem. Dorso. Magister Rogerus de Cave non est inventus in nostra diocesi, nec potuit inveniri, veruntamen ipsum fecimus apud beneficia sua quae obtinet in nostra Diocesi citari, quod sit coram Domino Rege apud Stamford in primo adventu suo ibidem, ad faciendum et recipiendum (quod salvo ordine Clericali) ibidem fuerit prohibendum. A strange (salvo for such an high contempt, which the King so highly resented, as he had just cause.) These Prohibitions and Writs demonstrate how bold the Prelates, Archdeacons, and their Officials were then grown, in contemning and trampling under foot the Kings Prohibitions and Regal Authority, and invading the rights of the Crown, being encouraged by the Popes premised Usurpations, and their new Archbishops, which I shall next relate.

John Peckam, Archbishop of Canterbury, was no sooner settled in his Metropolitick Chair by the Kings extraordinary favour, but like a Pope of our other World he presumed to summon a Provincial Council of his Suffragans and Clergy at Redding, by his own Archiepiscopal authority. The main design whereof was, to publish some New Constitutions against Pluralities and Commendae, (against which he was very zealous all his life) but especially to enforce all former, and adde some new Clauses of Excommunication against such of the Kings Judges, Ministers and Subjects, who should grant or sue forth any Prohibitions to controul their Usurpations upon the Kings Prerogative, or Subjects Rights, Liberties, Priviledges; or not execute their illegal Excommunications, for not observing such Decrees as Popes, their Nuncios, or his predecessors had published in former Councils; thus registred to Posterity.

Jacobi Apostoli, frater Johannes Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, convocatis universis Suffraganeis suis apud Radinges, celebrabit Concilium, in quo Constitutiones Concilii generalis, quod silentio praeire non conuenit, innovavit; viz. quod singuli Mediores Ecclesiarum unico tantum beneficio, curam animarum habente, cogentur esse contenti, quin etiam omnes ad ordinem Sacerdotii infra annum se faciant promovere.  qui in benignitate, tolerantia et lenitate ingredi, et progredi potius affectamus in singulis, quam in severitate nimia ac rigore plectere corrigenda: Quia tamen facti contra decorem Ecclesiasticæ honestatis, sub dissimulatione de cætero nequeat per-licet juxta Constitutionis rigorem Domini Octoboni sic recipiens plura Beneficia, etiam ipso jure sit ultimo præbatus; præcabere tamen volentes, ne rigorem videamur coercere rigoremque etiam Constitutionis tam Concilii generalis, quam etiam Domini Octoboni clarius advertentes, quarum neutra et præbentis, et ultimo simul præbat, cum Concilium generale sola auferat præbentia, ultimum tamen re-

(A very memorable, usefull Constitution, worthy observation.)

Nos, fratres charissimi, firmiter injungendo mandamus in virtute obedientiæ, quatinus per vos, seu Officiales vestros, Archidiaconos et Decanos, nomina et numerum Ecclesiarum cum cognomine, agnomine, vel Prenomine, ita quod possit haberi notitia personarum, tempora ipsarum Ecclesiarum collationum factarum ipsis Rectoribus, seu assignationum per modum quemcunque; quo titulo eas obtineant, Institutionis, Commendationis, aut solius Custodiæ; cuius ætatis sint memorati Rectores, seu Ecclesiarum huiusmodi detentores, in quo ordine fuerint constituti; utrum alibi quam in una Ecclesia beneficiati existant? Item, utrum cum eis dispensatum fuerit super pluralitate huiusmodi obtinenda, et qui sunt, et in quibus modis censeantur earum Ecclesiarum Patroni; In cuius æstimationis sint singulæ Ecclesiæ seu balozis, iuxta taxationem Norwicensis, faciatis distinde conscribi, et scripturas hæc omnia continentem clare et distinde confectas, singuli Episcopi de singulis Diocessibus suis nobis ad Civitatem London. transmittant in Otava Sancti Hilarii; quibus loco et die, sabente Altissimo, ad ipsius laudem congregati erimus iterato. Illi autem qui in renuntiatione seu descriptione præfata, nobis ut supra, injungimus facienda, fraudem vel dolum commiserint, vel veritatem instructioni nostræ necessariam subitendo, aut falsitatem (quod absit) aliquam immiscendo, vel per bias alias callide comento quocunque circa præfata verlando, quo minus ad nos perveniat veritas atque notitia præmissorum, poenam falsarii merito poterint formidare.

By which Constitution it is most apparent; 1. That the Plurality of Ecclesiastical Benefices and Commendæ, especially with Cure of Souls, was prohibited, condemned by several Popes, Popes Legates, the Constitutions and Decrees of General, National, Provincial Councils both abroad and at home, as most scandalous, pernicious, impious mischiefs, dishonourable to God, destructive to the peoples, and Pluralists souls, and prejudicial to Gods Church, Worship and Christian Religion. 2ly. That notwithstanding all former Canons and Constitutions made against them, yet through the avarice, ambition, impiety of Pluralists, the dispensations or connivance of Popes and Prelates for their own filthy lucre, they still increased more more and more, and continued unredressed (as they do till this very day) as a growing mischief, and cancerous ulcer past all cure, to the eternal infamy of those Popes, Prelates, and Ecclesiastical Officers who ought in duty, conscience effectually to suppress them, for the honour, advancement of Religion, Gods Worship, Service, and salvation of the peoples souls. 3ly. That the principal end of these Canons and Constitutions of Popes and Archbishops against Pluralities and Commendaes, was but to gain more monies for dispensations with them, or a new power to dispose of such Churches and Benefices for which they could not procure such sums for dispensations as they demanded, as the precedent and this next Constitution manifests.

De Institutionibus & Ecclesiarum Commendis.

*Ut Constitutio ista, prout lata est in Constitutione Lugdunensi, quoad verba & quoad sententiam verborum omnino servetur, ipse quoque Summus Pontifex decernit, & nos ipsi vestigiis inherentes, decernimus beneficia aliter commendata a tempore Concilii Lugdunensis, seu quæ diutius sub commendationis specie sunt optenta, quam Constitutio memorata Gregoriana permittit; Illa quoque quæ sub specie custodiæ, quam Summus Pontifex nihil differre æstimat a Commenda, aliter vel diutius sint optenta, quam tenore Constitutionis Gregorianæ commemorat, necnon et illa quæ sunt collata minoribus 22. annis, aut hiis, qui infra annum post admissionem talis beneficii in Presbyteros non fuerint ordinati, esse vacantia ipso iure; ipsa quoque quorum per negligentiam Prelatorum seu Capitulorum, ad nos vel ad Sedem Apostolicam fuerit devoluta collatio, nobis et Sedis Apostolicæ collationem huiusmodi specialiter reservamus, decernentes irritum et inane, &c. ut supra. Secundo, Excommunicantur universi, qui scienter falsum perhibent testimonium, vel perhiberi procurant, vel qui tales testes scienter producunt vel subornant, ad impediendum iustum Patrimonium, vel ad exheredationem alicujus procurandam.

Nono, Excommunicantur per eundem quicumque de Domibus, Paneris, vel Cangiis, vel locis aliis Archiepiscoporum vel Episcoporum, vel aliarum personarum Ecclesiasticarum, contra ipsorum voluntatem, seu custodum rerum earundem aliquid auferunt vel consumunt, vel injuriose tractant, quæ omnia sententia litigantur, nec absolvi possunt, donec de injuriis satisfecerint competenter.

Decimo, Excommunicantur ab eodem, quicumque abstrahunt violententer reum ad Ecclesiam, vel Cimiterium, vel Claustrum fugientem, vel qui ei dictum necessarium prohibent exhiberi, vel qui res alienas in locis eisdem depositas violententer asportant vel asportari faciunt, vel qui asportationem talem factam nomine suo vel a familiaribus suis ratam habent, vel qui ad hoc publice vel occulte consilium præbuerint vel consenserint.

Undecimo, Excommunicati sunt ab omnibus Archiepiscopis et Episcopis Angliæ, omnes qui veniunt et faciunt contra Magnam Chartam; quæ sententia per Sedem Apostolicam et pluries confirmata et approbata.

Auditis (fratres charissimi Corpiscopi nostri) articulos, in quibus Sanctorum Patrum Conciliis, incurritur sententia Excommunicationis, ipso facto. Sane etiam articuli præter istos, in quibus Episcopi, ipso facto, suspensionis vinculo innodantur per eadem Concilia, quorum Constitutiones quandoque Prælatos ab officio, quandoque à quibusdam Episcoporum insigniis, quandoque à Beneficiorum collatione suspendunt; quæ omnia ex ipsorum Conciliorum tenore colligere poteritis evidenter, in quas liquidem poenas veremur nos, vel aliquos, tanquam temeratores Constitutionum in ipsis editarum Conciliis incidisse: veremur etiam ne sic ligatis divina celebraveris, et Officia vestra, ut prius fuerint assecuti; veremur etiam ne notam irregularitatis contraxeritis in hac parte. Sed quicquid fueris de præterito, hortamur nos ex parte Domini Patris Omnipotentis, monemus, & in virtute obedientie firmiter vobis injungimus, quod de cætero Concilioz statuta supradictorum, necnon et Statutorum nostrorum in præsentis Congregationis primordio editorum, cum Dei timore, et omni diligentia observetis, et faciatis a vestris subditis observari: Alioquin super vos provocabitis iram Dei, & Canonicam merito formidare poteritis ultionem: Et si istorum ignorantia quengquam reddere valeat excusatum, de omnibus quæ nostra congregatione præsentis recitata sunt, publicata seu ordinata hanc formam teneri volumus in futurum; ut hæc omnia (fratres & Corpiscopi nostri) per vos vel Archidiaconos vestros faciatis in vestris Synodis publicari; nihilominus Constitutiones Domini Ottoboni de Baptismo, necnon etiam extracta de quatuor Conciliis in Sessionis nostra primordio memoratis, super diversis articulis, in quibus Excommunicationis vinculum incurritur ipso jure, in singulis Ecclesiis tam majoribus quam minoribus, per quatuor dies Dominicos, post celebrationem quatuor Capitulorum principalium, faciatis rectari. Constitutio vero edita super Concubinis in Concilio Ottoboni in quatuor Capitulis ruralibus, & in principalibus, exclusis tamen Laicis, publicetur. Quæ autem à nobis fuerint in præsentis ordinata vel adjecta Conciliis suprascriptis Ottoboni, his in anno, viz. in duobus generalibus Capitulis Archidiaconatum precipimus singulorum auribus inculcari. Ipsam autem Chartam Domini Regis super Libertatibus Ecclesiarum per Regem concessis, bene et aperte conscriptam in singulis Ecclesiis Cathedralibus, seu Collegiatis, in loco publico subemus affigi, ut omnium intrantium oculis se palam exhibeat, et in fine anni in vigilia Paschæ et Pentecostes renovetur; ut sublata veteri, nova recensque bene scripta substituatur eidem; (not out of zeal to preserve the peoples Liberties, not here mentioned, which they trampled under feet by these their Excommunications, but to advance the Churches pretended Liberties, Usurpations over the Kings and peoples persons, Rights and Privileges.)

De Pueris Baptizandis, &c.

Quod in præsentis Constitutione cavetur de pueris baptizandis, usque ad generale Baptismum Paschæ & Pentecostes, viz. reservandis, pro ipsius statuti reverentia, quod hætenus

hactenus videtur esse neglectum, sic duximus declarandum esse vel statuendum, ut pueri per octo dies ante Pascha, & per dies totidem ante Pentecosten, de matrum uteris nati, si absque periculo reservari valeant, reserventur usque ad illa tempora baptizandi; ita quod cum medio tempore inter natiuitatem puerorum huiusmodi & Baptismum, perfectum recipiant Cathecismum, solaque diebus Baptismi supersit immersio facienda. Alii autem qui aliis temporibus nati extiterint, tum propter mortale periculum, quod sapè pueris imminet improvvisum, tum propter simplicitatem parentum, qui contra formam Baptismi sunt faciliter erraturi, absque offensionis nota, iuxta vetustam consuetudinem, vel incontinenti cum fuerint nati, vel postea, prout placuerit ipsis parentibus, baptizentur. Quod si foris contigerit pueros propter mortis periculum à Laicis baptizari, caveant Sacerdotes, ne Baptismum legitime factum audeant iterari.

<sup>a</sup> Thomas Walsingham renders us only this brief account of this Councils proceedings: Frater Johannes Pecham Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus convocavit Concilium apud Radingum, ubi Suffraganeis suis imposuit, ut statuta generalis Concilii facerent arctius observari; then generally neglected, because not obligatory in point of Law, being not consented to or confirmed by the King and Parliament. During or about the time of this Council, (as <sup>b</sup> Mat. Westminster relates) mota fuit discordia inter Archiepiscopos (such was their ambition and insolence) Cantuariensem & Eboracensem, eo quod Archiepiscopus Eboracensis venturus ad Regem fecit deferri Crucem ante se in provincia Cantuariensi; et inhibuit fuit per Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem Edictis per totam provinciam suam promulgatis sub pœna Excommunicationis, ne quis Eboracensi vel suis famulis esculentis, poculentis, seu quæcumque ad victum necessaria ministrarent, ullusve publici aut privati negotii commercium cum illis haberet, vel contraheret, (such was his Papal Tyranny.) Cujus rei severitate, cum aut provincia infesto negotio excundum, aut fame pereundum esset Eboracensibus, crux illa tanto festu erecta, humiliter deposita et dejecta fuit.

The King so highly resented these Usurpations, Insolences, Constitutions, Excommunications, and proceedings of this Archbishop, that in a Parliament held this year soon after, he publicly convened him as a Delinquent, enforcing him to make this open memorable Revocation of them, recorded in the Clause Rolls in the Tower for a perpetual memorial, worthy all our Archbishops, Bishops, Canons, and our Judges serious consideration.

By which Record it is apparent: First, That our Archbishops and Bishops by the Laws and Custom of the Realm can summon no Provincial Council, nor make any new Articles or Clauses of Excommunication, Canons or Constitutions to binde the King, kingdom or people, without the Kings special Writ, license, and his Nobles, Parliaments approbation or confirmation of them; and that all sentences of Excommunication, Canons and Constitutions otherwise made and published, are void and unobligatory to the King and kingdom, as I have elsewhere evidenced by former Presidents. Secondly, That these Excommunications, Canons, Constitutions, though thus publicly revoked by the Archbp in Parliament before the King and his Council the same year they were made and promulged; were yet published, glossed upon, printed, and cried up for the received Canon Law of England, by William Lynde-wood, John Aton, and other bold or ignorant Canonists, and are lately published as such in Sir Henry Spelmans Councils. An abuse, yea Imposture, worthy our especial observation. Thirdly, That this Archbishop and his Suffragans, as well as his predecessors, were very active, industrious in their Provincial Synods, Councils, by new Canons & Constitutions, to advance their own usurped Authority and Jurisdiction paramount the Kings Prerogative, Judges, Ministers, Courts, and to subject them to their Ecclesiastical Censures, for suing out, granting, or executing any Prohibitions or Writs to restrain their Usurpations or Exorbitances to the prejudice of the Kings Prerogative, or Subjects Liberties or Properties; and that the King, his Parliament, Councils, Judges, were as sedulous to oppose and prevent their encroachments of this nature.

In this Parliament (wherein the Archbishop made this recantation and revocation) the King and Nobles, lest the unsatiable avarice, ambition of Abbots, Monks, and other religious persons, Prelates and Clergymen should swallow up all the Lands, Rents, wealth of the Crown and Kingdom by degrees, as they had formerly done a great part thereof, to the excessive prejudice of the Crown and other temporal Lords, against the Statute of Magna Charta, c. 36. which enacted, It shall not be lawfull from henceforth for any man to give his lands to any Religious house, and to take the same again to hold of the same house. Nor shall it be lawfull to any house of Religion to take lands of any man, and to lease the same to him of whom he received it. If any man from henceforth give his lands to any Religious house, and thereupon be convicted, the gift shall be utterly void, and the Land shall return to the Lord of the fee. (Which they had quite eluded by crafts and subtilties,) made this further Act against the alienation or purchase of Lands in Mortmain, ne omnes soli possessiones in Ecclesiis tandem transferantur, cuius ferenda legis fratrum et predicatorum avaritia, qui possessiones acquirere contra suum institutum ceperunt, causam dedit; as Matthew Parker observes out of Walter Gisleborne, and Peter de Ickham. Which Act is thus recorded in the Clause and Patent Rolls of 7 E. 1.

Nos super hoc pro utilitate Regni congruum remedium providendi volentes, de consilio Prelatorum, Comitum, et aliorum fidelium Regni nostri de Consilio nostro existenciam, prohibemus, statuimus, et ordinavimus, quod nullus religiosus aut alius quicumque terras aut tenementa aliqua emere vel vendere, aut sub colore donationis aut termini, vel alterius tituli cujuscunque ad aliquo recipere, aut alio quovis modo arte vel ingenio sibi appropriare presumat sub forisfactura eorundem, per quod ad manum mortuam terrarum et tenementa huiusmodi debeantur quoquo modo. Providimus etiam, quod si quis religiosus aut alius contra presens statutum aliquo modo arte vel ingenio venire presumpserit, liceat Nobis et aliis immediatis capitalibus Dominis feodi taliter alienati illud infra annum a tempore alienationis huiusmodi ingredi, et tenere in feodo et hereditate. Et si Dominus capitalis immediatus negligens fuerit, et feodum huiusmodi ingredi noluerit infra annum, tunc liceat proximo capitali domino mediato feodi illius, infra bimestrium annum sequentem feodum illud ingredi, et tenere, sicut predictum est, et sic quilibet dominus mediatas faciat si propinquior dominus in ingreduendo huiusmodi feodum negligens fuerit, ut predictum est. Et si omnes huiusmodi capitales domini huiusmodi feodi qui plenam fuerint ætatis, et infra quatuor maria, et extra prisonam per unum annum negligentes vel remissi fuerint in hac parte, Nos statim post annum completum a tempore quo huiusmodi emptiones, donationes, aut alias appropriationes fieri contigerit, terras et tenementa huiusmodi captemus in manum nostram, et alios inde feoffabimus per certa servicia nobis inde ad defensionem Regni nostri facienda, talibus capitalibus dominis feodorum illorum wardis, exactis, et aliis ad ipsos pertinentibus, ac serviciis inde debitis et consuetis. Et ideo vobis mandamus, quod Statutum predictum coram vobis legi, et de cetero teneri et observari faciatis. Teste Rege apud Westm. xiv. die Novembris. Et memorandum, quod istud Statutum irrotulatur in dogro Rotuli clausurarum de hoc anno.

<sup>c</sup> Matthew Westminster, a Monk, renders us this account and censure of this Act Contra Religiosos, Anno gratiæ 1280. Rex, Pontifices et Principes Anglicani Venerunt in unum, Ratuentes, Quod religiosæ personæ in ampliationibus terrarum non crescerent, dicentes, quod ad detrimentum Regni, et obsequii militaris, feoda militaria et aliæ possessiones ad religiosos in manum mortuam devenerunt; intelligere forsè volentes, quod potius orationibus Moyses (the chief Civil Magistrate, not of Popes, Prelates, Abbots, Monks) quam pugna filiorum Israel Amalachitarum exercitus vincebatur. <sup>d</sup> Thomas Walsingham, another of our Monks, refers this Act to the Parliament held at Westminster, Anno 3 E. 1. in quo Statuta edidit contra manum mortuam, ne de cetero possessiones terrarum seu reddituum, sine speciali Regis licentia ad manum mortuam devolvantur: being mistaken both in the year and Parliament, as this Record assures us. But this Act made little or no reformation of this abuse, and general grievance, the Bishops, Abbots, Monks, Nuns, and religious persons of all Orders, by frauds, flattery, favour, or for fines and sums of money to the King, immediately after this Act procuring pardons of, or licenses for alienations of Mannors, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Churches, Advowsons to them in Mortmain from this King and his successors, notwithstanding this Statute, as all the Patent, Charter, and Fine Rolls attest, being over-fraught with such dispensations every year, since this Act.

The King by his Prerogative having the disposal of the Temporalities of the Abby of St. Michael in Normandy of his progenitors foundation, and of all Cells thereto belonging during the vacancy of the Abbey, and the Covent thereof during the vacation violently intruding a Monk of theirs into the Custody of the Cell of St. Clements in Gernesey therunto belonging, in contempt of the King, and to the prejudice of his Crown and right, he thereupon issued this Writ to the Bailiffs of the Islands of Gernesey and Jersey to seise the Temporalities of the Cell into his hands, and answer the profits thereof to his Exchequer.

datione progenitorum suorum Regum Anglia, cujus quidem Abbacia Cellarum in Regno suo custodia in tempore vacationis Abbacia illius ad Regem ratione dignitatis sue dinoscitur pertinere; quidam Monachus Abbacia ejusdem nuper per Conventum ejusdem loci praefectus in Priorem Cella Sancti Clementis in Geresey, quae pertinet ad Abbaciam, homines Regis ad custodiam Cella ejusdem ratione vacationis dictae Abbacia deputatos nuper violenter ejecit, non permittens ipsos Custodiam illius Cella nomine suo retinere, sicut hactenus in aliis vacationibus praedicta Abbacia fieri consuevit, in Regis praedicti judicium et contemptum manifestum. Rex qui huiusmodi transgressionem relinquere non vult impunitam, mandabit Ballivo praedicto, quod ad Cellam praedictam personaliter accedat, et Temporalia ejusdem sine dilatione capiat in manum Regis, et ea salvo custodiat donec alius inde praeeperit. King Edward the 1. out of his Sovereign Regal authority, and duty towards God, to suppress the manifold Blasphemies of the Jews against Christ crucified, and the Christian Religion, prevent their seducing of Christians to Judaism, and the Apostacy of Jews converted to Christianity; as also to reform their usury, brocage, and clipping of money, for which many of them were executed this year, issued this memorable Writ and Proclamation in the 7th. year of his reign.

REX dilecto & fideli B. de Suley, & sociis suis, &c. & Johanni le Fauconner, salutem. Quia datum est nobis intelligi, quod quidam Judaei regni nostri fidem Catholicam et sacramenta Ecclesiastica haecenus diversimode blasphemare non formidant, nec adhuc formidant, in divini nominis contumeliam, et totius Christianae professionis opprobrium: Nos huiusmodi blasphemias, sicut Principem Catholicum decet reprimi cupientes, volumus, quod nullus Judaeus taliter de cetero blasphemare praesumat, videlicet, aliquod enorme, detestabile, aut abominabile dicendo, vel faciendo in blasphemiam Crucifixi, sive Catholicae, seu beatissimae matris Mariae Virginitatis, seu Ecclesiasticorum sacramentorum. Volumus etiam, quod hoc per omnia loca regni nostri in quibus Judaei morantur publice proclametur, et ne aliquis Judaeus sub periculo vitae et membrorum talia facere vel dicere praesumat. Et si quis notorius blasphemator inveniatur, ita quod per Inquisitionem per Sacramentum Christianorum bonorum et gravium inde faciendam inde convinci possit evidenter, volumus quod quilibet talis puniatur secundum quod in huiusmodi casibus alias fieri consuevit. Idem fiat de ipsis qui aliquando ad fidem Catholicam verbi baptizati fuerunt, et postmodum ad Judaicam praestitatem perverti ad eadem fide Apostatari praesumpserunt. Quod mulieres Judaeae de cetero portant signa in superioribus vestibus suis, sicut Judaei mares. Et quod Judaei de cetero nullo habeant servientes Christianos, mares aut feminas, secum in quibuscumque obsequiis commorantes, nec in domibus propriis, nec aliis in Civitatibus aut locis aliis ubi morantur, sed ipsi Judaei sibi invicem in omnibus serviant et ministrent, et hoc utique praecipitur tam Christianis quam Judaeis, sub gravi satisfactione nostra. Volumus insuper, quod omnes Christiani qui pignora sua inter bona Judaeorum dampnatorum inventa redimere voluerint, huiusmodi pignora per testes fideles et bonae famae probent esse sua, et ea per certa signa et indicia describant, et huiusmodi testibus eatenus credatur, quatenus maioris vel minoris famae esse constiterit. Et si forte pignora illa sua esse per testes probare non possint, & quod testes defuncti vel absentes sint, ita quod eos habere non possint, vel quia secretum & absque testimonio impignorata fuerunt, tunc ad pignora illa recuperanda sufficiat tantummodo sacramentum ipsorum quorum pignora illa existunt, dum tamen pignora illa certis signis & indicibus describant, sicut praedictum est; & hoc propter lapsum anni a tempore impignoracionis huiusmodi nullatenus omittatur. Volumus insuper, quod omnes illi qui per testes fide dignos probare possint debita sua pro suis pignoribus persolvisse, & pignora illa propter aliquam certam rationem per ipsos coram vobis ostendendam, aut propter maliciam ipsorum Judaeorum ab eisdem Judaeis non recepisse, ad iteratam solutionem debitorum illorum faciendam nullatenus compellantur, & testibus illis credatur juxta famam personarum, additis testibus Excellentissimo Domino suo, R. de Ufford quicquid potest obsequii & honoris: Literas vestras recepi in hæc verba. Edwardus Dei gratia, &c. Dilecto & fidei suo Roberto de Ufford Justiciario suo Hiberniæ salutem. Ex querela Magistri David Thesaurarii Ecclesiæ Imolenſis nuper nobis exiit intimatum, quod cum ipse dudum a sede Apostolica Juberet datus fuisset ad executionem cujusdam sententiæ latæ auctoritate Curie Romanæ, et postmodum ab eadem Curia confirmatæ inter Priorem et Capitulum Ecclesiæ Christi Cantuariensis, et Priorem et fratres Hospitalis Sancti Johannis de Kilkenny super possessione Ecclesiarum Sancti Cynini, & Sanctæ Mariæ de Nova Ros. Ac nos ad instantiam eorundem Prioris & Capituli Ecclesiæ Christi Cantuar. vobis mandaverimus, quod eundem Magistrum David contra justiciam non impediretis quo minus ipse ea quæ ad officium suum pertinerent in hac parte libere exercere, et ea debite executioni demandare posset, prout iuxta officii sui debitum et de jure esset faciendum, vos et ministri vestri ad procuratorem dictorum Prioris et fratrum Hospitalis prædicti contra quos dicta sententia lata fuit, pro eo quod idem Magister David sententiam illam executioni debite demandari mandabit, ipsam Thesaurarium tam in persona sua quam per bonorum suorum ecclesiasticorum, ac aliarum rerum suarum in partibus illis occupationem, et aliis gravaminibus diuersis quæ de die in diem per vos et vestros eidem inferre non desistatis, multipliciter beatis, grabatis, et inquietatis, ad dampnum ipsius Thesaurarii non modicum et gravamen, et contra tenorem mandati nostri prædicti. Et quia ei injuriari nolumus in hac parte; vobis mandamus, quod ab eisdem molestiis et injuriis eidem Thesaurario hac occasione inferendis desistatis, et vestros omnino desistere faciatis, et ea quæ per vos et vestros minus rite attemptata sunt in præmissis saliter emendari faciatis quod clamor ad nos inde non veniat iteratus, propter quod magnum ad hoc aliter apponere debeamus. Teste meipso apud Westm. 28 die Septembris, anno regni nostri sexto. — Et licet præfatus Magister ad hoc instaret, ut ego prætextu prædicti mandati vestri ei remitti faceremus quandam summam pecuniæ quæ ab eo erigitur per summonitionem Scaccarii vestri, pro eo quod cum ad querelam Prioris Hospitalis Sancti Johannis de Kilkenny, per bebe de Cancellaria vestra præceptum fuisset, quod præfatus Magister attachiaretur, ad respondendum eidem Priori quare tenuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de advocationibus quarundam Ecclesiarum ipsius Prioris, contra coronam et dignitatem vestram, Idem Magister noluit super hoc in Curia vestra iustificari, per quod demum propter ipsius multiplicem contumaciam Justiciarii vestri de Banco Dublin. eo quod dictus Magister non habuit laicum sedum per quod potuit distringi, demandaverunt Episcopo loci, quod distringeret ipsum per beneficia sua ecclesiastica, ita quod coram eisdem Justiciariis ad certum diem responderet de exitibus beneficiorum illorum. Ego tamen prædictam pecuniam absque specialiori mandato vestro ei remittere nolui, sicut nec potui; et hoc Excellentie vestre significo, ut mihi mandare dignemini quid in hac parte vestra viderit beneplacito volumatis. Valeat Excellentia vestra per tempora longiora.

I finde this sad Complaint and Petition made to the King, against the Archbishop of Cassel in Ireland by Margaret le Blund, for detaining her inheritance, and for sundry barbarous murders of her Father, Mother, Grandfather, her six Brothers and Sisters, and sundry other Englishmen whom he slew, or cast into prison, there starving them to death, and other misdemeanors, against whom she could obtain no justice after divers journeys into England. An. 7 E. 1.

Margareta le Blunde de Chassell petit gratiam Domini Regis, ut possit habere hereditatem suam quam recuperavit coram Justiciariis Domini Regis apud Clummele coram Magistro Johanne de Sampford, Domino Ricardo de Excur. & Wilhelmo de Cassham tunc Justiciariis de Banco apud Clummele. Et sunt nunc presentes in Villa London, versus David Macmakerway Episcopum de Cassell. recuperavit hereditatem suam. Brevia Regis, An. 7 E. 1.

Item, dicta Margareta petit remedium de hoc, quod pater suus per dictum Episcopum occisus fuit. Item, petit remedium super incarceratione abi et matris suæ, eo quod incarceratione eos et eos in prisona detinuit quousque pro fame moriebantur, quia voluerunt perquirere remedium de morte filii sui patris prædictæ Margaretæ qui per ipsum Episcopum erat occisus. Item, petit remedium de morte sex fratrum et sororum qui mortui fuerunt per prædictum Episcopum ob defectum sustentationis, quia idem Episcopus quando patrem eorum occidit, hereditatem eorum in manu sua habuit. Et sciendum, quod idem Episcopus construxit quandam Abbatiam in villa de Cassell super terram Domini Regis, quam in elemosina pro anima sua dedit, et illam replevit latronibus qui occidunt Anglicos et depredantur patriam. Et cum Consilium Domini Regis inde loquitur, quia inde loquuntur in ipsos fulminat sententiam Excommunicationis. (Such was his insolency.) Et sciendum quod prædicta Margareta jam quinquies mare Hibernicum transivit, unde petit pro Deo quatinus compaciatur ei Regia dignitas, ut ad hereditatem suam possit appropinquare. Et sciendum quod prædictus Episcopus culpabilis est de morte plurimorum Anglicorum, adeo bene sicut de morte patris sui.

Et sciendum quod pluries breviam Domini Regis prædicta Margareta optinuit, set nihil profuit ei ob favorem ipsius Episcopi, et domus ipsius Episcopi mediantibus.

Et petit pro Deo dampna, expensas & jacturas cum laboribus suis sibi restitui per prædictum Episcopum quæ occasione prædicti placiti sustinuit. What recompence she obtained against this murdering, oppressing, bribing Archbishop at last, I find not.

Some counterfeit Freers of the Order of St. Antony of Vienna, wandering abroad and collecting alms throughout England, the King upon complaint thereof issued this Writ for their apprehension.

REX omnibus Vicecomitibus, & Ballivis, & cæteris fidelibus suis ad quos, &c. salutem. Ex querela fratris Willielmi generalis procuratoris domus Sancti Antonii Vienensis accepimus, quod quidam propriæ honestatis immemores sub nomine vel habitu illius ordinis per diversas partes Angliæ discurrentes, et se fratres et procuratores dictæ domus falso contingentes, pecuniam, et alia bona nomine fratrum prædictorum petunt et recipiunt a diversis, et ea non in usus domus prædictæ aut fratrum, set in usus proprios illicite et inhoneste convertunt, in dictæ domus et fratrum fraudem et dampnum non modicum, et ordinis Sancti Antonii bituperium et scandalum manifestum: Volentes autem maliciis et insolenciis hujusmodi modis quibus convenit obviare, vobis mandamus firmiter injungentes, quod ubicunque inveneritis in ballivis vestris literas testimoniales dicti procuratoris non habentes, ipsos arrestari et detineri faciatis, donec de statu & conversatione ipsorum vobis aut procuratori prædicto constiterit evidenter. Proviso, quod pecuniam ac alia bona apud eos inventa, vel penes alios nomine suo deposita procuratori prædicto, vel ejus certo nuncio, literas suas super hoc exhibenti, totaliter assignentur. Et si qui forsan literas Regias datam præsentium præcedentes super recommendatione vel admissione ipsorum ad hujusmodi elemosinas colligendas prædicti procuratoris testimonium legitimum non habentes exhibeant, eisdem literis de cætero minime pareatis. What good effects this zealous pious project of the Frees Preachers, and King in pursuit thereof, produced in converting any considerable number of Jews to the Catholick Faith, I finde not in our Histories or Records: But their universal banishment out of England within 8. years after, * principally for their Infidelity, sufficiently manifests, that all the endeavours then used for their conversion, by drawing them to these Preachers Sermons, and the provisions made by the King for the Converts support elsewhere specified, were very successlesse.

The Pope encouraged by his former Usurpations, in preferring Archbishops by his own Provisions to both our Archbishopricks, by the Kings connivance, presumed this year to conferre the Bishoprick of Carlisle by his Papal Provision on Ralph de Ireton, as this Patent (for restoring the Temporalities to him out of the Kings grace), attests.

How far this Papal perfidious Archbishop and his Suffragans, were from obeying this Royal mandate, according to their Oaths and bounden duties, will most evidently appear by the Prologue to their Canons and Constitutions made therein, wherein they highly extoll that Arch-traytor Thomas Becket, as a most glorious Martyr, for opposing the ancient Rights of the Crown and Kingdom, as inconsistent with the Churches pretended Liberties; and revived, confirmed the Constitutions of Archbishop Boniface and his Suffragans, (against which the * King had solemnly appealed to the Pope, as prejudicial to the Rights, Prerogative, Customs, Liberties of his Crown and Kingdom) by several Canons made therein, and the Excommunications republished in it; but more especially by the Archbishops insolent Epistle to the King, in answer to this his Royal Inhibition and Mandate sent unto them; the most of which Constitutions I shall here present you with at large.

Sanctorum Patrum igitur vestigiis inherentes, jurisque auctoritate compulsi, ac necessitate multiplici Ecclesia ferurgente, nos Frater Johannes, permissione divina Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, totius Angliæ Primas, cupientes presentibus incommodis obviare, sperantesque Christi patrocinante gratia, ad hoc nos posse proficere, cum Fratrum ac Coepiscoporum nostrorum, ac ceterorum provincia nostra Prælatorum assistentia efficaci, de prudentum virorum consilio, hoc sacrum Concilium mandavimus convocari, (by his own authority, without the Kings special Writ.) Intendentes pravia Spiritus Sancti gratia, opere, & consilio, transgressores Canonum corrigere; quedam etiam olim salubriter edita, non tamen satis moribus mentium comprobata, recentia stabilire; & contra novellas quasdam tergiversationes, quas in furno sulphureo non cessat abissi puteus exhalare, novis quibusdam remediis occurrere, ut valeamus, in quo obtrektorum dentes minime formicamus. Quoniam etsi res divina tanquam perfectissima in certis consistant finibus, humani tamen juris conditionem in infinitum currere cogit necessitas manifesta.

Con.

An. 9 E. 1. Contemptum autem Canonum immane esse placulum, utriusque docet pagina Testamenti. Decretis enim Apostolicis, & Conciliorum diffinitionibus obfistentes, a sanctæ matris Ecclesiæ meritis sunt præcisi; nupte quos Rhomphæa Mosaica plebet sententia capitali, & sapientia incarnata illos, qui Ecclesiam non audiunt, Ethnicis & Publicanis similes esse decrevit, ac contemptum * authoritatis Apostolica in contemptum Patris omnium redundare. Quippe quos legum suarum Petrus ligat vinculis, in summi & cœlestis Imperatoris palatio sunt ligati. E contra tamen quosdam frivole de Christiani nominis titulo gloriantes, tam Clericos quam Laicos, quotidianis angustis experimur jugum abficere, et Apostolicos sanctiones arrogantia Diabolica concutere, illius + gloriosi Martyris Thomæ Patriarchæ nostri immemores, qui se pro hujusmodi scribis defendendis murum opposuit, pro ipsis præsumptum sustinens exitium, et postea passionem. Lateranensis igitur Concilii autoritate præmoniti, faciemus Canonicas regulas revocari. Et quia Lugdunense Concilium ultimo celebratum, eo enormius, quo recentius infringitur; ne quis possit se in temeritate hujusmodi per ignorantiam excusare, ipsum volumus in principio recenseri; non solum ut omnibus innotescat, verum etiam, ut si quid in ipso videatur intollerabile istius regionis consuetudini, qua in multis ab omnibus aliis est distincta, circa illud temperamentum Apostolica clementia humiliter imploretur. Quoniam (sacro restante Eloquentio) melior est obedientia victima; & quia peccatum ariolandi est repugnare; & quia scelus Idolatriæ nolle acquiescere. Hanc enim inobedientiam credimus esse causam mutationis utriusque parietis Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ. Secundò, Constitutiones (sanctæ memoriæ) Domini Ottoboni eo loco faciemus reverentius, quo ipse in eisdem Statutis suis hoc mandavit fieri hujusmodi per singulos annos ab Archiepiscopis, Episcopis in Synodis suis de verbo ad verbum, postea ad honorem Apostolicum sublimatur. Tertio vero recitari volumus Concilium de Lameheth, (summoned against * King Henry the 3d. his expresse Writ and Prohibition, who appealed to the Pope against the Antimonarchical Constitutions made therein, as contrary to his Prerogative, Crown, Dignity, the Laws, Customs of the Realm, and peoples Liberties, yet here revived) quod (sanctæ memoriæ) prædecessor noster Bonifacius cum Fratribus & Corpiscopis sui temporis noscitur salubriter edidisse; ut circa ipsum, quod dicitur, fuisse appellationem * suspensum, qualiter procedi debeat, videatur. Ultimo vero adjicimus quæ nobis videntur necessario ordinanda.

De Sacramento Eucharistiæ.

Altissimus de terra assumpti corporis creavit humani generis medicinam in septem vasculis repositam, quæ sunt septem Ecclesiæ Sacramenta; quæ à plerisque non cum condigna tractari reverentia, nec cum debita diligentia dispensari fide didicimus oculata. In his igitur præsens correctio sumat exordium, & præcipue circa corporis & sanguinis Domini Sacramentum, quod est Sacramentum & Sacramenti sacrificium sanctificans manducantes, & sacrificium oblatione sua universis tam vivis quam defunctis proficiens, a pro quorum suffragiis immolatur. Multos igitur esse numero & paucos merito Domini Sacerdotes quotidianis scandalis experimur; inter quorum damnabiles acidiæ, hanc plangimus præcipue, quod ad hoc ipsum Eucharistiæ Sacramentum se irreverentes exhibent supra modum, quod et erecratis linguis conficiunt, contemptibiliter custodiunt, et reponunt, et ipsum tanto tempore negligunt immutatum, donec <sup>b</sup> corrumpantur species continentes, ut salutis author qui infinito amore se in viaticum dedit Ecclesiæ, pro tantæ irreverentiæ injuria offendatur. In cuius remedium discriminis, statuimus, ut quilibet Sacerdos, quem canonica necessitas non excusat, conficiat omni Ebdomada saltem semel, & ut in qualibet Ecclesia Parochiali fiat Tabernaculum cum clausura decens & honestum, secundum curæ magnitudinem & Ecclesiæ facultates, in quo ipsum corpus Domini in pyxide pulcherrima & lineis tegumentis, sed nullatenus in loculo propter contractionis devitandum periculum, collocetur; quod in omni Dominico præcipimus renovari. <sup>c</sup> In elevatione vero ipsius corporis Domini pulsantur Campanæ in uno latere, ut populares, quibus celebrationi Missarum non vacat quotiæ interesse, ubicunque fuerint, seu in agris, seu in domibus, flectant genua, indulgentias concessas à pluribus Episcopis habituri. Sacerdotes autem, in custodia Eucharistiæ negligentes, puniri præcipimus, secundum regulas Concilii generalis, (Capitulo statuimus) & gravius, si negligentia perseveret. Circa deportationem vero Eucharistiæ ad agros, servetur honestas aliis & alibi constituta. <sup>d</sup> Attendant insuper Sacerdotes, quod cum Communione sacram porrigant, simplicibus Paschali tempore vel alio, sollicite eos instruunt sub panis specie, simul eis dari corpus et sanguinem Domini, immo Christum integrum cibum et verum, qui totus est in specie Sacramenti. Docerant etiam eos illud quod ipsis eisdem temporibus in calice propinatur sacramentum non esse, sed Christum purum eis hauriendum traditum, ut facilius sacrum corpus gluciant quod perceperunt. Solis enim celebrantibus sanguinem sub specie vini consecrati sumere in huiusmodi minoribus Ecclesiis est concessum. Instruant etiam eosdem sumptum ore Sacramentum non nimis dentibus comminere, sed tritum modice sorbere perfecte, ne particula aliqua eveniat in dentium intersticiis, vel alibi remaneret. Parochiales insuper Sacerdotes caveant diligenter, ne alicui dent corpus Domini, nisi prius constet eis ipsum fuisse confectum testimonio vel iudicio fidedigno, & huiusmodi certificationis onus ipsum susceptoris impingimus Sacramento, qui habet ea qua salutis sua sunt necessaria procurare. Nullus ergo sacram Communionem prabeat Parochiano alterius Sacerdotis sine ipsius licentia manifesta, quam ordinationem non intendimus ad peregrinantes extendere, nec necessitatis casus derogare. Thus did they pervert Christs institution in all particulars by this Constitution.

Sacerdotes insuper caveant universi, ne * Missarum peculiarium seu familiarium se celebrationi obligent, quo minus valeant Canonico officio commissam sibi Ecclesiam officiare, ut tenentur. Nec presumat aliquis Annalia celebranda suscipere, nisi pro defuncto celebret quotidie, vel procurat specialiter celebrari. Nullus insuper plura recipiat Annalia celebranda, quam habet socios celebrantes, illo casu excepto, in quo procurans suffragia fieri pro defuncto consensit expresse, defuncti memoriam alibi vel aliis copulari. * Nec credat celebrans se dicendo Missam unam posse satisfacere pro duobus, pro quo utroque promissit specialiter & insolidum celebrare. Licet enim dicat de con. di. v. c. non mediocriter Capitulum, quod licet minus accipitur cum Missa una pro cunctis dicitur, quam si pro uno quolibet ipsorum una diceretur. Loquitur tamen de hiis Missis, qua anxio corde dicuntur. Absit enim, ne a quodam Catholico credatur tantum intentione prodesse Missam unam devote celebratam mille hominibus, pro quibus forsitan dicitur, quantum si mille Missa pro eis devotione consimili canerentur. Licet ipsum Sacrificium, quod est Christus, sit infinita virtutis, non tamen in Sacramento vel Sacrificio in sua immensitatis summa plenitudine operatur; alioquin pro uno mortuo nunquam opereretur nisi unam Missam dicere. Operatur enim in huiusmodi ministeriis distributione certa sua plenitudinis, quam ipse eisdem lege infallibili alligat illos qui pro Annalibus seu Anniversariis celebrandis stipendia receperunt, nec ex certa malitia seu acidia satisfaciunt, ut tenentur, monemus, ut omnia suppleant, & ad plenum satisfaciant in futurum. Et quandocumque id fecerint, fructus taliter perceptorum pro Annalibus eorum qua eis talia contulerint erogent pauperibus, aut si mirumque istorum sponte neglexerint, sicut fraudatores fidelium ab Ordinariis suis asserere corrigantur.

An. 9 E. 1. districtius inhibemus, ne de cetero audeant manus extendere ad seducendos hujusmodi per Absolutionis signaculum, quod nobis sine satisfactione debita et speciali commissione Archiepiscopi et Episcopi non tenere, dum sunt in suis sceleribus peritantes. Existimantes nihilominus hujusmodi non tam Confessores, quam soborum Diaboli Confessores peccare gravissime, cum conbincantur saltem tacite eisdem sceleribus consentire, et scelerosos in sua perfidia confortare; Unde caveant ipsi ne eodem cum talibus Excommunicationis laqueo involvantur.

Cum insuper nos dudum pluralitatem beneficiorum sacrilege usurpatam, cohibere volentes, inhibuerimus sub pena Excommunicationis, ne quis de facto ad tales in suis furtis & sacrilegiis contumaces manus extenderet absolventes. Quidam tamen Sacerdotes potius Belial quam Domini, contrarium facere presumpserunt, occidentes animas Christi sanguine redemptas, et enerbantes disciplinam Ecclesiasticam. Istos igitur, quasi vulpes demolientes vineas Domini veraciter repantes, sub pristina distinctione iterato precipimus, quatenus à talibus absolvendis de cetero abstineant, et ad renunciandum beneficiis illicite optentis vel retentis sollicitè inducant: Alioquin, sciant se certissime divina maledictionis fulgure feriendos.

Sunt præterea nonnulli, qui prætextu quorundam * privilegiorum generalium a sede Apostolica optentorum, præter intentionem Apostolicam auctoritate Pontificali, ipsorum Pontificum irrequisito beneplacito et assensu, ingerunt se Subditorum eorundem Confessionibus audiendis; quorum presumptiones volentes reprimere, ut tenemur, prohibemus sub pena Excommunicationis, ne quis de cetero absque Episcopi licentia expressa vel probabiliter præsumpta, Confessiones suorum audiat Subditorum, nisi in audiendis Confessionibus à jurisdictione ordinaria Diocesana & Metropolitica expresso tenore sui privilegii sit exemptus. Et si qui contrarium fecerint, procedatur contra eos, sicut Privilegiorum temerarios abutentes.

* Præterea cum juxta sacros Canones peccata graviora, ut Incestus, & similia, quæ vulgarissima suo scandalo totam commovent Civitatem, sint solemniter pœnitentiâ castiganda; quorundam tamen negligentia id agente, hujusmodi pœnitentiâ videtur quasi in oblivionem tradita, et crebrius per consequens audacia hujusmodi horrenda facinora et flagitia perpetrandi. Quocirca precipimus, ut hujusmodi pœnitentiâ solemniter de cetero imponatur secundum sanctiones Canonicas. Absolutionem tamen ab homicidio voluntario, tam publico, quam occulto, solis Episcopis, extra necessitatis articulum reservamus: per quod intendimus reſſrenare audaciam, et non majorum reſſerentia in aliquo derogare.

De uno Confessore in quolibet Decanatu faciendo.

* Guil. Lynde-wode Provinc.
l. 5. f. 246.

* Licet à sanctis Patribus jam pridem fuerit ordinatum, ut in quolibet Decanatu unus sit Rector aut Vicarius, literatura sufficienter illustratus, gratia famaque laudabilis assignatus ad Confessionem Rectorum, Vicariorum aliorumque Sacerdotum, ac Ministrorum Ecclesia audiendam, injungendasque pœnitentias, ut sit mare fons in Templi introitu, juxta Templi typica Sacramenta: Hoc tamen hæcenus non fuit Cleri moribus approbatum, non sine multis Dei injuriis in Sacramentorum ministracionibus ac Missarum celebrationibus, quæ execrationes potius dicerentur. Ordinationem igitur prædictam à dissuetudine revocantes, precipimus, ut ipsa de cetero inviolabiliter observetur. Ex hoc minime intendimus quin possint, si voluerint, ad alios communes Pœnitentiarios, (dum tamen id constet) pro Sacramento Pœnitentiæ convolare.

De informatione simplicium.

Ignorantia Sacerdotum populum precipitat in foveam Erroris; & Clericorum stultitia vel ruditas, quæ de fide catholica fidelium instruere jubentur, mentes magis aliquando ad errorem proficit quam ad doctrinam. Quidam etiam ceteri prædicantes non semper loca visitant, quæ magis constet veritatis lumine indigere; testante Propheta, Quod parvuli petiebant panem, nec erant qui frangerent; & alio clamante, Quia egeni & pauperes querunt aquas, lingua eorum siti aruit. In quorum remedi-um discriminum statuendo precipimus, ut quilibet Sacerdos plebi præsident quater in anno, hoc est, semel in qualibet quarta anni die uno solenni vel pluribus, per se vel per alium exponat populo vulgariter, absque cuiuslibet subtilitatis textura fantastica 14 fidei articulos, 10 mandata Decalogi (the 2. whereof against graven Images and their worship is wholly omitted out of their Popish Decalogue, and the last divided into two Commandements, as it is in most of their Popish Primers, Psalters, Howers, Missals, Breviaries and Catechisms ever since, as inconsistent with their Popish Images, and adoration of them) duo precepta Evangelii, sc. gemina charitatis, & 7 etiam opera misericordia, 7 capitalia peccata, cum sua progenie, 7 virtutes principales, & etiam 7 gratia Sacramenta. Et ne quis à prædictis per ignorantiam se excuset, qua tamen omnes Ecclesia Ministri scire tenentur, ea perstringimus summaria brevitate: (there briefly recited in order, where those who please may peruse them.)

Next follows the Canon, De Sententiis Excommunicationis publicandis; in Johannes de Atom (the beginning and Title whereof is omitted in Spelman's Councils.)

Temporibus eisdem etiam sententia publicantur à nostris, & nostrorum prædecessorum temporibus lata olim. Verbi gratia, excommunicati sunt in Oxoniensi Concilio, Ecclesias suo jure præbantes, et eorum libertates per maliciam, et contra justitiam infringere vel perturbare etiam contententes. Ubi tria genera hominum excommunicationis vinculo innodantur; auferentes Ecclesiis sua jura, infringentes Ecclesiasticas libertates; Similiter perturbantes easdem: quod non solum intelligimus de generalibus libertatibus universalis Ecclesie, verum etiam de spiritualibus & temporalibus; in quo illos excommunicari intelligimus præcipue qui * literis aut juribus Curie laicalis Ecclesiasticarum causarum processum impediunt, quæ ita ad Ecclesiam pertinere noscuntur, quod nullatenus possunt vel consueverunt per seculare judicium terminari. Quod dicimus, non intendentes prædictas sententias ad illos tantummodo coaptare nec turbationes jurium Ecclesiasticorum alias approbantes, sed quia hujusmodi Dei et Ecclesie inimicos volumus rigore debito castigari. (The same in effect with those Clauses in the Council of Reding for which he was * questioned, and thereupon revoked in Parl. yet now contemptuously revived and reenforced. Ex hujusmodi insuper sententia decreto excommunicatos denunciari precipimus omnes illos, qui falso exceptionis titulo Episcopalem et Archiepiscopalem processum impediunt aut subterfugiant disciplinam: (To which they subjoyned all other Clauses of excommunication in the Councils of Oxford and Reding, which they ordered to be published 4. times every year, concluding thus.) De hac autem publicatione inquirant Archiepiscopi, et quotiens Presbyteros invenerint, prædictam moxalem Instructionem seu præmissas Excommunicationis sententias statutis temporibus populo minime prædicasse, totiens eos arguant, et poena canonica castigando supplere compellant, quod temere omiserint.

Præterea, cum sacro testante Elogio, Pastores sibi greges creditos pascere teneantur; & os bovis trituranis non debeat alligari, Statuimus, ut Rectores qui in Ecclesiis suis non faciunt residentiam corporalem, nec habent Vicarios, per Iconomos suos Hospitalitatis gratiam exhibeant, juxta quod sufficiunt Ecclesie facultates; adeo ut saltem Parochianorum pauperum necessitati extrema subveniatur, ut qui ibidem transiunt & prædicant verbum Dei, necessaria recipiant corpori alimenta; ne Ecclesia ipsorum inopia violentia à prædicantibus mersa deferantur. Dignus est enim Operarius mercede sua, nec quisquam tenetur propriis stipendiis militare.

Prædicatoribus subvenendum est.

I shall subjoyn these ensuing Constitutions, discovering the detestable frauds, forgeries, falsities and abuses commonly practised in that age in Ecclesiastical Courts by the Bishops Officers, and others belonging to them; still frequently practised among them notwithstanding these Constitutions, to their infamy.

*Quidam ruralium Decanorum in Citationibus faciendis contra omnem juris ordinem, de Luciferana veritate merito diffamantur. Qui videlicet Certificatio- nem subdolum, et pendunt pro p[re]sentis illis falsitatis, nulla Citatione ad notitiam citati ante Certificationem huiusmodi vel post eam aliquatenus ventente illud frequenter evenit, ut innocentes condemnentur. ## De falsis Procuratoris non signandis.

bus.

\ Per horrendam quorundam malitiam perpendimus accidisse pro aliquo poss[ess]ore Eccle- siastici Beneficii in remotis agente, aliquis dolosus ipsius adversarius domum eius vel rem aliam contra inhibitionem Domini concupiscens, spiritu Sathánico se in lucis Angelum configurans, fingit mendaciter p[re]dictum absente ad vocari coram iudicibus; et se ip- sius Procuratorem existere, et vocari p[ro]curat absentem ad causam ipsius in iudicio defendendam, p[re]tendens falsum Procuratorem officio Decano vel superi- ori supplicat in hac verba. Quia sigillum meum paucis est cognitum, peto ut si- gillum vestre Authoritatis huic meo Procuratorio apponatis: Et sic, data mercede, iniquitatis, obtinet quod requiritur. Deinde verobrevi falso Procuratorio, cum alio, se ipsius fingente mendaciter adversarium, litem ingreditur; et in hac fraude procedens possessionem tandem nanciscitur per sententiam; vero Domino (cujus status de facto sic subvertitur) penitus hoc ignorante. Volentes igitur tam detestandis fraudibus obviare; Inhibemus, ut nullus Decanus, seu Archidiaconus, vel ejus Officialis, seu etiam Officialis Episcopi sigillum suum alicui Procuratorio apponet presumat, nisi hoc ab eo posatur publice in iudicio vel extra iudicium, si is, qui Proc- uratorem constituit, (quem constat verum Dominum esse) prasens corporaliter, hoc requirat; ut fraus qualibet excludatur. Quicumque vero Decanus, Archidiaconus, vel ejus Officialis, vel etiam Officialis Episcopi ex certa malitia contrarium fecerit, suspen- datur per triennium ab officio abscindendi, et inhabilis sit ad officium Ecclesiasticum obtinendum. Quod si uxoriatus ambigamus si, Excommunicationi subiaceat ipso facto; et id quod per talem Procuratorem actum fuerit vel procuratum modis omnibus pro infello penitus reputetur. Procurator autem ipse totius falsitatis inventor, ab omni actu legitimo perpetuo repellatur. Et hi omnes nihilominus, si super hoc convincti valeant, parti laesa ad interesse et restituenda damna omnia teneantur.*

Ne fiant clandestinæ Inquisitiones pro Præsentatis.

Per Provinciam nostram frequenter perpendimus, fidos Ecclesiasticorum benefi- ciorum possessores suis beneficiis fraude diabolica spoliari; dum nonnulli Infer- nalis Regis falsitatis aggraveri, qui ipsorum beneficia oculos ambitionis insi- gunt, procurant se per Patronos ad eadem p[re]sentari; et impetrantes clandesti- nas Inquisitiones fieri per Decanos vel alios, possessionem nanciscuntur. Unde contingit de petitore perfido fieri possessorum; et de possessore vero fieri actorem, omni iustitia reclamante. Nos autem cupientes a nostra Provincia iniquitatem funditus eripare; Statuimus et perpetuo ordinamus, ut nullus Decanus, sive quivis Prelatus, alius (exceptis personis Episcoporum, quorum hac opinione auctoritas non ardeatur) Inquisitiones faciat de huiusmodi presentationis negotio, nisi in plena loci ca- pitula, eo qui possessioni Ecclesia incumbit, vocato legitimè; sub tanto temporis spatio, quo possit sibi prudentium virorum consilio proficere, et defensioni status sui sufficienti remedia

Quicquid autem de cat. 10 contra hanc Ordinationem nostram fuerit An. 9 E. 1. attentatum, decernimus penitus non tenere; ad satisfaciendum nihilominus de damno omnimodo, quod idem Possessor passus fuerit, Decanum vel Prælatum alium taliter clandestinè inquirentem, presentis sanctione Concilii condemnantes; ambitiosum ipsum ab ipsi beneficio sic nequiter ambitio excludentes perpetuo: & nihilominus eundem ab omni obtentu Ecclesiastici alterius beneficii per triennium suspendentes.

De firmis non dandis.

Videntes & ementes quos de Templo Domini cepit ejicere, si cepta pœnitia perficisset, non fraudarentur pauperes firmarum contractibus, quibus vertitur in Mammonam quod ex Christi visceribus infundendum. Huic igitur pesti remedium apponentes, precipimus firmiter observari, quod circa firmas in Oxon. Concilio salubriter est provisum; ut videlicet Ecclesiæ ad firmam minimè tradantur. * Statimus insuper, ut nulli tradatur ad firmam, nisi personis Ecclesiasticis sanctis & honestis, quas locorum Episcopi libere valeant cohercere. Provisio etiam, ut Parochia pauperibus de firmis hujusmodi pingnibus, portio juri consona secundum arbitrium Episcopi assignetur, sub testimonio quatuor fidelium Parochianorum eis fideliter eroganda. Et ut ab hujusmodi firmis omnis contractus imaginarius subducatur, quam in personis Clericorum falso suppositis vel sub nomine Ballivatus Ecclesiæ ad firmam laicis conceduntur, sacro approbante Concilio: Ordinamus, ut si quis Clericus in tali versutia repertus fuerit, puniatur secundum statutum (sancta memoria) Domini Othoboni; & gravius, si Prælati viderint expedire.

De Religiosis non eximendis à Capitulis tenendis.

* Plures invenimus Domos Religiosas Sancti Benedicti Ordinis, quæ pro eo, quod olim quibusdam Matricibus Ecclesiis ultramarinis adhaerant, à quibus ferme jam diuturno tempore separata noscuntur à ceteris ejusdem Ordinis Domibus, in Cantuariensi Provincia constitutis, non conveniant cum ceteris in Capitulo generali singulis terminis, juxta generale Concilium celebrandis: sed quia turpis est pars qua non convenit suo toto, statimus, ut omnes hujusmodi de cætero Domus (salva scilicet ceremoniarum suarum observantiâ:) Specialiter moneantur per locorum Episcopos, ut conveniant cum aliis Canonicis in Capitulo suo generali de regimine & reformatione Ordinis sui tractaturi; vel si inter eos quantum ad substantialia Religionis sit notabilis diversitas, sibi ipsis separatim constituent Capitulum generale, alioquin hoc facere per censuram Ecclesiasticam compellantur.

The next Canons evidence, the uncleanness, Apostacy, ravishments and Vices of their Nuns, Monks and Priests, notwithstanding all former Canons to prevent them.

De Sanctimonialibus non violandis.

* Tantum invaluit detestanda lubricitatis enormitas, ut quidam nec Legibus, nec Canonibus deferentes, ad castitatem Sanctimonialium concitandam editis, cum ipsis Sacrilegium et Incestum committere non formidant; (such was the fruits of their cloystered vowed chastity.) Cui horrendo flagitio remedium apponere cupientes, omnes tam Clericos quam Laicos, hujusmodi turpitudinis perpetratores, majoris Excommunicationis sententia immodamus; solis personis Episcoporum hujusmodi absolutionem sententiæ reservantes; exempto mortis articulo, in quo sic valeant absolvi a quolibet Sacerdote, ut si convalescerint piaculum suum hujusmodi teneantur sub pœna prædictæ Anathematis infra trium mensium spacium propriis Episcopis confiteri; aut sede Episcopali vacante, custodi Spiritualitatis, aut Decano Ecclesiæ Cathedralis. * Sanctimoniales plurimæ in bagationis vitio delicate, nec divino vacantes officio, in consimile corruptionis scandalum, immo longe perniciosius assidue prolabantur. Cui periculo providentes, magis optantes earum saluti consulerè quam vanis earundem desideriis complacere, sub pœna Excommunicationis totaliter inhibemus, ne quæ illoz cum sociis, nedum sola apud parentes vel affines quantumcunque propinquos, nedum apud extraneos quantumcunque famæ eminentiæ vel religionis existant, ultra tres dies naturales causa recreationis perennarent.

binarie, seu quacunque necessitate vel occasione cessante infirmitate commozari presumant, nisi locorum Episcopis aliud aliquotiens videatur ex causa necessaria; de quo earum conscientias in extremo iudicio oneramus. Hanc autem ordinationem ad illas non extendimus, qua exterius coguntur vendicare sibi necessaria dum mendicant.

* Item Moniales quadam in tantum decipiunt, ut cum sint aetatis legitima & doli capaces, postquam ultra annum inter Moniales Monastice vixerint, putantes se non esse professas, ac sibi licere redire ad seculum; pro eo quod benedictionem Episcopalem cum solemnitate voti immixta minime receperunt. Nos vero errorem huiusmodi excludentes, presentis auctoritate Concilii declaramus, eas ipso facto professas existere reputandas, postquam ultra annum vitam sponte in Collegio duxerint regularem, adeo ut nullatenus ad seculum redire permittantur; nihilominus ab Episcopis cum solemnitate debita consecrandas suo tempore vel velandas. Item etiam quantum ad professionis vinculum sentimus, de Monachis & Religiosis aliis quibuscunque quibus nihil obstat canonicum, & eos si ultra annum religionis habitum sponte detulerint, & ipso rejecto, ad seculum redierint, esse sicut Apostatas ab Ecclesiasticis beneficiis repellendos, et ad repetenda sua Monasteria secundum iuris exigentiam compellendos. De quibus diligens inquisitio fiat per Archidiaconum, quoniam multos huiusmodi sub obvio velere lupinum animum nobis palliare.

De Apostatis revocandis.

De Apostatis.

* Præterea, sunt nonnulli, qui apparent per facti evidentiam seculum perpetuo intendere, relinquere per certa indicia in Claustri exculis toto suo tempore Deo militare; qui tamen prævalente corporali (alias carnali) desiderio, ut canes qui redeunt ad vomitum, seculum repetunt, inter Sydera errantia computandi. Quamvis enim iura manifeste desinant, huiusmodi non posse religionis habitum omnino deserere, quin saltem in Religione aliqua laxiori perpetuo remaneant; quidam tamen attritæ frontis audacia Apostatæ infamiam non verentes, postquam absolute se velle seculum relinquere ostenderunt, relictâ Hierosolyma redeunt in Egyptum. Quocirca statuimus, ut Ordinarii locorum tales cum omni diligentia investigent; et subtractione tam Officii quam Beneficii Ecclesiastici (si quod habuerint) ad statum pristinum vel laxiorem cogant regulam pertransire. Quod si sint Laici huiusmodi Apostatæ, & ipsi ad salutis suæ studia redire, per censuram Ecclesiasticam compellantur. Hanc autem Ordinationem ad illos non extendimus, cum quibus Sedes Apostolica aliter ordinabit. Which would and did unorder, and disorder all Orders, for money and filthy lucre.

Ne Religiosi sint Testamentorum Executores.

l. 3. f. 122. De Testamentis.Religiosi an

Executores Testamentorum.

* Religiosi sinceritas ab omni seculari implicationis macula est eo præferenda sollicitudo, quo devotioni sanctæ simplicitas facilius retardatur; cum in curis et rinctis mentis oculis districtus unitatis studio perpenditur. Quocirca (which reason holds as strongly, that Bishops and Ordinaries should likewise not intermeddle with the ordering or disposing of secular mens Testaments, Goods, Chattels, dying testate or intestate, as they do) in Concilio de Lamberth salubriter est provisum, ne aliqui Religiosi, cuiuscunque professionis, sint Executores Testamentorum, nisi de Ordinarii licentia et voluntate procedat; cui Statuto adjiciendum duximus, ut nullus Religiosus permittatur Executor alicujus existeret Testamenti, nisi suis superioribus sufficienter caveat pro Religioso huiusmodi, quod exequetur fideliter, et reddet integram rationem de residuo (si qua fuerint) et de damnis, si quæ per ipsam ebenerint loci Ordinario, absque difficultate qualibet responsurus. Et quia nonnulli Religionis habitum deferentes, licet non sint Executores, tamen et distributores efficiuntur Bonorum defuncti, temeritate propria vel imprudentia aliena; ex quo magnam pervenire videmus Bonorum huiusmodi laxationem; idem contra huiusmodi distributionem præcipimus observari, quod contra executionem superius est probatum; ne aliter executioni vel distributioni huiusmodi se immisceant, sub pœna Anathematis inhibentes. Unde qui sufficienter cavere nequeunt, sciant se tam ab executione quam a distributione Bonorum, huius presentis definitione Concilii perpetuo elongatos.

De Habitu Clericali.

An. 9 E. I.

* Quamvis Religionis nomen vita Monastica loquentium usus appropriet; habet tamen Clericalis honestas religioſe vite gradum eximium; ſi ea cuſtodiat vita & habitus, quæ ſacri Canones decreverunt obſervanda Clericis. Sed (proh dolor) Clerici plurimi huius inclyte Religionis, Indorum antiquam infantiam imitantes, qui Græcis gloriæ paternis prætulērunt, dum vercundantur Clerici apparere, militari ſe contingunt apparatus, ut ſtultis placeant; quos conſtet cunctis ſapientibus eo ipſo merito diſplicere, ac fatuos reputari. Et cum corona ſit character Eccleſiaſtica militiæ, & revelati cordis ac patuli radiis cæleſtibus inſigne; ipſi ut veraciter oſtendant ſe huiusmodi characterē titulum erubescere, tantæ coronas abſcōdunt, quaſi cæleſtes radios repellentes, ad Judæorum inſtar corda ſua gerentes erroris velamine obſcurata. Statuo adherentes Domini Octoboni, nihilominus ordinamus & diſtrictè præcipimus, ut Clericus quilibet in ſacris Ordinibus conſtitutus, veſtem exteriorē gerat diſſimilem militari, utpote antèrius & poſterius habeat non birratam, vel ſaltem ex forma ſua militari vel laicali congrua diſſimilem honeſtate. ## De Institutionibus.

Ex ſolito curſu cauſarum multis recepimus conſequentibus, quod nonnulli Coepiscopi noſtri Clericos præſentatos ad vacantes Eccleſias admittentes, literas teſtimoniales eis reſuſant impendere facti ſui, propter quod ſuborta inter huiusmodi præſentatos & alios materia quaſtionis, ſuccumbit plerumque veritas falſitati. * Nota.

Languor prolixior grabat Medicum; nec facilius ebullitur plantatio infernalis quæ innumeris perditionis filijs est insita; nec alicui mortaliū hactenus legitur fuisse concessum, simul totam convertere multitudinem impiorum, sacra pagina attestante, Deus (inquit) consumet nationes has in conspectu tuo paulatim atque per partes. Sane Ecclesia Anglicana a membris *putredinis, a falsis Clericis ab olim *sustinuit plagas diras; qui pompæ et abaritiæ æstus inflammari, beneficia cum cura absque dispensatione Apostolica, ac contra Canones acerbantes, non veriti sunt hactenus animas perdere acquisitas sanguine Redemptoris; nec erubuerunt fures existere, et vitam insanam agere tandiu, donec horrenda morte (ut in multis vidimus) divinæ severitatis percussu summe, de medio sunt sublati: quam plagam paulatim, atque per partes sanare cupientes, hujusmodi multiplicationes salubriter præcipiendo inhibuimus, circa adventus nostri principium, sub certi sequema rigoris, ne quis auderet extunc hujusmodi Pluralitate se involvere ullo modo. Præteritam etiam pluralitatem minis salubribus deterrentes, quas minas intendimus (Deo authore) ad effectum mancipare; ut sic supra sacra eloquia radicatum nequitiam baleamus paulatim funditus extirpare; paulatim quidem, dicente Scriptura, non poteras eas delere pariter, ne fortè multiplicarentur contra te bestie terræ. Hujus autem processus nostri conatibus boni fructus exordium contulit pietas Redemptoris, dum saltem prohibita est pristina effrenatio beneficia hujusmodi sine scrupulo admittendi. Quibusdam etiam dedit Deus compunctionis spiritum, ut damnata pluralitatis suæ magnam partem absciderint, quibusdam etiam insuper, ut superfluitatem suam nostræ submiserunt discretionis arbitrio moderandam; qua submissione noverint universi hujus excessus non purgari vitium, cum non possumus cum ipsis in talibus dispensare, sed purgationem ipsius quodammodo quamvis tenuerit inchoare. Ceteros autem omnes et singulos hujusmodi pluralitatem damnabiliter occupantes, et in suâ adhuc persistentes arrogantia supercilio, monemus primo, secundo, et tertio, quod, *cum parata sit eos absorbere (nisi citius poenitentiam egerint) bozago infernalis, mola asinaria deprimente, ulteriori deliberationi nulla poterit concedi dilatio, quatinus hujusmodi Beneficia, libere et absolute, infra sex mensium spacium, in Episcoporum suorum manibus omnino resignent: satisfacientes nihilominus, ut eorum status patitur, Ecclesiis sic fraudatis, nunquam per se vel per alias, clam vel palam, verè vel imaginariè, aliquid de hujusmodi Ecclesiarum fructibus illicite recepturi. An. 9 E. 1.

Ingratitudinis visum est plurimum detestandum et subditozum, præcipue ad Prælatos, qui sollicitè perhibent, tanquam rationem reddituri pro sibi creditis animabus. Quocirca statumus, ut Archiepiscopo vel Episcopo decedente, quilibet sacerdos tam religiosus quam secularis qui defuncto subditus extiterat, pro ipso missam unam dicere teneatur. Fratres etiam et Coepiscopi omnes in Congregatione sua sequenti peragna simul faciant solenne officium pro defuncto; singuli nihilominus in Capellis suis condigna suffragia exhibentes, sicut desiderant fieri in casu consimili exhiberi. Acta sunt hæc in Concilio de Lambeth, à Pecham celebrata, & revisita in celebratione dicti Concilii, die Veneris sexto Idus Octobris, E. litera Dominicali currente, Anno Domini 1281. Matthew Westminster renders us this account of the Archbishops suspensions and sequestrations in this Council against the exempt Abbots and others, who refused to appear in person in, or send Proctors to it upon the Archbishops summons, and of their Appeals against his Suspensions to the Pope; <sup>a</sup> Anno gratia 1281. post festum Sancti Michaelis, frater Johannes de Pecham Archiepiscopus Cantuar. apud Lambethe Provinciale Concilium celebrabit, qui contra exemptos, ibidem venire nolentes, libellum famosum edidit sub hac forma. Frater Johannes permissione divina Cantuar. Archiepiscopus, totius Angliæ Primas, venerabili fratri Domino Richardo de Gravesend Londonen. Episcopo, salutem & sinceram in Domino Charitatem. Celebratur in præteritis, ut scitis, apud Lambethe Provinciale Concilium, cum Coepiscoporum nostrorum venerando collegio, universos nostræ Provinciæ Prælatos inferiores, quos Conciliorum tractatibus interesse jubent sancti Canones, vocandos derelinquimus, acriter ceteros Meligiosæ sanctimonie personas præcipuas, Abbates, Monachos et Priores, non solum Episcopi gradui subjectos, juxta ordinem Ecclesiasticæ Hierarchiæ, verum etiam alios, ab Episcopali obedientia exemptos, ratione saltem Ecclesiasticæ non exemptarum, quas in proprios usus, permittente Domino, detinent occupatas, sperantes nos solius Dei honori, ac communi Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ commodis servantes, eorum juvandos potentia, dirigendos consiliis, & sustentandos suis meritis præcipuos. Exempti vero, tanquam pullos Onagri, liberos se putantes, quinque hoc modice condolentes suæ sanctæ matris angustias, cuius viscera multo ex eis plus onerant quam honoant, quasi per effectum vel defectum beatus, de se dictum illud Johannis Propheticum in Apocalypsi allegarunt: Atrium, quod extra Templum est, rejice foras, & ne metiaris illud, nec patiaris parturientium cecuram audire rugitus, nec ad ipsum Concilium in angustate, matris consilium et solacium, venire dignos sunt, utpote filii alieni a semetis claudicantes, quin potius ne quicquam humesceret eorum nimia elatio, nec procuratores ad suæ excusationem abentis inmittere curaverunt, tam reverendum Collegium contemnentes, Agar ex parte Ismael, quæ illustrem desperit Dominam, videns se dibitionis filium concepis, sic agonizante olim Dei milita, et se laudabiliter periculis exponente dibiti a præstantibus Rehenite, inter terminos proprios quieverunt, gregum sibilis delectati. What the issue of this appeal was, b Mat. Parker informs us; In eodem Concilio exemptos quos vocant, qui Petropolitani jurisdictione continere, ejusque suffraganeis Concilium accedere recusarunt, (which they would not have done, if summoned to it by the Kings Writ or Mandate) Excommunicationis atque suspensionis poenis afflitit. Inter hos Westmonasterii, S. Albani, S. Edmundi, & Walrami Canobiorum Abbates tanquam reliquorum duces, probecabant ad Papam; quibus magnus per Cant. provinciam exemptarum numerus adjunctus adhaesit. Sed cum Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi vim ac potentiam sustinere non poterant, appellatione deserta, in ejus potestatem et misericordiam sese committebant. Concluse autem & dimisso illo Concilio provinciam totam visitando perlustravit, magis ut de singulis Ecclesiis totiusq. Provincia statum certior fieret, quam ut severitate & Ecclesiastica disciplina uteretur. Cujus lenitatis atque moderationis causa perhibetur, quod primo ingressu provincialium suorum benevolentiam captavit, ideoque durius adhuc cum eis agere noluit: or rather to avoid opposition and appeals against his visitation.

The King and his Council being highly offended with the Archbishop and his Suffragans for sundry of their Canons, Excommunications, and proceedings in this Council, against the tenor of his premised Writ, and Proctors appeals: Archbishop Peckem (magnus et robustus Antichristi Satelles, as * John Bale not improperly styles him) writ and sent this most insolent, undutifull Epistle to him and his Council, to justify what they had done; wherein he advanceth the Ecclesiastical and Papal Jurisdiction, Power, Canons, Laws, far above the Regal, to which all Emperors, Kings, and Temporal Lawes ought to submit; whose fallacies and mistakes therein I shall observe, and answer, as they occurre in his Epistle.

 rael, appointed by the King, as Deut. 16. 18, 19, 20. 2 Chron. 19. 5. to 11. resolve, which quite subverts his following inference from it) morietur homo ille; Ab hac autem obedientia non est altitudo Regia absoluta, (Ergo Kings are as much subject, and ought to be as obedient to their Judges, as to their Priests) sed plus quam exteri Laici inferiores eidem obnoxia; unde subjungitur consequenter;
 "Postquam sederit Rex in Solio regni sui, describet Deuteronomio sibi legis hujus n Deut. 17.

 omnibus diebus vitæ suæ, ut discat timere Dominum Deum suum, & custodire ver-ba & ceremonias ejus quæ in lege præcepta sunt, ut longe ipse regnet, ipse & filius ejus. Tenetur igitur Rex ipse ex præcepto legis expresso, Summo Pontifici obedire; (not mentioned in the Text, but only the inferior Priests, to whom Kings are to obey only in what God and Christ have specially commanded in and by their Lawes, not what Popes and Prelates have since decreed against, or beside them) quod si non fecerit, timere potest Rex Legis infirmatione, ne Regnisui prolongatio minuat. Item Salvator dixit in Lucæ Evangelio discipulis congregatis; Qui vos audit, me audit; & qui vos spernit, me spernit; Quod exponit beatus Dionysius, Ierarchis in hiis quæ agant Ierarchie obediendum est, sicut à Deo motis, Ergo nulla obstante consuetudine obe-diendum est Canonicis Ierarchis impossitis, hoc est sacris arbitriis Prælatorum.
 Sed dicit forsitan Ecclesiæ inimicus, quod non pertinet ad Summum Pontificem, jura hujusmodi Legum vel Canonum imponere Principi seculari: cuius nos cum universali Ecclesiâ, et omnibus mundi sanctis et sapientibus, ex adverso contrariadhiberi; Docet Dominus in Deuteronomio ut supra, dicens; <sup>3</sup> Si difficile et ambiguum o Deut. 17.

 surge & ascende ad locum quem elegerit Dominus Deus tuus, veniesque ad Sacerdotes Levitici generis, & ad Judicem qui fuerit illo tempore; quæresque ab eis qui indicabunt tibi judicii veritatem, & facies quodcunque dixerint, qui præsent loco quem elegerit Dominus, et docuerint te juxta legem ejus; Ergo ad Summum Pontificem pertinet, omnis controversiæ terminatio, quæ non potest per inferiores Judices quoscunque terminari. (The Argument holds not from the High Priest under the Law, to the Pope alone or Archbishop under the Gospel, not mentioned in the Text, but only the inferior Priests and secular Judge, conjoyned with them; Besides, the High Priest under the Law was only a Type of Christ, whose voice alone we are enjoyned to hear and obey in all things, not the Popes or Archbi-shops.) Item quantæ auctoritatis sit Ecclesiâ, in Concilio, Christi nomine con- p Heb. cap. 4.
 gregata, patet ex evangelio Matthæi, dicente Domino, <sup>4</sup> Ubi sunt duo vel tres to 11. Mat.
 congregati in meo nomine, (to wit, in Prayer, not Synods, and those meer Laicks as 17. 5. c. 18.
 well as Priests) ibi ego sum in medio eorum: Et ibidem, <sup>5</sup> Si Ecclesiam (never 20. Act. 3. 22.

 Concilio præcipue congregati, hæretici sunt censendi, (a learned Non-sequitur.) r Mat. 18. 17.
 Item quanta auctoritatis sit sanctorum Patrum sincerissima Doctrina patet testimonio Salvatoris dicentis in Evangelio Matthæi, <sup>6</sup> Non vos estis qui loquimini, sed Spiritus f Mat. 10. 20. patris vestri qui loquitur in vobis. (meant of the Apostles, immediately inspired by the Holy Ghost, not Popes or Prelates, which subverts his inference) Idem est ergo sanctorum Patrum definitionibus resistere, quod Spiritus sancti oraculis obtemperari. Hac attendentes Imperatores Catholici, (he names none) leges suas emigitur ad vos, Excellentissime Domine Rex pertineat pax inclyta Imperii, et vos

 M m etiam

An. 9 E. 1. etiam tenemini leges vestras Canonibus subicere, et contrarias abolere, (he should have proved, as well as barely affirmed it) turpis est pars quæ suo non condemit uniberso. Constantinus in super Rex Angliæ, et Orbis nihilominus Imperator, unibersa concessit quæ petimus, et specialiter personas Clericorum, a solis Prelatis Ecclesiæ judicandas esse decrevit. (A forgery I have elsewhere refuted, Tom. 1. p. 72, to 87.) Hoc idem Wyghredus Rex Cantuariæ Canones affirmans esse servandas, fieri concessit, ut patet ex Concilio à Brighewaldo Archiepiscopo celebrato, Anno Domini septuagesimo nonagesimo quarto. (A clear mistake, his Charter in this Council, if genuine, and not forged by the Monks or Archbishops of Canterbury, (of which there is just ground of suspicion, as I have elsewhere observed) did not exempt Clergymen and religious persons from secular Jurisdiction, or subject all Regal or Temporal Lawes to their Canons or Constitutions, but only appropriated the election, approbation, and installment of all Bishops, Abbots, Abbesses, Priors, and other Prelates to the Archbishop.) Hoc & Rex Canutus de personis Ecclesiasticis in suis scriptis legibus diffinivit. (It is true King Canute after his return from Rome to gratifie the Pope and Clergy, out of his special grace, enacted these <sup>b</sup> 2. Lawes, which gave our Bishops power to punish their Clerks, who committed Murder, or any other capital crimes, and receive their purgations. Si eorum qui aris deservierint aliquis hominem occiderit, aut aliquid perpetravit flagitium, gradu & honore dispoliat perinde atque ei Papa suus (so he styles the Bishop in that age) circumscripterit habitandi locum exulato, ac cumulate compensato. Si se purgare velit, tripliciter hoc faciat. Atque in hanc qua Deo & hominibus debetur compensationem intra 30. aggrediatur dies, ad omni legis commoditate destitutus habetor. Si quis sacris inauguratus rei capitalis obnoxius extiterit, comprehensor, atque ut tandem Episcopo criminis admitti pœnas dependat, asserbator: Which Lawes of his were the original ground of delivering Clerks convicted and imprisoned for any Capital crimes, to their Ordinaries, upon demand, to make their purgation; ratified by King Edward the 1. in the Statute of Westm. cap. 2. But this New indulged Jurisdiction granted by King Canute to Bishops, did not totally subject himself or his Lawes to the Popes or Bishops Canons, nor yet wholly exempt Clerks from secular Jurisdiction and punishments, to which they were still liable, but only from death; this King in his Lawes expressly resolving; Christiana siquidem fide imbuti Regis est, Deo illatas graviter (pro facti ratione) ulcisci injurias, who by his Lawes inflicted imprisonment, banishment, outlawry, confiscation of goods, deposition, degradation, and incapacity of holding any preferments on such offending Clerks.) Sanctus etiam Edwardus in regnum Angliæ sublimandus, prius juravit se leges Canuti Regis inviolabiliter servaturum. Willielmus etiam Rex, cui Sanctus Edwardus Regnum contulit, leges ipsius sancti servandas esse concessit. Qui sanctum inter cetera diffinivit; (only out of his royal grace, not of meer right or duty) Ut si quis pacem Ecclesiæ infregerit, ab Episcopis sit justitia exercenda, & non à Regis Justitiariis, nisi propter Episcopi impotentiam vel neglectum. Et plura alia sanctissima sanxivit, quæ servata honori Domini proficerent, et Regis merito coram Deo. Ecclesiæ etiam hujus Insulæ credimus fuisse in possessione libertatum quas petimus, tribus temporibus Regum diversarum linguarum Insulæ supradictæ; tempore scilicet Regum Britanorum, sicut patet de parte illius Ecclesiæ qua hactenus mansit in partibus Walliæ, quæ contra libertates hujusmodi non didicit concutere. Item, tempore Regum Anglorum, utpote Regum Cauti & Ardecnuzi, et præcipue et indubitanter tempore Sancti Edwardi. Item tempore Regis primi Normannorum triumphatoris incliti Domini Willielmi primi, (all which I have <sup>d</sup> already largely refuted) Et oppressiones quas plangimus, credimus sumpsisse exordium tempore Regis Henrici primi, et præcipue Regis Henrici patris Henrici junioris, quando voluit articulos gravaminum, per consensum Sancti Thomæ Archiepiscopi et ceterorum Pontificum Angliæ confirmari: Quibus quia ncluit consentire, sustinuit exilium; et hujus occasione postea, passionem. Thus doth this Papal Arch-prelate, instead of obeying the Kings premised Writ, and observing his Oath of Fealty to him, in maintaining, not attempting or decreeing any thing to the prejudice of the antient Rights and Priviledges of his Crown and Realm, in this his insolent Epistle most perfidiously, trayterously, and professedly oppugn, argue, contest against them; and by wrested, misapplied Texts of Scripture, false suggestions, and the presidents of his most seditious trayterous predecessors Becket and Boniface, whom he highly magnifies, to endeavour to justify his and his Suffragans Antimonarchical proceedings and Constitutions in this Council, yea to subject the Kings, and all other Christian Emperors, Kings, Princes persons, consciences, Oathes, Laws, Crowns, Prerogatives, to the Jurisdiction, Canons, Constitutions not only of the Pope, but of their own Prelates and Clergy, assembled in Synods without their Regal authority or presence in them, and that under pain not only of incurring Gods temporal Judgements on their Persons, Realms, but of eternal damnation, as oppugners of the Churches pretended Liberties, though conferred on them by their meer Regal Charters and favours.

Edwardus Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, & Dux Aquitaniz, Vicecomiti Exon. & Berks. salutem. Offendit nobis Johannes de Lovetot Patronus Ecclesiæ de Athelingflete, quod cum Bogo de Clare attachatus esset in Curia nostra coram Justiciariis nostris apud Weilm. ad respondendum eidem Johanni de placito, quare secutus fuit placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Advocacione Ecclesiæ prædictæ, contra Prohibitionem nostram; ac idem Bogo in eadem Curia nostra se inde in Inquisitionem patriæ posuisset: Qua quidem Inquisitio postea capta fuit coram Justiciariis nostris Itinerantibus apud Linc. per quam convictum fuit, quod Magister Johannes le Romeyn, & Magister Ricardus de Horton, Justices in Curia Christianitatis super Advocacione prædicta, post Prohibitionem nostram eis potestatem ad prosecutionem ipsius Bogonis attestaciones dictam prosecutionem tangentes assignarunt, et ad Curiam Romanam per eundem Bogonem remiserunt, ac tam per Justiciarios nostros de Banco, quam per præfatos Justiciarios nostros Itinerantes in Com. Lincoln. ex parte nostra eidem Bogoni firmiter fuisset inhibitum, ne placitum illud in præfata Curia Christianitatis ulterius sequeretur: Idem Bogo, spretis inhibitionibus nostris prædictis sibi ex parte nostra factis, a prosecutione placiti prædicti non desistit; sed placitum illud adhuc secutus est in Curia Christianitatis, contra Prohibitiones nostras. Et quia ex prosecutione dicti placiti in Curia Christianitatis dictus Johannes de Lovetot, non tantum Advocacionis prædictæ sactorum incurreret, immo nobis et hæredibus nostris, Coronæ et Dignitatis nostræ læsio, et exhereditatio manifesta in perpetuum emineret: Tibi precipimus firmiter injungentes, quod capias in manum nostram omnes Terras et Tenementa prædicti Bogonis in Balliva, et ea in manu nostra salvo custodias; ita quod nec ipse, nec aliquis per ipsum ad ea manum apponat, donec aliud a nobis habueris inde præceptum: Et quod de Critibus eorundem, nobis (si necesse fuerit) plene respondere possis, quousque nobis constiterit, quod præfatus Bogo a prosecutione dicti placiti in Curia Christianitatis finaliter cessaverit. Et quid inde feceris, & qualiter præceptum nostrum executus fueris in hac parte, scire facias præfatis Justiciariis nostris Itinerantibus apud Lincoln. in Octabis Sancti Michaelis; & habetis ibi hoc breve. Teste J. de Walthus apud Lincoln. 25 die Julii, anno regni nostri nono.

Upon which Writ the Sheriff endorsed this Return; Bogo de Clare, diu ante traditionem istius brevis, tradidit ac dimisit Manerium de Alkote, cuiusdam Adæ de Philebi Clerico. Et nullum habet Laicum feodum in Comitatu Exon. neque Berks. per quod distringi possit seu assalvari, nec terras nec tenementa que capi possint in manum Domini Regis pro prosecutione placiti infra contenti. Et hoc verificate potest per patriam.

The like Writ verbatim issued to the Sheriff of Southampton, who endorsed this Return thereon; Bogo de Clare non habet Laicum feodum in Balliva mea, unde executionem istius brevis facere potui.

The like Writ of the same date issued to the Sheriff of Essex, who Returned; Bogo de Clare nullus habet terras seu tenementa in Balliva mea, per qua posset distringi. Habet enim Ecclesiam de Dunmawe in Balliva mea, de dono Domini Comitis Gloucest. fratris sui in Episcopatu London. sed nullum habet Laicum feodum ad dictam Ecclesiam spectantem, nec alibi in Balliva mea.

In the same Bundle, I found this Writ issued to the Sheriff of Nottingham, against the Archbishop of York, and sundry Canons of St. Maries Church in Suthwell, for prosecuting a Suit for an Advowson in Court Christian, against the Kings Prohibition, and not appearing before the Kings Justices upon former Proccesse issued to them.

Brevia Regis
Anno 9 E. 1.

Edwardus Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Dominus Hiberniæ, & Dux Aquitaniæ; Vic. Nottingham salutem. Precipimus tibi, sicut alias tibi præcepimus, quod ponas per vadum & saluos plegios Willielmum Archiepiscopum Eboracensem, quod sit coram Justiciariis nostris Itinerantibus apud Lincoln. in Octabis Sancti Johannis Baptistæ, & ibi habeat Magistrum Johannem Clarell, Magistrum Henricum de Skipton, Magistrum Nicholaum de Welles, Nicholaum de Knovill, Magistrum Johannem de Peningeston, & Magistrum Benedictinum de Halom, Canonicos Ecclesiæ Sanctæ Mariæ de Suthwelle Clericos suos, ad respondendum Richardo de Grey custodi terræ & hereditatibus Anthonii de Frethevill, de placito, quare secuti sunt placitum in Curia Christianitatis de Advocacione Ecclesiæ de Boneye, contra Prohibitionem nostram, ut dicit: Et ad ostendendum quare prædictum Johannem & alios coram Justiciariis nostris Itinerantibus apud Ebor. in crastino Sancti Hilarii venire non fecit, sicut sibi mandatum fuit. Et tu ipse tunc sis ibi auditurus Iudicium tuum de hoc quod præceptum nostrum prius inde tibi directum non excecutus, sicut tibi præceptum fuit. Et habeas ibi nomina pleg. & hoc breve. Teste J. de Metingham apud Dereby 12 die Maii, anno regni nostri nono.

Sundry Canons and Converts of the Order of Sempingham this year turning Apostates, and deserting their Houses in divers Pories of that Order, to the peril of their souls, and scandal of their profession; the King upon complaint issued this Writ to apprehend and punish them for it, and to deliver such of them who were then apprehended, to those of that Order to be chastised.

REX dilecto & fideli suo Roberto de Ros, salutem. Cum nuper per literas nostras patentes concesserimus dilecto nobis in Christo Magistro Ordinis de Sempingham, quod quosdam Canonicos et Conversos de diversis Prioratibus ejusdem Ordinis professos, qui sine licentia sua et Priorum suorum, in sua salutis periculum, et Ordinis prædicti scandalum gravissimum, relicto habitu suo, et aliqui eorum in eorum habitu discurrunt per patriam vagabundi, ubicunque eos inveniri contigerit, capere et detinere valeant secundum sui Ordinis regulam inficiandos, ac Frater Adam de Karleton, & Frater Willielmus de Hikeham Conversi Hospitalis Sanctæ Katerina extra Lincoln. Ordinis prædicti, qui habitum suum reliquerunt, capti sint & detenti in Castro vestro de Belvero, ad prosecutionem Fratris Ada de Barwe Celerarii Hospitalis prædicti, ut accepimus, nos eidem Magistro concessionem nostram prædictam in hac parte continuari volentes; Vobis mandamus, quod prædicto Celerario nomine prædicti Magistri, prædictos Conversos fugitivos sic arrestatos, sine dilatione deliberari faciat castigandos, sicut prædictum est. Nisi aliquid aliud contra pacem nostram fecerint, quare nobis inconsultis sibi deliberari non debeant. In ejus, &c. Teste Rege apud Tame primo die Maii.

The King to prevent the Sacrilegious imbezilling of the Rents, Chalice, Books, Vestments, Images, Reliques, Charters, and Bulls of the Hermitage by Cripelgate, granted the custody thereof in his name to the Constable of the Tower for the time being, by this Patent.

REX omnibus Ballivis & fidelibus suis ad quos, &c. salutem. Quia Redditi, Calices, Libri, Vestimenta, Imagines, Campanæ, Reliquiæ, Cartæ, munimenta Regia, privilegia Apostolica, Tituli, et alia bona Heremitagii juxta Cripelgate, quod est de advocacione nostra, & quod celebris memorie Dominus H. Rex pater noster Roberto de Sancto Laurentio Capellano, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis dedit, ad inhabitandum quoad vixerit, post decessum Heremitarum Heremitagii illius tempore vacationis ejusdem, tam per viros Ecclesiasticos quam Laicos subtrahi et asportari solent, ut dicitur, pro eo quod Heremitagium illud non fuerit tunc sub certa custodia: Nos ad huiusmodi dampna et pericula idem in posterum evitanda, remedium adhibere volentes in hac parte; Constabularium Turris nostræ London. qui pro tempore fuerit, ejusdem Heremitagii nomine nostro quomodolibet nobis placuerit custodem deputabimus, ut ipse Heremitagium illud inhabitantes, redditus, & omnia alia ad illud pertinentia de cætero nomine nostro custodiat;

The King this year, at the Petition of the Prior and Covent of New Burgh much indebted, granted this Royal Protection to them.

REX omnibus Ballivis & fidelibus suis ad quos, &c. salutem. Cum dilecti nobis in Christo Prior & Conventus de Novo Burgo Mercatoribus & aliis Creditoribus suis diversis in debitis multimodis & immentis teneantur, ad quorum solutionem facultates Prioratus prædicti per magni temporis spacium sufficere non possent, absque dispersione Canonorum Prioratus prædicti, vel feodalia suorum, dilapidatione seu fortè Prioratus illius subversione totali quod nollemus: Nos, &c. as in former Protections. In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Westm. 25 die Maii.

The Prior and Covent of Chirebiry translating themselves thither from Suede, which they afterwards found inconvenient to their devotion, the King upon their petition granted them this Patent to return again to Suede; in the prologue whereof and close he expressed his Sovereign Royal duty and care to advance Religion and Devotion.

REX omnibus, &c. salutem. Cum nos in hiis quæ ad cultum obsequium pertinent ministris et professoribus cultus illius ad laudem et honorem omnipotentis Dei in locis congruis ad hoc confidere teneamur, et illos præcipue qui sub nostro speciali regimine ad hoc vacaverint, ac dilecti nobis in Christo Prior & Conventus de Chirebiry, qui primo apud la Suede suæ professionis & devotionis inchoaverunt originem, exinde postmodum usque Chirebiry translati, ibi locum non invenerint adeo congruum divino ministerio celebrando ob varia impedimenta quæ eis ibidem occurrunt, ut accepimus. Nos ipsorum Prioris & Conventus tranquillitati in hac parte prospicere volentes, ut commodius et liberius contemplationi districte valeant vacare, concedimus eisdem, quod ad prædictum locum de Suede absque calumpnia et occasione nostri vel hæredum nostrorum ad vota et professionis suæ debita ibidem complenda regredi et morari valeant, et ea ibidem suo perpetuo consummare. Provisio tamen, quod animabus illorum qui in prædicto sacro loco de Chirebiry recitescunt non minus per prædictos Priorem et Conventum in prædicto loco de Suede ministeriis obsequiis super hoc suffragetur imposterum, quam ibidem temporibus retroactis fieri consuevit. Ita etiam quod præfatis Religiosis nichil juris sui depereat seu decreascit apud Chirebiry occasione translationis suæ prædictæ. In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Westm. 21 die Maii.

This year there fell out this memorable case, in an Assise of Darraig Presentment, between the King, and the Bishop and Chapter of Landaff, concerning the Church of Lantehowe, the presentation whereunto the King then claimed by reason of the Wardship of John de Hastings, Heir of Bergeveny, in whose Court he sued them, to which they demurred.

REX omnibus, &c. salutem. Inspeximus Recordum & Processum habitum inter nos & Landaven. Episcopum Landavensem, & ejusdem loci Capitulum de placito Assise ultimæ præsentacionis Ecclesiæ de Lantehou Porchalank. Et prædicti Episcopus & Capitulum non venerunt, & ideo consideratum est quod dicti Episcopus & Capitulum resumerentur per bonos summonitores quod sint ibidem die Jovis proxima ante festum Annunciationis beatæ Mariæ, ad audiendum Recognitionem prædictæ Assise, &c. The King having an expedition against the Welsh in the 5th. year of his Reign, summoned all Bishops and Abbots, as well as Earls, Barons and Laymen, who held of the Crown by Knight Service, to attend and serve him with their Horse and Armes; whereupon those who attended not, or made no composition for their Service then, were afterwards forced to pay a Fine for their defaults, amongst the rest the Abbot of Malmesbury paid one Hundred Marks Fine, as this Record attests.

The sum of his Embassy and Message to the Pope was, that his Brother the Earl of Cornwall might receive all the monies collected in England for ayd of the Holy Land towards his expedition, whom he intended speedily to send thither, since himself could not yet go in person; to which the Pope at present deferred to give any answer, pressing the King himself to go thither in person, as the Popes Epistle to the King in answer thereunto, hereafter cited, informs us.

The King to ingratiate himself and his Messengers with this New Pope, (whom he had exasperated by stopping the exportation of, and seising the 6. years Dimes) gave order for the payment of the 8. years arrears of the annual Pension, so oft demanded; which having satisfied by several payments, his Agents thereupon required an Acquittance from Pope Martin the 4. who thereupon sent him this discharge, both entered on the Dorset of the Clause Roll of this year.

K. Edward 1. An Exact History of Popes intollerable Usurpations, B. 5. ch. 1.

An. 10 E. 1. Pope Martin this year sent this Bull to King Edward the 1. to require his favour to, and protection of the Monks of the Order of Cluny, whose piety he highly extolled,

In Turre
London.

MARTINUS Episcopus Servus servorum Dei, Charissimo in Christo Filio Regi Anglia Illustri, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Libenter Excellentia Regia illa suggerimus quae salutis praevalent, famam ampliant, statum prosperitate communiunt & conservant. Haec, fili charissime, non est dubium, et pietatis operibus provenire; inter quae non est minimum estimandum Religiosos favorabiliter prosequi, praesertim propulsando eorum injurias, et ipsos in suis iuribus defendendo. Quanta vero inter Religiones ceteras Cluniacensis Ordo claritate resplendeat, tua Sublimitas non ignorat, propter quod eundem Ordinem Serenitati Regiae, ut id tibi cedat ad salutis praemium eique ad tutaminis proveniat commodum, redemptoris omnium cuius Ordo ipse, obsequiis deputatis intuitu commendamus. Regalem Celatitudinem obsecrantes in Domino, quatenus eundem Ordinem ac professores ipsius ob divinam reverentiam, et Apostolicae sedis ac nostram habens in charitatis visceribus commendatos ipsos in suis opportunitatibus Regii favoris auxilio prosequaris, ut exinde praeter humanae laudis praerogium retributionis aeternae consequaris augmentum. Dat. apud Urbem viteram Kal. Februarii, Pontificatus nostri Anno secundo.

Sir John Lovetot Knight (most likely by the Kings connivance, encouragement) apprehended and imprisoned the Prætor and Treasurer of the Church of Lincoln, for presuming to examine Witnesses in a cause referred to them by the Pope, upon an Appeal and Complaint of the Dean of Stafford the Popes Chaplain, touching the Archbishop of Torkes refusal to admit him to the Church of Adelingsflet to which he was presented by the Countesse of Gloucester, the right Patron thereof as was pretended; and suppressing the depositions taken in the cause, which were to be returned by them to the Pope, to the high contempt of his Papal authority, and forcing the Dean to flee out of the Realm and desert the prosecution of his suit, Pope Martin thereupon issued this Bull to the Prior of Tonbridge, to cite Sir John to appear in person before him to answer this high contempt by a certain day within two moneths, (which Bull I found in the White Tower) worthy observation, wherein these proceedings are recorded.

ry) Petrus Rex Arragoniæ vindicans Regnum Siciliæ (which Popes claimed as the Churches and St. Peters patrimony) jure hereditario uxoris suæ, subito cum navigio Regnum Siciliæ ingressus, Carolum Regem expulit de eodem (whom the Pope had intruded into it) die Ascensionis Domini, de suis ex insperato multis millibus interfecit; (or as others, circiter vespere Gallos omnes ad unum interfecerunt; unde adagium Uesper Siculus.) Rex Arragonum prædicta Regna Apuliæ, Calabriæ & Siciliæ pro suis heredibus jure hereditario vendicavit, eo quod filiam Manfredi de prædictis regnis per Romanam Ecclesiam spoliati, duxerat in uxorem. Carolus in Franciam fugiens, à Rege Nepote suo pro recuperando regno subsidium impetravit. Papa vero Martinus in Petrum prædictum, et omnes ei fidentes, vel ipsum Regem appellantes, excommunicationis tulit sententiam, regno Arragoniæ eum priuans, et confirmans illud Carolo filio Regis Francorum. Petrus vero de Arragonia, missis à Regno Siciliæ nunciis, petiuit, ut quadraginta tantum militibus ad plana Burdegaliæ secum tot tantum habente milites, dimicationis veniat ad diem certum, sub certa pena se ad hoc obligandum, tamen Carolus modo se simili obligavit, ut cui in hoc conspectu cessisset victoria, ille sine contradictione regno Siciliæ potiretur. Non obstantibus igitur inhibitionibus Apostolicis, conduxerunt præfati Reges, quod pro jure utrorumque ducenti milites dimicarent in planitie juxta Burdegaliæ, duorum partibus assignantes; Quo die adveniente evanuit conductum prædictorum, quia Rex Carolus cum centum millibus occurrit Regi Arragonum, cum centum tantum militibus venienti: Trusting more to his Army, then to the Popes or Church of Romes Title, Benediction; or excommunication; then little valued, and much contemned by his adversary King Peter. The Pope upon this occasion, when St. Peters sword would not prevail against Peter, sent this Bull to King Edward the 1. (the original whereof I found in the White Tower, and there rescued with sundry others from oblivion) lamenting these Warrs between these Princes, and likewise between <sup>d</sup> Alphonso King of Castile, his Sonnes and Nobles, (whereof he and his prædecessors were the original authors) and craving his assistance to pacifie the differences between them, for the preservation of the Churches Liberties, and preventing the losse of souls, as being most able to effect it.

Processus Domini Johannis Dei gratia Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, habitus in partibus Wallie.

Primo, quia propter salutem eorum spirituales & temporales ad partes istas venimus, quos semper dileximus usque modo, sicut plures eorum noverunt.

Secundo, quia venimus contra Domini Regis voluntatem, cui etiam adventas noster dicitur plurimum displicere.

Tertio, quia rogamus eos, & supplicamus eis pro sanguine Jesu Christi, quatenus venire velint ad unitatem cum gente Anglorum, & ad pacem Domini Regis, quam eis intendimus, quanto melius poterimus procurare.

Quarto, volumus eos scire, quod in his partibus Domini non poterimus remanere.

Quinto, volumus eos attendere, quod post recessum nostrum non invenient forsitan aliquem, qui ita velit sua amplecti negotia promovenda, qui vellemus, si placeret Altissimo, vitam nostram temporalem ipsorum pacem honestam & stabilem perpetuo procurasse.

Sexto, quia si nostras partes spreverint & labores, statim intendimus eorum perturbationem scribere Summo Pontifici, et Curie Romanæ propter peccata mortalia, quæ multiplicanter occasione discordie omni die.

Septimo, noverint quod nisi citius ad pacem venerint, aggravabitur eis Bellum, quod non poterunt sustinere, quia crescit Regia potentia omni die.

Octavo, noverint quod regnum Angliæ est sub speciali protectione Sedis Apostolicæ, et quod Romana Curia plus inter regna cetera diligere consuevit.

Nono, quod eadem Curia nullo modo volet permittere statum regni Angliæ vacillare, quod sibi specialibus obsequiis est devotum.

Decimo, amarissime plangimus hoc, quod dicitur, Wallenses crudeliores existere Saracenis; quia cum Saraceni capiunt Christianos, eos servant pecuniâ redimendos; quos Wallenses captos dicuntur illico jugulare, quia solo sanguine delectentur; immo quod est deterius, quos permittunt redimi, tradunt, ut dicuntur, jugulandos.

Undecimo, quod cum consueverunt, Deum & personas Ecclesiasticas revereri, a devotione hujusmodi videntur multipliciter recessisse, qui in tempore sanctissimo in reditionem injuriam moverunt seditionem, homicidia perpetrantes, in quo eos nullus poterit excusare.

Duodecimo, petimus, ut tanquam veri Christiani ad cor redeant penitentes, quia captam discordiam non possent diu continuare, etiamsi jurassent.

Tertiodecimo, petimus, ut nobis significant, quibus modis velint & valeant turbationem pacis Regiæ, lesionem Reipublicæ, & alia mala emendare.

Quartodecimo, ut significant nobis, qualiter valeat ipsa concordia stabiliri; frustra enim pax firmari videbitur, qua tam assidue violatur.

Quintodecimo, ut si dicunt leges suas vel fœdera ex pacto inita non servari, ut significant qua sint illa.

Sextodecimo, noverint, quod etiam posito quod eis derogatum fuisset, quod noscimus nullo modo licebat eis, quia essent Judices in causa sua, taliter Majestatem Regiam impugnare.

Septimodecimo, quod nisi modo pax fiat, procedatur contra eos forsitan ex decretis militum Sacerdotis et populi convocati.

Responsiones Lewelini Principis ad Articulos supradictos.

Reverendissimo Patri in Domino J. Dei gratia Cantuar. Archiepiscopo, totius Angliæ Primati, suus humilis & devotus filius L. Princeps Wallie, Dominus Snaudonix, salutem & filialem dilectionem, cum omnimoda reverentia, subjectione, & honore. Sancta Paternitati vestra pro labore vobis quasi intolerabile, quem assumpsistis ad presens; pro dilectione, quam erga nos & nostram nationem geritis, omni qua possumus devotione re-

W An. 10 E. 1. gratiantes vobis assurgimus; & eò amplius, quod contra Domini Regis voluntatem venistis, prout nobis intimastis. Caterum quod nos rogastis, ut ad pacem Domini Regis veniamus; scire debet vestra sanctitas, quod ad hoc prompti sumus, dummodo idem Dominus Rex pacem debitam & veram nobis & nostris velit observare. Ad hac licet gauderemus de mora vestra facienda in Wallia, tamen per nos non eritis impediti, quin pax fiat quantum in nobis est, quamoptamus per vestram industriam magis quam alicujus alterius roborari; & speramus, nec per Dei gratiam erit opportunum propter nostram pertinaciam aliquid scribere Domino Papæ; nec vestras paternas preces ac graves labores spernemus, sed eas amplectimur omni cordis affectu, ut tenemur; nec erit opus quod Dominus Rex aggravet contra nos manum, cum prompti sumus sibi obedire, juribus nostris & legibus nobis, ut pramittatur, reservatis. Et licet regnum Angliæ sit Curia Romanæ specialiter subiectum et dilectum, tamen cum Dominus Papa, necnon et Curia Romana audierint quanta nobis per Anglicos mala sunt illata, videlicet, quod pax prius formata non sit nobis servata nec ——— deinde Ecclesiæ harum debastationes, combustiones, et Ecclesiasticarum interfectiones, Sacerdotum videlicet et Inchozorum, et Inchozarum, et aliarum Religiosarum personarum passim mulierum et infantium fugientium ubera, et in ——— postiarum combustiones etiam Hospitalium et aliarum Domozum Religiosarum, homicidio in Cimiteriis, Ecclesiis, et super Altaria, et alioz sacrilegiorum et flagitiorum auditu, etiam horribilium auditu Paganorum, sicut expressius eadem in aliis rotulis conscripta vobis transmittamus inspicienda. Speramus imprimis, quod vestra pia & sancta Paternitas clementer nobis compatietur, necnon & Curia supradicta: nec per nos Regnum Angliæ vacillabit, dum ut pramissum est pax debita nobis fiat & servetur. Qui vero sanguinis effusione delictantur, manifestum est ex factis; nam Anglici hactenus nulli sexui vel aetati, seu langore pepercerunt, nulli Ecclesiæ vel loco sacro detulerunt, qualia vel consimilia ——— non fecerunt. Super eo autem ——— unus redemptus fuit ——— multum dolemus, nec occisorem manutinemus, sed in sylvis uti latro vagatur. De eo vero quod inceperunt ——— aliqui in tempore indebitum illud ignoravimus ——— sanctum; & tamen ipsi asserunt, quod in eo tempore hoc fecissent mores & captiones eis imminere, nec audebant in domibus residere, nec nisi armati incedere, & sibi ——— tali tempore id fecerunt. De eis vero quæ fecimus contra Dominum, ut veri Christiani per Dei gratiam penitebimus, nec erit ex parte nostra quod Bellum continuetur, dum finis indempnes, ut debemus, ne tamen exheredemur & passim occidamur, oportet nos defendere, ut valamus. Cum vero injuria & dampna hinc inde considerentur & ponderentur, parati sumus emendare pro viribus quæ ex parte nostra sunt commissa, dum de prædictis injuriis & dampnis nobis factis & aliis emenda nobis fiat. Et ad pacem firmandam & stabilendam similiter sumus prompti debitis modis, quia tamen Regales Carta & pacta inita nobis non servantur, sicut nec hucusque sunt observata, non potest pax stabiliri, nec quia nova exactiones & inaudita contra nos & nostros omni die adveniuntur, vobis autem transmissa in rotulis dampna illata & fœdera nisi quod secundum factum pacis ——— factam. Quod vero guerravimus, quia necessitas nos cogebat, nam nos & omnes Wallenses eramus adeo oppressi & subpeditati & spoliati, & in servitutem redacti per Regales Justiciarios & Ballivos contra formam pacis & omnem justitiam amplius quam si Saraceni essemus vel Judæi (sicut credimus, et sæpe denuntiabimus Domino Regi) nec aliquam emendam habere potuimus, sed semper mittebantur Justiciarii & Ballivi feroces & crudeliores, & cum illi erant saturati per suas injustas exactiones, alii de novo mittebantur ad populum excoriantum, in tantum quod populus mallebat mori quam vivere; hac oportet militiam ampliorem convocare, vel contra nos moveri ——— dum nobis fiat pax & servetur modis debitis, ut superius est expressum; nec debetis, Sancta Pater, omnibus verbis credere nostrorum Adversariorum, sicut enim nos factis oppresserunt & opprimunt, ita & verbis diffamant vobis impotentes ——— volunt, ipsi enim sæpe vobis sunt presentes, & nos absentes, nisi opprimentes, nos oppressi & ——— fidem eis in omnibus non exhibeatis, sed ista potius examinetis. Valeat Sanctitas vestra ad regimen Ecclesiæ per tempora longa.

Et si Leolinus ejusque frater David scriptis ad Johannem Cant. cum in Cambriam venisset literis, affirmant se arma sumere, quod contra iura fœdera Regii Justiciarii & Ballivi Cambros injuriis non tolerandis toties affecissent, ut mori & in asie perire malint, quam vitam in servitute atque tyrannide molestam ducere. Itaque cum Johannes de pace concilianda in Snowdonia, Cambria provincia, diu sed frustra tractavisset, in Angliam rediit, Excommunicationisque sententiam Oxonii (ut in Bonifacio ante diximus) in pacis Regia excommunicatione latam contra Leolinum & Davidem eorumque milites promulgavit. Sed antequam in Cambriam pedem intulisset, veritus ne vi retineretur, nec redire facile cum vellet posset, R. Burnell Bathoniensem Episcopum, quem (ut ante diximus) Cantuarienses Monachi in Archiepiscopum postularunt, Vicarium suum & Administratorem sua provincia generalem constituit. Et ut Cambros aliquo merito devinceret, multos ex ea provincia Clericos indoctos egentes atque peregrinos novo superstitionis modo instituto, in Angliam misit. Codices enim Evangeliorum ornatè & curiosè in membranis ligatos singulis dedit, his qui inscitia literarum pronunciare aliquid ex illis non poterant, ut saltem quarundam instar reliquiarum manibus gestarent populoque ostenderent, precepit. Tum literas ad multos dedit, in quibus rogavit, ut hos Cambrenses Clericos Evangelium non ore proferentes, sed digitis bajulantes reciperent, & ad elemosynas recipiendas circumire permitterent. Illi itaque Codices Evangelii scripti circumducentes, eos insano & amenti sine doctrina vulgo non sine admiratione & stupore idioma suo Evangelion, Evangelion clamantes, ostendebant. Qua superstitione Angliæ delusa plebs, ignaros & ignotos homines multis donis affecit.

This Excommunication denounced by the Archbishop against the Rebellious Welsh and their Complices who disturbed the peace of the Realm, I finde was made by the Kings Sovereign Ecclesiastical power, and Patent sent to the Archbishop, and likewise to the Archbishops of York and Dublin for that end, thus recorded to posterity.

REX Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi totius Angliæ Primati, salutem. REX venerabili in Christo Patri P. Exon. Episcopo salutem. Cum nuper vos rogaverimus, quod de aliquibus hominibus vestris, de quibus consideretis, qui pecuniam proveniente de quintadecima nobis à Clero concessa in vestro Diocesi prædicta, una cum collectoribus ejusdem Quintadecimæ, vel deputandis ab eis conducerent usque London. liberandam ibidem Societati Mercatorum nostrorum de Luk, sicut Elyas Tolosan. Clericus noster, quem ad vos ea occasione specialiter transmisi- mus, vos rogaret ex parte nostra; & jam intellexerimus, quod pecunia illa (licet ut credimus sit collecta) usque London. nondum transmissa est, de quo quamplurimum admiramur; Paternitatem vestram requirimus et rogamus, quatenus dictam pecuniam & arreragia ejusdem sine ulteriori dilatione per aliquos de hominibus vestris, una cum collectoribus prædictis quibus similiter super hoc scripsimus, vel saltem per unum ex eis usque London. conduci facias per visum & testimonium dicti Clerici nostri, quem ad vos ob hoc mittimus iterato, Mercatoribus prædictis ibidem liberandam, ut prædictum est. Et hoc sicut de vobis confidimus nullo modo omittatis. Mandavimus autem Collectoribus prædictis, quod pecuniam illam sumptibus nostris & per visum ejusdem Clerici, ibidem faciant cariari. REX Collectoribus Quintadecimæ in Archiepiscopatu Cantuar. salutem. Memi- Ibidem. nimus nos alias vos rogasse, quod Quintadecimam nobis à Clero concessam in Archiepiscopatu prædicto colligi & adunari, & usque London. sumptibus nostris cariari faceretis, ibidem liberandam Societati Mercatorum nostrorum de Luk, per visum & testimonium Elyas Tolosan. Clerici nostri, quem ad vos ea occasione specialiter transmisimus illa vice. Verum quia pecuniam illam London. (ut prædictum est) nondum cariari fecistis, (de quo miramur) prædictum Clericum nostrum ad vos iterato duximus transmittendum. Nos rogantes, sicut alias rogavimus, quod omnia arreragia ejusdem Quintadecimæ sine ulteriori dilatione London. cariari faciat in formâ prædictâ, prout dictus Clericus noster vobis scire fac. ex parte nostra. Et hoc nullo modo omittatis. Rogamus autem loci Diocesanum, quod vobis ad hoc salvum & securum Conductum habere faciat, & quod hoc sicut de eo confidimus non omittat. Mandavimus etiam Mercatoribus nostris prædictis, quod literas suas patentes vobis fieri faciant summam receptionis dictæ pecuniæ testificantes. Teste Rege ut supra.

Consimiles literæ diriguntur Collectoribus Quintadecimæ in Episcopatibus prædictis.

REX Episcopo Cicestr. salutem. Pluries vos rogasse meminimus, quod totam Ibidem. pecuniam proveniente de Quintadecima in Diocesi vestra per Collectores vestros

An. 10 E. 1. vestros ejusdem Quintadecimæ usque London. carari faceretis, ibidem Bonromeno & sociis suis Mercatoribus de Luk. liberandam, & quod conductum eisdem Collectoribus habere faceretis, prout dilectus Clericus noster Elyas Tolefan. quem tunc ea occasione ad vos misimus, vobis diceret ex parte nostra. Et quia Collectores prædicti quasdam excusationes minus sufficientes prætendentes, pecuniam illam usque locum prædictum carari distulerunt, in nostri dampnum manifestum; Paternitatem vestram iteratò attentè requirimus et rogamus, quatenus Collectoribus prædictis præcipiatis, quod pecuniam illam sumptibus nostris usque London. duci faciant cum omni festinatione, prout præfatus Clericus eis dicit ex parte nostra, ita quod dampnum inde ulterius non incurramus. Teste Rege ut supra.

Ibidem.

REX Magistro Rogero de la Grave & sociis suis Collectoribus Quintadecimæ in Episcopatu Cicestren. salutem. Cum pluries vos rogaverimus, quod totam pecuniam proveniente de Quintadecima in Episcopatu prædicto sine dilatione colligi, & usque London. deferri faceretis, Societati Mercatorum nostrorum de Luk. ibidem liberandam, prout dilectus Clericus noster Elyas Tolefan. vobis scire faceret ex parte nostra; & vos quasdam Excusationes minus sufficientes prætendentes pecuniam illam usque locum prædictum carari facere distuleritis in nostri dampnum manifestum; de quo miramur & movemur. Vos iteratò requirimus et rogamus, quod totam pecuniam prædictam cum omni festinatione, qua fieri poterit, & arreragia ejusdem usque locum prædictum sumptibus nostris deferri faciatis, sicut prædictum est, & prout venerabilis pater S. Cicestren. Episcopus (cui super hoc scripsimus) & præfatus Clericus noster vobis scire fac. ex parte nostra. Et hoc nullatenus omittatis, sicut diligitis nostrum commodum & honorem. Mandavimus autem Mercatoribus nostris prædictis, quod literas suas parentes vobis fieri faciant, summam receptionis prædictæ pecuniæ testificantes. Teste Rege ut supra.

Ibidem.

REX R. Bathon. & Wellen. Episcopo, salutem. Cum nuper vos rogaverimus quod provideri faceretis de aliquibus vestris fidelibus & discretis, qui Quintadecimam nobis concessant a Clero in vestra Diocesi ad opus nostrum colligere & adunare, ac in tuto loco deponere possent custodiendam, donec aliud inde præceperimus, & jam ad quædam negotia nostra instantia expediendâ pecunia plurimum indigeamus; Paternitatem vestram affectuosè requirimus et rogamus, quatenus Collectoribus ad hoc deputatis a vobis per literas vestras sine dilatione præcipiendo dare velitis in mandatis, quod totam pecuniam proveniente de Quintadecimâ vestræ Diocesis, quæ jam collecta est ibidem, sub omni festinatione transmitti faciant usque Malmesbury, prout eisdem Collectoribus similiter mandamus, ibidem deponendam per visum & testimonium dilecti Clerici nostri Magistri Henrici Huse, quem ad dictam Diocesin ea occasione specialiter duximus transmittendum. Paternitatem vestram insuper requirimus et rogamus, quatenus provideri faciatis de aliquibus de hominibus vestris, de quibus confiditis, qui pecuniam illam una cum ipsis Collectoribus vel deputandis ab eis, & cum prædicto Clerico nostro usque Malmesbury salvo & secure conducere, & ibidem disponere possint (ut prædictum est) prout dilectus Clericus noster (cui credatis, si placet, in præmissis) vos rogabit ex parte nostra. Et hoc, sicut de vobis specialiter confidimus, nullatenus omittatis. Teste Rege apud Glouc. secundo die Maii, & fuerunt Claus.
